

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

We are indebted to William H. Hendrix, feature editor of The New York Daily News and Lauderdale County's gift to big-time journalism, for the following item: It seems that the news of the impending 100th birthday celebration of a retired Nevada rancher got around and reporters and photographers from as far away as Seattle, San Francisco and Los Angeles were on hand for the big event. The usual questions as to his eating and drinking habits were asked and answered, when a gal reporter explored still further: "You have so much time," she said. "How do you fill it in?" "Readin' a heap," the rugged old fellow said. "I get all the papers, lots of magazines. Fact is, I'm readin' things I read 50 and 75 years ago - Dickens, Washington Irving, Read the Bible a heap, too." The gal had a hunch. "Did you," she purred, "ever read Dr. Kinsey's book on the behavior of the human female?" "Certainly," he said. "Fact is, I read it twice." "What do you think of it?" was her follow-up. "Not much. Part of it I knew already. A lot more of it I had suspected a long time. But most of it I found out too late for it to do me any good."

The manufacturers of electric razors are missing one of the best advertising features of their products, we have learned. The good wife, scrapping and saving, raked up enough to buy us an electric razor as a Christmas gift. We had been leary of the contraptions for years but had we known that it was possible to get a shave while wearing your bifocals, a process difficult with the latter system, we would have invested on our own years ago.

The United States government can print dollar bills, on recently installed new presses, nearly four times as fast as on the old machines. We imagine that the new presses were made necessary since it requires twice as many dollars now to go as far as those printed a few years ago.

Two old boys, who attended an evening tea, met the next morning and were discussing the affair. "Those cakes Alice baked were hard as iron," one remarked. "You know," replied the other, "I suspected as much for when she passed them around she said, 'Take your pick.'"

To sit in on a meeting of the stockholders of a large and influential bank is a real experience and it is a shame that more of the "owners" do not take the trouble to attend and learn of the intricate operations that bring them their dividends. At the meeting of the stockholders of the First National Bank Tuesday afternoon, 2,870 shares of stock were represented by the handful of shareholders attending. Although it was said that the largest number of individual stockholders to attend in years were present, still the 21,819 shares represented by proxies paid an indirect compliment to the bank officials as apparently they felt their holdings were in good hands and their presence was not needed. Of special interest to us was the manner in which the success of this institution reflects the general prosperity of the many thousands in this area that it serves.

