

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

The venerable old Chinese statesman, attending a Washington party recently, was asked to comment on the success of marriages arranged by parents in China, as compared to the select marriages in the United States. "Marriage in China is like putting a kettle of cold water on the fire. Soon it is boiling and it stays hot. But in the West, marriage is like putting on a cold stove a kettle of water that is boiling tempestuously—but presently it cools off."

"We've struck it rich," beamed the good husband to his good wife as he rushed in the house waving a roll of bills large enough to choke an elephant. Handing the entire roll to his wife, he said: "Spend it on yourself. Now that we have struck oil, I want you to have some decent clothes." The wife took the money, gave the happy husband a sly look, and remarked: "Nothing doing. I've worn decent clothes all my life. Now I'm going to dress like other women."

The other night the wife insisted that we take in a party where dancing was the main attraction. We were tired and not in the mood but, as you would guess, away we went. Sometime later that evening, when it was hard for us to put one foot before the other, she said: "Waltz a little faster, dear, this is a cha cha."

A friend tells us that last Sunday, the 10th, he sat down to pay his monthly bills. Before he was half through, he had depleted his bank account. On the remaining statements he wrote "Insufficient Funds" and mailed them back to the senders.

A mother and her young son were shopping at a local supermarket. The boy, desiring to be helpful, picked up a package and handed it to his mother. "Oh, no, honey," cried the mother. Put it back. You have to cook that."

Do you find less "junk" mail in your mail box these days? Credit that extra penny postage for emptying your mail box of everything but first class mail, newspapers, magazines and a few other essentials.

Judging from the success of some of today's writers all you need for a best seller is a beautiful girl on the cover and no cover on the beautiful girl.

You can be certain that when you look at your watch, thinking it must be three o'clock, and discover that it is five, you have accomplished something, on that day at least.

"So you want to know whether you have grounds for divorce," said the lawyer. "Are you married?" "Yes," was the reply. "Then you have grounds for divorce," was the studied pronouncement by the attorney.

"Darling, we shan't have to pay more weekly payments on our furniture," smiled the young wife as friend husband arrived home from work. "This letter came for you this afternoon. It says 'Final Notice.'"

The place to stop drunken drivers, Mr. Henshaw Officer, is at the bend of the elbow, not at the bend of the road.

Sam, fresh down from Detroit, pulled up to the curb in his shiny Cadillac. Out came his sweetheart, tripping down the steps in a brand new chemise dress, and as she approached, Sam's eyes got bigger and bigger. As she reached the car, he said: "Now, just a minute honey, before I open that door, tell me—is we in style or is we in trouble?"

The tired businessman came home the other evening completely whipped out, only to be met at the door by his wife who had apparently been crying her eyes out. When he had calmed her down, she explained that the maid had walked out. "What was the trouble this time?" he inquired wearily. "You were!" she charged. "She said you used insulting language to her over the phone this morning." "Good grief," cried the husband. "I thought I was talking to you!"

The hot rod had just rammed a telephone pole and wires completely covered the wreckage. The driver, still conscious, reached out feebly, fumbled the wires, and murmured: "Thank heaven I lived a clean life. They've given me a harp."

In the courts, a man is presumed innocent until proved guilty; but in the household he's convicted on suspicion.

If you don't mind being talked about, people will soon tire of talking about you. But, we have been trying to locate that person that doesn't mind being talked about. It is said that there are many.

A friend tells us that in his youth one of the regular tasks assigned him was to find his grandmother's glasses. "But now," he said, "she leaves them right where she empties them."

Human nature: That which makes you swear at the pedestrian when you are driving, and at the driver when you are a pedestrian.

SAVED—Another in the annual long list of summer drowning tragedies was averted when six young swimmers went to the aid of Judy McKenna in Boston. The South Boston girl is lifted over a fence into the waiting arms of police.

Hope Appears Slim For Action On TVA Measure Self-Financing Plan Doomed This Session Unless Vote Is Permitted

Tennessee Valley congressmen signed a letter Tuesday urging the chairman of the house rules committee to permit the TVA self-financing bill to come to a house vote. But the rules committee chairman, Rep. Howard Smith (D-Va.) who is unfriendly to the bill, did not appear in his office all day Tuesday and had not received the letter Tuesday night.

With congress preparing to adjourn, probably next week, valley congressmen faced an uphill race against time to get the bill past the logjam in Smith's committee and onto the house floor for a vote.

Representative Smith's office said he might be in Wednesday but added that there has been no call for his committee to meet on TVA legislation, or on any other measure.

Several signers of the letter indicated they feared the Virginia congressman may be conducting a "silent filibuster" to prevent passage of the measure. Rep. Robert Jones (D-Ala.) said "we are trying to locate Mr. Smith and we are hopeful of getting the bill to the floor for a vote. We certainly are not giving up for a minute."

The letter, bearing signatures of 30 congressmen who strongly favor the bill, was circulated Tuesday after a Monday strategy meeting with Jones presiding. The letter was decided upon as the best means of advising Smith and his committee of the sentiments of the Southern congressmen who are fighting for the self-financing legislation.

Several congressmen have urged Smith in person to let the bill out of his committee, but he reportedly has remained opposed to the legislation, which backers consider vital to the life of the TVA.

The letter urged that Smith's committee give the bill a rule without the delay of a hearing. It added that should a hearing be called before a rule is granted that witnesses be restricted to one for each side—to prevent a talkathon from further delaying the bill from reaching the floor before the end of this session.

Actually Smith, should he allow a rule, has the power as chairman of the committee to keep the measure off the floor for 10 days. It would assure its death should he follow such a course. Under house rules he can delay three days in filing the bill after it gets a rule, and then can hold it up another seven days in the house before allowing anyone else to call it up for vote.

In action taken last Thursday, the rules committee voted to table the measure which was thought to have dealt a death blow to it but Speaker Sam Rayburn and others sought to have the committee reconsider this action. The next day the committee voted to reconsider but Smith has not called a meeting since then to allow the measure a rule.

Other congressmen from Tennessee and surrounding valley states also refused to give up on the bill, although admitting it will be a difficult task to get it up for a house vote before adjournment.

Another possibility for the bill would be to bring it up on suspensions day, next Monday, without a rule. This would require a two-thirds majority for passage and strong Republican opposition probably would mean defeat should such a course be attempted by the proponents.

Approval Of Canal Up To Eisenhower

Congressional approval of the compact between Alabama and Mississippi to promote the construction of a waterway between Tennessee and the Gulf of Mexico was completed last week when the House passed the already Senate-approved measure granting the consent of Congress to the compact.

When signed by the President this will open the way for the actual organization of the Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority, members of which shall be the governors of the party states and five other citizens of each party state, to be appointed by the governor thereof.

