

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

"Taller, Narrower Look in Store for Well-Dressed American Male" was the headline of the week that intrigued us. Now, if we can buy a suit that will make us look taller and narrower we'll give up this blankety-blank dieting we have made a feeble attempt to follow.

May we suggest the following slogan for our—and your—community: "Florence has no strangers; only friends who haven't met."

A strange thing, indeed, is that mismanagement at the top will make the bottom drop out of business.

After they got home from the card party the other night, the wife began to nag: "Well, I can't imagine what you did no trumps on when I had three aces and four kings." "Well," answered the sleepy husband, "if you want to know, I bid it on one jack, two queens and three cocktails."

If all the businessmen who sleep at their desks were laid end-to-end—they'd be more comfortable.

The third grade class was studying the weather and changes that take place throughout the year. In the quiz that followed, the teacher asked, among other things, to name the four seasons of the year. Little Johnny answered: Football season, basketball season, baseball season and swimming season.

It was a wonderful dinner and the guests just couldn't say enough about the food. Each complimented the manner in which the tasty dishes were prepared and, of course, the hostess beamed. The next Saturday morning with the praise still ringing in her ears, the housewife decided to give her cook of a number of years a little raise. When the cook opened her envelope and found the added coins, she asked: "Haven't you made a mistake in my salary—there is an additional dollar in my envelope?" With a smile, her employer remarked: "A little is added because you have been such a good cook all these years." After a minute's thought, the cook replied: "Humph, you've been cheating me a long time, eh?"

Add definitions: Hangover—something to occupy a head that wasn't used the night before.

The timid young man, seeking a job, stood before the personnel manager. He had been cooling his heels in the outer office for some hours and now as he was about to be able to express himself in person, the personnel manager swung around in his chair and abruptly asked: "Tell me. What have you done?" Startled, the applicant answered: "Me? About what?"

A fellow's conscience may not keep him from doing anything wrong—but it'll sure keep him from enjoying it.

The fact that on Saturday (March 15) the American Legion will observe the 39th year of its founding reminds us of a little girl who wrote in answer to a question at an examination: "The Armistice was signed on Nov. 11, 1918, and since then we have had two minutes of peace every year."

"What's the matter with you?" the wife demanded of friend husband. Monday you liked beans. Tuesday you liked beans. Wednesday you liked beans. Thursday you liked beans; now, Friday, all of a sudden, you don't like beans?"

From close observation we agree that mealtime is when the kids sit down to the table to continue their eating.

With the new sack look—and what a terrible look it is—many of us have rushed to old newspaper files to see if we can find the like of these creations on the yellowed pages of years ago. And after some research, the only conclusion we have reached is that the only value of living in the good old days was that you could live cheaper.

Girls are very much like current television shows: you seldom find a good one after midnight.

We understand that scientists are no longer worried over how old the world is but how long it will last.

A third-grade boy was being helped in his arithmetic lessons by his mother. "If your father saved 10 dollars a week for five weeks, what would he have?" asked the little fellow's mother. He thought a minute and answered: "A color TV set, an outboard motor and a 1958 car," was his summary.

It's easy to tell when a boy changes into a man—he stops asking for an allowance and begins asking for a loan.

A GI tells us that recently he and his wife went to look at a new house being constructed in a new sub-division. After a thorough inspection, he remarked: "This house doesn't look too strong." The contractor, who was conducting the tour of inspection, without much concern said: "Well, you've got to remember we haven't got the wallpaper on yet."

Why is it that some of the ugliest rumors often get started in a beauty shop?

Judges Named For '200 Entries In Science Fair

Two-Day Exposition Begins Friday At FSC For High School Students

The roster of judges for the fourth annual North Alabama Regional Science Fair to be held at Florence State College Friday and Saturday, is nearly complete. It was announced by L. T. Jenkins, chairman of the judging committee. Included in the appointments to date are representatives of the University of Alabama, Howard College, Birmingham-Southern, Alabama College and several of Alabama's technical industries.

