The army has announced that the Unknown Soldier of World War I is to have company in the near future. A contract has been awarded for the construction of two crypts in which will be interred unknown soliders of World War II and the Korean War. The plaza at the present tomb in Arlington cemetery will undergo extensive modification and is expected to be ready to receive the heroes of the later wars by May 5. Lorimer Rich, New York architect who designed the original tomb, has been commissioned for the renovations.

"If I could combine the qualities of my two boy friends, I'd be the happiest girl in all the world," said the sweet young thing to her club members. When asked to explain, she said: "Now, Robert is gay, debonair, rich and handsome. And James, well, he wants to mar-

I'd come home from a hard day's come home from a hard day's work, my little dog would race around barking and my wife would bring me my slippers. Now, after all these years, everything's changed. When I come home now, my dog brings me my slippers and my wife barks at me." The counselor was quick with his diagnosis: "I don't know what you're complaining about. You're getting the same service."

A dentist tells us that recently a fellow came into his office for a tooth extraction but was in such frightened state that he could not administer the usual deadening shots. He suggested that a shot of hiskey might help. The fellow then asked for another shot, and positors holding $39,067,856.26 in gulped it down. It was on a beautiful warm day -not like the last few-that a visitor sat on the front porch of the spacious home. The little boy of the house was chatting with the visitor when said visitor remarked about the pretty little girls next door. "No wonder," said the boy, "Their father's a doctor. He always keeps the best for himself."

A youngster, who spends much of his time watching TV, remarked: "The local police should use helicopters to chase criminals, cause it's the whirlybird that catches the worm."

The time draws near when we shall again speak of income tax forms as — those blankety blanks.

And the big question at this time is which candidate, if any, will benefit largely by the withdrawal of Ex-Gov. Gordon Persons, who was considered certain to seek a second term until he suffered a slight stroke at his Montgomery nome on Christmas Eve.

At least three — former State Sen. Jimmy Faulkner, C. C. (Jack) Owen, Public Service Commission president, and Laurie Battle, former congressman from the Birmingnam district — have laid oper claims to support which Persons was sure to have attracted. Faulkner served in the senate during Persons' administration and Owen has long been a close friend of former chief executive and served with him on the commis-sion. Battle contends that many ly out of the race. While the avowed candidates were trying to corral Persons' backers for themselves, others put out more or less definite feelers as to their chances. Sen. Spending Can Be Dangerous

Today a billion dollars is tossed around like a baby's rattle and yet a billion dollars is so much money it is beyond the average American's comprehension.

So big and powerful is the federal government that its tax demands now force the states to come to the United States Treasury for aid in biulding highways, schools, hospitals and various public works because their legislators find not only depleted treasuries but a tremendous and growing hostility to more taxes.

Even if the Russians had not launched their sputniks the Republican Administration obviously had no intentions of cutting taxes. However the entire blame cannot be laid at the Eisenhower doorstep since Congress itself is plagued by unremitting pressures from a dozen sources each with demands for unprecedented spending. It is tragic that the atmosphere of man-made crisis is used to promote loose spending and discriminatory taxation.

There are those in Congress as everywhere else who seem to think their popularity with certain factions is enhanced by publicly endorsing these big spending programs. These are the ones who bitterly resent cutting the non-essentials from the federal budget though such cuts are going to be vitally necessary if this country's defense needs are to be met without loose financing. They will resist any effort toward needed income tax reforms and they will certainly resist any effort calculated to reduce the taxing power of the federal govern-

There should be no minimizing of world problems which Congress is well aware are serious ones. It is certain that Congress will vote more for national defense even though there will be considerable debate before this is done.

The Gaither Committee set up to investigate defense spending has suggested spending $8 billion a year in addition to the $39 billion on defense. An additional $5 billion a year would be spent on atomic shelters.

However the Gaither type of report is nothing new and Henry White Rites Congress must study its report as well as Mr. Eisenhower's demands for defense funds. At present it is generally conceded that the President has talked with his defense leaders and other experts and is prepared to present more or less specific figures for the nation's defense needs, both immedi-

Runaway spending could be disastrous for the nation at this time and Congress will do well to examine every phase of the recommendations submitted to it for both defense and domestic needs.

After the last few crowded days of classes, parties, and packing, Florence State went home. After 13 days of just about everything but studying FSC is back at the educational grindstone getting ready for finals.

Just before calling a halt for the holidays the Diorama staff chose a slate of nominees from which the five Diorama Beauties will be selected. The candidates are Marilyn Branyon, Fayette; Marlene Adkins, Talladega; Lois Lumpkin, Florence; Myrna Lindsey, Athens; Barbara Simmons, Homestead, Florida; Eleanor Dil-lard, Florence; Doris Staples, Florence; Nobel Reeves, Mary Ann Box, and Jane Mills, Vernon.

I've been digging through some old histories of Florence State and its predecessor, LaGrange College, and I have found the reading very interesting, especially when I came across such incidents as "Dr.