This Authority will have wide powers, being authorized to hold hearings, to conduct studies and surveys of all problems, benefits and other matters associated with the development of the proposed Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway. Specifically, it is created to promote the development of a navigable waterway connecting the Tennessee and Tombigbee Rivers by way of the east fork of the Tombigbee River and Maceys and Yellow Creeks, so as to provide a nine-foot navigable channel from the junction of the Tombigbee and Warrior Rivers at Demopolis to the junction of Yellow Creek with the Tennessee River at Pickwick Pool. This is the route not authorized by Congress and approved by the Corps of Engineers for the waterway.

The members of the Authority, when they have been appointed by the governors, will choose a chairman and vice-chairman on an annual basis, and membership will rotate among the party states in the order of their acceptance of the compact. The chairman for the first year would be an Alabamian, since Alabama's action on the compact preceded that of Mississippi. Should Tennessee join the compact, a Tennesseean would serve for the third year as chairman.

This new organization, when its members have been appointed and it has completed its organization, is expected to give new impetus to the effort to obtain action by Congress toward the construction of this waterway.

Rabies Schedule Set For County

Important That All Dogs Receive Inoculation For Disease, Warns Dr. Ellis

Appearing in today's issue of The Florence Herald is the annual Lauderdale County Rabies Inoculation Schedule as announced by Dr. Culver Ellis, rabies inspector. The schedule began Wednesday, August 13, and will end Aug. 29. State law provides that all dogs three months of age or older are subject to inoculation.

"Don't risk the danger of this dread disease simply because this county has been free of rabies," Dr. Ellis said. "It can spread fast and no person should take a chance. Inoculation of all dogs is the only way to prevent it, so have your dogs inoculated immediately."

"All persons owning dogs are asked to have them inoculated in cooperation with this program before Sept. 1, on which date the fee per dog will increase from $1 to $2, in accordance with state law."

After completion of the schedule, Dr. Ellis will be at Ellis and Muslemman Animal Hospital from 7:30 a. m. to 6 p. m. An assistant will be at the Animal Hospital on Chisholm Road to inoculate dogs, while the advertised schedule is being carried on in the city and county.

Complete control of rabies is possible only when every dog of three months or older is inoculated. The cooperation of every dog owner is needed to give full protection to human beings and livestock throughout the county, Dr. Ellis pointed out.

Louis Rosenbaum Attends Dedication

Louis Rosenbaum, of Florence, who made a substantial contribution toward construction of the Kettering-Meyer Laboratory No. 2 for cancer research at Birmingham, attended the dedication Tuesday.

