

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

The young couple decided to buy a new car if the proper arrangements could be made. Selecting the car they wanted, the dealer offered them $2,000 on their 1957 model toward the $3,000 1958 model they liked so well, leaving a $1,000 balance. It so happened that they still owed the bank exactly $1,000 on their old car. The husband hesitated, whereupon the wife spoke up: "John, don't be silly—that's a wonderful deal. We'll take the $2,000 he gives us for the old car, pay off the $1,000 at the bank, then give the dealer the $1,000 he asks and the new car hasn't cost us a cent, and we don't owe the bank anything either." And she wondered why he looked at her as he did.

The sweet young thing hung around the check-out desk at the library. Finally, the librarian asked if there was any book in particular she had in mind. The young lady blushed and whispered: "Do you thing I could borrow 'Scouting for Boys'?"

We believe that we could make both ends meet these days if we could fit our earning capacity to our yearning capacity.

It has been reported from behind the iron curtain that Russian wives like to get together and discuss the latest Red scientific achievements. So, they gather at the Volga and carry on these discussions as they wash their clothes in the water of this famous river.

Some ten years ago we bought a lounge chair for $12 that bought most serviceable. Now, badly worn, we decided to have it reupholstered and so continue it in service. The price made for restoring the chair to something near its original condition was $42. This may be an example of inflation, who knows?

The trouble with an inferiority complex is that the wrong people have it.

One of the longest series of worn-out jokes concerns a woman's inability to keep a secret and it is presumed that a man is gifted with the knack of keeping a secret no matter the subject thereof. However, we question this belief since one of the hardest secrets for a man to keep is his flattering opinion of himself.

Sign in a gas station: "Use Our Easy Credit Plan—100 percent down; Nothing Each Month."

"Your wife's a very young and beautiful woman," a friend told the 83-year-old wealthy bridegroom. "But I hate to see any man start out on a day's work so late in the afternoon."

Most of us who are overweight think we are doing all we can to reduce if we read an occasional article on the subject.

This may be a crude way of putting it but for most women a social occasion is like a cow's cud—something to enjoy thoroughly at the time and to embellish at leisure the next day on the telephone.

Two dear friends of a neighbor were talking over the back fence one morning when one asked: "What do you think of Mary's new hairdo?" "Well, frankly," said the other, "to me it looks like her parole came through just as the warden pulled the electric chair switch."

President Eisenhower's spending budget for the fiscal year 1959 comes to $427.86 for each American man, woman and child. The question is: Can each of you afford it?

Neighbors were complaining to Mrs. Jones about the racket her husband was making. "All the time he goes around cackling like a hen," they griped. "I know, I know," said Mrs. Jones. "We get tired of it too. Sometimes we think he's not in his right mind." "But can't you do something for him? Can't he be cured?" "Oh, I suppose so," replied Mrs. Jones. "Maybe a doctor could do something for him—but we need the eggs."

One our our squad of readers thrilled us the other day by suggesting that we run a picture of ourselves in this column. We were reluctant to do this but finally ran across an old sketch of us made during our service in World War I and decided that it would serve much better than one of more recent vintage. So, with a certain degree of trepidation, we print this excellent likeness.

Name Edgemont School For Supt. J. W. Powell

City Board Of Education To Honor Retiring Head Of Florence System

The city Board of Education has officially designated the new school at Edgemont the "J. W. Powell School" in honor of the man who will retire next July 1 as superintendent of Florence schools after 25 years in that capacity.

This became known Tuesday during the weekly meeting of the Florence Exchange Club, whose members heard Mr. Powell discuss growth and progress of the city school system since he became affiliated with it 30 years ago.

During his tenure here as teacher and superintendent, Mr. Powell said, much attention has centered upon so-called "progressive education." The Florence system "has not gone hook, line and sinker" for these more advanced ideas but, instead, adapted those thought best and most practical, the veteran educator said.

Mr. Powell took cognizance of a question now being widely asked: Have the schools fallen down on their job? He said he believed, all things considered, they had done a good job, but admitted they might have done more with better facilities and better teachers.

And, he said, higher salaries aren't the only answer to better schools. Some "natural teachers," he pointed out, do not always obtain the better salaries, while others with more training but less natural ability for their professions do.

The tenure law has worked against the quality of teaching in some instances, he said.

Sound training of teachers in the fundamentals of education is of the utmost importance, said Mr. Powell, and this has been stressed in the Florence school system. Schools of the city now offer four years of mathematics and three years of science, but students are not required to take this much. He decried the lenient entrance requirements now set by colleges and universities, pointing out that they are not as stiff as formerly.

Some young people, said the man who has spent 30 years in the Florence schools, should not go to college, for it is a waste of their time and the public's money. But it is highly gratifying to him, said Mr. Powell, to look about him now and see among the community leaders many of his former students.

Florence is currently in the midst of a $1,000,000 school expansion program, the Exchange members were told, including an addition to Coffee High School, the new school at Edgemont, an addition at Gilbert and others. Within 10 years, he warned, Florence will need from 100 to 125 additional classrooms, and another high school is presently needed.

Nearly all of the growth of the Florence school system has been accomplished without the aid of federal funds, Mr. Powell explained.

Guests at the weekly luncheon included Dr. William Bradley, Jr., and M. King.

ROGERSVILLE YOUTH NAMED ACT COUNSELOR

Hollis E. Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph J. Todd of Rogersville, Rt. 3, has been appointed one of eight new division counselors in Magnolia Dormitories, the men's dormitories at Alabama Polytechnic Institute. Todd, a 1952 graduate of Lauderdale County High School, is a graduate student majoring in agricultural education.

County Records 2nd Traffic Death

Gerald T. Harrison, 25, Killed Instantly In Crash Saturday Afternoon

Gerald T. Harrison, 25, of Florence, Rt. 4, was killed instantly at 1:35 p. m. Saturday when the car in which he was riding crashed head-on into a truck on the Savannah highway eight miles west of the city.

Harrison was driving west when his car topped a hill after passing a parked car and smashed into an International truck driven by J. D. Stallings, 426 Ewing Ave., Gadsden, who was enroute to Florence. Stallings told Coroner Bill Chisholm that when he first saw Harrison's approaching car the vehicle was over the center line of the highway, and continued to pull over into his (Stallings') lane until the crash occurred.

The coroner reported the wreck appeared unavoidable on the part of Stallings, whose truck and trailer were loaded with heavy sacks of feed. The engine in Harrison's 1951 Dodge was ripped from the frame of the car. Harrison was thrown out of the car and his face and head were crushed, the coroner said.

The death of Harrison was the second in Lauderdale County traffic during the new year. Hugh L. Vaden, 40, of Florence, Rt. 2, was killed Sunday, Jan. 5, when the truck he was driving overturned on a road west of Florence.

Funeral services for Mr. Harrison were held from Glendale Church of Christ at 2 p. m. Monday, burial following in Greenview Memorial Park.

He was a lifelong resident of Lauderdale County and was employed by LooMac Truck Lines. Surviving Mr. Harrison are his wife, Mrs. Frances Robertson Harrison; a daughter, Cynthia Dianne; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Harrison, Florence, Rt. 4; four brothers, Arthur Harrison, Chicago, and Kenneth, Charles and Donald Harrison, Florence; five sisters, Mrs. Sherman Wesson, Mrs. Raymond Murphy, Mrs. Billy Butler, Elaine and Sue Harrison, all of Florence.

Veteran Official Of TVA Retiring

F. F. Beauchamp, veteran Alabama district manager of the TVA power distribution system, will retire on February 1, it was announced the past week. Mr. Beauchamp has been in charge of rural and urban electrical distribution for TVA in 15 North Alabama counties since 1933, when he came to Florence from Kansas City to make his home.

Prior to joining TVA, Mr. Beauchamp was with the Westinghouse Company and other private concerns, the U. S. Corps of Engineers and Kansas City's electric and water department. He is a native of Liberty, Mo.

Mr. Beauchamp said he and his wife, who live at 455 Palisade Dr., expect to travel extensively but maintain their home here. They have a daughter, Mrs. Zachary Wakefield, resident of Florence, and a son, William Beauchamp, who lives in Tusculum.

Church Crusade For Attendance Held Successful

First Methodist Drive Launched Jan. 5 Will Continue Through Easter

The attendance crusade now in progress at the Florence First Methodist Church is the most successful movement of its kind in the history of the church, according to many of the members. J. L. Goyer, Chairman of the Commission on Evangelism and a longtime leader of the church, puts it this way: "The worshippers come in large numbers. They hear a wonderful message and leave more fully aware of their privileges and their responsibilities in the sacred relationships we share."

The crusade began on January 5 and will continue through Easter Sunday. To accommodate the large group of worshippers, which would have greatly overflowed the large sanctuary, The Official Board approved the plan, now in effect, to conduct two full-length services on Sunday morning—at 8:45 and 11:00.

In a joint statement, R. Lambuth Archibald and Shirley Lowery, Ministers, said "The response to our Church Attendance Crusade has been magnificent. We are highly pleased."

The combined attendance at the two morning services on January 5 was approximately 1100. This represents a large increase in the number of morning worshippers. Last Sunday the figure jumped to an estimated 1160. The attendance at the evening services at 7:30 has been the largest this conference year for the preaching service.