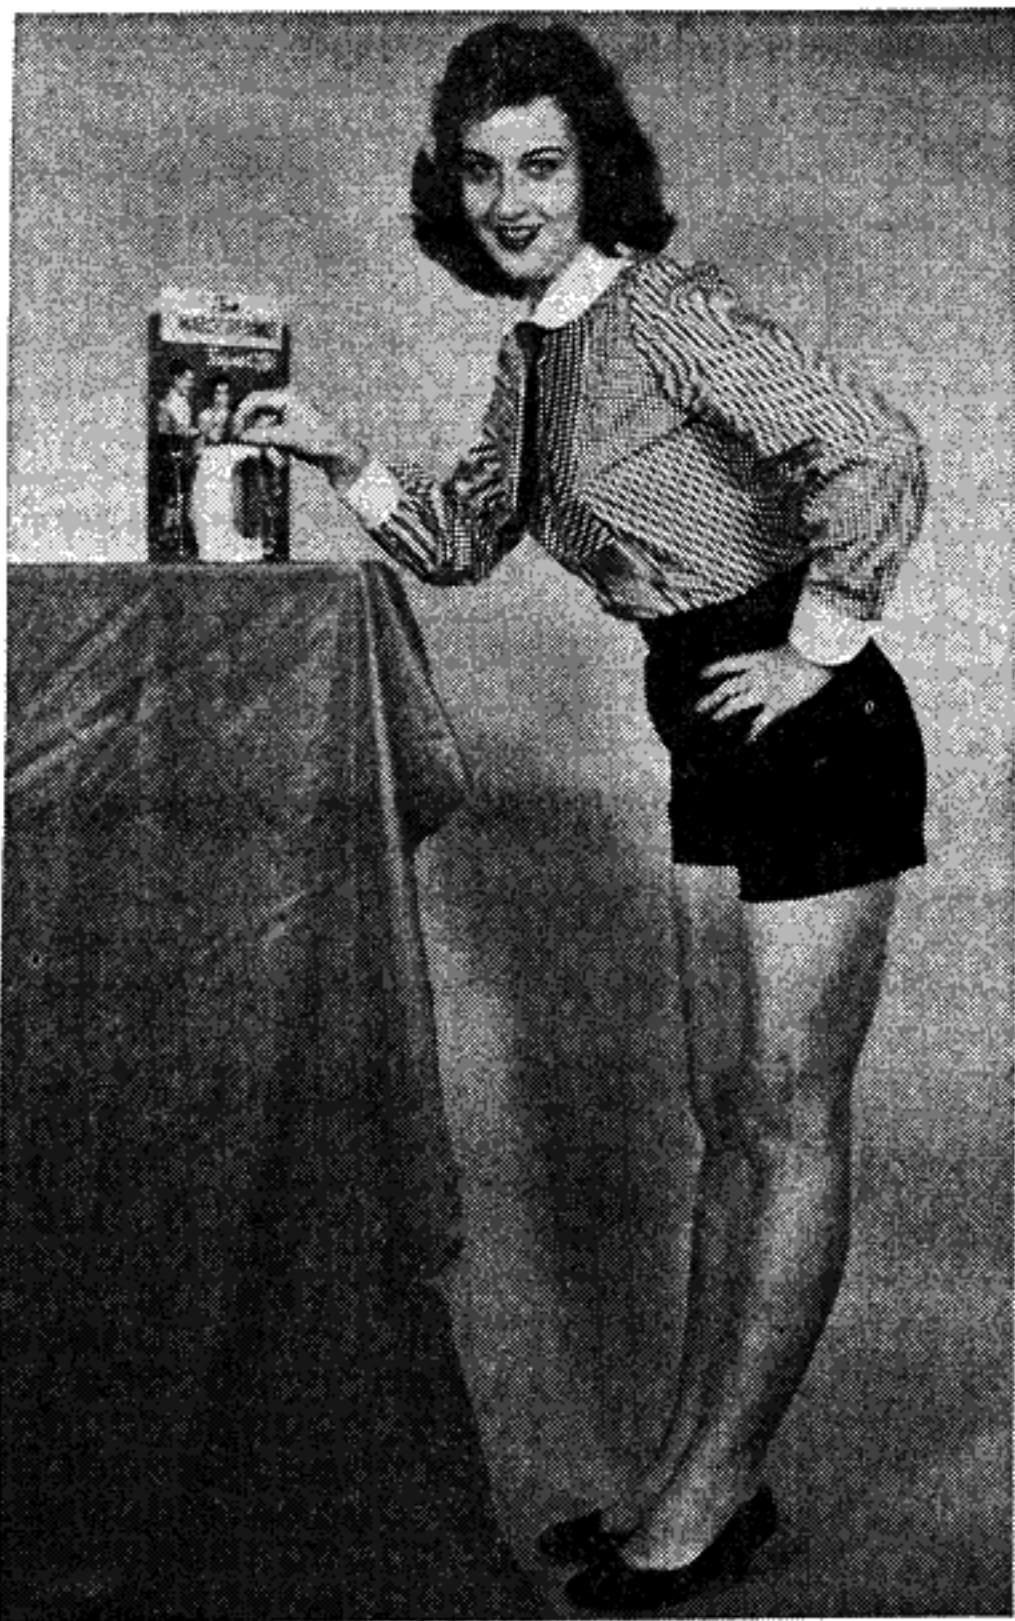

The young couple were just leaving the church after the ceremony. As they sped away, the groom relaxed, stretched and yawned, smiled at his new bride and said: "Now honey, about that nonsense of you quitting your job..."

It was one of those sermons in which the minister waxed eloquent. He told of the Great Flood of the Bible and moralized on its modern operation. He stressed how those who perished had not seen the way and that they had not opened their hearts, nor had they done their duty to further mankind. Following the sermon, a parishioner walked up to the minister and thanked him for the timely message and the reminder. "I'm sorry haven't been to church more often recently and the plight of the flood sufferers has touched me. You may put me down for $10 as my share in helping these unfortunate victims."

Every person who has delivered an address before a meeting of any kind will appreciate the thoughts of the man who, on his return from the meeting, was asked by the fond wife: "How was your talk tonight?" "Which one," he retorted, "the one I was going to give, the one I did give or the one I delivered so brilliantly to myself on the way home in the car?"

If the directors of the missile and satellite programs of the U.S. armed services don't get on the ball, some teen-ager will have a satellite circling this old earth and make the so-called experts look a little sheepish.

We are advised that both Rye (N. Y.) and Bourbon (Indiana) are real hic towns.

TVA Self-Financing Is Favored By Eisenhower

President Stipulates However That Congress Should Control Spending

In his budget message President Eisenhower said both the Senate and House have under consideration bills that would authorize the Tennessee Valley Authority to issue revenue bonds to pay for construction. He added that he hoped action on "appropriate legislation" would be speedily concluded in order that the TVA may be in a position to meet approved needs for new generating facilities, "with the Congress still retaining budgetary control of the program."

Mr. Eisenhower asked the Congress to appropriate $16,850,000 to add to a carry-over balance of $2,207,000 to make up the $19,057,000 needed from the federal treasury for over-all operations. To the above figure Mr. Eisenhower's budget said would be added $91,375,000 from TVA revenue funds to make up the total of $101,193,000 needed to continue work on the eight current generating projects.

Mr. Eisenhower noted that the budget contained provisions for the use of $125,000,000 from bonds sales for new construction if the self-financing plan is approved by Congress.

The self-financing plan bogged down in the last session of Congress largely because of the congressional control provision opposed by the Authority's supporters.

Present construction of power units by TVA would bring the total capacity to approximately 11,250,000 kilowatts by the winter of 1960-61, it was stated. However it was estimated that additional units with a total capacity of between 600,000 and 1,200,000 kilowatts would be needed for power required by the winter of 1961-62.

However the budget only provided for the $125,000,000 for new construction if and when the self-financing plan is passed with a reappraisal of requirements after Congress has acted.

The budget estimated transportation savings to shippers using the TVA waterways at $20,000,000 representing the difference between freight charges actually paid and that which would have been obtained had the river not been improved for navigation. Costs for navigation in 1959 were estimated at $10,274,000 and provide primarily for construction of the lock at Wilson Dam scheduled to be in service in April 1959.

Farmers Jam ASC Office To Sign For Soil Bank

Nearly 600 Of 3,300 County Growers Have Agreed To Cut Cotton Acreage

Nearly 600 Lauderdale County cotton growers - approximately one-fifth of those eligible - had signed agreements by mid-morning Wednesday to place in the Soil Bank acreage reserve the land they formerly devoted to cotton.

And, said L. H. Rickard, office manager of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation agency here, he and his associates have no idea when the flood of applications will slow down.

A total of 482 agreements were signed Monday and Tuesday, the first two days of the sign-up period, and by 10:30 Wednesday morning another 100 had been processed.

Rickard, like virtually all ASC office heads, was apparently unprepared for the response farmers have made to Secretary Benson's proposal to pay them for taking cotton out of cultivation. In Athens, for instance, there was such a crowd of farmers seeking to sign acreage reserve agreements that police had to be called out to handle the traffic around the courthouse square. It was also reported minor fights broke out among them.

"The participation here is enormous," O. McConnell, Colbert ASC manager declared, predicting that acreage placed in the Soil Bank this year will easily double that in the 1956 agreement.

Meanwhile, Rickard and his personnel are trying to make the sign-up process as orderly and convenient as possible. Numbers are given out to farmers by an office employee between five and six o'clock each morning. Thus, if a farmer has an extra high number he knows he might as well spend the rest of the day at work or elsewhere.

The ASC manager here said he and the county committee do not know at this time what the total acreage reserve fund for this county will be, but that there is a limit of $3,000 each producer may receive. Some 3,300 farms in the county are eligible for Soil Bank payments, while the 1958 Lauderdale County cotton acreage allotment is about 28,000.

Rickard said farmers may make application for placing their former cotton land in the Soil Bank until March 7, or until the exact amount of the county's allocation is signed for.

Office hours observed by the ASC are from 8 a. m. until 5 p. m. daily except Saturday and Sunday.

Rufus Hibbett To Succeed Powell As Head City Schools

Appointment Effective July 1st For Former Teacher and Coach

The City Board of Education of the City of Florence announced the appointment of Rufus G. Hibbett, Sr., as Superintendent of Education for the Florence City Schools effective July 1, 1958. Mr. Hibbett will succeed J. W. Powell who has served as Superintendent of Education since 1932 and who will retire voluntarily under the provisions of the Teachers Retirement Act.