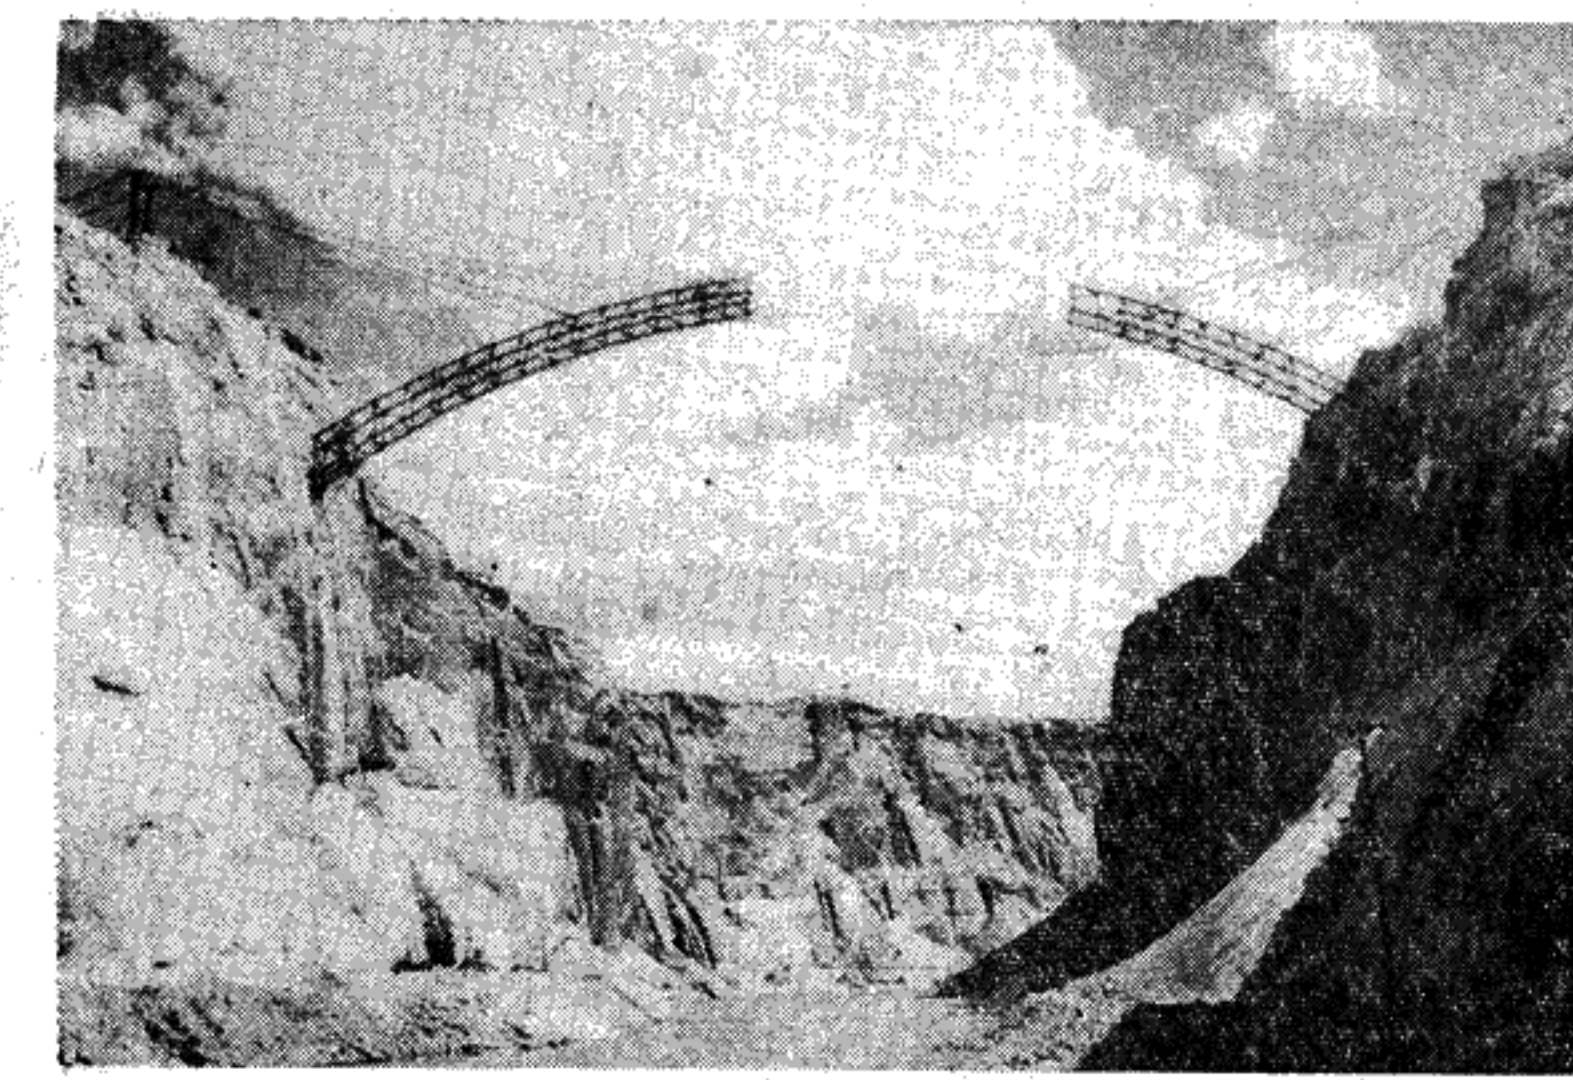

Mr. Rosenbaum gave funds to help match grant-in-aid made by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. His gift was in memory of his friends, the late Morris F. Shipper and Morton Levin, both of Florence, who died of cancer.

"I think the new research building will be a blessing to humanity," Mr. Rosenbaum stated.

State Farmers Are Engaged In Revolt In Agriculture

Number Pasture Acres Doubled Since 1930; Acres Of Cotton Decrease

By W. H. (Mutt) GREGORY
API Extension Livestock Specialist

People in Alabama are taking part in a revolution in agriculture. They have been more and greater changes in the agriculture of Alabama since 1930 than happened between George Washington's time and 1930. The changes are sometimes hard to see, but the Agricultural Economics Department at Auburn has taken a look at some of the paces driven down in 1930 and compared them to recent information. Some of this information follows.

The number of acres of pasture has more than doubled, having increased from 4 million acres up to about 8 3/4 million acres. The woods on the farms have increased since 1930 from 6 1/2 million acres to 10 1/3 million acres. This does not include the millions of acres of woods that are not on farms. While the acreage in pastures and woods was increasing, the acres of crops have decreased since 1930 from over 7 million acres down to about 4 1/2 million acres.

Condemnation of the tenant farmer was made in 1930 when we had 186,000 in the State. There are now less than 60,000. There has been a great drop in the number of colored farmers since 1930. More than one-half of the colored farmers have left the farm. The State has lost 48,000 colored farm families of the 94,000 that it had in 1930.

In 1930 there were 3 1/2 million acres in cotton; this year there are about 1 1/2 million acres. However, the yield has gone up greatly. In 1930 the state only averaged 188 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Last year the average was 346 pounds.

One of the biggest changes that has taken place in agriculture in Alabama is the need for money for the farm. In 1930 most farmers farmed with a mule and a Georgia stock. The mule and the man who walked between the Georgia stock handles got most of their food from the farm. The Georgia stock would be rebuilt and the plow point sharpened in the farm blacksmith shop. Today this farm has a $4,000 tractor with $10,000 worth of tools to hitch behind it. This tractor requires bought feed, and the parts for the tools cost lots of money. The man who rides the tractor does not have time for much home food production. In other words, farming is now a business.

In 1930 there were 5,000 tractors on the farms of this State. Now there are more than 65,000. These tractors have replaced most of the mules. In 1930 there were almost 400,000 horses and mules on the farms in Alabama. Now there are only 165,000, and probably more than half of the are cow-horses, ponies and pleasure horses.

Changes in land use, farm enterprises, tenure, number and size of farms, mechanization, production and marketing practices, farm productivity and the attitude of government toward farmers and farmers toward government have all been important over the past 25 years. The rate and direction of these same changes may be even more important in the future.

One of the most significant changes over the past 25 years has been the shift in relative importance of cash crops and livestock as sources of income to Alabama farmers. During the early 1930's, cash farm receipts from livestock made up only about 15 per cent of total farm receipts, the remainder was from cash crops. Last year, cash farm receipts from (Continued on Page 2)

Withdrawal Of U. S. Marines In Lebanon Begun

President Eisenhower, in a dramatic appearance before the United Nations General Assembly Tuesday, set forth a sweeping point plan for building enduring peace in the Middle East, including the withdrawal of U. S. military force and an international economic development program. Without naming the Soviet Union the President accused Russia of stirring up war hysteria with tactics of "balletic" blackmail. He presented his proposals for peace and economic development in a speech that was carried coast to coast by television and radio networks and beamed around the world by the government's Voice of America radio. Directing his remarks to the Mid East crisis he said his program would promote a "true Arab renaissance." The alternative he said is:

"The danger that nations under aggressive leadership will seek to exploit man's horror of war by confronting the nations, particularly small nations, with an apparent choice between supine surrender or war."

The six points proposed by the President were:

1. A standby United Nations peace force.
2. An Arab-run Middle East economic development loan fund and a technical assistance program, financed jointly by the Arab states, the United States and other countries, presumably including Russia.
3. A U. N. study of possible controls on arms shipments to Middle East countries, including Israel, to avert an East-West munitions race in the area.
4. Unspecified new U. N. ties to guarantee Lebanon's security and independence after American troops are withdrawn.
5. An expression of U. N. determination to assure Jordan's survival as a nation, presumably by replacing British troops now there with U. N. personnel.

The United States Tuesday began withdrawal of Marines from Lebanon as the Second Battalion of the Second Division moved their heavy equipment to the beach, where they embarked on Wednesday. Admiral James L. Holloway, Jr., U. S. Commander in Lebanon, in announcing the withdrawal, indicated this was the beginning of the pull-out of U. S. forces stationed in that country. The American action was obviously intended to influence debate on the Middle East question now in progress in the United Nations General Assembly.

Easeb Salam, rebel leader in Beirut, said the symbolic step taken by the United States was welcome but it fell short of rebel demands for complete withdrawal. The Soviet Union, Nasser's United Arab Republic and other Asian and African countries all demanded immediate withdrawal of U. S. forces and British forces from Jordan.

Admiral Holloway, after consultations with President Chamoun and the chief of the Lebanese military, Gen. Michel Chéhab, agreed with authorities of that country that conditions had shown a "material improvement."

We Should Stop Muddling

The people can still speak through their elected representatives in Congress... or can they? If they can then they should give President Eisenhower a resounding mandate to quit endangering this nation's and the free world's security by muddling in the Middle East. Each day we lose more and more support in the UN by our blundering in Lebanon.