Paine's Famous Evening's Ride."
It seems that several of the boys, deciding that they were in need of some amusement, hatched a very promising scheme. The plan involved a nocturnal visit to the residence of the college's president, Dr. Robert Paine. This visit, as you probably have guessed was not of the usual type; rather than children of Huntsville, Mr. and call on Dr. Paine, the boys meant Mrs. Royce McMeans and children to remove the president's carriage from the carriage house and quietly draw it down the mountain (LaGrange was located near Leighton), and leave it.

It was a well made plan and all went well. They arrived, took their places, and went to work. The carriage had been drawn for a considerable distance before the boys stopped to rest and exchange congratulations. After a few minutes, they resumed their labors and by the time they made their second stop, they had reached the first level of the mountain.

At this propitious moment, Dr. Paine lifted the curtain, thanked them for the ride, excused them from going any farther, and suggested that they return. Return they did, but rather more slowly than they had come I should imagine. Having returned the carriage to its resting place and accepted Dr. Paine's thanks for their generous willingness to spend their evening entertaining him, the boys bade their passenger good evening and launched themselves into careers as model students.

Maybe the coaching staff would be interesting in adding a similar sport to the athletic program at Florence State.

Telephone Talk

FRANK REYNOLDS

WONDERFUL GIFTS-I met a lady the other day who had received a color telephone for Christmas. She said it was one of the most original gifts she'd ever had and was so pleased with it she wanted to order several for coming birthdays. Together we made the selections for her friends, and she also decided to order another for herself (the first is in her bedroom; the second is for the kitchen). How about you? Got any birthdays or anniversaries coming up? Why not give extension telephones in colorthey're original, practical and so beautiful! Easy to give, too. Just call our Business Office and we'll handle all the details.

WHO'S NANCY? Nancy is a girl we all know. Lives right here in our community. She's pretty, popular, and very grown-up. Often she's wrapped up in a world of her own. But just let the phone ring, and watch her snap to attention. That ring may mean a date, a party, big news or just anything. But no matter what, it's IMPORTANT ... and she just couldn't be without a phone. In case you've guessed, Nancy is not really one girl but a composite of our local teenage misses, who are just finding out what we older folks have known all along. The telephone is important because it keeps us in touch, lets us do so many things quickly and easily.

Dear Sara Saze A few months ago I accepted a position here and immediately children enjoyed Christmas dischildren enjoyed christmas dischildr started looking for a small apartment which I soon found without kelman. difficulty in a very nice home. It is what I suppose you'd call an improvised "efficiency." I have two rooms and a bath on the second floor. The rooms are nice, large, and I am very comfortable with this exception . . I have returned home several times to find that someone had been in my rooms during my absence. The evidence was unmistakable. For one thing, I put my parents' letters in my desk as they arrive. They have a rubber band around them and were stacked in order of receipt, tho' I've found them several times still in the rubber band but very disorderly. A month-old letter on top and only crumpled into the envelope instead of being neatly folded. There were other evidences of intrusion, too. A piece of lingerie was hanging from a dreser drawer on one occasion and the things inside were not in the order in which I'd left them. And then there was the day when I'm sure someone had just completed a bath in my bathroom. Drops of water on the tub and a damp towel on the rod were the evidence. It frightens me. I don't feel safe at night knowing that there is evidently a duplicate

Fearful. Dear Fearful,

I urge that you take precautions before another day passes. It is only common sense that you should want to protect yourself as I think your landlady will certainly agree, See that an inside lock is installed before you sleep again, and ask that the present lock be replaced and that you be allowed to keep all keys. This may mean nothing more serious than that there's a "crank" about, but there are too many apartments available for you to remain where you feel insecure.

Dear Sara Saze, I saw a contraption recently I'd like to have but I didn't know what a recent magazine priced at $4.95. it's called. It's a small case that the address from which it can be held in the hand. It will be had is Johnson Smith & Co., can be held in the hand. It will be had is Johnson Smith & Co., hold a roll of film and by looking 6515 E. Jefferson Ave., Detroit 7, through an eyepiece you can turn Mich. a crank and see the film as it rolls

A prominent banker and community leader tells you:

United States Savings Bonds are so important

Joseph C. Welman, President, Bank of Kennett, Kennett, Missouri; 1958 President, American Bankers Association to your family and your own home town

If you and your neighbors are spending and saving wisely today, tomorrow's economic problems will solve themselves.

That's true for your family, as well as the community in which you live. And that's why U. S. Savings Bonds are so important to every American.

The secret of saving is system. And for most Americans, Savings Bonds are the perfect solution for systematic savings. They're safe. They're sure. Easily bought. And easily converted into cash should an emergency arise.

And now every U.S. Series E Savings Bond pays a new, higher interest-31/1% when held to maturity! It matures faster, too, in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, especially in the earlier years.

Leading bankers and industrialists all over the country, realizing the importance of thrift and savings to a sound economy, are giving their wholehearted support to the U.S. Savings Bonds program. Why not start your Bond investment program today-through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work or by regular purchases where you bank.