In discussing the remarkable increase in attendance, Dr. Archibald was heard to say, "What a wonderful and glorious thing it is for me to be able to preach to such large congregations. It is highly encouraging to see the ushers placing chairs in the aisle at the 11 o'clock hour even after having such a large group present at the early service."

T. M. Rogers, Jr. heads the five-member Crusade Committee which is assisting the church staff in the details of the program. He expressed his pleasure at the success of the movement, saying "It certainly does add to the joy of working in a church program when we get such good support as our membership has shown. It is my belief that this increased support will endure."

Judge Robert M. Hill, chairman of the music committee, has announced the organization of a youth choir. This choir is already providing music for the early morning as well as the evening service. Don Cunningham is the new director, and Miss Jo Alice Broyles is serving as organist. The group is now practicing twice weekly—Thursday evening at 7:30 and Sunday afternoon at 5:00.

Cunningham is experienced in directing church choirs in Florida and Georgia, and while in the Marine Corps he directed the post chapel choir at Parris Island. He was bass soloist of the Saint Mark Methodist Church in Atlanta.

Miss Broyles, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe F. Broyles, is an honor student at Coffee High, and an outstanding leader in youth activities. She is a former MYF President. For the last several years she has served as pianist for her Sunday School department.

The 11 a. m. choir will continue under the direction of Wayne Christensen, with Mrs. Shirley Lowery as the organist.

Driver Arrested For Leaving Scene Of One-Car Crash

Florence police arrested Leon Hale, city resident, Monday and charged him with leaving the scene of a Saturday night accident in which two women suffered broken legs and were left lying in the street. A third passenger in Hale's car, a 12-year-old boy, was also rown from the vehicle when it crashed into a utility pole but suffered only minor injuries.

The women—Mrs. Frances Hayes, 23, and Mrs. Genelle Hale, 16 both of 503 Highland Ave., Florence, were found lying in the street by investigating police when they went to the scene at the intersection of Ironside S. and Old Lee Highway.

Officers said they determined Hale's Chevrolet sedan plowed into the utility pole, demolishing the car, and he then left the scene of the accident. The injured women were taken to ECM Hospital, where Mrs. Hale underwent surgery Monday. The boy passenger in the car, James Hayes, 12, was treated for abrasions and released.

Folsom Here Today To Activate First Of Reynold's New Potlines

LAST RIDE—This piece of a spent Army missile, recovered from the impact area at White Sands Proving Ground, N.M., is on its way to a guarded "graveyard." Every scrap is rescued, for scientific analysis, for safekeeping from prying eyes, or because it may be dangerous.

Will Also Break Ground For Strip And Plate Mill

High state officials and officers of the company will be on hand today at 3 p. m. when Gov. James E. Folsom turns a valve to officially tap the first of three potlines at Reynolds Metals' new aluminum reduction plant at Listerhill.

The state's chief executive, to be accompanied here by Mrs. Folsom and members of his cabinet, will also turn the first spadeful of earth in ground-breaking ceremonies at Reynolds' projected $82½ million hot strip mill for production of aluminum plates and strips.

There is also a possibility that J. Louis Reynolds, executive vice-president of the metals firm, will take today's occasion to announce the contractor for what will be the world's largest mill for rolling aluminum and the date when construction will start on this new unit of Reynolds' Shoals operation.

No complete list of state officials who will make the visit here with Governor Folsom was obtainable late Wednesday, but in addition to his associates in the state government there will be present county and city officers from throughout this area.

Expected to accompany Mr. Reynolds from the Richmond, Va., headquarters of the aluminum manufacturing concern are George Sims, vice-president in charge of alloys, and Jim Black, vice-president in charge of reduction facilities.

Actually, the first test of the potline to be tapped today was made last Thursday by Reynolds employees. Two more potlines in the plant are scheduled to go into service in the spring and early summer. The three new potlines will have a rated capacity of 112,500 tons of aluminum per year.

The new plant is adjacent to the recently modernized Listerhill reduction plant with which Reynolds entered the primary aluminum-producing field in 1941. This plant is operating at full capacity. Total annual rated capacity of the new and old plants is 190,000 tons.

A substantial part of the production of the new plant will be used by the adjacent foundry, recently constructed by Ford Motor Company, which takes the metal in molten form.

Aluminum from the new plant not needed by the Ford foundry will be delivered in molten form to the adjoining Reynolds fabricating plant or cast into pig and ingot form.

R. A. Newman, plant manager, said the new facility, where metallic aluminum is made from aluminum oxide in electrolytic cells, embodies the most advanced production techniques in the aluminum industry.

"The plant will make use of new equipment, under development by Reynolds for several years," he stated, "which will bring about working conditions unsurpassed in the industry's reduction plants."

The aluminum-covered buildings housing the potlines are of steel given off by the reduction cells, which operate at more than 1700° F. Fresh air enters through the lower level, is drawn through all working areas, then is discharged through a venting system atop the buildings.

In addition, a newly-designed hooding system (trans the cells) discharge of heat and smoke, which is carried by fans through a washing and scrubbing system before discharge into the atmosphere.

Mental Health Institute Set At FSC In June

Prominent Workers In Field To Take Part In Programs June 9-20

President E. B. Norton of Florence State College has announced a two-weeks' institute on mental health and education for the campus on June 9-20. The theme of the institute will be "Mental Health in the Classroom." It will attempt a practical, constructive approach to the factors contributing to mental health and the State Division of Mental Hygiene.

Col. H. Edmund Bullis, formerly secretary-general of International Committee for Mental Hygiene and author of "Human Relations in the Classroom," will be the acting director of the institute. Col. Bullis successfully conducted a similar institute at Alabama College last summer.

The associate director will be Dr. Margaret Quayle, director of the Psychological Clinic at Tusculoo, and professor of psychology at the University of Alabama. Mrs. Vera Bruhn, executive director, social hygiene and Mental Health Association, Jefferson County, will be the assistant director.

Assisting during the first week of the institute will be Dr. Clarence J. Rosecrans, clinical psychologist, State Division of Mental Hygiene. The leaders will be ably assisted by members of the college faculty and by others prominent in the fields of education and mental health. Otis L. Peacock, Florence State Director of Extension, will coordinate the two-weeks' program.

Attendance will be limited to 60, and scholarships covering most of the costs of attendance will be available to approved teachers.

We Can Spend Ourselves Poor

There are a number of beneath-the-surface factors involved with respect to needed cuts in the President's budget.

Among these is the not-to-be-ignored fact that unemployment is at the highest peak since 1945 and Congress knows full well that defense spending and defense contracts with big industry will not do too much to cushion the shock of unemployment nor greatly minimize the threat of a recession.

A generally stepped up domestic spending program on the other hand will take up slack and Congress as well as the President knows it. This means it is not likely there will be too much cutting on the home front after all is said and done.

Congress is considering raising the debt limit and if this is done we can look for a greater tax burden on those least able to pay it. This prosperous country will be called upon to "sacrifice" for national defense without the assurance that the billions poured into the hoppers of big business will be screened by any more experienced eyes than those possessed by the members of the appropriations committees of Congress and the salaried employees of the Budget Bureau and the U. S. Treasury Department.

To our mind this is not enough. The American people want all the protection they can get but they want their hard-earned dollars to count. If raising the debt limit . . . which means more borrowing by the government . . . is the only way, then let's do it, but Congress should seriously consider the far-reaching effects of such a move before taking action. If we are in such shape that we have to borrow in peacetime, what would happen during a war? We only have to look back a comparatively few years on the devaluation of the German mark that brought financial disaster to a great nation. It can happen here.

Engaging in an arms race, even though we forge ahead, cannot bring this nation security and better living for such a race never ends. We must continue to strive for a constructive and just settlement of the differences between nations by a more restrictive use of the veto and a greater voice for smaller nations.

Mr. Eisenhower in his State of the Union speech said the people of the world want peace. The problem facing this and all nations is how to translate that desire into effective action.

The Heller Plan For Education

The Heller Plan for education proposes federal recognition of future increases in local and state taxes used for schools by giving full credit for such increases against both personal and corporate income taxes. This, Robert Heller, a Cleveland management consultant contends, would provide a more dependable source of income for schools "now waiting at the end of a long line of taxing bodies."

Key merits of the plan, Heller said, are: 1) it provides for an expression of federal concern on the problem of education; 2) it preserves the traditional right of local decision; 3) it provides a means for greater financial assistance to less wealthy areas; 4) it requires no federal administrative expense; and 5) it offers a means for taking full advantage of increasing willingness to be taxed for education.

In a speech following his inauguration as chairman of the National Citizens Council for Better Schools, Heller emphasized that the proposal would primarily benefit those in the lower income brackets and would be conducive to federal action without federal interference with local prerogatives.

"By this simple device," he said, "the federal government would demonstrate its belief that education is a priority concern of the nation . . . it would give first call on the taxpayer's money to be locally used in the interest of better schools."

Noting the continuing rise in school construction, Heller said, "I would hazard a guess that if we define clearly the goals for American education, set unequivocal standards of excellence for the schools, and arouse the community will to support quality education, the problem of school buildings will almost take care of itself."

"Today," said Heller, "we have a unique opportunity to bring the importance of quality education home to every American citizen and to create the will to support this ideal in every community in the nation."

