COUNTY FREE OF BONDED DEBT—An important milestone in the business affairs of Lauderdale County was reached Monday when, during the semi-monthly meeting of the Court of Commissioners, the balance outstanding on the bonded indebtedness was "paid in full," placing Lauderdale County in the rank of but a few counties in the state with no outstanding bonds. Shown, above, is Probate Judge Herman K. Longshore, in a happy frame of mind, as he receives the canceled bonds from Fred Long, cashier of the First National Bank, collecting agent for the bondholders, after handing Mr. Long a check for $38,617.50. The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

"The Muscle Shoals District is sitting on the biggest 'lode' in the South," said William F. Burton, III, vice-president of the engineering firm charged with planning the Florence State Docks, speaking at the dinner Monday night honoring the distinguished visitors to the city who took part in the dedication ceremonies at the docks site Tuesday morning. Mr. Burton stressed the spelling as "lode" and not "load" in his brief remarks and pressed home his belief no area anywhere held as much promise as this immediate section. The word "lode" has come to mean riches to everyone since the days of the 49ers and to vision ourselves perched on such a pinnacle, as Mr. Burton pictured, adds lustre to living in the Muscle Shoals District.

Times have changed. When little Jimmy was asked by his teacher to name the three great American parties, the youngster saw no need for the teacher's surprise when he answered: "Democratic, Republican and cocktail."

It seems to us that all too often a sign reading "Danger Ahead" causes the average motorist to step on the gas a bit harder instead of applying the brakes. Maybe he just wants to get to the danger point quicker in order to see what it's all about.

Whenever we get an idea for a paragraph and then question ourselves whether it should be used, we usually discard the item. And then, lo and behold, someone else will use the same thought a day or so later and score a big hit. It never fails.

A new minister up in the hill country made friends with an old timer whose conversation was rich with stories of all kinds and sorts but the old boy had never learned to read. With the old man anxious to learn to read, the parson started reading lessons using the Bible as his text book. His pupil became a most proficient scholar. Sometime later, the minister called at the cottage of his former pupil but found only his wife at home. "How's John?" he asked. "Fine," said the wife. "I suppose he can read his Bible easily now?" was his next question. "Bless you, sir," said the wife beaming. "He's gone way beyond that now and has begun reading the newspapers."

The other night a man was returning home from his work and out of the darkness stepped a holdup artist who demanded the man's money. With a bit of quick thinking the would-be victim asked: "Say, Bud, what'll you take for that gun?" The holdup man, almost automatically, answered: "$40.00." "Well, that's just about what I've got on me," was the workman's reply as he lowered his hands, reached in his pocket and then counted out $40.00. The stickup man took the money, handed over the gun and both of them proceeded on their way—one satisfied with his purchase, the other pleased with the outcome of the whole thing. And we are told that this actually happened.

It is still a puzzle to us why some girls get hysterical when they see a mouse—but that nothing of bringing home a rat.

Longshore Says County Free Of Bonded Debt

Final Payment Of $38,617.50 Made To First National Bank On Monday

Lauderdale County, today, is free of all bonded indebtedness. At the semi-monthly meeting of the Court of County Commissioners in the commissioners' office of the courthouse Monday morning, the members voted to pay off the $38,617.50 in bonds then outstanding and authorized Probate Judge Herman K. Longshore, chairman, to issue check for this amount.

Fred Long, cashier of the First National Bank, collecting agent for the bondholders, was present and accepted the payment which, for the first time in the history of Lauderdale County, placed the county in the enviable position of being free of all bonded indebtedness. It was shown by current records that at least since the construction of the present courthouse was started in 1898, Lauderdale County had had a substantial bonded indebtedness. At the time Judge Longshore took office, the records show that the bonded indebtedness was over $400,000.00.

The payment in full of the bonds was made after a review of the recent audit of the books of the Probate Judge's office showed the county to be in splendid financial condition with all funds being in a liquid condition and the county's business being conducted within its income.

The audit also revealed that the bonded debt limit of the county today is $1,043,532.04 and that bonds could, if found necessary, be issued up to that amount without endangering the sound operation of the county's affairs.

The only debt against the county today, it was pointed out, is a joint city-county obligation incurred with the purchase of the voting machines now in use. There is a balance of $60,000 remaining on these machines which is being paid, according to contract, at $10,000 per year. This is a preferred account, the voting machines themselves being the security and is not a bonded indebtedness.

Incidentally, a study is now being made relative to the $270,000, that will be the county's share of the cost of constructing the new additions to the hospital, to see if it is possible that this pledge may be a preferred account instead of a bonded indebtedness and thus leave the county still free of a bonded debt and its constitutional debt limit of $1,043,532.04 unimpaired.

A review of a bonded debt and its constitutional debt limit of $1,043,532.04 unimpaired. A review of the audit of the books of the Probate Judge's office made by Malcolm E. Harden, examiner of public accounts, carried the following interesting notation: "Administration of the official duties of this office was handled in a highly satisfactory manner." No recommendations were made nor were any further comments listed. Dates of the period covered by the audit were Oct. 1, 1956 - Sept. 30, 1957.

Hickman Enters Commission Race

Florence Businessman Offers Long Record Of Civic And Youth Work

W. Howard Hickman, Florence businessman and owner of the Hickman Advertising Company located at 234 South Royal Avenue, today announced his candidacy for member of the Florence City Commission, subject to the action of the voters in the municipal election to be held on Monday, Sept. 15.

Mr. Hickman's business background includes the managing of Kroger stores over a six year period and 14 years in the wholesale food business. He has been in the advertising business over six years. The Hickmans have been married for 24 years and have two children. They reside at 1819 Tuna Avenue and are members of the Presbyterian Church.

Mr. Hickman is active in youth work with particular interest in Boy Scouts of which he is a former district chairman. He was a Scout himself in 1923. He has also served as troop committee member, chairman of troop committee, institutional representative and member of district committee. At present he is helping the Lauderdale publicity committee and has donated signs at both Boy and Girl Scout camp locations. He is on the Dad's Patrol in Girl Scouting and is a member of the camping committee.

Prior to coming to Florence Mr. Hickman helped organize and served as a director for a new YMCA for three years, and also worked in Little League Baseball having a team-member son.

A 14-year member of Kiwanis, he was treasurer, secretary, vice president and president of his club. He has also been active in the Moose and Eagles and is now a member of Masonic Lodge No. 14. A Mason for 17 years, Mr. Hickman is a Shriner and a member of Zamora Temple and the M. S. Shrine Club.

Other civic activities include membership in the Chamber of Commerce, and work with the Salvation Army, United Fund and Red Cross drives. He has also been a member of the Florence Planning Board for the past three years.

Mr. Hickman says he feels the city needs a more active, more aggressive and more progressive program in all departments and that by wise planning much can be accomplished. He says that he feels that Florence needs active thinking to keep the city growing and that because of his close association with such affairs, he feels qualified to enter the race for commission.

"If elected," Mr. Hickman said, "it shall be my responsibility and my pleasure to work with the other commissioners and the people of Florence for the best interests of the city at all times."

Mrs. Robert Dickinson of New Canaan, Conn., arrived Monday for a stay with her cousin, Mrs. James S. Robinson, West Tennessee Street.

Late News

Rep. Oren Harris (D-Ark) said Wednesday that he hoped his House investigating subcommittee would wind up its questioning of Bernard Goldfine yesterday. Harris said that an Army textile contract facts show "gross political interference and influence." He said Goldfine had no connection with the case, but he refused repeatedly to say whether Adams was involved. The matter was turned over to the Armed Services Committee and Chairman Carl Vinson (D-Ga) of that group said, "We'll look into it."

British Foreign Secretary Selwyn Lloyd flew to Washington Wednesday for conferences and was reported to be bringing word that Britain was ready to land forces in Jordan as soon as King Hussein asks for military help. Lloyd announced Tuesday that Britain backed U.S. intervention in Lebanon. As for Jordan, qualified informants in London said the government almost certainly will respond affirmatively if its young king, Hussein, asks for help. Up to Wednesday, he had not done so but Jordan had sounded out the British as to whether air and land forces would be available if needed.