Mr. Eisenhower commented, when he ordered the troops into Lebanon at President Chamoun's request, that he did so only after a serious consultation with this nation's civilian and military leaders. He might as well have said nothing since he had the power under the Eisenhower Doctrine granted by Congress to do what he did. The meeting was a "rubber stamp" of approval.

The worst part of the blundering in the Middle East is that it gives Russia more ammunition for propaganda and makes it more and more difficult for us to back out of a very bad situation which we will have to do in any event.

We have now made a token withdrawal from Lebanon but only after landing more troops and equipment giving credence to Russia's contention that we and not Russia are the aggressors. It is Khrushchev's aim, as always, to isolate the United States from her allies so that the Kremlin can win the cold war or a shooting war if it becomes necessary to fight. Mr. Eisenhower, for the second time within a year, took the bait.

Thus far Mr. Eisenhower has not shown too much disposition to take advice though pressure from the British did cause him, so it was told, to consent to a summit conference in the UN Security Council. This was after de Gaulle and others had already deserted the United States.

The President has plenty of followers who appear ready to "yes" him on every hand but few seem to have the courage to tell him when he is wrong.

What will happen in the General Assembly remains to be seen. The United States has a stalwart debater in Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., and Mr. Lodge should do a good job for this nation if he will refrain from playing to the television cameras. The matter is too serious to indulge in any sort of showmanship.

Nothing To Be Proud Of

The beating to death of a Negro prisoner at Water Valley, Miss., by the sheriff of the county and the subsequent acquittal of the officer by a white jury of farmers and mechanics, does nothing for the South's cause of maintaining segregation of the races or of the South's contention that Negroes are accorded fair treatment in the courts of southern states. No one should be able to perpetrate such a reprehensible deed and go unpunished. Certainly the guilt or innocence of the prisoner had nothing to do with the wrong committed. The prisoner had no defense against the beating that resulted in his death nine days later in a Memphis hospital.

Fortunately not all courts are like this Mississippi court but as long as there are society has an obligation and a responsibility to see to it that incidents like this are not repeated. They are nothing to be proud of.

State Farmer

livestock made up more than 50 percent of the state's total receipts.

Alabama's agriculture today is continuing to change in the direction of greater farm productivity and higher individual farm incomes. A major factor contributing to this change is the present rate of development of the state's livestock industry.

Current trends toward increased acreages and expanded production of feed grains, forage crops and pastures are likely to continue in Alabama for many years. Current conditions and the outlook for the future seem to strongly favor a further expansion in the relative importance of livestock in the state.

In The Week's News

The U. S. submarine Nautilus made history last week when the atomic-powered undersea vessel charted a new passage beneath the North Pole. The skipper, Cmdr. William R. Anderson, was flown to Washington Friday from a point off Iceland where he received congratulations and decorations for himself and crew from President Eisenhower. He then flew to England to board his submarine before it reached Portland, 10 miles southwest of London early this week.

It was anybody's guess whether or not the 85th Congress would adjourn this week. Many members of both houses expressed the hope it would be Saturday though there is a big stack of unfinished business and some felt they might still be in session at the beginning of next week.

W. L. Longshore, Jr., Republican nominee for governor of Alabama, Saturday opened his campaign against Democratic nominee Atty. Gen. John Patterson. Longshore is a 33-year-old Birmingham attorney and son of U. S. Atty. W. L. Longshore, Sr.

United States and British sources said Saturday that there was little likelihood of war between Nationalist forces on Formosa and Red China despite tension between the two sides. The Nationalists claim the Reds are threatening invasion of nearby islands and moving in jet bases on the mainland opposite Formosa. Communists picture the U. S. as backing an invasion by Nationalist forces.

Hope for farm legislation died this year with the defeat of the House farm bill, according to Speaker Sam Rayburn, who declared, "We have been up and down hill as many times as I care to go this year." The present program for 1959 calls for sharp acreage cuts in cotton and rice for the South's farmers.

Teamster Union chief James R. Hoffa last week told Senate investigators that "fortunate" horse race bets were responsible for the $60,322 in extra income he received from 1948 to 1956. Hoffa, in a shouting match with members of the Senate Rackets Committee denied he ever received any part of an alleged $17,500 payoff that Detroit laundry owners claim they gave a labor consultant friend of Hoffa's to settle a labor dispute.

Frank Kierdorf, 56, Teamster Union business agent was described as a "human torch" when he staggered into St. Joseph Mercy Hospital in Pontiac, Mich., last week suffering from extensive burns when his oil soaked clothing was ignited. He died still insisting two men lured him from his home, soaked his clothing with oil and ignited it. However, Michigan's Attorney General Paul L. Adams said it was his opinion Kierdorf was the victim of accidental burning when trying to set fire to a dry cleaning establishment which was burned the same night Kierdorf turned up.

John Angelo LaMarca, 33, died in the electric chair at Sing Sing prison last Thursday night for the kidnap-slaying of the 33-day old Weinberger baby in Westbury, N. Y. on July 4, 1956. LaMarca's attorneys appealed to Governor Harriman but were denied clemency.

Farm Bureau Is Concerned Over Cotton Acreage

Randolph Anticipates Cut In 1959 Acreage In Light Of Present Estimates

Walter L. Randolph, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation, today expressed "grave concern" over the fact that this morning's cotton crop report, as issued by the United States Department of Agriculture, will require the Secretary of Agriculture to make a "more drastic cut in 1959 cotton acreage allotments than anticipated."

Randolph said a national cotton allotment of only 13 3/4 million acres would be a "severe blow" to the nation's cotton producers.

The Alabama Farm Bureau chief and American FFB vice president declared that the threatened 22-percent cut in cotton acreage will not occur if legislation as already passed by the Senate is passed by the House of Representatives and signed by the President.

"This bill is now pending in the House," Randolph said. "But it can't be passed unless the House leadership and the Rules Committee make it the order of business so that members will be able to vote on it."

Randolph said the cotton crop report means that if legislation is not passed during this session of Congress, the 1959 allotment will be cut 22 percent to approximately 13 3/4 million acres.

He added that, on the basis of current information, the national rice allotment may be cut as much as 45 percent next year, bringing serious trouble to rice growers in the south and west.

"Contrary to rumors," he said, "the general counsel of the Department of Agriculture has said that present law will not permit the Department to increase the national cotton allotment for 1959."

"These circumstances under line the importance of action by the House of Representatives now," he said. "The House should move promptly to pass a farm bill that will not only avoid disastrous cuts in acreage allotments for cotton and rice but also permit prices of these commodities to be sufficiently competitive to move the production from increased allotments into consumption."