He suggested that the Congress mandate the executive department to make an annual progress report on the schools. "Such an inventory," he said, "would not only dramatize the issue of quality education, but it would also emphasize that, while schools are locally controlled, the progress of every school community has nation-wide importance."

Offhand the Heller plan appears to have a lot of merit and certainly demands an attentive ear by Congress especially at this time when the vital need for improving our educational facilities are in the limelight.

Thornton Talks On School Financing At Waterloo Meet

The third adult meeting of the Waterloo vocational home economics and vocational agriculture departments was held Monday night, Jan. 13, in the vocational building.

County Superintendent Allen Thornton was the guest speaker on this occasion, and outlined to the group the general way which the county school system is financed. He also stressed the needs for the parents to keep their children in school. In this line he pointed out that for each day a student is absent, the school system loses money.

Other activities at this meeting were the awarding of door prizes and open house for the entire school. This part of the program was conducted by the principal C. T. Wilson. After the four refreshments were served to seventy-five adults in the home economics department.

These meetings are planned to run through April, at which time the group will enjoy a meal. The topic for discussion at the next meeting, Feb. 10, will be landscaping homes. This will include such things as planting, pruning and treating shrubs for disease. Everyone within the Waterloo school community is invited. The meetings are under the supervision of the home economics and agriculture departments of Waterloo High School.

Retail Sales Show Gain In October

Retail sales by retail concerns in Alabama rebounded in October. The Bureau of Business Research at the University reports that nine of the eleven major retail categories: gasoline service stations showing a 19 per cent hike, drug stores up 17 per cent and eating places sales rose 13 per cent.

Total retail sales in the year-to-year comparisons were 7 per cent higher. October as compared to September, according to the Bureau, showed a retail sales advance of three per cent. In Lauderdale County, the per cent change for sales at retail by Alabama retail concerns only showed a 6.9 increase from October to October.

Largest change during the month was the 19 per cent increase in apparel sales which was also the only category to record an increase the previous month.

Philip Olim, who has spent a great part of his years in service to others, was presented a plaque commemorating this service during the annual congregational dinner of Temple B'nai Israel Sunday night, Jan. 12. He is shown, above, receiving the plaque from Louis Rosenbaum, president, Jewish Federated Charities as Sam Israel, president, Tri-Cities Jewish Congregation looks on. The plaque reads: "This is presented to PHILIP OLIM for many years of outstanding service in the cause of humanity and loyal usefulness service to the Tri-Cities Jewish Community 1958" It bears the names of the two organizations.

News Of GREENHILL BY MRS. MARY McLAURINE

Regular church services were held at the Methodist Church Sunday morning. Rev. William Smith delivered the sermon. Visitors present were Mr. and Mrs. David Crosswhite of Florence and Mrs. John Kelley and daughter of Centerville. Evening services and MYF were held at Miller's Chapel.

The regular January meeting of the Parent-Teachers Association was held Tuesday night. The opening prayer was by Rev. Harley Taylor. Tom Pewett, president, presided. The program was presented by the Business Club. The room count was taken and Mrs. Louise Higgins' first grade and Mrs. Katherine Walker's 11th grade tied. The prize money was divided by the two classes. After the program open house was held by the Business Department, and refreshments were served by the group.

The eleventh grade English class presented three one act plays last Monday night. The WSCS met at Mrs. Elston Green's home Wednesday afternoon. Fifteen members were present. The new members are Mrs. Lucille Gray, Mrs. Bob Wanner, Mrs. Edith Wanner and Mrs. Patsy Wanner. After the business session a White Elephant sale was held. Articles donated by members were auctioned off and the funds were added to the treasury. Mrs. Authur Moncreet, one of the members was showered with gifts.

Friends of Mrs. Louie Hannah gathered at her home Thursday afternoon and gave her a shower of useful gifts. Among those attending from out-of-town were, Mrs. Howard Hodges, Mrs. Howard Davis, Mrs. Myra Beadie, Mrs. Joe Underwood, Mrs. John Underwood and baby of Florence and Mrs. Lula McMurrey of St. Joseph, Tenn.

John Gray is ill at his home. Howard Truitt is home after several days stay in the ECM Hospital.

Mrs. Lillian Wilcoxson, Robert Gist, Tommy Green and Donna Clemmons are patients at ECM Hospital. Mrs. Pauline Hannah and Miss Louise Hannah visited Vernon White, who is a patient at the Lawrenceburg hospital.

Mrs. Edna Thornton, Mrs. Neomi Wheeler, Mrs. Esther Richardson and Mrs. Mary McLaurence visited friends in Iron City, Tuesday.

Mrs. Arlie Tate and children of Center Star were Wednesday guests of Mrs. Elmer Kelly. Mr. and Mrs. Homer Green and Randy visited Mrs. Marvin McDonald, who is a patient at the Lawrenceburg hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. John Underwood and baby were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Dock Springer Sunday. Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Hines of Florence visited Mrs. Alma Hines and family Sunday.

Privilege License Collections Falling Behind Schedule

Privilege license collections are running far behind schedule, Florence City Clerk James E. Wilcoxson said today, with only approximately 20 per cent of anticipated business license revenues collected to date.

And he cautioned business operators they have only eight more days in which to buy privilege licenses without incurring a penalty. Privilege licenses bought after Feb. 1 but before March 1 will carry a 10 per cent penalty, while a 15 per cent delinquent penalty will be added to cost of the license bought on or after March 1.

NO SINISTER MOTIVE:

Ole Miss Spokesman Sets Chronicle Right On Confederate Flag Display

A University of Mississippi spokesman has strongly challenged the Allentown (Pa.) Chronicle on its stand against the University for displaying its famous Confederate flag in the Sugar Bowl on New Year's Day.

In a Jan. 3 editorial entitled "Bad Taste," the Pennsylvania newspaper said:

"Many New Year's Day television must have been annoyed, if not angered by the display of a giant Confederate flag during halftime ceremonies on the Sugar Bowl at New Orleans.

"The flag, 60 by 90 feet, was brought on the field by students of the University of Mississippi.

"Mississippi was a part of the Confederacy during the Civil War. But, that conflict ended more than 90 years ago and the Confederacy died with the surrender. Mississippi and the other Confederate states came back into the Union and have been part of it ever since, even if their hearts are not entirely in it.

"Under the circumstances, display of the Confederate flag as it was shown on New Year's Day was in extremely bad taste.

"It indicated a division within the nation that should not exist, especially in times of international tension."

The University reply by letter to the editor:

"The few who might have read some sinister motives into this action would undoubtedly have been aggravated by the knowledge that at the University of Mississippi our athletic teams are known as the 'Rebels'; our fight song is 'Dixie'; and our flag is identical with the old Confederate flag which is similar in many ways to our State flag. In the 1860's practically the entire student body marched to war as 'The University Greys.' Very few came back. In every crisis since, our boys have gone to war and many did not return—and their hearts were in it.

"We in Mississippi honor the purposes of the monument at Vicksburg to the heroic dead from Pennsylvania. Their hearts were in it as much as those from other states. It is appropriate, we feel, to take memory and the ideals of our fighting men as memorialized. So, we are the 'Rebels' here. This means that there is here a spirit of inquiry as befits a University. It means we are not willing to be rubber-stamped into a pattern of strict conformity. It means we do not desire to be machine-tooled into a rigidity of thinking or acting whether the pressures be from north or south. It means that when some political pressure is applied, and on rare occasions we sense such attempts, then we are 'Rebels' and seek the truth rather than automatic submission.

"Perhaps, sir, that is the reason our small University ranks in the top twelve of the Nation in the number of Rhodes Scholars produced. This attitude may account for the fact that our faculty, although in the lower salary brackets, ranks far above the average of our Nation's colleges and universities in its percentage with doctoral degrees, and its dedication is shown by the faculty turnover being no greater than the national average. The University of Mississippi graduate students scored above the national mean on Graduate Record Examinations given across the United States, excelling in thirteen of seventeen major fields of study, and entering freshmen in recent years have scored above the norm in tests administered by the American Council on Education. All of the eight schools of our University are accredited. These are among the hallmarks of 'Rebels,' the spirit of a free press and a freedom to disagree and to speak freely.

"Some schools use 'tigers' or 'bulldogs,' or 'mules' as a symbol of their school spirit. Other teams are known as 'pirates' without a connotation of piracy, or 'Quakers' without espousing a specific religious philosophy, or 'crimson' without being a red satellite. We use the team name 'Rebels' with a flag which, assure you, does not mean that our boys are preparing for another disaster at Gettysburg.

"So, you see, we are pained at your interpretation which arouses sad thoughts about unfortunate incidents of more than 90 years ago. We like our interpretation and commend its spirit to you. Should enough demand arise in your area, we shall be glad to furnish your well-known Hess Brothers store with a list of manufacturers of this fine symbol of a spirit and a mental attitude which more than any other thing can help our great Nation increase its academic and scientific prestige."

Waterloo's FFA Members Prepare For Cattle Show

Fifteen members of the Waterloo FFA are busy feeding and preparing their calves for the fat stock show and sale in Birmingham in early spring. Five boys of the chapter took part in this event last year, and due to their success and interest, the number grew to fifteen this year. Boys taking part are Leroy Watkins, Howard Murphy, Lonnie Tidwell, Jr., Fred Dowdy, Ronnie Threeth, Clifton Hairell, Jr., Johnny Murphy, Ronnie Murphy, Thomas Duncan Ray, Billy Burney, Hubert Holcombe, Lewis Young and Harold Baskins.