Cuban rebels Tuesday freed seven U. S. servicemen, with 22 remaining still in rebel hands. In general, the men appeared to be in good condition and high spirits. All said they had been treated well by the rebels. The U. S. consular officials conducted a week-long negotiation campaign to get the men returned. Earlier the rebels released 20 American and Canadian civilians they also had seized.

French Premier Charles de Gaulle alerted the French fleet Tuesday to be ready to sail for the Middle East at a moment's notice, but he took no decision on whether to send French troops into action. The decision, after extensive talks with his military advisers and cabinet, left France in a similar position to Britain. Let the United States go it alone for the moment, but be ready to help if needed.

Senate Confirms Two TVA Directors

Welch Will Serve Until May 18, 1960; Jones Has Full Term

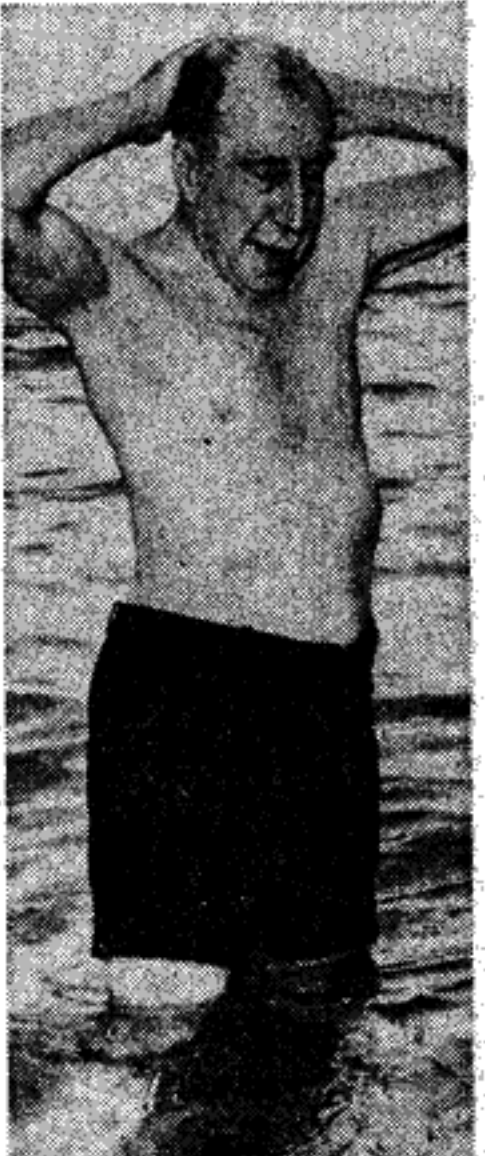

The Senate has confirmed by voice vote the nominations of Dr. Frank J. Welch and Arnold R. Jones as directors of the Tennessee Valley Authority.

Welch, former agriculture school dean at the University of Kentucky and Mississippi State College, will serve the remainder of a term expiring May 18, 1960.

Jones, former deputy budget director, will serve until May 18, 1966, the remainder of a full nine-year term for which he was nominated but not confirmed last year.

Both men have been serving as members of the three-man TVA board since last Fall on recess appointments made by President Eisenhower.

Arriving yesterday, Mr. and Mrs. Ramsey Pollard of Louisville, Ky., are guests of Mr. and Mrs. L. S. Doster, 601 North Wood.

Florence Docks Dedicated To Memory Of Late General Pick

Director McRae Says Future Up To Local People

In impressive and appropriate ceremonies Tuesday morning, the Florence State docks were formally named the Gen. Lewis A. Pick State Docks in honor of the man who first had the dream of a system of inland docks throughout Alabama.

Gen. Lewis A. Pick, who, until his death, headed the Alabama Planning and Industrial Development Commission, personally selected the site for the docks that now bear his name, the first to be located in the state-wide program.

Present for the occasion and the honored guest of both the City of Florence and the Alabama State Docks board, was Mrs. Pick who participated in the ceremonies and cut the ribbon marking the formal opening of the docks installation to the service of this area. Prior to this portion of the program and in behalf of Gov. James E. Folsom, Walter Earnest, chairman of the State Docks Board, presented to General Pick, posthumously, a citation in which the Distinguished Service Medal of Alabama was conferred on the distinguished retired Army engineer. Mrs. Pick accepted the citation and medal expressing her appreciation for the honor conferred upon her late husband.

Senator-nominee E. B. Haltom served as master of ceremonies and presented the distinguished guests. Tom Rogers, president of Florence Chamber of Commerce, delivered the address of welcome and especially addressed his remarks to Mrs. Pick for honoring the occasion with her presence.

Mr. Rogers paid tribute to the local legislative delegation and to Dan Davis, of Florence, member of the State Docks Board who, through their untiring efforts, helped to bring the state docks to Florence.

Mr. Rogers presented the members of the Docks Board and introduced Knox McRae, State Docks Director, who told the large crowd present that negotiations were under way with the TVA for the use of the north portion of Patton Island opposite the docks site as an adjunct to the facilities offered by the docks. "I will do everything possible to complete the negotiations with the TVA before the end of the Folsom administration on Jan. 19, 1959," Mr. McRae said.

The Docks Director heaped praise on Governor Folsom for the accomplishments of his administration and especially for beginning the inland docks program. He stated that the present program for the local docks, which would include the installation of unloading equipment and warehousing facilities, although inadequate, would be completed or well underway before the Folsom administration is ended in January.

Mr. McRae's remarks pledging full cooperation in the future development of the docks as well as the progress of the Tennessee Valley received applause from his audience.

Austin S. Martin and Pleas Looney, former associates of General Pick, paid tribute to the former head of the planning and industrial development program and expressed to Mrs. Pick, and to those present, their support of the program planned by the General and now being carried out throughout the state.

Gov. Folsom Hints Of Special Session

Lame Duck Body Would Be Asked To Draft New Insurance Code

Gov. James E. Folsom has hinted that he might call a special session of the now lame duck Legislature to revise the state's weak insurance laws if he was assured of the "full cooperation" of the assembly.

He said he would need just that if he hoped to secure approval of the proposed new code. This new draft won't be ready for enactment until late September, and the terms of office of the current members of the Legislature expire in early November. This would give but little more than a month for the highly technical and controversial insurance laws to be enacted into law.

President Takes Action As Iraq's Fall Announced

U. S. and British Navies Moving Strong Forces To Middle East Trouble Zone

BULLETIN
Jordan's King Hussein has made an appeal to both London and Washington for aid. The appeal to Britain concerned the sending of troops to help keep his pro-Western nation from suffering the fate of Iraq, while the appeal to the U. S. was for material aid, including petroleum, which Jordan normally gets from Iraq.

U. S. Marines landed in Lebanon Tuesday from ships of the 6th fleet after being ordered by President Eisenhower to the aid of the little country and to protect American citizens there. The landing of the vanguard of 5,000 leathernecks sent to the area followed some 24 hours after a revolt had overthrown the pro-Western government of Iraq.

Mr. Eisenhower sent the Marines after aid was requested by President Camille Chamoun. At the same time the United Nations Security Council met in extraordinary session in New York to consider means to deal with the latest threat to peace in the Middle East.

After landing from twelve landing crafts at Khaleh Beach the Marines marched off to Beirut's airport presumably to guard the landing of troop carrying aircraft.

Meanwhile U. S. Ambassador Robert McClintock urged the 2500 Americans in Lebanon to leave the country. Ten embassy families left Tuesday including the wife and son of the U. S. ambassador.

Iraq Falls
It was a severe blow to the West when the government of Iraq fell Monday to a military faction that ousted King Faisal and brought death to the King's uncle, Crown Prince Abdul Ilah. The crown prince and former regent was beaten to death by a mob and his body burned in the streets.

Reports from Cairo said that Premier Nuri Said, pro-Western strong man of Iraq had also been a victim of the mob that has now proclaimed a pro-Nasser government.

The Communist radio in Baghdad said Faisal had been arrested by the army. The coup, if successful, could mean a death blow for the new Iraq-Jordan Federation formed in February of this year to counter Nasser's U.A.R. Faisal was chief of state of the federal union which was a strong part of the anti-Communist Baghdad Pact. Iraq is one of the richest oil producing states of the Middle East, this oil going largely to the countries of Western Europe.