Seedlings To Be Made Available

Landowners In County Should Make Application At County Agent's Office

By O. R. COBB, Forest Ranger
Through cooperative efforts the Alabama Division of Forestry distributed 395,000 Loblolly pine seedlings during the 1957-58 planting season. This year we anticipate having an additional 200,000 or 595,000 seedlings to distribute to landowners in Lauderdale county. I urge you to place your application for seedlings at an early date. You may place your application at our office in the Coop Building on South Seminary Street or contact your County Agent.

As you know, there was a charge for the seedlings last year and due to the high cost of production seedlings for 1958-59 planting season will cost $4.00 per thousand. The payment procedure will be handled as it was last year, that is, the applicant will be billed by the State Forester after the seedlings have been delivered. Upon receipt of the bill, the applicant should send his full payment to the State Forester in Montgomery, Alabama. The maximum allotment is 50,000 and only Loblolly pine are available from TVA Nursery. However, several other species are available from the State Nursery.

Our lookout tower is completed. It is located west of Savannah Highway near Stewartville. I will be glad to go with any group to look at the tower. I can be reached at my office telephone AT 2-4382 or at my residence AT 2-2078.

Jobless Worker Payments Down From June Total

Largest Decline Noted In Manufacturing Industries Employees

Payments to about 41,000 jobless workers covered by the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Law amounted to $2,872,803 during July, Arthur D. Kelly, Director of the Department of Industrial Relations, announced today. This was 4.4 percent below the June figure and the fourth straight month that payments have shown a decrease. During the same month of last year, $1,304,839 was paid out in unemployment benefits.

Manufacturing industries accounted for a major portion of the reduction from June. The largest declines were noted in payments to workers identified with the textile, transportation equipment and primary metals groups.

Final payments dropped by nearly 700 to total 5,272, the first time in nearly a year that the number of persons exhausting benefits has shown a decrease from the previous month.

Initial claims, an index to new unemployment, were filed by 24,811 person roughly 50 percent more than filed during June. Vacation shutdowns in the apparel, textile, primary metals and coal mining industries contributed heavily to the sharp rise in claims. A lesser gain of 6.9 percent brought claims for continued unemployment to 173,546.

In mid-July, 7.5 percent of the workers covered by the Alabama Unemployment Compensation Law claimed benefits. One year ago, the rate was 3.7 percent.

Unemployed veterans and Federal workers received $329,816 in

Average Earnings Basis For Benefits

The basis for figuring the amount of social security benefits is the provision in the Social Security Act that says all benefits are based on the amount of an individual's average earnings.

Benefits for dependent members of a person's family are also based on his average earnings. The higher the average, the higher the benefit and the dependent's benefits. An individual worker's benefit ranges from a minimum of $30 per month ($24 for women at 62) to a maximum of $108.50.

unemployment benefits during July. Both of these programs are financed entirely from Federal funds.

The Alabama State Employment Service made 7,440 nonfarm job placements and 11,684 farm placements during the month. At the end of July, 57,739 jobseekers were registered with local offices of the Employment Service.

Platt, minister, read the vows following choral selections led by Edward Warren, director of music at Mars Hill Bible School.

Ivy entwined the arch which spanned the altar and great arrangements of white gladioli stood at either side. Branched candelabra held burning tapers to light the bridal scene.

Mr. Cox gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of satin and lace featured a redingote, with full-gathered skirt extending into a short train. A tulle and pearl headpiece held her full-length veil of illusion and a white orchid topped her white satin bride's Bible.

Mrs. John Stacey of St. Petersburg, Florida, was dressed in blue crystalline to serve her sister as matron of honor. Bridesmaids wearing pink were Miss Mary Ann Stovall, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sandra Stacey, also of St. Petersburg. Their Princess-length and tiny veils were attached to their matching headpieces. Ribbon streamers cascaded from their French nosegays of asters.

The bridegroom, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Stovall, was attended by his father as best man. Ushers were Walter Stovall of Birmingham and William Cox, Jr., brother of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Cox were reception hosts after the ceremony at their home on West Irvine Avenue, inviting family members and members of the bridal party to be their guests.

The Reverend Lewis E. Kelley, pastor, read the five o'clock service following nuptial music presented by Miss Faye Vines and Tommy Smith.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, Edgar Allen Poe, wore white lace and net over satin, the scalloped neckline of her dress outlined with pearls and the long sleeves pointed at the hands. May Ann Flynt Weds Eddie Rogers Myrick Myriad candles burned in tiered arrangement to light the altar in North Wood Methodist Church for the late twilight ceremony on Saturday August ninth, which united in marriage May Ann Flynt and Eddie Rogers Myrick. Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. Estes Reid Flynt, 417 North Pine Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Glen Ed Myrick of Lawrenceburg, Tennessee.

The Reverend John M. Shores, former minister of the church and now of Winfield, read the seven o'clock vows. Nuptial music was by J. B. Webb, organist, and Mrs. J. Will Young and Robert W. Sandlin, vocalists.

White blossoms against a background of greenery formed the setting before which the bride was given in marriage by her father. Her gown of Alencon lace and tulle was fashioned with low, rounded neckline, sleeves tapering to points at the wrists, and a voluminous skirt which flowed into a short train. Her veil of double illusion fell from a bandeau of pearls and her bouquet was fashioned of white rosebuds.

Attendants were Mrs. Jack Cooley of New Orleans, Miss Rosemary Myrick of Lawrenceburg, sister of the bridegroom, Miss Faye Toney and Miss Joanne Hammond. Janet Hewett was flower girl. Miss Ramsey Waddell Bride Of Dwight Plott

A late afternoon ceremony in First Baptist Church of Rogersville marked the exchange of marriage vows between Harriet Ramsey Waddell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Oswald Waddell, and Dwight Morgan Plott, son of Mrs. Gilbert Plott on Saturday, August ninth.

The tableau formed before a candlelighted altar setting of all-white blossoms against a background of Southern smilax and woodwanda ferns. The Reverend Ralph Wilson, pastor of the church, was assisted in the double ring ceremony by the Reverend W. E. Calvert of Spruce Pine following a program of nuptial music presented by William Nugent of Birmingham and Dean Fetter of Ashland.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. The fitted bodice of her white satin gown was distinguished by a V-shaped yoke of Chantilly lace with rounded neckline, long sleeves that came to points over the hands detailed with small self-covered buttons, and a very full skirt which extended into a chapel train. Her veil of silk illusion cascaded from a tiara of pearl florets and she carried a crescent of white roses with a white orchid at its center.

Miss Joy Pitman of Dothan, the bride's roommate at Howard College, served maid of honor and her sister, Mary Lou Waddell, and cousin, Harriet Webb of Jackson, Tennessee, were bridesmaids. Candlelighters were cousins, Cora Sue and Priscilla Ann Waddell.