This activity gives the boys an opportunity to study and learn much about feeding and managing beef cattle. Within the past week or two most of the boys have faced the problem of cattle grub in their calves. Each student was instructed in how to rid an animal of grub and then put it into practice on his calf at home.

William B. Hagood, a very fine teaching activity which at the same time it gives some boys recognition for a job well done and provides one way for them to earn more money.

Taxpayer Aid To Be Given By IRS Office Here

Chester Lawrence of the Florence Internal Revenue office, has announced that special days have been set aside for helping taxpayers prepare their Federal income tax returns.

"Taxpayers will be assisted from 8 a. m. to 4:30 p. m. Fridays and Mondays, January 3 through April 14, also Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays, January 28 through February 13 and April 8 through April 15, Mr. Lawrence said. The office is located at 210 West Tennessee Street, Florence.

Mr. Lawrence stated that last year's policy of asking taxpayers to do as much of their own work as possible would be continued. He pointed out that the program was still revived throughout the nation, enabling the service to vote thousands of additional man-days to enforcement activities.

The Internal Revenue Service suggests that taxpayers start the preparation of their returns at home and call the local office at AT-25681 if they need answers to questions. "Most questions can be answered quickly by telephone, saving the taxpayer a trip to our office," Mr. Lawrence explained. He emphasized that taxpayers who cannot solve their problems by telephone should go to the office on a taxpayer assistance day. He promised that qualified employees will be available to advise them in completing the returns on those days.

Rogersville FFA Youth Has Sheep As His Project

Woodston Amason of the Rogersville FFA Chapter has sheep as his productive supervised farming program.

Woodston started with five head of sheep in the fall of 1955, and has sold spring lambs and wool which brought him $400. His flock now has increased to fourteen head, which is a good start in this enterprise.

Woodston plans to self-feed his flock when they lamb this spring. He has constructed a self-feeder in the vocational agriculture shop from a barrel and cultivator wheel which will do this job.

Woodston feels like sheep fit well into his farming program and helps take the place of the loss from reduction in cotton acreage on his farm.

Florence Airmen At Key West For Special Training

Two Naval Reservists from Florence—Lieut. Nelson R. Starkey, 412 East Tuscaloosa St., and Lieut. Commander Zachary T. Wakefield, 1202 Ingleside Ave.—are among members of Naval Air Reserve Attack Squadron 791 reporting aboard the Boca Chica Naval Air Station at Key West, Fla., for two weeks of annual training duty.

The unit is based at Memphis, where Starkey and Wakefield put in periodic flight training, and includes "Cougar" jet fighters as well as Navy B-54 transports.

While at Boca Chica, members of the 791st will be conducting realistic wartime exercises designed to improve the squadron's proficiency as an attack unit.

Guard Against Spring Storms

Farm buildings should be prepared now to withstand wind damage during spring storms.

According to API Extension Engineer William Cox, construction measures can be taken to help protect buildings located on the fringe areas of tornadoes. But, he pointed out, it isn't practical to make the safeguards strong enough to resist the full force of a storm. Cox, who is a specialist in farm buildings, suggested that knee braces be added to reinforce and strengthen frame buildings. Foundations of new buildings should be heavy and deep enough to resist lifting and overturning, and it's best to locate buildings on a site protected from winds by hills or other windbreaks. The specialist advised using steel straps at the plates and other key points.

According to swine specialists, runt pigs are usually the result of poor sanitation or poor nutrition—or both.

London Wedding Is Of Local Interest

A December twenty-eighth ceremony in Wesley's Chapel, London, England, united in marriage Miss Sandra Legge, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William George Legge of Coniston, New South Wales, Australia, and Herbert Ogburn Hester, lieutenant, United States Air Force, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Hester, 1412 Jackson Road, Florence.

The wedding group formed before an altar arrangement of white narcissus and chrysanthemums with the glow of white candles lighting the scene. Vows were read by the Reverend Dr. Ronald Spivey, and Christopher Spivey, organist, presented nuptial music.

The bride, given in marriage by Henry Raymond Flack, long-time family friend, wore a gown of ivory French brocade designed with portrait neckline which was bound with velvet. The sleeves were long and fitted and her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom. Her veil was chapel-length and caught to a flat satin bow, and with her prayer book she carried pale pink orchids.

Miss Colleen Pexer of Johannesburg, South Africa, was the bride's only attendant. Wearing midnight blue silk with matching accessories and a bandeau of pale pink flowers in her hair, her bouquet was a cascade of pale pink carnations.

Lt. Robert Evans Miltstead of Abilene, Texas, served Lt. Hester as best man. Groomsmen were Peter Flack and David Flack of of Alabama, is a member of Alpha Tau Omega social fraternity. The wedding ceremony will take place in Trinity Episcopal Church.

Walthall-Maffett Engagement Told

Heralding a mid-March wedding is the announcement which has been made by Mr. and Mrs. John Henry Walthall of Sheffield, of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Patricia, to William Charles Maffett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Maffett, Cloverdale Road.

The bride-elect, a graduate of Sheffield High School and of Maryville, College, Maryville, Tennessee, interned in Dietetics at Vanderbilt University Hospital and for the past three years has served on the dietetics staff there.

Mr. Maffett was graduated from Coffee High School and from the University of Alabama, School of Engineering, where his social fraternity was Alpha Tau Omega. After three years' service which included a European tour of duty, he was separated from the United States Air Force in March 1957 with the rank of first lieutenant.

In business, he is associated with Foster-Creighton Company in Nashville. The wedding is being planned for Saturday, March fifteenth, at First Presbyterian Church, Sheffield.

Price-Jones Nuptials Take Place Recently

Mr. and Mrs. Hobson Price, Bailey Springs Road, have announced the marriage of their daughter, Martha Ruth, to Felton Ray Jones, son of Mrs. Ira Ashby and the late Steve Jones. The ceremony took place in Iuka, Mississippi on January thirteenth.

The couple are at home on Bailey Springs Road.

Mary Ellen Musselman Tells Wedding Plans

A seven o'clock ceremony in North Wood Methodist Church will mark the wedding of Mary Ellen Musselman and Clifford Truett Farmer on February fifteenth. The Reverend E. H. McCain of First Methodist Church in Sulligent will be the officiating minister.

Mrs. Harvey Oliver of Birmingham will be the organist and Paul Musselman, the bride's uncle, vocalist.

David Carl Musselman will give his daughter in marriage and her sister-in-law, Mrs. David Musselman, will be her honor attendant.

Serving as bridesmaids will be Miss Azalia Walker, Mrs. Bill Mardis, Miss Martha Elizabeth Stuart and Miss Ann Farmer of Titus, sister of the bridegroom. Flower girls will be Wynn Price, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Price, and Deborah McKee of Charlotte, North Carolina.

Mr. Farmer's father, Clarence T. Farmer, of Titus, will serve as best man and groomsmen will be David Musselman of Auburn, Dr. G. O. McKee of Charlotte, and Harvey Oliver of Birmingham.

A reception in the church parlor will follow the ceremony.

Bride-Elect Shower Feted

A courtesy to Miss Mary Ellen Musselman, bride-elect of February fifteenth, was the miscellaneous shower to which Mrs. Dora Davis was a recent hostess.

The honoree received with her hostess, her mother, Mrs. Clifford Musselman, and her fiancé's mother, Mrs. Clarence Farmer of Titus.

The tea table, covered with white net over white satin, was silver-appointed and centered with a multi-branched candelabrum clustered around with pink flowers.

Assisting the hostess were Mrs. James Price, Mrs. J. V. Morgan, Mrs. W. L. Wood, Mrs. Paul Musselman and Mrs. N. L. Hauerwas.

Luncheon Honors Recent Visitor

Mrs. James E. Anderson and Mrs. Vernon Brown were recent hostesses when they entertained at luncheon at The Town Club as a courtesy to Mrs. Katherine Hipp of Johnstown, Pa., who has been a guest in the home of her son, Donald Hipp and Mrs. Hipp on Riverview Circle.

Fruits and greenery adorned the two tables around which were seated the honoree, Mrs. Donald Hipp, Mrs. Bowe, Mrs. Don Geeson, Mrs. W. W. Slaton and her guest, Mrs. Edward Lott, Mrs. Fred Diggle, Mrs. Henry Carr, Mrs. Ernest Smith, Mrs. Edward O'Brien, Mrs. John Wilke, Mrs. Tom McGough, Mrs. Constance Jackson, Mrs. Edward Anderson, Mrs. James Schneible, Mrs. L. S. Doster, Mrs. C. O. Beasley, Mrs. A. J. Bushman, Mrs. Harold Bourn and the hostesses.

Mrs. Bradford Hostess To Thursday Study Club

Mrs. Donald Dhite gave the program when members convened for the January meeting of Thursday Study Club at the home of Mrs. H. H. Bradford on Oakview Circle. Using material from Elizabeth Kirkman O'Neal's story of the Forks of Cypress and adding interesting bits concerning members of the Jackson family, original owners of that beautiful old ante-bellum home, the discourse was colorful with local lore.