U. S. Action Explained
The White House announced the landing of the Marines was done for the protection of American lives, bolster the pro-Western government of Camille Chamoun against what President Eisenhower termed "indirect aggression," and to prevent any spillover of the movement that threw out the pro-Western government of Iraq the previous day. It said troops would be pulled out as soon as the UN has taken adequate action to protect the sovereignty and integrity of Lebanon.

Mr. Eisenhower, supported by leaders of both parties, said his action was taken "in conformity with the spirit" of the United Nations Charter which recognizes, he said, "an inherent right of collective self-defense." He promised more help if needed.

The Burden Is Now On 'You'

Speaking before a representative group of citizens interested in the future of the state docks at Florence, Knox McRae, state docks director, and Austin S. Martin, of the state industrial planning commission and former executive assistant to Mr. McRae, stated that the future development of the Gen. Lewis A. Pick Docks, so named at the dedication ceremonies Tuesday morning, was the responsibility of the people of this area.

Mr. McRae criticized the local people and their Chamber of Commerce leadership for not providing more adjoining industrial sites for the expansion of the state docks here, although approximately $100,000 had been subscribed by the county governing body and local enterprises in support of the program and the acquisition of approximately 24 acres of land. At the same time, Mr. McRae, former mayor of Decatur, glorified the action in Decatur where 1200 acres were acquired adjoining the docks there for which the State Docks Board reimbursed the city for all it had invested.

Mr. Martin praised the "get up and go" spirit of this area—and rightly he should—but said that the burden of the future was squarely on the local people indicating that the inadequacy of the docks installation would remain inadequate unless our people provided what had been promised by the state.

The original sum allotted for the docks was $600,000, but after Colbert County's Senator Cantrell raised a howl, the sum was split between Lauderdale and Colbert counties and thus gave each a skeleton set-up that offers little to each of what could have been possible with one sizeable installation.

Lauderdale county, next to Mobile county, gave Amendment No. 1, the enabling inland waterways docks program act, its largest majority; Lauderdale county was promised docks equal to its potential needs, if certain contributions were made. Lauderdale county has met its obligation fully; let's hope the State Docks Board will do the same.

The Man Of The Hour

Is it the lull before the storm or is de Gaulle really the man of the hour? Only time will tell but meanwhile the world breathes again and prayerfully hopes that this is so.

One thing appears certain, de Gaulle has been given the opportunity to do something with a country where political confusion has reigned for many months. No nation has ever been the prey of more political factions than France and no nation has ever been more in need of the strong and unwavering leadership that de Gaulle seems to possess.

De Gaulle, by his own words will not become a dictator. Vastly different from his predecessors, he is a sensitive, reserved intellectual who is too intelligent not to realize that dictatorship is not only unsuited to French temperament but always contains the seeds of its own undoing. De Gaulle, though a soldier, is not a militarist. His administrative instincts prove this since the press censorship imposed by a panicky Pflimlin, was lifted almost immediately after de Gaulle took office. This helped, as de Gaulle had correctly figured, to clear up much of the confusion that had resulted from the hurriedly mobilized censorship and bolstered the faltering confidence of the French people in their beloved republic. No nation can be completely enslaved as long as its press is free but it can be enslaved if its press is subdued or censored.

De Gaulle passionately desires an independent France, not cut off from protective alliances with the West but from what he sees as military subservience to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization. He sees NATO as American dominated and without the values of diplomatic negotiation. He feels there is no room to bargain for a better position for France as long as NATO is a multinational scaffolding for the Strategic Air Command under NATO's present commander, an American Air Force General.

De Gaulle feels the weakness of NATO to be the result of a one-sided policy which netted nothing but disaster for the West at Suez and might well continue to deal itself the short end of the bargain anywhere else an important crisis might arise.

A recent observation by C. L. Sulzberger in the New York Times sums up de Gaulle's role in France in these words:

"Although testy, impatient and authoritarian, Charles de Gaulle is no dictator. There is every reason to believe his assurances on this point. He has a profound, mystical belief that he not only represents the best in French tradition but that he is France. This is difficult for Americans to understand but it is essential to a true understanding of the general's personality.

"He has now staged the most remarkable comeback in modern history, even more remarkable than that of Winston Churchill in 1940. It is too early to judge the success of de Gaulle's second experiment in statecraft but it is not too early to measure the man.

"He is not easy to know or given to intimacies. Nevertheless this writer has had the privilege of talking with him many times over the years."

Sulzberger bases his personal opinion of de Gaulle on these interviews which he feels gives the true story of one of history's most colorful figures and who may well prove the man of the hour for a great country.

Annexation Vote Rose Park Asked

Florence city commissioners approved Tuesday a resolution asking that Lauderdale Probate Judge Herman K. Longshore set a date for an election on the annexation of Rose Park to the city of Florence. This election date will be set as soon as proper maps have been obtained.

Docks Board and other state officials and distinguished guests here for Tuesday's ceremonies, were guests, along with a number of local representatives, of the Chamber of Commerce at a dinner at Florence Country Club Monday night.

Dan Davis, serving as master of ceremonies, presented the members of the Docks Board and other visiting officials, and introduced Mr. McRae as the principal speaker of the delightful occasion.

After reviewing the work of the Docks Board and plans for further development of the inland docks system, Mr. McRae delighted his audience when he promised that the Docks at Florence would be completed prior to Jan. 19 or that all contracts would have been let and the work well under way before the Folsom administration came to an end.

Mr. McRae stated, however, that the future of the local docks were squarely up to the local people. He said that the growth of the docks depended entirely on the amount of use they would receive and he urged that everyone locally insist that products shipped in or shipped out of this area be shipped by barge line so that the tonnage passing through the docks might grow to large proportions. He also urged the acquiring of additional industrial sites adjoining and nearby the docks site as only by offering prospective industrial installation adequate property might they be induced to locate here.

He said that railroad installations would be made to the docks site and that every aid to transportation to the docks would be given.

The Docks Board held an official meeting at the offices of the Chamber of Commerce Monday afternoon. It was pointed out by the director that the docks at Mobile had been operating in the "red" for the past few months. He said that capable men were hard to get at the salaries set for the various positions with the docks and urged an increase in salary in order to hold and secure capable assistants. A press conference was held at as fifteen ships of the U. S. 6th Fleet and the $3,000-ton carrier Wasp, left Naples under sudden orders and 11 others brought their personnel from shore leaves on the French Riviera and weighed anchor. British naval units were off Cyprus in the eastern Mediterranean and others including the carrier Eagle, steamed out of Malta, reports stated.

Britain was understood to have alerted 8,000 troops at their bases in Britain to be ready for sudden movement.

Postage Rates To Increase August 1

First Class Letters Will Require Four Cents An Ounce; All Rates Up

The date for the increase in the postage rates is August 1. The new rates are 4 cents an ounce for first class letters, 3 cents for postcards, 7 cents an ounce for air mail letters and 5 cents each for air postcards. Third class mail, including unsealed printed greeting cards, will cost 3 cents for the first 2 ounces and 1½ cents for each additional ounce.