Their waltz-length frocks of cotton satin were fashioned similar to the bride's; the honor attendant wearing white, the bridesmaids and candlelighters in pink. Each carried a single long-stemmed red rose.

Robert LeMay of Birmingham was Mr. Plott's best man and ushers were Morris McKee, Lanier Calvert and Charles Douglas, the latter of Birmingham.

Following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Waddell honored the bridal couple with a reception in the gardens of their home. THE SPILLWAY

A FLORENCE HERALD... from 'way back...
A pretty story tells...
It's of a Queen... and Royal Court...
Of lovely Southern belles...

IT'S MUCH MORE than that... really... and it's interesting reading... It relates a celebration of our townfolk such as is holding forth in Colbert County as of now... and 'twas brought to our minds by an anonymous reader... (Many thanks... dear friend)...

TAKING PLACE ON THE 8th and 9th and 10th of August 1918... the FLORENCE CENTENNIAL is remembered as an occasion both festive and historical... The Centennial Queen... Lady Ruth Whitaker (who has since added SELF to her name)... was attended by King (the late) Will Mitchell... and her court consisted of Lucy Harper Gilbert (Wagstaff)... Annie Rowell Hood (Johnson)... Eliza King (Smith)... and Martha Ashcraft (Gilbert)...

MAYOR AT THAT TIME was (the late) Marcus Stricklin who presented the keys of the city along with some pretty word-bouquets... mentioning among other nice phrases "the sunshine of your Royal smiles"...

THE QUEEN IN TURN accepted prettily... issuing a decree that during the three-day celebration her subjects should "lay aside all cares save those of our beloved country..." (The date... you'll remember... preceded the World War I armistice)... WE WERE PROUD of our newspaper as we fingered through yowled pages to take this backward look...

PROMINENT IN THE social news of the above-mentioned period we found the G.O.S.T. Club... a group of Florence lovelies who've continued to be JUST THAT through the years... as a nice sprinklin' of the originals have remained in our midst... (There're Marguerite Johnson Hackworth and Clyde Willingham Tyree here in Florence... and Harper Gilbert Wagstaff just across the river... Also Louise Karr Hall in near-by Decatur)... Members kept close their secret of those four initials... and to this good day it has not been divulged... "though an admirer once remarked that she believed it to be "Girls Of The Silver Tongue"...

BOUNCING BACK to the present... We're told it was London... but it's a breath of Paris to Southall... home from six months' schooling in London, England... and looking every inch the chic-est Parisienne ever... We hope you saw her as she strolled to church Sunday morning... wearing small red-banded sailor hat with streamers which bounced as she bounced... dress that was NO SACK (we're glad to relate)... and a complete eye-fun of delightful charms... We think this is ONE observation with which you'll all agree...

ALSO LANDING in New York today... (we're writing on Monday)... Alberta Rogers and Corinne Acker were guided past some of the more turbulent spots on their dream trip... They will have arrived in Florence ere we go to press... and we'll be waiting with open arms to greet this charming pair...

PLANNING AN EARLY September leaving-taking... Ethlyn and (Doctor) Harry Simpson went on a journeying... Brussels (we're told) is one of the stops they'll make... and we bet a pretty penny they'll re-visit some of the spots which spell ROMANCE to them... ("Twas in France that they met and became engaged... you know...")

ALSO MAKING TRIPPING plans is Hildreth Levin... "They haven't jelled"... she tells us... 'tho Dame Rumor whispers that she'll leave New York Sunday for a flight to Paris... and she'll visit seven countries before she returns... We'll follow in wishful thinking... as we extend our HAPPY LANDINGS to this delightful Florentine...

HAIL AND FAIRWELL... The HAIL is ever so much more delightful... And THAT'S the kind o' party Corinne Rogers is having tomorrow morning... how glad we'll be to see those two Globe-trotters... Alberta Rogers and Corinne Acker... who just barely hit home soil... having had their journeying cut short by an alert tour manager who warned against the more turbulent trouble spots...

JUST IN CASE you're wondering... the new boat you've seen plying the lake-front of late is owned by our charming and very affable friend Bert Lamar... The Marge-and-Fred Osborns have offered a boat slip... and that's where it rests when not in use (which isn't often)... We accepted with gusto our invitation for a moonlight cruise on a recent evening... and we're approachable for a like event at any given moment... (Just be SURE you have a spot for us when you ask... Bert)...

OUR RED CARPET was spread during the past week for the "Ashcraft girls"... as Estelle Ashcraft Harrison was here from Montgomery with her delightful hubby Stuart and lovely daughter Martha... simultaneously with charming Mary Ashcraft Moore from New Orleans... while (Captain) Tommy's wife... Jean... is meeting and being met by admiring Florentines... Engaging chit-chat was heard and gay camaraderie enjoyed at Helen Williams' luncheon at her pleasant apartment on Friday... and The Town Club brunch hostessed by Nita Bassel and Pauline Wiggins on Saturday was another among the number of gay events... Many other courtesies rounded out a memorable week...

OUR VERY BEST wishes attend the Simmonses... Doris and Bob... as they honeymoon in Nassau... The news of this marriage shouldn't have surprised you... (we sounded an early warning)... We now sound a prophecy that their home on Hickory Hills Road will be a dream place... We think Doris may have done a bit of "arranging" in recent weeks... And the patio "out back" is OUR DREAM of the perfect spot for relaxin' on a Summer evening...

AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodbye... until more news comes through The Spillway...

James D. Farley, seaman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. Farley of Waterloo, and husband of Mrs. Mary Farley of Long Beach, Calif., aboard the destroyer USS Alfred A. Cunningham, returned July 21 to Long Beach, Calif., with Destroyer Division 131 after six-months duty in the Western Pacific.

Division 31 steamed about 39,000 miles during the overseas tour which took them to Pago Pago, American Samoa and Wellington, New Zealand. In addition, they visited Hong Kong, Okinawa and ports in Japan.

Let's
Over
By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
I am engaged to be married soon and am very much in love with my young man, though I, too, have a problem. My fiancé's profession is such that the services of a stenographer are necessary, and the very efficient young girl in his office is also very pretty. Now, I am far from pretty, though I do have style and I do dress well. It is not necessary for me to work (a job, I mean), though some of my good friends are "working girls," including the one employed by my fiancé.

The problem is that a number of times in the last few weeks I have been asked how I am going to feel about my husband being constantly exposed to this lovely girl. And so I am beginning to wonder. Do you think I should ask him to make a change? I wouldn't want him to think I don't trust him. I want to do everything possible to make our marriage click. Please give me your advice.

Dear Anxious,
You wouldn't want him to think you don't trust him. But DO you, actually? If so, why worry? Just give your inquisitors a gay smile and say, "But he thinks I am beautiful. Hadn't you heard?"