Mr. Hibbett was actively associated with the Florence City Schools from 1923 until 1945. He served as science teacher and coach at Coffee High School; as principal of Florence Junior High School; and as principal of Coffee High School. During this period Mr. Hibbett was a summer professor at Florence State College for six years. Later, Mr. Hibbett served as a member of the City Board of Education.

Has AB, Masters
Mr. Hibbett was graduated from Cumberland University in 1923 with an AB degree and received his Master's Degree in education from Columbia University in 1935.

Since 1945, Mr. Hibbett has engaged in private business in Florence and has devoted himself to the civic affairs of the community. Among his civic responsibilities have been the following: Member of the Board of Commissioners of the City of Florence since 1955; Scout Master for sixteen years, being honored with the Silver Beaver Award; member of Florence Recreation Board; member of Lauderdale County Draft Board; member of Florence Housing Authority Board; member of Florence Planning Board; past president of Florence Rotary Club and director of the Florence Chamber of Commerce.

Mr. Hibbett is an elder and trustee of the Poplar Street Church of Christ. He is the father of seven sons, one of whom presently attends the public schools in Florence, and one of whom is a student at Florence State College. All of Mr. Hibbett's children are residents of Florence except one who lives in California.

Board Makes Statement
In speaking of Mr. Powell's retirement and Mr. Hibbett's appointment, Madeline King, Chairman of the City Board of Education, said:

"The Board of Education regrets the necessity for the retirement of Mr. Powell who has served ably and faithfully for many years. During his 25 years of service, the population of Florence has almost trebled, with a resulting substantial increase in school population. During his administration there have been constructed the Florence Junior High School, Coffee High School, Handy School, Harlan School, and Weeden School, and plans have been made for further increases in the school facilities. The high rating continuously accorded the Florence School System in educational circles is due, in large measure, to his successful administration."

"The Board of Education is gratified indeed to secure as Mr. Powell's successor a man of Mr. Hibbett's ability and qualifications who has had a long and active association with our school system."

Would-Be Voters Have Until Feb. 1 To Pay Poll Taxes

Persons owing poll tax and wishing to vote in this spring's primaries and next fall's general election were reminded today that they have through Feb. 1 to make payment and become eligible to vote.

Tax Collector Weaver Fuqua said earlier this week that, despite contests being on tap this year for county and state offices, only 1925 persons had paid their 1958 poll levy. Last year, an "off year" for elections, a total of 3434 Lauderdale residents paid poll tax.