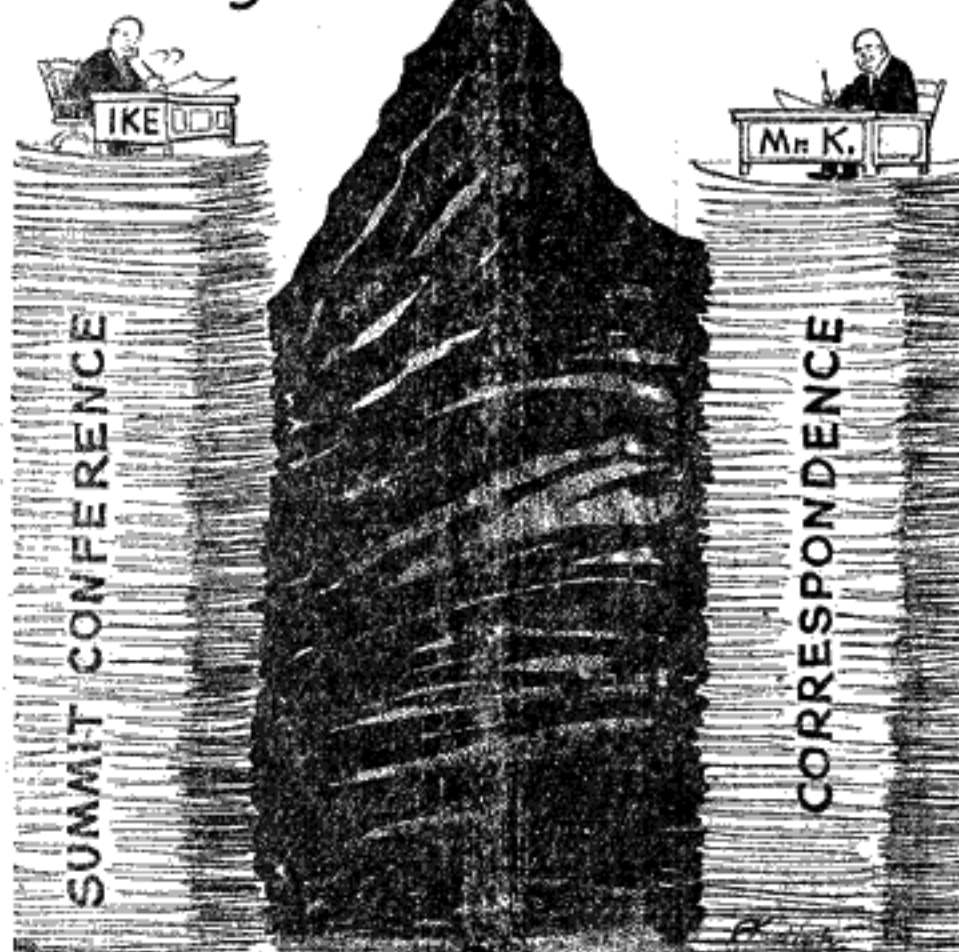

People who are planning to save money by buying up large quantities of stamps and postcards at the present rates will be penalized after August 1 if the mail is not sufficiently posted. Either the addressee or the addressor will have to pay the postage due, if any is due, plus a 5-cent penalty charge. In cases of refusal to pay the postage due and penalty, the department will probably destroy the mail. No one is going to beat the Post Office Dept. and overstocking on items soon to be outdated only will lead to headaches for all concerned.

Hotel Negley by Mr. McRae, Mrs. Pick and other members of their party on Monday afternoon.

Governor Folsom, who was scheduled to be present for the occasion, was called to Washington and could not attend.

SUMMIT CONFERENCE

GRADUATION TIME—Graduation has come for approximately 100 Florence State seniors, but it isn't here yet for Glenda Perkins, freshman from Florence, who posed for this week's Leo's Loveliest shot. Glenda, dressed in the traditional senior attire, is planning to major in business administration.

LEAGUE FOR BETTER SEED IS ORGANIZED

EDITOR: "The Buyers League For Better Seed" is being formed to help farmers check on the quality of seed they buy on the market but which they think may be mislabeled.

Such seed can be very costly to the farmer who buys it. Serious losses in labor cost, fertilizer cost and time depend on the quality of seed a farmer buys and plants. Any guarantee that the quality is actually what the tag says it is depends very largely on state seed inspection.

If state seed inspection is insufficient, farmers may buy seed of poor germination or of mixed varieties without knowing it, for the tag almost always says that the seed has good germination and purity. If the farmer finds that the field performance is disappointing in spite of favorable weather, he is reluctant to endanger his credit by complaining to the retailer.

It is probable that a conservative estimate would place losses at an average of at least $200.00 per farm per year from several seed-connected causes—low germination, mixed varieties, high weed content, seed-borne diseases. And there are approximately 160,000 farms in Alabama.

The retailer receives his seed already tagged by the wholesaler; but, wholesalers, responsible for labeling, can shop around among the commercial seed laboratories for a "good test." If there is any trouble about mislabeling, this analysis report can be used as the wholesaler's defense.

A good many farmers already believe that there should be some means of combatting this arrangement.

If others wish to know more about the aims of this group, and how they plan to proceed, they are urged to write:

The Buyers' League for Better Seed, Box 7188, Montgomery, Alabama.

Very truly yours
Marion Vickers

New Prize Added To List Of Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo

Something new has been added to an already whopping big prize list for the 1958 Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

The latest prize to be offered is a $3,600 lot on Dauphin Island, one of the South's fastest growing summer resort areas and site of the annual Rodeo.

The Dauphin Island lot will be awarded to the lucky sportsman who catches "Big Silver," the largest tarpon ever caught on the Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo.

The record-holding tarpon at this date is one caught back in 1936 and it weighed 139½ pounds. Full details on the contest are still being worked out but Rodeo President Tommy Sandusky, a Mobile sportsman, points out that "we hope the tarpon record is broken this year and we want to see some lucky fisherman win this lot on Dauphin Island."

The lot is being contributed by George Mellen, wealthy Dauphin Island Real Estate promoter. Rodeo officials point out that "the winning fish must pass rigid inspection and the validity of the catch will be closely checked against rules governing this special event."

In addition to the $3,600 lot offered for a record-breaking tarpon, there also will be $12,000 in other prizes offered on the Rodeo this year. Prizes this year exceed by far any offered on any previous Rodeo.

The Alabama Deep Sea Fishing Rodeo, sponsored by the Mobile Junior Chamber of Commerce, is scheduled, July 25, 26, and 27th.

County Board Of Education Meets

Temporary Classrooms To Be Built At Greenhill; Report Cards Adopted

The Lauderdale County Board of Education in semi-monthly meeting Saturday morning, voted to construct two temporary classrooms at Rogers High school, Greenhill, to meeting the pressing needs faced for the fall session which opens August 29.

Allen Thornton, superintendent, reported that the enrollment continues to grow at this newest of the system's high school and, although funds were not available for permanent type of construction, the situation would be met with the temporary classrooms. At the same time, it was noted that the construction program at Lauderdale County High school and West End High school, well advanced and both projects would be ready for the opening of the next school term.

Preparation of the ground for construction of the board's new garage, warehouse and storage facilities on Chisholm highway was reported as completed and the Cyclone fence purchased some months ago will be installed within the next few weeks. Construction on the badly needed facilities would follow as soon as practical, Mr. Thornton said.

Of special interest to the board members was the presentation and recommendation of new report cards for the high and elementary schools by a committee of teachers and principals, headed by W. B. Hagood. This committee has worked long and hard to come up with an acceptable reporting system, which received the unanimous endorsement of the board and will be used this year.

Census Collects Facts On 2nd Jobs

Special questions, designed to provide information on the number of persons who have more than one job, will be asked in the July Current Population Survey, it was announced today by Supervisor Thomas W. McWhirter of the Census Bureau's regional office at Atlanta, Georgia which will participate in the survey.

Similar questions asked in the Current Population Survey last year revealed that about one in fifteen (7 percent) of employed men and one in forty (2½ percent) of employed women held two jobs during the week ending July 13, 1957, the period covered by the survey. Together these multiple jobholders comprised five percent of all employed persons during the survey week. Their estimated total number was 3½ million.

Anne Clemmons Bride Of James Joseph Fago

In an evening wedding in Roger Chapel Methodist Church on Thursday, July third, Anne Clemmons became the bride of James Joseph Fago, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Fago of 911 Laconia Street, Florence, as the rituals of a double ring ceremony were said by the Reverend J. E. Beasley, minister of the church, at eight o'clock.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Newton Clemmons, Chisholm Road.

Nuptial music was presented by Jeb Stewart, pianist, and Charles Senn, vocalist, in a candlelight setting with Oregon ferns and English ivy banked at the altar's rear while white blossoms marked the foreground.

Wearing tulle and lace over white satin, the bride was given in marriage by her father. The moulded bodice featured a deep cameo neckline and long tapering sleeves, and lace insertion at the hipline complemented the bouffant skirt. Her chapel length veil cascaded from a sequined head-dress and her bouquet was of fleurs d'amour. Her only ornament was a wide gold bracelet, gift of the bridegroom.

In rainbow hues, the attendants' frocks of net and taffeta were fashioned with waltz length skirts. Their hair ornaments were silver sparklers and their flowers, white carnations tied with ribbons to match their dresses. Mrs. Wallace Briggs, matron of honor, wore green and Miss Frances Beavers was in champagne; Miss Mary Frances Fago, sister of the bridegroom, was in pink and Miss Lois Wood in blue. Also in blue was Elizabeth Ann Wilson, who served as flower girl. Wendall Briggs was ring bearer.