And he probably does at that. There are so many kinds of beauty, and a pretty face is not what every man is looking for.

Besides, just getting her out of his office (in case he's interested) would be no solution. Altho I'll bet both you and I know a great many women who desperately wish it were.

I suggest that you guard against allowing suspicion to enter in. Be a loving and lovable wife, trusting as well as trustworthy. I can see no reason why you should start by looking for trouble.

Dear Sara Saze,
It's getting close to the time of year when hay fever hits me like a ton of brick. I've tried all the remedies but it looks like nothing helps. All though the late Summer and Fall I suffer until I can hardly stand it.

If anything has come to your attention that you think might be helpful to me, I'd be glad to know. For the next two and a half months I'll be afflicted so I can't half work.

Thanks.

"Joe Doe."

Dear J. D.,
I searched through the helpful material which comes regularly to me and learned a great many facts about hay fever and asthma sufferers.

You may find help in a leaflet put out by a practicing allergist. Write for it to the Public Service Division, Blue Cross Commission, 425 N. Michigan Ave., Chicago 11, Illinois. Ask for their 7-page publication BREATHE EASY. Send 10c for a single copy.

Leo Views
the College Campus
By Dottie McRae

After what seems like several millennia (not quite three weeks), the grades have been released. Now we have approximately four weeks to get ready for the fall semester.

The campus is terribly quiet and peaceful—except for the maintenance crews, the members of the administration, a few sight-seeing prospective students, and certain members of the "Flor-Ala" staff, the campus is deserted.

Well, there is one other personage on the campus, old "Turris," but ghosts aren't very good company during the day.

It won't be this peaceful for very long. FSC registrar, C. M. Arehart is looking for an enrollment of somewhere between 1600 and 1650 (last year's was 1521). Of these, about 500 ought to be new freshmen, and about 100 transfer students.

Greeting new and old students this September will be hard-topped parking areas in front of Wesleyan Hall, next to Rogers Hall, behind Keller Hall, and on two sides of the audio-visual building.

None of the parking areas will be really new—they were started during the spring semester, they just weren't finished until last week. A couple of the old ones have been resurfaced too.

This year's football programs are almost ready to go to press. I hope the football team is as early getting ready as the programs—hope it looks as good too.

In June, 1958, all major pattern companies adopted a new standard of measurements for pattern-making, which are based on five different figure types.

When framing pictures, remember that a wide, rough-textured, bold, heavy, glossy, or dull-colored mat adds apparent weight to a picture.

TAXES... we pay them, too!

Your publicly-owned electric distribution system is not exempt from taxes as some people claim. Each year we make tax equivalent payments to local governments. Of course, we don't pay federal income taxes because those taxes are on profits. Your power system is a non-profit business, operating only to provide good electric service at low rates.

Retail Sales Up In May Shown

In Lauderdale County, the April 1958 to May 1958 per cent of change for sales at retail was a 7.5 hike while the May 1957 to May 1958 decline was 1.9 per cent.

In its publication "Retail Trade" the Bureau notes that Alabama May retail sales topped the national average by one per cent. With the exception of hardware and farm implements, in which sales were unchanged, all of the state's retail categories showed increased sales during May.

The greatest gain was in furniture, furnishings, and appliances where sales rose 18 per cent. Automotive sales were also considerably higher than during recent months and both drug stores and general stores reported impressive gains. Eating places and gasoline service stations once again extended their long upward trend of sales.

Continuing to build more homes than any other region, the South was the only section to show an increase of homes built in 1957 over those built in 1956.

Tax Estimates Need Checking

Lenders and builders in the GI home loan program should make sure that reasonably accurate tax estimates are given to veteran-buyers and reported to the Veterans Administration, Harley A. Smith, Manager of the Alabama VA Regional Office, said today.

In some areas, he explained, lenders and builders have erroneously estimated real estate taxes and special assessments when negotiating with veteran-buyers, and when submitting loan applications to the VA.

By this practice, Mr. Smith said, the veteran is faced with meeting a substantially higher monthly payment shortly after closing the loan than he originally was informed he would have to pay.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	8	12
Monday	John	1	14
Tuesday	Matthew	5	14-16
Wednesday	Colossians	5	8
Thursday	1 Thessalonians	5	8
Friday	Daniel	6	10-23
Saturday	Malachi	3	10

Over the altar of a church in Philadelphia this huge window tells the story of the life of Christ. But it speaks only to those who gaze upon it reverently.

Through the centuries the Holy Bible has revealed to men the Light of the World... but only to those who will read it and hear it preached.

Every day a wondrous light seems to shine in the faces of those whose hearts have been touched by God. And amid the turmoil of our worldly confusion we are transfixed again and again by the warm glow of someone's Christian countenance.

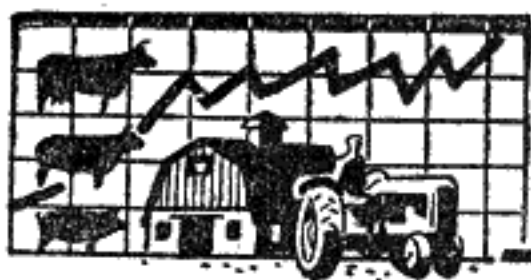

These too are windows of God.

This light could shine from our faces as well. That's why the Church seeks us all.

Farm Review and Forecast

Alabama Cotton Forecast Aug. 1 400,000 Bales

A 1958 cotton crop of 400,000 bales is forecast for Alabama based on conditions as of August 1. This is 130,000 bales or approximately 25 percent less than the 1957 crop and is less than half the 10-year (1947-56) average production of 884,000 bales. Participation in the Soil Bank program accounts for the relatively small 1958 cotton crop. Acreage for harvest, estimated at 544,000 is the smallest of record for Alabama, and indicated production is the lowest since 1888. Yield per acre for the State, indicated at 353 pounds of lint cotton, is 7 pounds above last year and compares with the 10-year average yield of 307 pounds. The 1958 indicated yield is far below the record 1955 yield of 478 pounds of lint cotton per acre.

The crop was planted late in most northern and central areas. Abundant rainfall in all areas has resulted in rank growth and some lowland areas were flooded out. Cotton insects are causing some damage, but infestation is not as heavy as might be expected with the wet season. The rainy weather has forced control programs off schedule and the rank growth makes it difficult to get effective coverage when insecticides are applied. The first bale of 1958 cotton was ginned in south Alabama just prior to August 1.

In 1930, the average worker could buy a quart of milk with 15 minutes of labor. In 1940, 12 minutes were required and in 1956, only 7 minutes.

PAVED BARNLOTS PAY

In muddy lots cattle use up energy that could have gone into extra weight gains. A concrete paved strip along side the feed bunk means more beef from each pound of feed, Purdue University agricultural researchers report.