Mrs. William Newsome was a guest and Mrs. Hugh Porter and Mrs. Walker Sloan presided at the tea table during the refreshment hour.

Bereans Have Monthly Meet

At the home of Mrs. R. O. McLemore on Sannor Ave., the Berean Club met on Tuesday morning, the fourteenth, when the program, a continuation of the study of Gallatians, was given by Mrs. Lloyd Maffett.

member, was present after a lengthy absence from meetings and guests included Mrs. R. L. Archibald and Mrs. James Beadle. Refreshments were served at the conclusion of the study.

Nance Home Scene Hypatian Meeting

Entertaining at her home on Walnut Street, Mrs. Julian Nance was hostess to the monthly meeting of Florence Hypatian Club on last Thursday afternoon.

In charge of the program, Mrs. H. A. Flowers reviewed Harnett Kane's "Miracle In The Mountains," a delightful story of Miss Martha Berry and her work in the school which bears her name. Having known the book's central character, Mrs. Flowers charmed her listeners with added glimpses which had lingered with her.

Miss Gladys Shepard assisted the hostess in serving tea and dainties.

Mrs. Floyd Hostess Current Events Club

Mrs. Homer Floyd was hostess at her home in Spanish Oaks Club to the January meeting of Current Events Club. Also in charge of the program, she had asked Mrs. T. B. Shotts to give a review of Conrad Richter's "The Lady," a story of New Mexico of a century ago which interestingly mingles fact with fiction.

Guests were Mrs. H. J. English and Miss Nell Pearson, the latter here for a visit to her sister, Mrs. Ben Ingram.

Mrs. C. Fulton Huff and Mrs. Hoy Brock assisted the hostess during the tea hour.

Battalion Entertains Distinguished Group

The Two Hundred Seventy-Eighth Anti-Aircraft Battalion entertained their wives and guests at The Town Club following open house at Florence Armory Saturday afternoon. Included among guests were officials of the State Military department, 31 Infantry Division, the 142 and 226 Anti-Aircraft Battalions, officials of Colbert and Lauderdale Counties, Senators and Representatives and Commissioners of the Tri-Cities.

Spring blossoms decorated the club rooms and the candlelighted serving table where Mrs. Henry Cromwell and Mrs. Claude Carroll were assisted by Mrs. Robert Arellio, Mrs. Chester McKinney and Mrs. Willard Graham.

Garden Club In Home Of Member

Mrs. William Futrell was hostess to the January meeting of Maple Heights Garden Club recently and Mrs. Earl Stamps, state Conservation chairman, was program leader. Her talk was in regard to the Federation program for conserving on a personal, local, state and national level.

Mr. Robert Lehr and Mrs. Walter Ingle, Jr., were welcomed into the club. A coffee hour followed the program.

It was a REAL happy birthday for GRANNY THREE . . . a name the children picked out of the blue for Nell . . . ALSO CHALKING UP a milestone on the 19th was Ray Walker and we'd bet a pretty penny there was celebratin' at 513 North Seminary . . . At the moment we have no details but if snoopin' will do the trick . . . we'll tell all later . . . AND STILL ANOTHER celebration took place over Chattanooga-way on the 13th when Jean Wynne Stanton . . . (sister of Doby Young . . . 423 North Pine Street) . . . was the milestone . . . Doby was there . . . In fact . . . she took the cake which . . . following tradition in her family . . . held three candles . . . "For past . . . present and future birthdays" . . . she told us . . . Jean is recuperating from an illness . . . and the party was small-ish . . . but very . . . very festive . . . WE'D FEEL SORTA chesty if our friends drove two hundred miles for a few hours of chatting and a game of bridge with us . . . 'tho Katherine Maples takes it in her stride . . . Over from Memphis Monday were Willie Miller Agee . . . (You should remember her . . . she lived here once) . . . Mary Overton and Mary Warden . . . A real chit-chat was had and much . . . much fun . . . 'Twas a repeat performance . . . We remember at least one other visit . . . COME MARCH . . . YOU'll want to watch the goings-on at 540 Riverview Drive . . . That lovely new home is just before having a lovelier and newer entrance with tall fan-shaped glasswork above the doorway as a background for the beautiful fluted columns which will go up out front . . . Hope we see you out that way as we do our daily peeking . . .

STARTING AT THE right place . . . When Luella Powell was collecting material for the book review which she later gave in her literary club . . . she chatted over long-distance telephone with the book's author in his New York home . . . Among other interesting bits she learned that he . . . a Clay-county Alabamian by birth . . . gives the late Henry Willingham credit for furnishing the spark which sent him on his way . . . Mitchell Garrett is the name and we know the woods are full of those who can tell a similar story . . . We're glad he remembers . . . and though you'd like to know . . .

RUMORS KEEP COMING that Ann Bennett Hopkins is considering entering medical school and we keep hoping the rumors will become fact . . . A thoroughly thorough and completely competent gal . . . there'll be many a fevered brow clamoring for medical attention . . . 's our guess . . . We'll keep you posted . . .

"ROUSINGLY J. EMORY Morris of Florence . . . That is the beginning of a paragraph in John Temple Graves column of Monday morning's Post-Herald . . . We weren't quite certain if JTG agreed with our "rousing" citizen but we'll stick around . . . Emory . . . and applaud . . . Hope you . . . our readers . . . didn't miss this one . . .

A-VISITING THEY did go . . . Ellen and "Babe" Redd have returned from the nicest trek . . . To Memphis first for a look-in on (son) Mitchell . . . a student at Southwestern . . . then a dip-down to Tuscaloosa for a glimpse of (son) . . . "Mister U" . . . a student at University of Alabama . . . Where they arrived just in time for a reception which his fraternity . . . the S.A.E. . . (it's also his father "Babe's" fraternity . . . as it was his grandfather Will's . . . and we THINK his great grandfather Judge J. J.'s) . . . was giving for the University's new president . . . (Doctor) Frank Rose . . . Pleasant fun is reported . . .

AND NOW . . . CHEERIO and goodby . . . until more news comes through The Spillway . . .

Last week, the last week of the semester (with the exception of exam week), things were pretty quiet at FSC and there was a great deal of studying being done. But even the prospect of exams looming in the near future can't bring about a halt of all activities other than academic pursuits. Monday a number of students and faculty members again took advantage of the generosity of the Muscogee Shoals Concert Association and spent the evening listening to Jorge Bolet perform near-miracles at the piano.

Venturing away from the books occupation again Tuesday, Florence State flocked to the Dress Revue sponsored by the clothing classes. The Lady of Achievement Trophy, presented to the most outstanding clothing student, was awarded to Mary Ann Box, Vernon. Nancy McPeters, Florence, and Betty Jo Ryan, were the recipients of medals.

Mr. Robert K. Sharp, a new member of the English Department at FSC, is in charge of this year's Creative Writing Contest. Prizes will be awarded for the best entries in several categories including familiar essay, poetry, plays, and short stories. Who knows — maybe Mr. Sharp will discover a Pulitzer Prize winner.

Mrs. Knight, the college nurse, is now prepared to arrange for the administration of free doses of the Salk vaccine — in the form of injections — to the campus population. Thanks to arrangements made by the college physician and the Lauderdale County Health Department, students have only to go to the infirmary and confer with Mrs. Knight to arrange for their "shots."

Looking at next semester's calendar, the first important event coming up (after the Carnival of Dimes) is Friendship Week, scheduled for February 3-6. Sponsored by the YWCA, the election of Mr. and Miss Friendliness will be held in Bibb Graves Hall on February 3. Climaxing the week will be the crowning of Mr. and Miss Friendliness at the Friendship Party, Thursday.

Here's something else to look forward to — the Convocations Committee is bringing Players Incorporated and their production of "Taming of the Shrew," one of Shakespeare's more ridiculous comedies, to Florence State February 4.

At last Florence State is on its way to at least a partial solution to its parking problems. There are, or rather, soon will be, new parking areas all over the campus. One beside Powers Hall, one behind Keller Hall, one between the Art Center and Rogers Hall, and one around the Kilby Playground. In addition, the circular drive in front of Wesleyan Hall is being widened in order to accomo-

by
FRANK REYNOLDS
Your Telephone Manager

WHAT'S MY LINE? Have you ever wondered who keeps the telephone lines around here in working order? A telephone man, to be sure, the installer-repairman. And, when storm damage repairs or maintenance are necessary, cable splicers have to be "johnnies-on-the-spot." In all kinds of weather at any hour of the day or night they're at work—up poles, down manholes, out in the country, right on your street. And just being there isn't enough. They have to know what they are doing; which wires to join and how to join them. It takes know-how and a lot of hard work to keep telephone lines in order and our telephones ready to serve everyone, all the time.

"ISN'T IT ABOUT TIME WE GOT A PHONE FOR UPSTAIRS?"

BRRR, IT'S COLD! And did you know, the colder the weather the louder sounds are. In hot weather sounds are weaker, don't carry as far. As this applies to telephone communications, it was a problem that worried telephone people. Then the Bell Laboratories found an answer. It's the thermistor, an electronic device that controls the volume of voices on the telephone. It keeps them from being too loud in cold weather and too low in warm weather. It's so sensitive it can detect a temperature change to one-millionth of a degree.