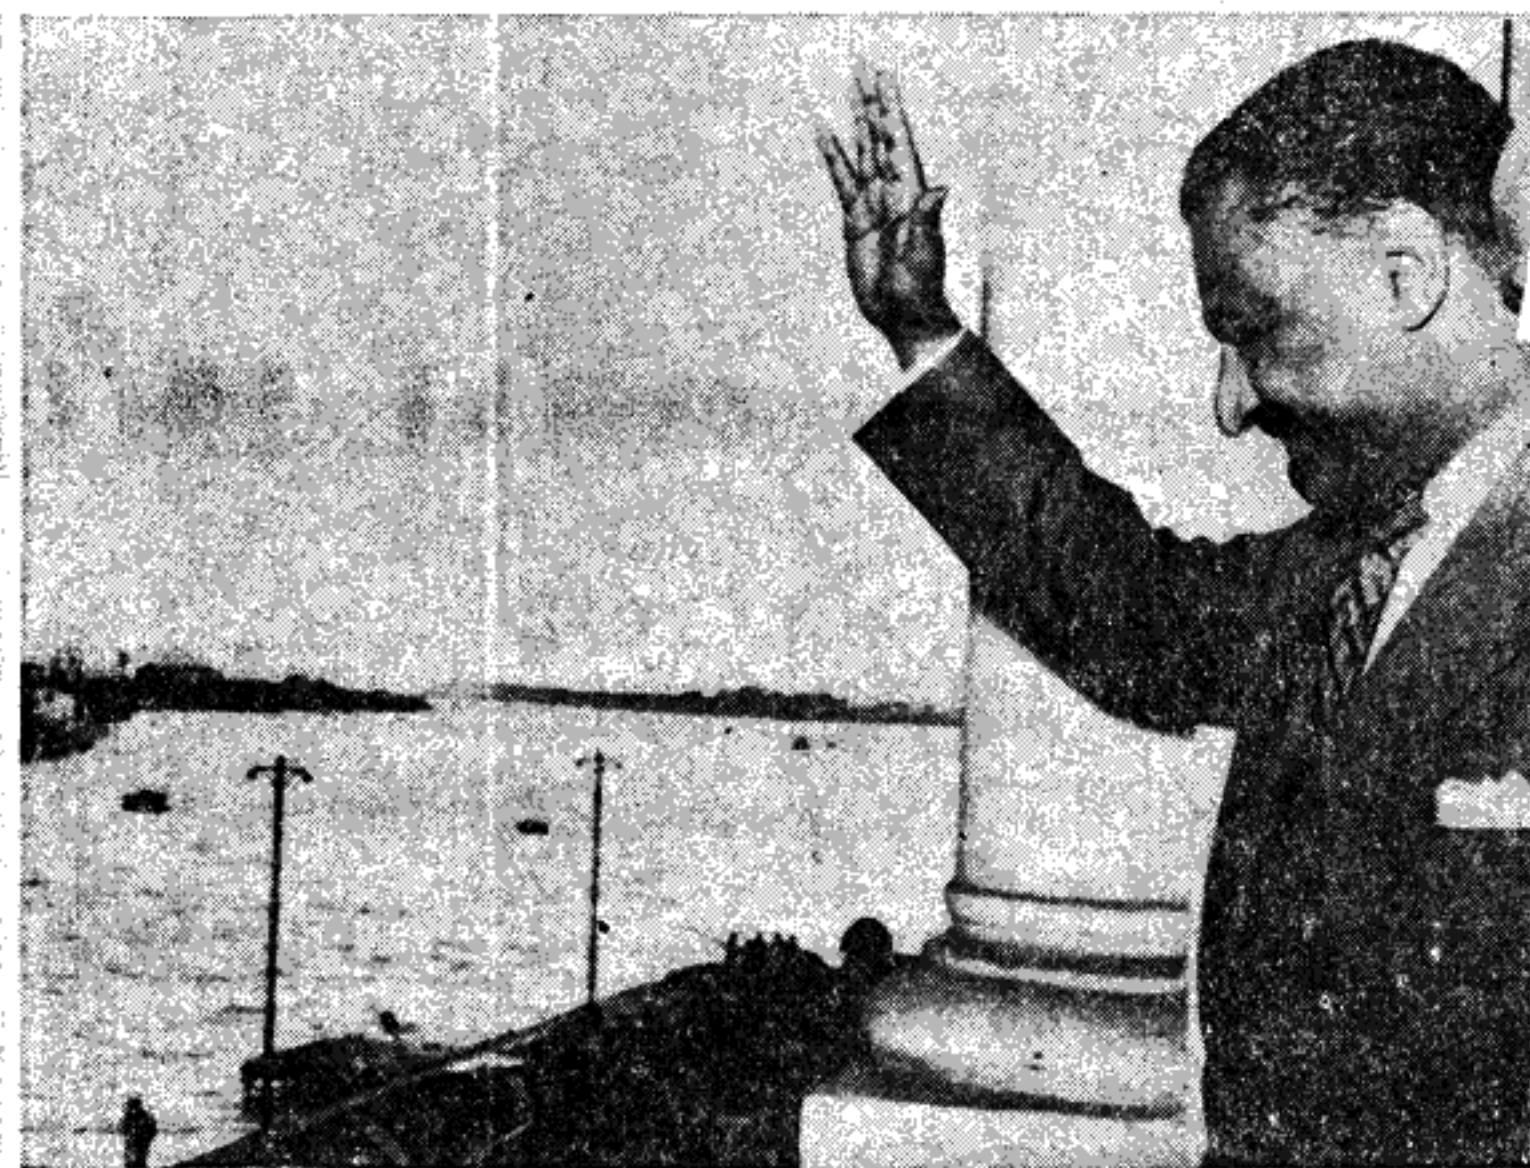

Although Alabama has knocked out the cumulative provision of the poll tax, which required some persons registering for the first time paying as much as $36 to become a voter, the present law requires a maximum payment of $3, or two years' back taxes.

Poll tax payments are turned over to the schools, but provide only a fraction of revenues needed to operate them. Alabama is one of seven states requiring a tax on voting.

STATE NATIONAL CHAIN RE-ELECTS DIRECTORS

All officers and directors of the North Alabama State National Bank chain were re-elected Tuesday at the annual stockholders meeting in Decatur. Among the directors named for another term were Mims Rogers of Florence. Officers from the Florence office of the State National re-elected were Leonard C. Johnson, vice-president; Horace Springer and W. F. Alexander, assistant cashiers.

Alabama Youths Urged To Study Science Courses

February 11 Will Be Science Youth Day Throughout The State

Gov. James E. Folsom has urged Alabama schools and its students to take a far greater interest in science courses since America's "strong scientific position is being seriously challenged."

The Governor says this country has never before more urgently needed "men like Thomas Alva Edison" for example. Governor Folsom made his ideas known in a proclamation which dedicates Feb. 11 as Science Youth Day in Alabama—the 111th anniversary of Edison's birth.

In this proclamation, the Governor makes it quite clear he is as much concerned with the long-range peaceful development of the U.S. in this electronic jet age, as in the immediate necessity for maintaining pace with the needs of national security.

"The inventive genius of Edison," the Governor pointed out, "has immeasurably advanced the frontiers of American science and the welfare of all mankind, and, by creating industries employing millions of people, has added greatly to the technology upon which America's pre-eminence largely rests."

The Chief Executive makes an apparent indirect reference to Russia's Sputniks and associated missile developments by adding: "Recent events have shown this strong scientific position is being seriously challenged."

Governor Folsom points out that Alabama youth, the State's schools, teachers, parents, industries and civic organizations must pull together as a team, so the State can do its share in keeping America secure and progressive. He urges all "to encourage youth to take advantage of the great opportunities of modern science and technology... and lend full support to all activities which dramatize to youth the unique challenges of science and invention in today's expanding universe."

Rogville Pastors Planning Religious Census, Youth Sun.

Members of the Rogersville Ministerial Association made plans at their regular monthly meeting Monday to conduct a religious census of the community at an early date. The pastors met in the First Baptist Church with the Rev. George Eady presiding.

A community-wide observance of Youth Sunday was set for Feb. 2, with young people of all the churches participating. The program for the observance will be planned by youths from each denomination, with Mrs. J. R. Wadell serving as chairman of the adult leaders.

The hour for the Youth Sunday service will be announced later.

Late News

The Army launched its Redstone missile Tuesday night at 8:25 from the Cape Canaveral, Fla., firing base. The launching was successful reports stated. The Redstone is the first stage of the Army's satellitebearing vehicle the Jupiter-S.

The White House has rejected a request that Col. John C. Nickerson be brought back from exile to aid in the defense effort. Nickerson, a missile expert formerly with Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville is now in Panama where he was sent following his court martial on charges that he revealed confidential papers to the Army's Jupiter missile.

The post of Army research and development chief, recently vacated by Lt. Gen. James M. Gavin, has been filled by Lt. Gen. Arthur G. Trudeau, a corps commander in Korea, it was announced Wednesday. Gavin retired effective April 1, despite efforts of his superiors to keep him from doing so. He contended the Army was "deteriorating" despite efforts to bring about changes.

Replying to Soviet Premier Bulganin's peace overtures made recently, President Eisenhower Tuesday made it plain that he was ready to meet in an East-West Summit conference provided Russia would agree to certain provisions. The President urged a far-ranging peace program that would end nuclear weapons manufacture and testing, curtail use of the UN veto and production of space missiles, and dedicate outer space to "the peaceful use of mankind."

Health Officer To Retire July 1

Dr. Henry W. Cheney, Lauderdale County health officer for several years, has confirmed an announcement from Montgomery that he will retire on July 1.

The vacancy here next summer will be filled by appointment by the county health board upon confirmation of the state board when a replacement becomes available. The planned retirement of Dr. Cheney was one of several announced at Montgomery, another being that of Franklin County health officer, Dr. O. W. Underwood.

The board of censors of the Lauderdale County Health Department has announced regret at the impending retirement of Dr. Cheney. Probate Judge H. K. Longshore had this to say of his work here:

"Dr. Cheney's work has been commendable both in planning and in achievement. He has tackled the big job of health and sanitation in the county with calm analysis and hard work and the results prove it."

Funds Requested May Result In Debt Limit Hike

President Eisenhower's Peacetime budget sent to Congress on last Thursday was just short of 14 billion dollars, approximately two-thirds of which will be spent for defense. Mr. Eisenhower admitted the government would end up the fiscal year in the red and that it would likely be possible he would ask for a short-term increase in the present 275 billion dollar debt limit.