Best man for the bridegroom was Robert Williams, and ushers were Terry Thompson, Pate Smith and Ed Goodwin.

A reception followed the ceremony at the home of Mrs. Walter Briggs, 1908 Cloverdale Road. Pink flowers decorated the bride's lace covered table from which the three-tiered wedding cake, topped by a miniature bride and groom, was served. Candle stands held burning tapers to complete the appointments.

Assisting were Mrs. Hansel Patterson and Mrs. John Wood.

Before leaving for their honeymoon to Lookout Mountain Mrs. Fago changed to a sheath dress of pink silk with which she wore white accessories.

The couple is now at home at 529 Martha Avenue, Florence.

White gladioli and palm formed the candlelight setting in the chapel of First Methodist Church as the Reverend Kenneth R. Hemphill read the vows at half past ten o'clock in the morning.

Nuptial music was presented by Mrs. H. O. Clayton, organist.

Given in marriage by her uncle, E. N. Kaser of Detroit, the bride, daughter of the late Mrs. Ruby F. Messinger, wore a ballerina length gown of pale blue lace over taffeta. THE SPILLWAY

A DOGGIE WE KNOW who's named Kate
Has been handled quite gently by Fate . . .
Her home's at the Glenns'
And our story begins
With the very next line . . . Just you wait . . .

A DOG'S LIFE . . . but a good one is enjoyed by this four-legged friend who has the run of the house at 718 Sherrod Avenue . . . where she's "just one of us" to Marcie Glenn and (sons) Pete and Dick . . . Our story is of a recent Saturday evening when Kate paced the floor with a real hang-dog expression as she watched Marcie's every movement . . . "I think she needs a doctor" . . . Marcie told (daughter) "Doodle" Tate in a hurried telephone call . . . and they both started dialing . . . George Hobbs (president of the local Humane Society) was reached . . . the Highway Patrol was called . . . a veterinarian was eventually alerted (seems they were . . . for the most part . . . at the recent big Horse Show) and Kate was on the operating table in a matter of moments . . . "Her heart was bad and we watched her all night" . . . but she's lived for us to tell the tale . . . and so have the twelve little pit bulls which are the pride of the entire neighborhood . . .

ALWAYS A DELIGHTFUL experience to any age-group is an invitation to come Cherokee-ward to the home of Betsey and Herbert Harris . . . Much happy fun was enjoyed on Saturday soir when (daughter) Rosemary entertained her teen-age friends with a supper-and-swim party . . . giving them a real work-out as momma and poppa Betsey and Herbert . . . with some of their contemporaries . . . joined in . . . There was a surprise conclusion which we think you'd enjoy . . . (Pss-s-t . . . Corinne Rogers knows . . .)

THOSE WEDNESDAY EVENING affairs at the home of Mildred and Stanley Rosenbaum out on Riverview have certainly been delightful . . . and the THIRD in the series which took place last evening was no exception . . . Regular whinnies . . . all . . . "It's all in the way Mildred puts over her parties" . . . we overheard a guest remark . . . and from another . . . "I wish my husband would take a few lessons in hosting from Stanley" . . . And with that VIEW . . . and garden setting . . . it all adds up . . . We suggest it for the MEMORY BOOKS . . . folks . . .

WITH OUR BINOCULARS trained to watch the going-on at 747 North Wood Avenue . . . we think we can report everything shipshape . . . as Ellen and "Babe" Redd are again occupying their loveliest-of-all ante-bellum home with many months of little-changes-here-and-there completed . . . SWEET is the word that pops to mind as we think of this place . . . with house and front and back yards (LAWS just wouldn't DO) taking us back to a day of leisurely livin' which we're loathe to leave . . . We loved it in its original dress . . . and we know that Ellen's good taste . . . coupled with the added "comforts" . . . has made for even greater charm and eye-catching delights . . .

A SYMPHONY IN COLOR . . . You really MUST see the hooked rugs which Evelyn Peeler added to her collection of beautiful "things" as she jaunted along through New England recently . . . It's worth any amount of effort and you'd better hurry . . . It's said but true that her days in Florence are fewer with each setting sun . . .

JUST BETWEEN US . . . we hope we run across Eva Ann Montgomery . . . district winner in the dress review finals at the State 4-H Club camp in Auburn recently . . . wearing the dress which gave her this title . . . The picture is lovely . . . and we'd like another . . . a closer-up view . . . along with a handshake 'twixt this talented lady and us . . . as our congrats are extended . . .

"FINISHED PACKING AT last . . . That's what Marilyn Moore told us Saturday just prior to the time when she and (daughter) Susan left with hubby-and-poppa Bill for their new home down Mississippi way . . . We also learned that they're delighted with the house they're moving into and that the entire picture is a pleasing one . . . That is . . . with the exception of the way WE feel about losing 'em . . .

THE BASSINET SET . . . We've been forgettin' to tell you that Marge and Lon Tenison . . . Flor-entines now living up Nashville way . . . are grandparents . . . Their first two "little Lons" . . . and lovely Shirley have a son who has been christened Lon III . . . "Only blue-eyed Tenison on record" . . . Marge told us . . . as with face in hands she admitted "We're the silliest grandparents . . ." And out at Coffee Memorial Hospital a big welcome was received by Margaret Ann Craig . . . fourth little daughter of Ann (Bradshaw) and Ben Craig . . . who arrived on Thursday, July 10th . . . and whose grandparents are Lucile and Henry Bradshaw . . . and Emma and Ben Craig, Sr. . . . AND NOW . . . CHEERIO and goodbye . . . until more news comes through The Spillway.

Leo Views the College Campus By Dottie McRae

The exam schedule is 'out; the last "Flor-Ala" has been published; term papers are due or in; in less than two weeks the summer session will be over.

For many of us undergraduates July 25 will mean no more of school until about the second week in September. Some will come back a little early to get settled in dormitory rooms, and some will come back a week early to attend the Danforth leadership retreat.

Beginning September 2, and lasting four days (through September 5), the retreat will be held at Camp Hillcrest. It is another phase of the work being done by the Danforth grant.

The purpose of the retreat (sponsored by the Interpresidents Council in conjunction with the Danforth Committee) is to help develop leadership in campus organizations, to help determine the responsibilities of the organizations and individual members.

This year's theme is "Changing Values of College Students." Discussions and seminars will be based upon the theme and will include such topics as changing values, value development, and intellectual life.

William W. Rogers, Presbyterian University Pastor at the University of Georgia since 1955, will be the retreat consultant. He is a graduate of Hanover College and McCormick Theological Seminary.

Last summer, Mr. Rogers directed a Church in Urban Life project in New York City involving about twenty students from all over the country. He directed a seminar at the Sixth Quadrennial Youth Convention in Lexington, Kentucky, last December, and led a Bible Study at the Legislative Seminar in Washington, D. C.

Considering his position, and his experience with seminars and youth conventions and as director of Inter-Church Student Fellowship, Kalamazoo, I think he should be well qualified for his post as retreat consultant.

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
It sure seems like I've heard everything now. As far back as I can remember an elderly distant cousin had lived in a house my father owned. He put her in it to keep her from moving in on us, and as long as he lived he paid the taxes and upkeep. But after he was gone we told her she could stay on, if she would take care of these two items.

Now, she has passed away and left a will giving our property to a girl she'd taken in. A sort of nurse. A lawyer told me I couldn't do a thing about it, that I'd just be out of some money if I tried. But it looks to me like some of the laws we have are just about next to nothing.

Do you know what the law is, and do you think I have to give up this property? It's not right the way it is and it's got me nearly sick.

A Troubled Reader.

Dear Reader,
I have talked to two capable lawyers who tell me that when a person has occupied a piece of property for as long as twenty years, and paid taxes for a corresponding length of time, the law says he—or she—owns the property. Your only recourse, I'm told, is to declare this person to have been of unsound mind and, should you believe this to be true, it is your chance. She certainly sounds far from sane to me, and completely lacking in appreciation. I agree with you that some laws do seem unjust, and this is one of them. Perhaps we should all acquaint ourselves with enough legal procedure to avoid such experiences as that which you've had.

Dear Sara Saze,

I have home wonderful phonograph records which I would like to give the best of care for a long period of use. Please make suggestions.