Beef cattle kept out of the mud will gain extra pounds. When the cattle have a firm footing they put on more weight than when they have to wade around in muddy yards, say animal husbandry research men at Purdue University.

This and other valuable research information was made available to farmers, stockmen and agricultural editors attending Purdue's 1958 CATTLE FEEDERS' DAY. A copy of the full research report on the paved versus unpaved strips is available on request to the Portland Cement Association, 1214 South 20th St., Birmingham 5, Ala.

Everyone Needs Soil Tests Made

There are several people who need to have a soil test made.

The row-cropper does, says API Extension Agronomist J. C. Lowery, because he must know the condition of his land if he is to add the proper nutrients for producing the best yields.

Then there is the vegetable gardener, for whom it is equally important to provide the land with the correct proportions and amounts of needed elements. "If he is a commercial truck gardener, soil testing should be a regular part of his farm business," said Lowery. "The grower whose vegetable garden is for home use may tend to think a soil test unnecessary on his small plot, but this is altogether wrong. Whether you are cultivating one or one hundred acres," said the specialist, "you still must know how much of what your land needs in order to provide the greatest returns in produce for the money and effort expended on it. Soil testing furnishes just this information."

Had Mary's questioner in the nursery rhyme asked the contrary lass "What makes your garden grow?" the correct, if unpoetic, answer would have been, "Fertilizer—applied in needed amounts." It takes fertility to produce beautiful flowers, and therefore the next

Prepare Now For 1959 Truck Crops

Now is the time to think about next year's yield from truck crops, and how to make it large.

One thing that can make a crucial difference in yield is the condition of the soil. "We know that a large amount of Alabama soil needs lime to bring the pH up to the optimum level for vegetable production," stated John Bagby, API Extension horticulturist. Best truck crops are produced when the pH is between 5.5 and 6.5. "Needed lime should be applied before seeding the winter cover crop," said Bagby. "Besides benefiting the truck crops, lime will also help the growth of legumes such as clover and vetch."

In addition to needing lime, most Alabama soils are low in organic material. Bagby explained that several years' research showed that organic material increases yields in truck crops, and that animal manures are the best form of organic material for this purpose. However, if manure is not available, the same purpose can be served by growing a winter cover crop which is turned under in early spring. Mentioning crimson clover, vetch, and rye as cover crops which give good results, Bagby said, "We are now approaching the season for planting these crops, and recent rains have provided plenty of moisture for land preparation and seed germination."

"To increase yields of truck crops next year, have a soil test made now, apply lime if needed, and plant a cover crop to be turned under next spring," summarized the specialist.

A Little Extra Care Will Save Pigs

The average Alabama hog grower markets seven pigs per litter. If he saved three more pigs, he would increase his profits by 50 percent or more—and with farrowing jackets, light bulbs or a heat lamp, and a little extra care, he could.

Raising big litters to market weight takes more than just luck, says G. B. Phillips, API Extension specialist in animal industry. "And it takes more than just good care at farrowing time, important as that is," he added. "You have to begin with the right kind of breeding stock, and that means selecting for large litter size, right market type, and ability to make rapid and efficient gains. You will find that ear notching at birth and record keeping really pays off—you can't operate by guesswork when you're selecting replacement gilts."

To benefit from hybrid vigor, patron of the soil testing lab is the flower gardener.

Lastly, there is the home-owner who desires the beautiful lawn that enriches a landscape like nothing else does. Turf grasses need potash, lime, and phosphate, too. You can get help with your lawn fertilization problems by having a soil test made.

It's easy to answer the question, "Who needs to have a soil test made?" Everyone who grows things does.

From The Simple Side By THE FARMER'S WIFE

To each his own, you've heard it said—and perhaps you have discovered with the Farmer's Wife the truthfulness in the statement. In recent weeks past, I have felt the necessity of extra time in my daily schedule and therefore this column has been omitted. However, from the Bible came the words to me quite often, that we "neglect not the gift that is within."

If there be a gift within in my soul, it is not mine to hide, nor store away until a more convenient time, but it is mine to share with you, you who have so graciously received the writings of the Farmer's Wife in the past. To each of you who have spoken to me concerning my efforts to write this column since it was begun, I would like to say thank you—and to tell you that it is your remarks which have started me back once more at my typewriter this day. Earlier this day, I was looking through a collection of mine by Ben Burroughs and one column in particular caught my eye—one in which he spoke of those who write, rounding out his column he said "So when you read what some one writes—say a little prayer for them."

That could well be the request of the Farmer's Wife, from each of my readers—for we write not by choice always—but because there is something within which compels us to do so—and only in so doing do we find peace of mind and of soul. May the reader keep these thoughts in mind as we share to gether my future columns in which I express on paper my emotions and thoughts which are no different than yours really—with the exception that it is my responsibility to express them and yours to receive them. May I say too, with Ben Burroughs, that when you read what I write—say a little prayer for me.

A Salute to

LOWNDES COUNTY

Where Chief Red Eagle
Made His Famous
Horseback Leap

Rich in Creek Indian history, Lowndes County was the site of the noted Battle of Ikanatchaka, or "holy ground." Here William Weatherford, the daring half-breed known as Chief Red Eagle, made his famous 50-foot horseback leap into the Alabama River before the merciless onslaught of Gen. Claiborne.

With its economy geared to the rich Black Belt soil, this county's early settlers came largely from South Carolina to develop a way of living in keeping with the finest traditions of the Old South. While modern machinery and agricultural methods spell prosperity for Lowndes County, the graciousness of ante-bellum days still abounds. Its founders chose the name of a beloved South Carolina statesman for their county — William Lowndes.

Down through the years, Alabamians have steadfastly maintained their right to choose — whether it be a name for a county or a type of beverage. Some prefer coffee, tea or milk ... others the light, bright beverages of moderation — beer and ale.

Get a new street quickly and economically with durable, low-cost SOIL-CEMENT

A clean, attractive, smooth-riding street in front of your house increases the value of your property. A dusty, bumpy potholed street is unsightly and unsafe. It is a nuisance to drivers who use it and to property owners who live on it. The constant patching and repairing of such a street is a waste of time, temper and taxes.

If your street is worn-out and run down, it can be converted into an all-weather pavement quickly and economically. Just ask your city officials to pave it with soil-cement. Soil-cement is a combination of soil or granular material usually on the street and portland cement and water. Mixed and compacted, these elements form a rigid, durable base. A bituminous surface completes the pavement.

Soil-cement is economical. Low in first cost, it delivers years of dependable service with a minimum of maintenance.

Soil-cement paving is fast. An experienced crew can pave your entire street in a single day — with practically no inconvenience to you.

Now is the time to pave rough, worn-out streets with soil-cement. It's today's best low-cost-pavement value for residential streets.