The President said he was confident that with a pickup in business and tax receipts that the new budget of $73,900,000,000 would be in balance for the fiscal year 1958-59. Mr. Eisenhower even said he expected a surplus of about a half-billion dollars as compared with the 400 million dollar present deficit.

Mr. Eisenhower also called for an increase of from three to five cents in the out of town postal rate for letters. Congress has thus far rejected his request for an increase to four cents on first class mail.

The 22,000 word budget message also carried a mass of other items relating to domestic spending passed over in his State of the Union message but placed the major emphasis on defense and security measures.

Three Major Points

With $39,800,000,000 for the Armed Forces alone Mr. Eisenhower's message divided the spending as follows:

1. A $3,800,000,000 stepup in spending for missile and nuclear weapon research and production.
2. A 500-million-dollar reserve fund to rush development of any breakthroughs in the weapons field, together with authority to switch two billion dollars around within the armed services "in order to take prompt advantage of new developments."
3. For foreign military and related aid, $3,888,000,000 to be spent in the coming fiscal year.

Meets Opposition

Mr. Eisenhower's record peacetime budget appeared in for plenty of debate with congressional leaders announcing they would do their best to cut spending. Chairman Cannon (D-Mo) of the House appropriations Committee where most of the money bills originate, expressed regret that the budget for the 12 months beginning July 1 would provide less than a billion dollar surplus based on expectations from existing revenues.

Cannon said, however, that money for "legitimate defense needs" would be provided without question. There was some feeling also that the Pentagon's unexpended eight billion dollars would not be spent for several years, might be dipped into instead of using new funds.

Law, Equity Term Set For Monday

We Must Not Let It Happen

In 1957 Alabama lost the equivalent of an important payroll. At the beginning of the planting season the state's cotton income was estimated at $80 million. This represented a reduction of $50 million under the 1956 crop.

Nor is $50 million the total loss resulting from this drastic reduction since there are many other factors involved besides this direct loss to the farmers. Farmers not being able to buy the goods they and their families need affects the entire economy of the state. Manufacturers must look to other markets to overcome this loss. Retailers, banks, farm implement dealers, and all businesses dealing with the farmers of necessity feel the pinch. County-wise the loss amounts to some $447,000 per county, though individual county losses vary greatly.

Since 1953 over 40,000 Alabama families have left the farm. An average of five persons per family means Agriculture in the state lost some 200,000 potential workers. The breadwinners in these families have been forced to seek employment in the towns and cities of this and other states, many times losing the security of the land that should have been their children's inheritance. It is indeed a sad situation.

The Eisenhower-Benson farm program has set the farmers of the southeast back many years. One might say, without too much exaggeration, the Administration proved consistent when it transferred cotton acreage from our farmers, who depended solely on this crop for income and livelihood, to the West Coast and Mexican border states.

Those who had hoped for great things under what looked like a progressive administration have been disillusioned. As in previous Republican administrations, the poor have grown poorer while the rich have grown richer. The Eisenhower Administration is running true to form.

If there ever was a prosperity resulting from "priming the pump" at the top we have it now. We are about to spend billions for defense and the public has yet to see the government tighten its purse strings where they need to be, tightened. Instead we see curtailment of essentials such as federal aid to hospitals, crippled children, housing, highways and so on instead of the long overdue reduction of government personnel and consolidation of duplicating government agencies recommended by our leading economists and the Hoover Commission. Of course the explanation is fairly simple in that any reduction in government personnel or agencies is to reduce the strength and potency of a strong central government necessary in perpetuating the politically ambitious in office.

It is late, but not too late for the American people to demand economy in government and a sane approach to the solution of farm and other vital domestic problems unhindered by sectional prejudices and politics. If this isn't done we may well reach the point of no return.

As big and as powerful this nation is irresponsible people can spend this country into bankruptcy.

This is of course, the Communist dream. We must not let it happen.

Home Economics Department Holds Sixth Dress Revue

Thirty-three models, members of the clothing classes of the home economics department of Florence State College, paraded their creations at the sixth annual dress revue in Kilby Auditorium Tuesday evening.

And they did so before an appreciative audience and Alabama's Maid of Cotton, Miss Virginia McClinton, who was a special guest, and modeled her $1,000 cotton evening dress and other gowns of the South's leading fibre.

The class members' creations were shown before backgrounds depicting Jules Verne's (or Mike Todd's, if you choose) "Around the World in Eighty Days."

The revue was presented under the direction of Mrs. Charles Rasch, department head. Handling the commentary were Lula Dobbins and Peggy Parks, Jane Newton was pianist, and dances were directed by Miss Helen Henry.

In the Week's News

The drive for integration in the South's public schools was concentrated in Atlanta Saturday when Thurgood Marshall, chief counsel for the NAACP entered suit in federal court for the admission of ten Negro students in the city's schools. The suit named city school superintendent Ira Jarrell and nine members of the board of education as defendants.

The Senate Rackets probes Saturday announced they had evidence of corruption and conniving among high officials of the Operating Engineers union. Sen. McClellan (D-Ark.) said the story will be made public in public hearings starting on Jan. 20.

House Republican Leader Joseph W. Martin, Jr., said Saturday that Russia was able to launch an earth satellite ahead of the U. S. because the Soviets stole the secrets from this country. He said the Truman administration was to blame for "complacency" in the U. S. missile and satellite program.

The Army was ordered Friday to speed up development of a solid fuels missile to take the place of the liquid-fuel Redstone rocket. Defense Secretary McElroy gave the order saying that a solid propellant would "provide the Army with a more versatile and flexible weapon with which to discharge its role on the battlefield of the future."

After a 22-day rest at Cape Canaveral, Florida, the nation's rocket launching base reverberated with the roar of two giant intercontinental weapons, the Atlas and the Navaho. The Atlas is designed to carry a hydrogen warhead across the seas at a speed of 10,000 miles an hour.

The Army-Navy race to launch a space satellite is believed nearing a decision according to an unofficial announcement on Saturday. Those speculating on the launching believe the Army's Jupiter-C missile may trail the Navy's Vanguard by several days. Military officials favor issuing no formal announcements until this country's "moons" are in orbit.

FSC President Opens Conference On Citizenship

Dr. E. B. Norton, president of Florence State College, will make the opening address at Alabama's Second Conference on Citizenship being held today at the Tutwiler Hotel, Birmingham.

The Florence educator will present a general view of the conference and its objectives, its theme this year being "Citizenship, Privileges and Responsibilities."