Bob

Dear Bob,
For maximum mileage here are the hints given out by the Manufacturing Chemists' Association: Keep your records clean. Use aerosol chemical sprays and, between sprays, use chemically treated cloths to dust them. If grimy, wash them in cold water containing a mild detergent and scrub with a lint-free cellulose sponge. Then rinse and let dry in a dish rack.

Use a diamond needle in your record player. Keep your fingers off it and have it checked regularly—every six months or so.

Store records upright on a shelf, like books, but never leaning and never too tightly packed. To remove stains from a porcelain bathtub or sink, apply a paste of cream of tartar and hydrogen peroxide. Allow it to remain on the stains for 15 minutes, then rinse well. The surface will be white as snow.

State Invited To Help Plan Civil War Centennial

A call for Alabama and all other states to form their own commissions to cooperate in the planning and coordination of the forthcoming Civil War Centennial, regardless of their status at the time of the conflict, was made today by Major General U. S. Grant, III.

Speaking as chairman of the newly-created National Commission, he said the success of the undertaking will depend largely upon unified and concerted effort on the part of all the states now making up the Union.

"We expect this observance to be the greatest pageant in our history," he added. "No matter whether a geographical division of the United States at the time of the Civil War was a state, a territory, or an unnamed area embraced in the borders of another state, we want its participation. The lessons in bravery, determination and perseverance exemplified for us on both sides apply as much to the people of one state today as to another."

"Their status then does not bar them from participation in the forthcoming observance," General Grant explained. "The war may not have been fought within their borders, but their residents are tied in with the war through heritage. Moreover, they can help us attain a major objective of the Centennial—the collection and safe storage of letters, diaries, journals and all other documents of historic value concerning the war. Many of these, we believe, were carried west in trunks and other containers as people migrated toward the frontier in the closing decades of the last century. By forming its own commission, each state will be taking the surest step by which to bring about this goal."

A resolution calling for the formation of centennial commissions in each state was introduced at the recent annual Governors' Conference in Florida by Virginia's Governor J. Lindsay Almond, Jr., and was adopted unanimously. Already some 30 states have appointed these groups or are in the process of doing so.

Within the near future, Civil War Round Tables over the nation, as well as civic, patriotic and historical groups, will be called on to aid in promoting a truly national centennial program. Many of these already have written the Commission offering their services.

Grain Storage Conditions Stated

With small grain harvests just about complete, it is once again important to point out the need for proper seed storage.

The two most significant factors affecting the germinating ability of seed, said API Extension Agronomist Melvin Moorer, are temperature and moisture. Seed should not be stored where temperatures are excessively high. According to Moorer, this means that the temperature of stored small grain seed should not exceed 95 degrees, if the seed are to stay in storage over a long period of time.

Equally important is removing moisture before placing the seed in storage. "All seed should be dried," said Moorer, "either by the use of artificial heat or by forced air when the weather is fair and hot. If artificial heat is used, it is very important that the temperature not exceed 105 degrees, because excessive heat during the drying process can adversely affect germination." Small grain seed can be safely stored when the moisture content has been reduced to between 10 and 11 percent. Moorer quoted the safe storage moisture percentage allowable for the following crops: sericea lespediza—8.5 percent; blue lupine—11 percent; oats—11 percent; crimson clover—10 percent; fescue grass—11 percent.

"There is no qualification for these figures," said Moorer. "If oat seed are to be stored in metal bins which are almost airtight, the moisture content should be reduced to 10 percent instead of 11 percent."

"It is always important," added the specialist, "to store seed in a dry, well-ventilated building."

To tie Army missile-launching facilities to fixed, concrete sites is to invite their destruction as a first priority of enemy attack.

SS Applicants Urged To Contact Sheffield Office

Residents of Lauderdale County were urged today by Mrs. Mary King Temple, district manager, to get in touch with the Sheffield office of the Social Security Administration for information regarding payments under the old-age and survivors insurance program.

Mrs. Temple stated that her office encounters numerous instances of applicants for benefits who have relied on erroneous or misleading advice received from friends or relatives. As a result they have mistaken ideas about requirement for social security payments and the amount of the payments which they will receive. In several recent cases, failure to obtain correct information before reaching retirement age has had serious effects on the applicant's plans for retirement, she added.

The Sheffield office of the Social Security Administration receives all applications for retirement and survivors payments from residents of six counties. In addition, the office receives applications for disability payments from qualified workers 50 years of age or more and applications to "freeze" the wage records of disabled workers under age 50. Since January 1, 1958, the Sheffield office has forwarded many applications for retirement, survivors, and disability payments.

Informational material regarding all phases of the social security insurance program is available at the Sheffield office and a representative of the office is normally available to meet with groups desiring a speaker.

Mrs. Temple suggested that all students who plan to work during the summer vacation, and who have not obtained a social security card, do so immediately. Applications for cards can be obtained at the Sheffield office or at the post office nearest their homes.

Two-Car Accident Injures Youth

A two-car accident on Highway 72 Thursday caused $625 worth of damages to the cars involved and injured an 18-year-old girl, Lunette Mason, 18, of Rt. 1, Rogers-ville. Lunette was taken to Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital with cuts and bruises to the forehead after the wreck which occurred at 5:50 p. m., according to the Alabama Highway Patrol.

Miss Mason was a passenger in a car traveling east on 72, which was being driven by Shelby Hollingsworth, of Rt. 1, Rogersville. The car skidded 90 feet and hit the rear of a car, driven by John M. Baskins, of Rt. 3, Florence.

Baskins told officers that he was going to make a left turn but was going further along the road before signaling, but Hollingsworth reported that the car driven by Baskins stopped without giving a signal. No charges were filed, however, the patrolmen said.

Payments Drop To Unemployed

Local Office Says Report Encouraging; New Law Will Help

Unemployment Compensation payments to unemployed persons in this area have dropped, says a report released by the Department of Industrial Relations, Sheffield. This report is encouraging and is attributed largely to the upswing in construction. However, in many cases the inactivity of a claim is brought through the exhaustion of benefits.

The recent temporary Unemployment Compensation Act, passed by Congress, is pointed toward the further bridging of the unemployment gap created by the present economic situation. The end result of the extended benefits program will boost the buying power of the unemployed individual who has become displaced by the downturn in business.

The U. S. Senate has passed without change the House-approved appropriations bill for TVA, which calls for an amount of $16,850,000 for TVA and authorization to spend an obligated balance of $2,207,000 carried over from a previous appropriation.

Eleven million dollars of this amount will be used for continuing construction on the new $35,000,000 lock and canal at Wilson Dam.

New Survival Plan Should Aid Alabama Cities

Civil Defense Director Maner Says Plan 'Not Perfect By Any Means'

An enemy submarine beneath the waters of the Gulf of Mexico could drop a nuclear missile on any point in Alabama without warning and the people in the target city would have only 10 to 15 minutes to brace themselves for the shattering impact equaling perhaps 20 million tons of TNT.

Civil Defense Director Pitt Tyson Maner says that when a newly-developed survival program is put into effect, Alabama will be able to withstand the shock of a nuclear attack better than most other states, but the plan is not perfect by any means.

The success of this program depends on the avoidance of use of cumbersome machinery of a separate branch of the state government in handling disaster survival. Alabama is the first state to delegate specific responsibility to various state agencies to handle disaster survival problems.

The survival plan is based on the official designation of nine cities as probably target areas in event of an enemy attack. The cities are Huntsville, Birmingham, Gadsden, Montgomery, Mobile, Anniston, Selma, Phenix City and the Florence - Sheffield - Muscle Shoals Tri-cities area.

No matter how carefully worked out the survival plan might be, Maner says the success or failure will depend on the degree of acceptance of it by local communities.

Lawrence Welk Aids Heart Fund

For playing an important role in the success of the annual Heart Fund in Alabama, the Lawrence Welk album "With A Song In My Heart" has been presented to young Jimmy Atchison, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Atchison of Florence, it was announced today by the Alabama Heart Association.

The album is a collection of "Heart" songs from Mr. Welk's TV program of last February that was dedicated to the 1958 Heart Fund and was made possible by Coral Records and Mr. Welk's own generosity. In making the presentation, Dr. Maxwell Moody, Jr., President, extended "the sincere appreciation of the Alabama Heart Association" to Jimmy for his "active and personal support of Heart Fund Campaigns in the past."