The staff of judges, many of whom have served in one or more of the previous North Alabama Fairs, will choose this year's prizewinners from an increased number of exhibits over any previous year, predicted A. B. Beindorf, coordinator of the fair. Entries have already topped the 200 mark, with a few more expected late entries still to be received.

Included on the staff thus far appointed are Dr. William Loftin, director of research, U. S. Pipe and Foundry of Birmingham; Dr. Charles B. Blair, professor of biology, Birmingham-Southern; William B. Black, Gulf States Paper Corp., Tuscaloosa; Dr. Paul Bailey, professor of biology, Alabama College; Dr. Herbert McCullough, head department of biology, Howard College; Dr. J. Allen Tower, head, Department of Geography, Birmingham-Southern; Dr. Walter Whorton, Redstone Arsenal, and E. J. Fennell, director of Engineering Extension Services, University of Alabama.

The judges will award medals to winners in several divisions of competition, and will choose two senior high school grand prize winners. These winners will be awarded expense-paid trips for themselves and their sponsoring science teachers to the National Science Fair in Flint, Mich., May 7-10, where they will compete with other finalists from the United States, Japan, Puerto Rico and Alaska for top awards of scientific equipment, books and other scientific materials.

The North Alabama Regional Science Fair will be held on Friday and Saturday at Florence State College.

While some 50 to 100 of the 250 initial registrations are expected to be eliminated at local fairs throughout the region, competition is expected to be keen in all divisions.

A number of activities have been planned during the judging period, from noon Friday until 3 p.m., at which time the exhibit hall will be closed. Movies on a variety of subjects will be shown as well as tours of the campus.

Award winners will be announced at a convocation early Friday night with the time and location of this meeting to be announced on Friday morning.

Business Depends On Trained Minds, B&P Women Told

FSC President Speaks At Club's Bosses' Night Banquet At Reeder

Business in this county is going to exist and remain good in proportion to the trained minds we have, Dr. E. B. Norton told members of the Florence Business & Professional Women's Club and their guests at the eighth annual Bosses' Night banquet at Hotel Reeder last Thursday evening.

The Florence State College president pointed out that all wealth is derived from trained people engaged in business. An industrial economy based on free enterprise cannot be developed among unenlightened people, he declared.

The more than 150 persons attending the affair were entertained during the evening by the FSC Ensemble, while John Cox, minister of the Sherrod Avenue Church of Christ delivered the invocation and the club president, Miss Inah Mae Young, welcomed and introduced the guests.

"No school person who has dedicated his life to education should ever apologize for calling attention of taxpayers to the necessity of dollars and cents for a sound program of education," Dr. Norton said.

"If America is ever to achieve her goals, we have to do it the American way—through the process of education. We cannot neglect the economic aspects of education with inadequate financial support."

"School administrators are not magicians and cannot run first-rate school systems on second-rate appropriations."

"Alabama needs 1200 to 1500 more teachers in the public schools for next year, yet we continue to lose teachers every year to states paying larger salaries."

"The colleges in Alabama will be required to approximately double their present enrollment by 1970 if they are to meet the growing demand for college education. Practically all colleges of the state, public and private, are crowded to the limit with their present enrollment. New building facilities and new faculty members will be required to take care of the growth. The salaries in Alabama colleges are lagging behind those for similar personnel in colleges throughout the nation, including colleges in other southern states."

"The Alabama problem is not going to be solved on 'peanuts.' We can no longer plead that we cannot afford to pay for education—the truth is that we can no longer afford not to pay for education."

Late News

An Air Force bomber accidentally dropped a bomb on a house near Florence, S. C., Tuesday, blasting the house to pieces and damaging a nearby church. Five persons were injured but only one was hospitalized, reports stated. The cause of the accident was attributed to a defective bomb mechanism.

The six-day strike of the billion-dollar garment industry ended Tuesday with wage increases that manufacturers warned would cause higher price tags on Easter merchandise. The International Ladies Garment Workers Union accepted a new three-year contract for its 105,000 workers. However in Pennsylvania and New York some 60,000 were ordered to stay out on strike until a separate dispute over work assignments was settled.