Following Dr. Norton's address, the conference participants will meet in separate discussion groups. Topics to be taken up by these groups include: 1) To study and understand the basic philosophies and ideals underlying the beginnings of our government; 2) To work toward informed and active participation of citizens at all levels; 3) To emphasize that training for citizenship begins in the home through example and precept; and 4) To expand programs of citizenship education for children and youth.

The conference will conclude with a banquet this evening.

Famous Humorist Guest Speaker At Stockholders Meet

Tom Sims, well-known humorist, comic strip writer and "Sage of Olathe, U.S.A.," was the guest speaker of the stockholders meeting of the Bank of Lexington at the Lexington High School cafeteria Saturday noon. Chas. P. McMeans, bank president, presided and presented the bank officials and guests to the banquet-meeting.

Mr. Sims, who first became famous as the writer of the comic strip Popeye, makes his home in Olathe, Ala., where he now does his work. He is a native of that community but spent 20-odd years in New York where he was and still is connected with King Features Syndicate.

Telling of his various experiences both in New York and on his farm, Mr. Sims titled his talk "I swapped Manhattan Island for a 40-acre Alabama farm," and proceeded to entertain his hearers with an accounting which he declared to be "the absolute truth." He was introduced by Harold May, a long-time friend.

Killen-Bergin Nuptials Said In Church Scene

Before the altar in First Methodist Church, St. Joseph, Tennessee, June Clyde Killen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Bruce Killen, became the bride of Jerry Lee Bergin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Bergin of Lexington, on Friday afternoon, January tenth, the Reverend J. F. Phillips, pastor of Lexington Methodist church, reading the vows at the half past three o'clock ceremony.

White gladioli and white pom-pom chrysanthemums formed the background for the bridal group and preceding the ceremony Mrs. Betty Jo Davis and Thomas Smith presented a program of nuptial music.

Mr. Killen escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. She wore a gown of Italian silk with pearl embroidered Italian lace trim. The sleeves were long and fitted and the skirt was waltz-length and very flared. Her shoulder-length veil of double illusion was caught to a lace cap and her French bouquet of stephanotis was centered with a white orchid.

Melanie Jane Killen was her sister's only attendant. Her bouquet of blue poie de soie was fashioned with deep rounded neckline and three-quarter length sleeves. She wore a matching head-dress and her flowers were pink carnations.

Bruce Killen, brother of the bride, served Mr. Bergin as best man and ushers were George Wilson and Billy Frederick, both of Florence.

For the reception which followed the ceremony the bride's parents were hosts at their home. The refreshment table was covered with a white organdie cloth and lighted with tall white tapers in branched candelabra. The wedding cake was encircled with pink and white carnations and assisting in serving were Misses Jettie Merle Bergin, sister of the bridegroom, Brenda Brookshire, Patsy Thompson, and Sandra Wilson.

When the couple left for their wedding trip, Mrs. Bergin was wearing a fitted light grey suit with small white hat and black accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

On their return they will be at home on South Pine Street, Florence.

Mrs. J. W. Powell, in charge of the program, interestingly reviewed Mitchell B. Garrett's "Horse and Buggy Days on Hatch Creek," which is the fortunate product of a nostalgic trip made back in his boyhood home in Clay County, Alabama, where memories were revived. Bits of a long-distance telephone conversation with the author, retired and living now at his home in Canton, N. Y., after serving twenty-five years as Professor of European History at the University of North Carolina, gave color and added interest to the program.

Leo Views the College Campus

By DOTTIE McRAE

The first semester of Florence State College is rapidly drawing to a close, or to put it more bluntly—finals start next Monday. Perhaps it was with this in mind that three representatives from the Marine Corps appeared in Bibb Graves Hall on the 6th and 7th of January.

Actually, their job was to interest students in the Marine officer training plan and, if possible, to recruit candidates for the programs. The idea is basically the same as the ROTC, except that it is in no way connected with the college; then, to, it's open to girls—if they're over five two.

There's another recruiting program in progress at FSC right now—this one looking for dimes. March of Dimes collectors have popped up all over the campus and an over-sized one confronts everyone who enters the dining hall. The "Karnival of Dimes," on its way to becoming a traditional event at Florence State, is planned for January 30.

Friday, at the last really big event of the first semester, David Robinson, Hamilton, and Jane Mills, Vernon, were crowned Mr. and Miss FSC. Betty Artis, Florence and Tom Cotton, Brilliant; Nancy Taylor, Corinth, Mississippi; and Carroll Daniel, Athens; first and second place runners-up, were also presented at the Coronation Ball. Sponsored by the "Flor-Ala," the ball was held in the gym. Grill work at the door, separating the tables, and around the bandstand created a "French Quarters" atmosphere, and Papa John Gordie's Dixieland Band provided the music.

Almost every Florence State student has, in the past couple of weeks, received a large brown envelope containing the advertisement of a well known magazine. Contents include a letter listing the many merits of the magazine and sign similar to the one found in many offices. Some of them make such bold statements as — "THINK," others inform everyone within reading distance that "I'M NOT INTELLIGENT, I JUST HAVE INTELLIGENT HELP." Mine was especially appropriate; centered in a rectangle of paper smudged with grimy finger prints are the words "BE NEAT."

By the way, I, along with everyone else on the campus, was slightly amazed then amused last week when F club pledges appeared in, to say the least, some rather outlandish combinations of clothing. "Formal" initiation, I understand, took place Thursday—there were some noticeably empty desks Friday.

At last. After putting a sad seven games on the lost list, the FSC Lions have neatly tied up three wins in a row, against Jackson-

THE SPILLWAY

"WE'RE LIVING in the past . . ." you say . . .

OUR APOLOGIES . . . Dear Readers, But goodness . . . gracious us . . . So much happens . . . And . . . try as we do . . . we can't find space in any one edition for all the things we want to say . . . Frinstance

THERE'S THE TELEPHONE call from Frankfort . . . Germany . . . to Saint Florian . . . Alabama . . . From Almar we're Clarence Richard Wrigley to Mary Anne Hoernig . . . and altho' we couldn't get a single smidgen of information about the conversation we'd be willing to bet our best plugged nickel that it was NOT just a happy New Year call . . .

AND THERE WAS the card which came to us around January first bearing a bit of poetry and expressing about the best New Year's sentiment we ever received. The poem . . . we told . . . came from the pen of the sender and the Madam would like here and now to plead for a bit of assistance from one to whom the right words come with the greatest of ease . . . We also suggest . . . while we're on the subject of ANDY BARNETT . . . that you drop by No. 1036 Jackson Road and ask Ella to show you the snapshots they have of (son) Allison (we call him "Blue") taken in his present home surroundings in Osaka . . . Japan . . . a palatial . . . five-bathroom layout . . . The picture we think we enjoyed most was a scene in his sumptuous gardens . . . with "Blue" lounging in comfort while a man-servant waited nearby to offer him a glass of peach juice . . . Huge gold stars suspended from the ceiling served as a background for the center platform and large bubbles were blown from an elevated position on the right side of the stage into and across the path of the contestants.