Underweight is still a problem for many Americans. This condition may result in fatigue, nervousness, and lowered resistance to infections. For permanent weight gain, foods rich in protein, vitamins, and minerals, in addition to calories, are needed. Nutritious meals which include meat, milk, and eggs are recommended.

Fuchs To Direct Alcoholic Clinic

Fuchs has been in residency at the Philadelphia General Hospital since 1955. He received his M. D. from Georgetown and his B. S. from Spring Hill College in Mobile. Fuchs lived in Mobile from 1946-1950 and from 1954-1955.

His wife is a native of Mobile. He has four children, ages 7, 5, 2 and 1.

"We are happy to have a person with Dr. Fuchs' qualifications join the Commission and direct the Birmingham Clinic," stated Nimrod T. Frazer, Administrator of the Commission.

The treatment team Fuchs will direct is to consist of an internist, two psychiatric social workers and a psychologist. They will provide a treatment plan designed to meet the needs of alcoholic patients.

WASHINGTON LETTER

By BOB JONES

Eighth District
REPRESENTATIVE

Redstone Is A Cornerstone Of Future Defense

The extreme importance of Redstone Arsenal to the national defense and scientific future is known and appreciated. House passage this week of the military construction bill containing an appropriation of $8.5 million for Redstone is indicative of this.

The belief is growing that our North Alabama installation can have profound effect on the Walleys of every American taxpayer and drastically change our foreign policies. Prospects of any great reduction in our government costs and heavy tax burdens appear slim until the U. S. develops intercontinental missiles and outer space weapons. Estimates vary, but experts agree that this should be accomplished within three or four years. When we have a stock of these intercontinental weapons, our federal expenses could drop by many billions of dollars. Costs of national defense now amount to about half of the federal budget. With rocket missiles able to reach any spot in the world, the need for big overseas bases would decline or even end. Billions in aid to foreign nations which are allies could stop. Our own military forces could be reduced and the draft of young men would ease. We would be able to treat our enemies from a position of strength and this would change our foreign policies.

Interest in the progress being made at Redstone Arsenal is exceptionally high here in Washington. I am asked about its progress and operations constantly. I do not consider it boasting when I reply that the Redstone personnel is aware of its tremendous responsibilities and that I am confident of its success.

The Crisis Of Our Cities

The tendency of our growing American population to live in the suburbs but work in the cities has brought many of our cities, big and small, very serious problems. This situation will probably get worse for the Stanford Institute predicts that within 20 years about 80% of our people will live in suburban areas. These people will expect many city services but will pay no taxes where they work except perhaps sales taxes.

This week, I had Mayor C. L. Beard of Sheffield, Mayor Arthur Stewart and Councilman Gordon Copeland of Athens for several conferences on this very grave problem and discussions of what aid our cities could get from the federal government.

I was impressed by their knowledge of city administration and their sincere desire and efforts to find solutions to questions of how to extend and improve cities despite falling income.

What remedies we have, such as government help in slum clearance, better air and highway transportation, better health centers and other aids are from the Roosevelt and Truman administrations. There are scores of bills before Congress which recognize the crisis of our cities and ask federal help, but this Administration and its Bureau of the Budget give them the cold fish-eye. My own bill to help cities get federal aid in planning for better water supply and prevent pollution of existing water resources was vetoed by the President. Other legislation could expect the same fate. The next Congress will probably be more strongly Democratic and we can expect better recognition and aid for our expanding cities because most of the remedies suggested are sponsored by Democrats.

Tax Forms Mailed To Vehicle Owners

District Director of Internal Revenue George D. Patterson said today that forms for reporting Federal Use Tax on highway motor vehicles had been mailed to taxpayers who filed returns during the fiscal year ended June 30, 1958.

The tax applies to the use of single-unit trucks with empty weight of 13,000 pounds or more and to truck-tractors with empty weight of 13,000 pounds or more and to truck-tractors with empty weight of 5,500 pounds or more. The deadline for filing returns on vehicles used in July, 1958 is August 31, 1958.

"Comparisons between the records of truck tags issued by Alabama counties and my records indicate that some owners of heavy highway vehicles have not been paying this tax," Patterson said. He expressed the opinion that taxpayers who comply with the law have the right to expect him to require their competitors to do likewise.

"Non-paying owners of these vehicles are being contacted by Revenue Officers as fast as possible and penalties and interest are being added to the bills for taxes not paid on time," he added.

The 23-year-old soldier, son of Mr. and Mrs. James A. Thompson, 501 First St., Lawrenceburg, Tenn., was graduated from Lawrence County High School in that city in 1953 and was formerly employed by Radio Station WBTC, Tuscaloosa.

Workers spend 129 hours a year per cow with a 10-cow dairy herd, but only 80 hours a year per cow with a 30-cow herd, testers recently found. Labor-saving devices make the difference.

"Financial aid to dependent children is provided only when the support of one or both parents is lost by death, disability or absence," Commissioner Sam J. Snoddy said.

"No aid is given to children whose mothers do not work, unless they are prevented from doing so by certain specific conditions," Snoddy emphasized. He pointed out that all able-bodied mothers are expected to work, the only exceptions being made when they cannot do so because no job can be found, nor suitable plans made for their children.

County Pension departments must keep these policies in regard to employment, the commissioner pointed out. "Mothers must register with their local employment office and show evidence both that they are seeking work and that they have not refused available jobs that are suitable," he said.

Dr. Snoddy pointed out there are instances where working mothers cannot earn enough for the needs of their large families. "Over the State wages for unskilled women workers are low, and a mother may earn only $10 or $12 a month, or may have work during only part of the year," he said, but nevertheless all her earnings must be considered in figuring the family's need and whether or not the children are eligible for aid, with the earnings deducted from the amount that can be allowed as need."

"County Pension departments also expect older boys and girls to work in vacations and on weekends, and if they fail to accept satisfactory jobs, their needs must be removed from the family budget," Snoddy said.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

His First Steps...

He stands with his legs quivering ever so slightly, ready to put forth first one foot . . . and then the other.

This is a great moment, and it might be frightening if it were not for the strong, steady clasp of his mother's hand. She is there to guide him . . . to catch him if he falls.

But the time will come when he'll have to let go of his mother's hand; and go forth on his own. Even then, he will need guidance. His mother is taking care of that, too. Already, he attends church with his parents on Sundays and slowly but surely he will begin to learn the meaning of faith. Children must be taught to take spiritual as well as physical steps. The Church stands ready to teach them.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

New Weapons For The Weed Killers

Ask any farmer and he'll tell you that nature made too many different kinds of weeds. But luckily for us, modern research has discovered almost as many weed killers as there are weeds.

The more commonly used herbicides, such as 2,4-D and 2,4,5-T are familiar to most growers. But, said API Extension Agronomist O. N. Andrews, there are other compounds, newer to the market, which provide more flexibility in the weed-control program. The family of chemicals to which 2,4-D and its relatives belong is highly volatile—that is, they easily produce fumes. Unexpected winds may blow the fumes onto nearby plants that may be injured by the material. Among the advantages of the newer chemicals is the fact that they can often be safely used under conditions where older herbicides would present a danger to neighboring crops.

Dowpon, for example, can be used with great effect against bermuda grass johnson grass, and other perennial weed grasses. Another new chemical, amtritol, is excellent for killing poison ivy in shady places and in places where the fumes from 2, 4-D would endanger other plants.

For other special uses, there are other compounds. If it is necessary to eliminate all vegetation, as on a driveway or tennis court, either monuron or simazin can be used. Silvex is unusually effective against broad-leaved lawn weeds such as dandelion, plantain, wild garlic, and chickweed.