Present Slump Could Produce Slash In Taxes

With latest statistics showing 5,173,000 jobless in the United States, Congress and the Eisenhower Administration are reported considering many plans with which to combat the recession and get the idle back to work. Plans include everything from slashing the federal tax structure to public works.

With tax cutting the big weapon thus far Mr. Eisenhower was reported after a conference at the White House with GOP leaders, to have decided to delay any administration-sponsored tax cuts for at least a month. He arranged for a meeting a week from Tuesday in which members of his cabinet would sit in with party leaders for a discussion of the whole tax picture.

Meanwhile Democratic leaders in the House of Representatives introduced legislation to liberalize unemployment compensation benefits. The bill proposed would have the federal government finance payments for 16 weeks after the regular jobless benefits are exhausted under the present benefit limit of 26 weeks. It was said the 16-week extension had previously been discussed by Republicans.

Pending public works would be speeded up under a resolution approved by the Senate Public Works Committee and a similar resolution covering military spending is impending. The public works proposal was made by Democratic Senate Leader Lyndon Johnson.

A five-year public works bill authorizing the spending of more than $14 billion on dams, irrigation, flood control and power was introduced by Sen. Chavez of New Mexico.

The vote on Johnson's resolution passed by 9 to 1, the lone vote cast against it being that of Sen. Cotton (R-N.H.) who said he feared a rise in construction prices because of it.

White House Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Secretary of Labor Mitchell's discussion of a tax cut was "not correct as to timing." Mitchell had told a conference of AFL-CIO leaders that, if the business slump isn't overcome as anticipated, the next big step would be an administration recommendation for a "major and substantial cut in personal and business taxes." He added that details had been worked out and that it was "ready for immediate use."

Hagerty said it was incorrect to say that it was ready for use and that "there has been no decision on the form of any tax cut."

(2) Plan the reorganization of our Engineering program and shape it for the demands of the "new engineering" of the future. (3) Gradually phase out certain programs not believed to be necessary for future development of the School of Engineering.

Harrison Enters Legislative Race

Former Florence Mayor Asks Support for Place 2 State Representative

Walter N. Harrison, former Mayor of Florence, who is also a real estate broker and insurance official, formally announced Saturday as a candidate for Member of the House of Representatives, Place Number 2—Lauderdale County.

Mr. Harrison, who is widely known throughout the Muscle Shoals area in particular and the entire State of Alabama in general, offered the following thumbnail sketch of his life: Born Trenton, Tenn., 1920, moved to Florence 1926, attended Gilbert Elementary School six years, graduated Coffey High, 1938, Florence State College three years, aerial navigation instructor U. S. Air Force 1941 to 1945, insurance adjuster in Sherman and Abilene Tex., 1946 to 1950.

Returned home to Florence 1950 where engaged in insurance and real estate business to the present. Married the former Maurine Mathis of Sherman, Tex., and blessed with three children, Walter, Jr., 10; Gretta, 8; and Sam, 5. He has been a member of the First Methodist Church of Florence for 31 years—at one time teaching Sunday School class.

An indication of the breadth and scope of Mr. Harrison's activities in the civic and economic life of our local community is reflected in the following organizations in which he is or has been an active and effective member: North Alabama Conservation Association, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Benevolent & Protective Order of Elks, Knights of Pythias, Salvation Army Advisory Board, Florence Exchange Club, Florence Board of Realtors, Florence American Legion Post No. 11, Fraternal Order of Police, Florence Planning Board, Board of Governors ECM Hospital, Governor's Committee for Employment of Handicapped, Alabama Tuberculosis Association, Florence Chamber of Commerce, and others.

Mr. Harrison's many friends point out that during his service as Mayor of Florence from 1954 to 1957, great progress was realized such as: Financial arrangements made for addition to ECM Hospital, over two million dollars secured for new schools, 42 miles streets re-surfaced, "whiteway" lighting made seven times larger, two pools built and paid for, rural electric rates reduced saving customers $80,000 yearly, police and fire department modernized, along with many other progressive changes and improvements.