Miss Jane Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Sam Hammond, whose hair style was "Symphony," was the winner in the contest and was presented with a gift by Mrs. Murks. Other contestants and the names of their hair styles follow: Miss Betty Campbell Whose hair style was "Fifth Avenue;" Miss Madgeleen Jones, with the French type of hair style "Renee;" Mrs. Ruth Murks modeled the style "Blond Intrigue;" Mrs. Joe McGuire's style was "Climax;" and Ora Roberson's style was "Chignon."

Background music was played by Mrs. Robert Belew, pianist. Judges for the show were Pete Cargo, Bill Lumpkin and Joe Littrell of Lawrenceburg, Tenn.

Following the style show a full-length musical program was presented by James Joiner and his band, Marlin Green and Miss Evelyn Johnson.

The Lexington P.-T. A. is sponsoring a talent show to be held in the Lexington School auditorium on Saturday evening, Jan. 25 at 7 featuring James Joiner as master of ceremonies. Mr. Joiner, who is the writer of the famous "Fallen Star" a song which has gained international prominence—will present his entire band in the show. In addition to the above there will be musical numbers by the Beavers Band; songs by Good-mantown Trio; the Sunny Landers Quartet; solos by Miss Jewel Dean, Lamont Owens, Harvey Cramer, Miss Waits Truitt and Miss Patricia Thigpen. Instrumentals by groups from the school band; a comical reading and impersonation by Mrs. Frances Shotts, Lexington School music teacher, along with other special talent from Athens, Florence and local and surrounding communities, will be included.

Sponsors wish to invite everyone to this program which they believe will be one of the best shows of this type ever to be presented at Lexington. The proceeds will be used to help finance the P.-T. A. project for the year.

Named for General Zebulon Pike who traveled through the area in 1806, Pike County is the home of one of Alabama's most famous historical sites, Hobby's Bridge on the Pea River. Here the first white settlers in Alabama established their farms in about 1810 to 1812. And here it was in 1836 that one of the last battles with the Creek Indians was fought when Gen. William Wellborn defeated the Creek chief Enotachopka and his men.

Pike today is essentially an agricultural county, with cotton, corn, peanuts and livestock contributing substantially to its income. The County seat of Troy is the home of well-known Troy State Teacher's College.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

WORRY

It is worse than many a disease. It can make you old before your time. It can even kill you. And before it does, it can destroy all your happiness. We know all that . . . why then, do we worry? We worry because we have too many fears for our shallow supply of faith. A man or woman needs faith enough to brush aside his fears. God is ready to give you all the faith you need. But you'll never get it worrying all week . . . In Church next Sunday, you can renew and strengthen your faith. In so doing, you will be able to face life unafraid.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

His birthright

A SHARE IN AMERICA!

Make it pay off for him even more generously through U. S. Savings Bonds

Nobody has a better birthright than an American child.
Born to this land, he shares its abundance and its privileges.

His opportunities stretch from the Golden Gate to the Statue of Liberty in New York Harbor. And he doesn't need a passport to reach any of them.

All he needs are the things that you, his parents, can give him—care, security, a good education for a richer life.

These are the important things you want to save for. And one of the easiest ways to save for them is by investing in U. S. Savings Bonds through the Payroll Savings Plan.

Through this plan, money is set aside for you before you get a chance to spend it. At your company's pay office, you name the amount you can save each payday and it is put into Savings Bonds for you. Here, in its safest form, it can't be lost, stolen or destroyed because the U. S. Treasury will replace your Bonds without charge if anything happens to them.

And you'll be surprised at how quickly your money in Bonds adds up to big things such as the down payment on a home or tuition for four years of college. Series E Bonds now earn 3½% interest when held to maturity, mature in only 8 years and 11 months.

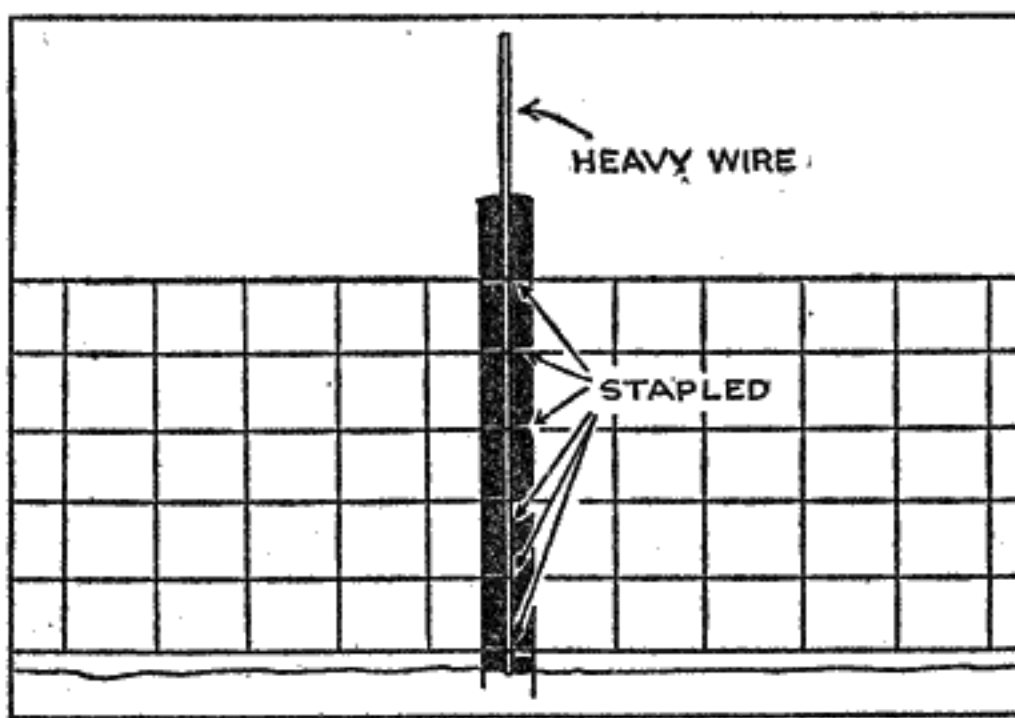

So isn't the Payroll Savings Plan a good way to make sure of your youngster's share in America? Sign up for the Payroll Savings Plan where you work today.