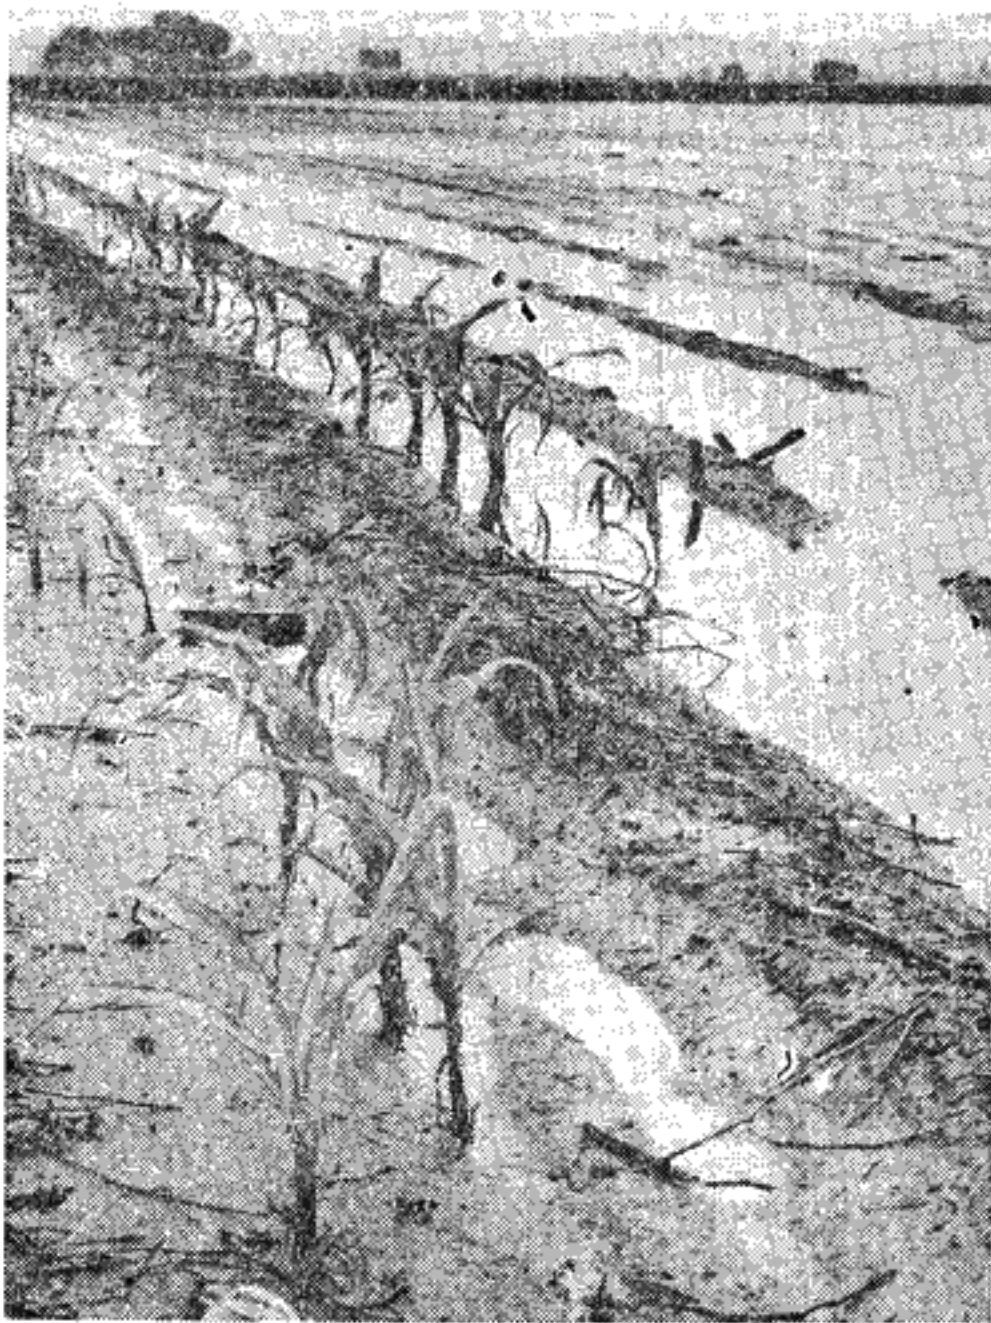

"Remember," added Andrews, "that sprayers used for weed killers should be washed out immediately after use, because these chemicals corrode metal. Also, it's wise to reserve a separate sprayer for killing weeds because even a trace of herbicide remaining may kill sensitive plants if the sprayer is used later for insecticides or other material."

MORE GOOD FISHING

Regulations for opening public fishing on 163-acre Walker County Public Lake near Jasper at daybreak on July 23rd were announced by the Alabama Department of Conservation. The Walker Lake is Alabama's second largest public lake.

Biologists' checks of the fish in the new lake show that bream and bass are in good condition. Since the lake lies in an area of little natural fishing, anglers are expected to flock to the opening in large numbers. Department spokesmen stated.

LET THE HERALD PRINT IT!

THE CORN IS LEAN—Vast stretches of mud, interspersed with ankle-deep pools of water, add to the desolate look of rows of corn in Topeka, Kan. Heavy rainfall has threatened what was expected to be a bumper crop of wheat in the state, and the showers haven't done the local corn any good, either.

June Visitors To TVA Facilities Up

An estimated 1,498,500 visits were made to TVA dams and steam plants in June, some 31,000 more than in the same month last year. Chickamauga Dam led with an estimated 232,500; Pickwick Landing Dam was second with 204,500; Kentucky Dam was third with 193,700; and Fontana Dam was fourth with 155,200.

Others: Norris 108,000; Fort Loudoun 96,000; Cherokee 70,000; Guntersville 66,800; Wilson 54,000; Wheeler 50,000; Watts Bar 47,400; Douglas 41,000; Boone 39,000; Watauga 35,000; Fort Patrick Henry 33,000; South Molson 27,400; Hales Bar 14,200; Kingston S. P. 11,500; Hiwassee 5,000; Widows Creek S. P. 4,300; Gallatin S. P. 2,700; Johnsonville S. P. 2,200; Colbert S. P. 1,800; John Sevier S. P. 900; Shawnee S. P. 600.

Visits for the first six months of the year are running nearly a half million behind the same period in 1957. The estimated six months' figure for 1958 is 4,864,700; for 1957 it is 5,331,600. Chickamauga is out in front as a tourist attraction at the mid-year mark with 616,200; Pickwick is second with 606,600; Kentucky is third with 521,200; Norris is fourth with 430,700.

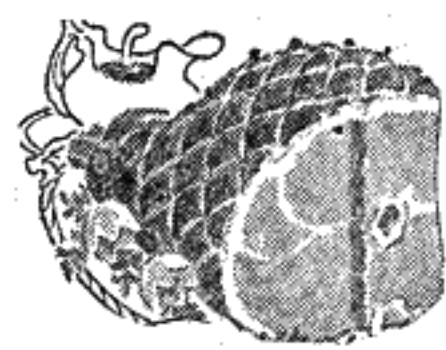

Inclement weather accounted for the drop in visitors during the earlier months this year. However, both in May and June the visits this year were greater than last.

Oil Production In State Drops In May

The State Oil and Gas Board report for May shows oil production in Alabama was 485,622 barrels. This was a drop from May a year ago and also a drop from this April, with Citronelle accounting for most of the 25,968 barrel decline.

Breakdown by fields, according to Dr. Walter E. Jones, State Oil and Gas Board supervisor, for May 1958 is: Gilbertown Field, 32,985 barrels; South Carlton Field, 10,598 barrels; Pollard Field, 66,789 barrels; and Citronelle Field, 375,248 barrels.

A Salute to RUSSELL COUNTY

Site of the Last Battle In the War Between the States*

Russell County was the site of the last battles in two historic conflicts—the Creek Indian War in 1836 and the War Between the States.* Early visitors of note included French General LaFayette; German Crown Prince Count Saxe-weimar; Francis Scott Key, author of "The Star Spangled Banner"; Aaron Burr, of treason trial fame; and Col. John Crowell, first congressman from Alabama.

Its name honors the memory of Col. Gilbert C. Russell, rugged Indian fighter of the 3rd U. S. Infantry.

Today in Russell County, as elsewhere in Alabama, the U. S. Brewers Foundation works ceaselessly to assure the sale of the light, bright beverages of moderation—beer and ale—under pleasant, orderly conditions. Believing that strict law enforcement serves the best interests of the people, the Foundation stresses close cooperation with law enforcement and governing officials in its continuing "self-regulation" program.

Food buying is big business. It involves one-fourth of each family's expendable income each year. In 1957 consumers in the U. S. spent $440 per capita for food. This was just 25 percent of their $1,756 per capita disposable income. Retail food sales in 1957 were $3,981 million, say food specialists.