Sometimes it is the little thoughtful things which we receive from our friends that we remember the longest, as we feel sure the case is with Mrs. Roxie Middlebrooks, who received a very wonderful surprise birthday from her friends and some of her family last week. Thursday, being the birthday of Mrs. Middlebrooks, who spends her days in bed due to ill health, will probably be long remembered by her, for on this day many friends and some relations came to her home as a surprise to her, bearing a covered dish and hearts full of cheer to brighten this day for her. Those present were Mr. and Mrs. Ronald Middlebrooks and children, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Gullet and children, Mr. and Mrs. Johnye Hunt, Mrs. Dessie Hunt and daughter, Mrs. Louise Clark and son and Mrs. Omie Lee Thigpen and son of Athens; Mrs. Gladys Sulcer also of Athens, Daphne Hill of Huntsville, and Mrs. Woodrow Word visited in the afternoon. Everyone enjoyed the day, and most of all Mrs. Middlebrooks. This was her 57th birthday.
We extend our sympathies to Mrs. Gary Phillips, whose mother, Mrs. Ned Grisby, passed away last week. She was buried Sunday in the Rogersville cemetery.
Woodrow Nunley has purchased the Sanford McConnell home in our community.
Mrs. Leona Thorne was a patient in Jackson's Hospital last week.
Mrs. Montana Cockrell is ill and is to undergo surgery soon.
Mrs. J. B. Amason is still confined to St. Thomas Hospital in Nashville.
Mrs. Will Johnson was sick at her home last week. Visiting in the Johnson home over the week-end were their children, Lois Johnson of Florence and Mr. and Mrs. Curtis McGraw of Decatur.
Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McConnell of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Linnibell St. Clair and Eddy of Louisville, Ky., visited in the L. A. McConnell home last week.
Mrs. Iva McConnell, the Jimmie McConnells, Mrs. Linnibell St. Clair and Sue White visited the E. E. Cockrells in Decatur Sunday.

NOTHING ELSE NEAR THE PRICE HAS WHAT'S IN THIS PACKAGE!

It's one of Chevrolet's dollar-stretching Delrays!

The handsome Delrays are the lowest priced of all the low-priced Chevrolets. And they're full-size Chevrolets—wider, lower and nine lively inches longer. In size, in style, in fine details and construction, no other car priced so low gives you so much!

When you're thinking about buying a car because of its extra-low price, there are two things it pays to watch for. First, be sure you get full measure when it comes to size. Don't settle for a cut-down bargain model. Second, be sure you get all the equipment and conveniences that you'd normally expect to be standard in a car.

Chevrolet's Delray models are the lowest priced in the line. But they're full-size Chevrolets—and they're equipped to do you proud. Nothing else near the price has what's in this package. See and drive this big beauty soon at your Chevrolet dealer's!

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze, About six years ago I married a girl I was in love with and I still love her altho I have had some big shocks. I believe you'll agree that I certainly need advice. Little by little I began to realize that she does not have the same moral standards I have, or that I thought she had. A recent instance occurred when she was settling a seven dollar account.

She gave the clerk a ten spot and the girl handed her three bills which she grabbed and stuck inside her bag in a flash, but not so fast but what I'd seen that one of them was another ten. I called her attention to the clerk's mistake and tried to think she had not seen it, but she had. On our way home she flared up. I am a "softie," she says. She had not stolen the money and, if the merchant had hired an inefficient girl who couldn't count change, let him find out the hard way. That was her idea about that little episode and it is typical of her thinking.

We have two young children and I am constantly worried about impressions they are getting and about what it will do to their lives. I'd appreciate any helpful word from you, or from any readers of your column.

J. J.
Dear J. J., First of all I suggest that you never pass up an opportunity to express your opinion of honesty versus dishonesty. At every given opportunity make such statements as: "I couldn't do so-and-so because it does not measure up to my way of life." Do this in an unobtrusive manner and do it simply. Should you fall into the habit of preaching a sermon on each occasion your words would lose weight and you'd soon be avoided as a plague.

I've an idea that your wife's parents neglected a God-given responsibility in her up-bringing and I doubt that you can undo the damage. I get the impression that you've faced this situation squarely. I hope you have developed an attitude of pity toward her and that you're willing to sacrifice in whatever ways seem necessary in order that your children may develop their lives in satisfactory channels.

Talk confidently with your minister. It may be that schooling away from home will be suggested for your youngsters at an early age and, if so, I urge that you comply. It may tear your heartstrings to be separated from them when they are still children, but I feel the reward will come later.

Dear Sara Saze,

I am in my late thirties and find that there's a great need for me to add something each month to my family's income. I am, for the most part, untrained. And, if possible, it should be part-time work since there are home duties, too. Can you make a suggestion?

Mrs. B. E.
Ask at Florence-Lauderdale Library for a November 1957 issue of Changing Times magazine and read "Careers for Women—12 Good Bets." I hope you'll find this article of help in solving your problem.

Rites Held Sunday For Mrs. Crews, 64

Funeral services were held from Reeder Street Church of God at 2 p.m. Sunday for Mrs. George W. Crews, 64, of Waterloo, who died at 5 a. m. Saturday at the residence of her daughter, Mrs. Lora Cochran, 114 North O'Neal St.

The Rev. Jack Jenkins officiated and burial was in Tri-Cities Memorial Gardens. Mrs. Crews was a minister of the Church of God for 30 years, and lived in Waterloo most of her life. She had recently been making her home with her daughter.

She is survived by her husband; three sons, R. B. Crews, D. I. Crews, both of Sheffield, Rayford W. Crews, Cherokee; two daughters, Mrs. Lora Cochran, Florence and Mrs. J. B. Cressy, South Bend, Ind.; her father, R. S. Brooks, Hackleburg; 12 grandchildren, six great grandchildren; four brothers, Henry Brooks, Detroit, Mich., Simon and Fred Brooks, Norfolk, Va., Asa Brooks, La Grange, Ga.; three sisters, Mrs. Vena Frederick, Hackleburg, Mrs. Myrtle Creekmore, Greensboro, N. C., Mrs. Hatlie Griggs, Athens.

The Anderson P.-T. A. met for its regular meeting Tuesday night, Jan. 14. The meeting was presided over by the president, Vernon Herston. The devotional was read by Mrs. Travis Butler and prayer by Mrs. Eloise Camp. The program was planned and presented by the mothers of the P.-T. A. The faculty had a chance to see themselves as others see them in this program which was a mock faculty presentation. Many hearty laughs were heard in the audience as some of the outstanding characteristics of the teachers were so vividly portrayed. No one could doubt who Mrs. Ethel Goodman was imitating as she made the very brief announcements, at the same time adjusting her glasses and fumbling with keys so characteristic of the principal, Curtis Newbern. Everyone sensed immediately that Mrs. Frenchie Raney was imitating Miss Ruby Daly as she so rhythmically beat time while directing the group singing. Mrs. E. F. Cagle proved herself to be a very close observer of her husband as she was giving last minute instructions and a pep talk to the team before the game.

Mrs. Valeria Ridgeway also proved herself to be a keen observer as she mimicked the movements of Miss Velma Weathers. All the other ladies did a good job of imitating the other teachers. Many hearty laughs were heard from the teachers who were being mimicked as well as from the audience. A group of the ladies played a game of basketball. The P.-T. A. attendance was the largest of the year.

The Anderson Home Demonstration Club met at the home of Mrs. Vernon Herston last Friday which was the first meeting since the new home demonstration agent took charge. There were fifteen members present, with two visitors. Mrs. Vernon Herston, who is president of the club, was in charge of the meeting. The devotional was given by Mrs. Everett Word. The demonstration on household and insect control was presented by Miss Fariss Prickett, home demonstration agent. Two new members joined the club at this meeting. After the business session a social hour was enjoyed at which time refreshments were served. The next meeting will be held in the home of Mrs. Herbert Ridgeway. Mrs. Willie T. Cagle and Mrs. Eva Felker will attend the next leadership meeting.

John Cook has returned to the home of his parents here from Chicago where he has been employed.

Mrs. Cora Thorne is ill at her home.

One hundred sixty eight attended Sunday School at the First Baptist Church of Anderson Sunday and others came in for the preaching service. Rev. Neal filled the pulpit in the absence of the pastor, who was ill at his home here. Rev. Neal used as his subjects for his sermons, "There Is A Way Which Seemeth Right To Man," and "How To Be A Successful Christian."

For training union there was an attendance of ninety three. The Junior training union had charge of the devotional. The theme of the devotional was, "Our Baptist Heritage." Those taking part in the devotional were: Jane Raney, Pamela Goodman, Shirley Chambers, Sandra Williams, Elaine Butler and Gail Patterson.

Mrs. Betty Speakman, Mrs. Wynette Butler, Mrs. Valeria Ridgeway and Mrs. Ethel Goodman attended the district quarterly meeting of the W.M.S. at Calvary Baptist Church in Tusculum Tuesday.

Mrs. Johnnie B. Thorne has been released from D. Jackson's hospital at Lester.

Mrs. Velma Peek, Mrs. Ethel Young and Mrs. Exer McCrary, all of Clay County, Ala., and J. B. Amazon visited in the W. R. Sinyard home Saturday night.

Mrs. Paul Black of Minor Hill, Tenn., passed away at her home early Monday morning. She is a sister of Mrs. Herbert Ridgeway.