News Of KILLEN

By Mrs. W. D. Stutts

The annual March of Dimes drive is now in progress in our school. We always succeed in this drive in a big way.

The P.-T.-A. meeting on Thursday night of last week was well attended. Larry Gautney, our chairman, presided and Bro. Dorsey Thomas gave the devotional. A musical number was presented by a group of Miss Orr's fourth grade pupils. Supt. Allen Thornton gave an interesting talk on school finances and needs.

Mrs. Mullins' group won the attendance prize. They were responsible for 19 parents being present. This is the fourth time in succession Mrs. Mullins' group has won this honor.

Our elementary pupils will be calling on our patrons and friends this week selling garden seeds. The annual magazine sales campaign will be conducted in the early part of March. The Killen School honor roll for the third six weeks term is as follows:

Miss Harris' Seventh Grade — Charles Gross, Jan Ensey, Judy McMurtrey.

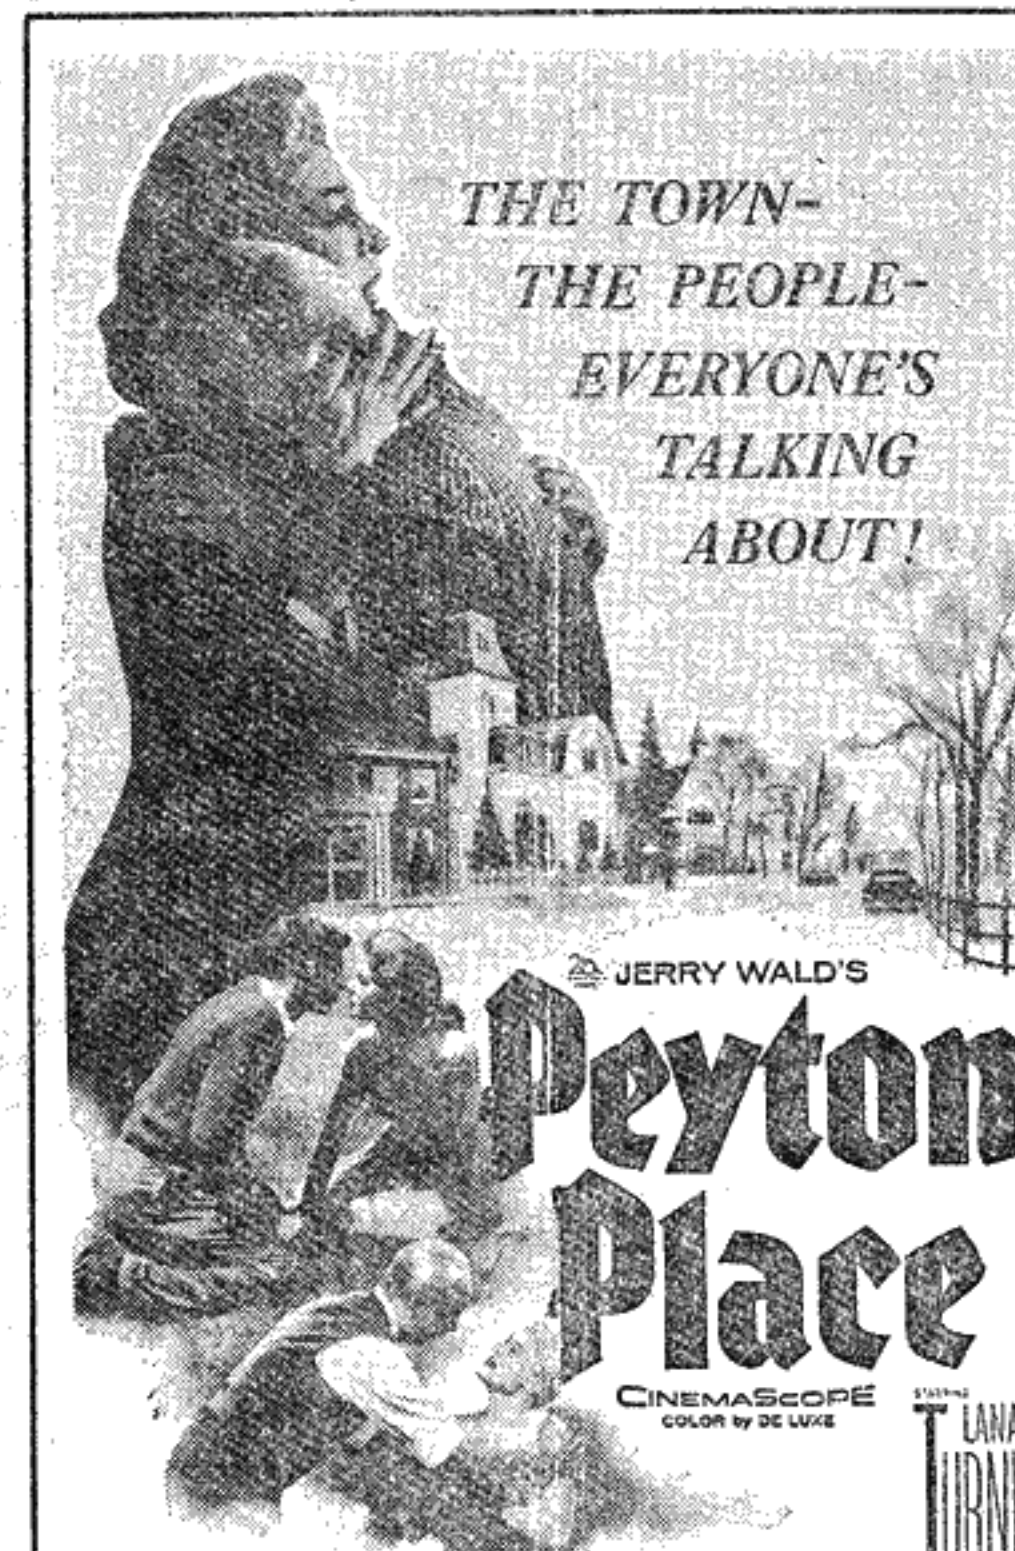

Mrs. Heath's fifth Grade — Peggy Beavers, Regina Fullerton, Peggy Glover, Judy Henson, Dianne Kennedy, Jimmie Lou Le-master, Brenda Muse, Dianne Owens, Brenda Pierce, Linda Stevenson, Margaret Giambra, Marjorie Giambra, Thomas Clem-mans, Charles Miller, Lavinia Hannah.