The following were supper guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Amos McCrary Saturday night for a turkey supper: Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Gigsby, Rev. and Mrs. W. V. McDougal and children and Mr. and Mrs. Hulon McGraw and Doris.

Little Linda Faye Putman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clayton Putman, is very ill at her home here with lukemia. She was in the E.C.M. Hospital part of last week.

Mr. and Mrs. Lester Tucker and children of Chicago are visiting here.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Tucker are Mrs. Tucker's sisters, Misses Dona and Janie Cody, of Tusculum.

Mr. and Mrs. Grady Griffin and children have moved into their home in Florence, which they purchased recently.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Cheatham of Haleyville visited in the home of Rev. and Mrs. R. P. Speakman last week. They are Mrs. Speakman's parents.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmie McConnell of Indianapolis, Ind., and Mrs. Lina Belle St. Clair and Eddy of Louisville, Ky., visited their parents, Mr. and Mrs. I. A. McConnell, over the week-end.

Brenda Hayes, daughter of Mrs. Inez Hayes, celebrated her tenth birthday recently with a party at her home. Several of her friends and classmates joined in the fun with her.

Mrs. Lila Sewell is still confined to Dr. Jackson's clinic. She is scheduled to undergo surgery soon.

Church

Regular services will be held in all churches as usual on Sunday.

The Methodist Men's Club met Tuesday night. Some of the ladies of the church served an evening meal at this time, after which a business meeting was held.

Mrs. Rivers Lindsey is teaching the mission study course on "Japan," which began Wednesday evening. Circles 1 and 2 of the W. S. C. S. will participate in this study, and anyone interested is invited and urged to attend. Choir rehearsal is held each Wednesday evening at 7 with Lawrence Rickard, choir director, in charge.

The regular meeting of the 4-H Club was held Jan. 13th with Miss Celeste Hurley and Albert Heaslett in charge of the program.

Pictures of the regular Club officers were taken at this time by Mr. Heaslett. Miss Hurley discussed the apron and dress revue that will be held sometime this spring with the girls.

A Satisfied Customer Is Our First Consideration

THIS is Texas Eastern

Just eleven years ago Texas Eastern took its first step as a fledgling corporation. Its immediate goal: the purchase and conversion of the war-built Big Inch and Little Big Inch pipelines to the transmission of natural gas.

Since February, 1947, Texas Eastern's interests in the petroleum industry have been greatly broadened and expanded. Today, Texas Eastern

- explores for, produces, purchases, processes and transports natural gas...
- explores for, produces and refines crude oil...
- transports petroleum products.

Texas Eastern's natural gas pipeline system—now 5900 miles long—spans 14 states between Mexico and the Northeast. Its pipelines, which supply natural gas used in millions of homes and thousands of factories, have a combined capacity of more than 1.7 billion cubic feet per day.

Texas Eastern's newly created "Little Big Inch Division" will soon be operating a 1700-mile petroleum products pipeline system. This new system—one of the nation's largest common carriers of petroleum products—links the refineries of the Gulf Coast, Ark-La-Tex and Mid-Continent areas with major marketing areas of the Midwest.

The Company's Production Division and its recently-acquired subsidiary, La Gloria Oil and Gas Company, are exploring for oil and gas in a half dozen states. They have interests in over 600 producing oil and gas wells... and in thousands of acres of proved and semi-proved oil and gas areas.

Through La Gloria's ultramodern Tyler, Texas refinery, Texas Eastern is engaged in custom refining of aviation and automotive gasolines. La Gloria's giant gas cycling plant at Falfurrias, Texas, further adds to Texas Eastern's diversification.

Through a company affiliate, Algonquin Gas Transmission Company, gas from the Texas Eastern system is sold in large areas of southern New England and as far north as Boston.

These operations have made Texas Eastern a truly versatile company, broadening its service to consumers of oil and gas as well as to the people who produce and process them.

1958 MILK PRICES WILL STAY ON THE '57 LEVEL

Milk prices this year will probably remain about the same—or only slightly higher than those in 1957.
However, more milk will be available, reports API Extension
Economist Foy Helms. The trend during the past two years for a higher rate of production per cow promises to continue.
Another trend, says Helms, is toward fewer but larger dairy herds. Although labor costs will probably be higher this year, increased efficiency on better dairy farms will offset this rise. On the expense side of the picture, large feed supplies will probably help out the dairyman.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Jesus loves me
...this I know

I still remember the happy words, and the easy tune. It was the first hymn I ever learned.
More important, I remember the certainty with which I sang "This I know!"
That was faith... My faith, firm...
undoubting.
Have I outgrown that faith? No! But I have grown out from it. The ever-widening circle of experience has been drawing me away from the Center of life.
And when I heard little Janey singing her happy hymn just as I once sang it... I knew it was time to get back to the Real, the Unchanging.
And I've found that the Church is the one place in all this world where a man's heart—free of dread, fear, uncertainty
—can sing "THIS I KNOW!"

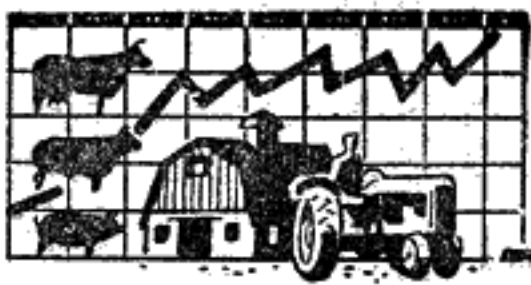

THE CHURCH FOR ALL...
ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values.
Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1)
For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4)
For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Civitan Meeting
At their bi-monthly meeting in the Rogersville school cafeteria on Tuesday evening the Civitans, presided over by Hudson Covington, named Douglas Ezell as secretary-treasurer to fill the vacancy made by the resignation of W. C. Hannah.

Dinner Party
Mrs. Reynolds Thornton used pink candles and magnolia leaves for the centerpiece on the dining table overlaid with pink when she entertained at dinner on Monday evening at her home for her daughter, Mrs. Virgil McCluskey, whose birthday it was.

At a table in the breakfast room, which had been fixed just as carefully, the grandchildren were served.

Guests were limited to Mrs. Thornton's children and their families.

WMU Focus Week
For Focus Week the WMU of the Baptist Church presented a skit at the mid-week prayer service hour which follows the weekly meeting of the officers and teachers on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. C. J. Pennington, president, opened the program with the Watchwords of the WMU and the singing of their hymn, "Lead On O King Eternal."

The four missionary fundamentals — community missions, mission study, prayer and stewardship — were presented with posters illustrating and a talk on each by a WMU member.

At the church on Monday the intermediate G.A.s studied "To Freedom's Land." In their business meeting they decided to meet every week, to visit the Mitchell Hollingsworth Annex taking a program and magazines to the patients, to send one girl to the Queen's Court at Tusculum College, and to plan to visit the Baptist Goodwill Center in Birmingham at an early date.

The Rev. C. R. Fooks, Cumberland Presbyterian, gave the opening devotional at the Rogersville P.-T. A. meeting on Thursday evening in the cafeteria. Using for his subject "Laborers Together With God," he explained that our labor apart from God was only building on sinking sand.

The senior sponsor, Mrs. W. C. Hannah, announced that the seniors were planning to go to New York on their trip.

James Elkins, president, turned the meeting over to Mrs. Hannah who, with the seniors, had prepared an interesting and informative program in the form of a debate, "Resolved that a split session of school should be abandoned."

Miss Pat Favors introduced the speakers: Judy Belew and Charlotte Sims, affirmative; Jerry Miller and Nancy Elkins, negative.

The affirmative side presented these facts obtained from school records, students, teachers and Alabama Soil Conservation Service office: (1.) That summer school was an emergency measure instituted during the war and should be abolished. (2.) Two sessions call for more new clothes. (3.) Interferes with teachers in their college training which must, of necessity, be done in the summer. (4.) Makes teachers more difficult to obtain. (5.) Of the 2,000 farming families in the county one-half have put land in the Soil Bank, decreasing the need for the child's labor. (6.) Only one fifth of the families of children in school depend on farming for a livelihood. (7.) Five out of 67 counties of the state have cotton recess. (8.) Awfully uncomfortable and unsuitable teaching and learning conditions in the summer due to heat and water shortage. (9.) One-half the period wasted standing in line for water because of inadequate fountains. (10.) Greater polio epidemic hazard in the summer. (11.) Interferes with students working for a continuous three month period.

The negative declared: (1.) The children were needed because of the lack of adult help. (2.) Many were able to help financially with clothing and school expenses. (3.) Many could work in the cotton fields when they could not obtain other work. (4.) Aid to seniors in obtaining money for their many extras. (5.) Employment in cotton fields preferred over loafing, which would be the pattern for the majority of students. (6.) Attendance better in the summer.

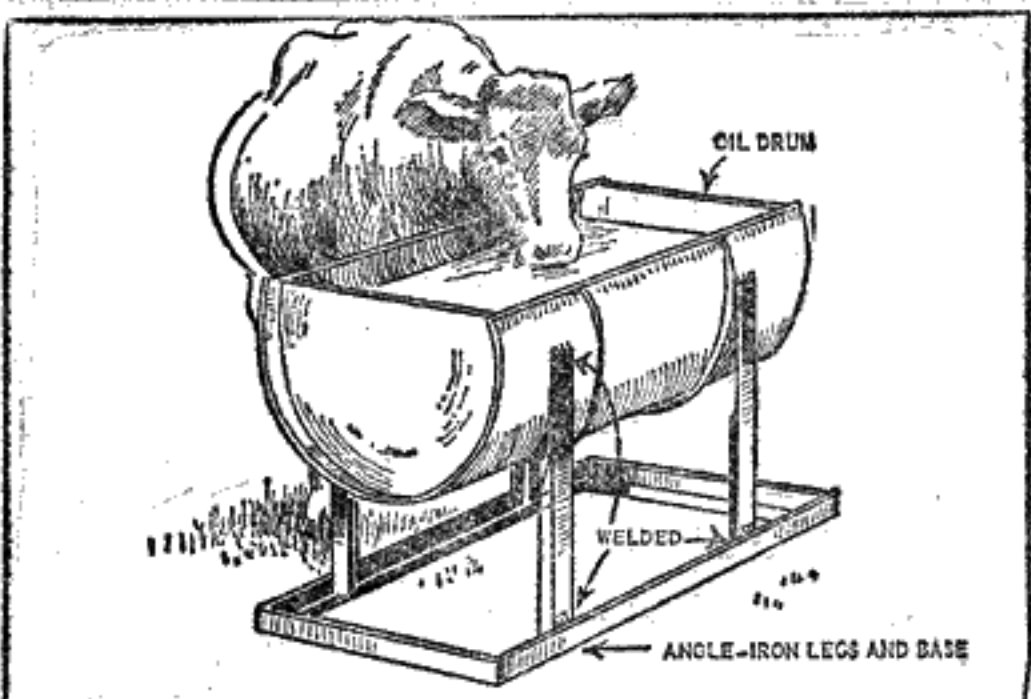

Many interesting facts were brought out in the rebuttal, to mention one: Substitute teachers merely filling in during the summer session were not as interested in the pupil as one who would teach him the entire term, and that his schooling was suffering from the change in teachers.

A lively discussion period followed, participated in by a large part of the 66 parents and teachers present, representing seven communities. Sixty-two of the 66 went on record as opposing the present split term.

Mr. Hannah presented the plans to have every child to wear a "dog tag" for his benefit in case of an emergency. He also told about the speech clinic being conducted at the elementary school by Mr. Matice of Florence State.

Mrs. Eddie Williams' room received the attendance prize money.

Agricultural Reminders

By L. T. WAGNON
County Agent

Buy Chicks Now

Now is a good time to buy and start baby chicks for egg laying flocks if this has not already been done. Buy all baby chicks from a local, reliable source if at all possible. Laying flocks started now, and managed properly will be in production when egg prices begin to rise in mid-summer and throughout the high price season that normally lasts until about Christmas.

Fruit Tree Pruning

January and February are good months in which to prune fruit trees and grape vines. The earlier this job is done, from here on out, the better. Do not wait until sap begins to appear in trees and vines to start pruning.

An orchard bulletin containing information on pruning, spraying and other good orchard management practices is available for the asking at the county agent's office, 605 South Seminary Street, Florence, Alabama.

Plant Wheat

The main reason for planting wheat at this late date is to establish or maintain a high acreage. Wheat planted now might not be profitable. In fact, it could be a losing venture in 1958 but it could also mean a higher acreage in the future.

Planting wheat in the immediate future is not a recommendation but it might be well for farmers who have not been able to plant.

Refreshments were served by Miss Mavis Jones, Mrs. Lois Romme and Mrs. Robert Barnett.

Mr. and Mrs. Hershell McLeMore and family of Ashland, spent part of the week in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Travis McKee. They came especially to see Mr. Arthur Morris.

Mrs. Walter Dison, who is a patient at Coffee Hospital, is doing nicely and plans to be home soon.

Drs. John and Edith Ledbetter and Susan were in Arab on Thursday for a visit with Dr. John's parents.

Expected home from Texas, where he has been in service, is Bobby Bedingfield. They will move into the Irma Plott home on the Lee Highway.

the desired acreage to do so as soon as the weather will permit.

Make Farm Plans

It is time to make plans for farming operations in 1958. Have you made plans on what you will plant and where each crop will be planted this year? Do you know the acreage of each crop to be planted? Do you know how much grain, hay, silage, and pasture you will need in your livestock program? Is your tractor and equipment ready for full-time use when the time and good weather arrives? How much of what mixtures of fertilizer will you need in 1958? These are only a few things that should receive the attention of farm people at this time. If you feel that the county agent or his assistants may be able to assist with your farm plans let us hear from you.

Have Soil Tested

The best way to determine the kinds and amounts of fertilizers needed for the economical production of crops and pastures is to have soil analyzed for each crop or mixture of crops.

Soil sample boxes, cartons, and forms are available at the county agent's office. The county agent and assistant county agents will be willing to visit at least one farm in each community in the county at once to demonstrate the proper method of taking soil samples for analysis. Anyone willing to have such a demonstration conducted on his farm should contact the county agent and make the fact known.

In view of the fact that it takes from one to four weeks to get a report on soil samples testing should be done for spring planted crops as soon as the soil is about dry enough to plow.

Six Important Meetings

There will be three important farm meetings at Florence in February. Tuesday, February 11, dairymen will meet to discuss problems confronting them with local extension workers and J. R. Parrish, Extension Dairyman, Auburn, Alabama. Wednesday, February 12, beef cattle producers will meet with the agents and W. H. Gregory, Specialist in Beef Cattle and Sheep

Marketing, Auburn, Alabama, for the same purpose. Wednesday, February 19, all farmers interested in getting the latest research information on the production of feed, cash, and grazing crops, suggested supplemental cash crops, weed and insect control will meet with county agents, three agronomists and an entomologist from Auburn. The place and hour of each meeting will be announced later.

Handbooks Available

The sixth edition of the Handbook of Alabama Agriculture is available at the county agent's office. This is a new book of agricultural information that is just off the press and was received at the office January 20. The price of the handbook is $1, the cost of printing.

The supply at present is limited.

The case of THE SAD SALAMI SANDWICH

Once there was a man who didn't like salami. But one day his wife slipped a salami sandwich in his lunch box. "I'll dress it up with a little pickle and mustard and he'll never know it from ham," said the wife. But he did. He took one bite of the sandwich and put it back in his lunch box—along with a U. S. Savings Bond he wanted to take home.

That night his wife cleaned out the lunch box and burned its contents—salami sandwich, waxed paper wrappings, Bond—and all.

Now it was the husband's turn to be burned up. But the happy housewife, who knew all about Savings Bonds, explained that all her husband needed to do was to fill out a form, send it in to the Treasury, and his Savings Bond would be replaced free of charge. Which he did—and they did.

This true story, suggests one of the many reasons why it's so sensible to put savings in Bonds. There are many more. For one, in Bonds your principal is guaranteed. For another, your rate of return is assured.

And now every U. S. Series E Savings Bond bought since February 1, 1957 pays a new, higher interest—3 1/4% when held to maturity! It matures faster, in only 8 years and 11 months. And redemption values are higher, too, especially in the earlier years.

That's why so many happy housewives are urging their husbands to invest regularly in U. S. Savings Bonds. Why don't you join them—today?

Part of every American's savings belongs in U. S. Savings Bonds

OR...the happy housewife who knew all about SAVINGS BONDS

BID IS TAKEN FOR HIGHWAY 43 WORK

Ballew & Roberts, Sheffield construction firm, was low bidder for the grading, drainage and placing of bituminous paving on 4.3 miles of U. S. 43 from the Tennessee state line toward Florence, the State Highway Department announced the past week. Their bid was $268,663 on the project that will improve the last stretch of the federal highway between Florence and the state line.

The Lauderdale County contract was among a number of highway projects for which bids were taken, totalling $9 million.

State's Newsmen To Meet Feb. 6-8 At Tuscaloosa

Newsmen from across the state will gather at Tuscaloosa Feb. 6-8 for the 37th annual convention of the Alabama Press Association.

Theme of the three-day program will be "More Profits from Better Service." APA President George Cox has announced. Cox is editor of the Mobile Press-Register.

A high point of the convention will be a banquet address Friday evening, February 7, by Dr. Frank A. Rose, new president of the University of Alabama. Others on the three-day program are Marvin Arrowsmith, staff writer for the Associated Press, Ed Reid, executive secretary of the Alabama League of Municipalities, and Joe T. Cook, Publisher of The Times, Mission, Texas.

Headquarters for the convention will be the Hotel Stafford.

The program will conclude Saturday with an election of officers and a business session.

High School Students:

Maybe you know this YOUNG MAN WITH A FUTURE...

He's going to be an engineer. His career will be full of challenging assignments. He may develop new rocket fuels, channel the energy of the atom, or create work-saving electronic devices. He will be doing things that haven't been done before—in chemistry, metallurgy, physics, biology.

To become an engineer or scientist you should start early. If you're interested in one of these exciting careers, your high school adviser will be glad to help you select the courses you need now to prepare for advanced study later.

An engineering or scientific career calls for a keen, inquiring mind, a talent for mathematics and the sciences—and the willingness to work hard to attain a very worthwhile goal. Will you be ready to meet the challenge?