In speaking of his candidacy Mr. Harrison stated "I solicit the help and support of all the citizens of Lauderdale County. If the people elect to send me to Montgomery, I pledge them forceful and aggressive representation. I will fight vigorously for all that is good for Lauderdale County and speak out against what is contrary to our best interests. I will represent all the people—not just a favored few. When the four years of my term have passed, you can be sure that everybody in the Legislature will know beyond question that this beautiful valley of ours is on the move forward and that the people of Lauderdale County were actively and forcefully represented."

Clyde W. Anderson returned to his home on Leila Street Monday after being a patient in ECM Hospital three weeks.

Our Course Is Obvious

While there is a great deal of doubt as to any really concrete results coming from another summit conference with the Russians there is always the one compensation, that of stalling for time . . . and the United States needs time.

In losing the race for orbiting a satellite this country proved how fatal delays can be. Had those delays been caused by a lack of talented scientists, equipment or money there would have been a valid excuse for losing the satellite race but this was not so. We had all of the potential for beating any nation on earth including the Russians but we literally "fiddled while Rome burned." Now our course is obvious. We must catch up or else and that brings us back to the need for a summit meeting and any other type of delaying action that may be deemed expedient.

The Russians have agreed to a summit meeting and Mr. Eisenhower has also agreed with reservations. That there will be another summit meeting practically all factions are agreed. Not only for the reason given above, a delay in the cold war, but because there is a great hue and cry among the peoples of the world who fear the possibility of a total atomic war.

If such a meeting produces any more than another supply of propaganda for the Russians it will have accomplished much. There have been meetings in the past between the diplomats of the East and West that resulted in lifting the Berlin blockade, the Trieste solution and the Austrian treaty, and also some easing of the tension in the Middle East . . . so it is possible, even if barely so, that some good may come from another summit conference.

With respect to the present recession in the United States this deals the United States' prestige abroad another blow and Mr. Eisenhower would like to see the economy well bolstered before he consents to meet with Russia. This is especially so since reciprocal trade, foreign aid and other foreign policy factors are on the agenda.

In short Mr. Eisenhower can have no real program until there is a semblance of tranquility at home. Only then can he go into a summit conference armed with definite plans as to this nation's position and with a program that the world can see offers some hope of success.

A Worthwhile Project

In its endeavor to promote better health among the children of the community and surrounding area the Florence Kiwanis club in 1949 added a free dental clinic to its youth program. This free clinic for providing dental care for the underprivileged children of school age was first established in Sheffield and members took the children to the clinic in their cars once a week.

In May 1950 following the club's first successful sponsorship of the Florence State Lions' spring practice football game at Coffee stadium, Florence Kiwanians established a completely equipped dental clinic at the Health Department. Equipment was purchased at a cost of $1,782.19 and the state aided the project by donating additional items to make it complete and modern in every detail. When the Health Department moved to its new quarters on West Tennessee Street a room was provided for the clinic.

This worthy project is operated weekly by the club, three each month for whites and one for colored children. Local dentists give their time to this work and the children are brought to the clinic by the county health nurse.

Each year the Lions F-Day game has made possible the continued operation of the clinic where thousands of children have been helped back to better health through better teeth and in learning teeth care. Fifteen hundred to two thousand free treatments are given yearly to hundreds of underprivileged children without cost making this one of the finest and most successful projects ever undertaken locally by any civic group.

Public support of the F-Day games in March each year make this possible. As in the past the proceeds of this year's game on Wednesday afternoon, March 19 will be used in operating the dental clinic and other charitable projects.

"Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these ye have done it unto me."

'Peahead' Walker Quarterback Guest

Coach Douglas (Peahead) Walker, coach of the professional Montreal football team in the Canadian league, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Tri-Cities Quarterback Club at Florence Country Club Tuesday night. Joe Meade, captain of the club, president and Charles Finney, program chairman, presented the speaker.

Coach Walker, in an interesting and informative address, stated that college football must show more aggressiveness if it is to keep up with the great progress being made by pro football. Pointing out that the NCAA now controls every move of college football, Coach Walker said that the college football does not have the leeway and thus the crowd pleasing tactics employed by the pros.

Stressing the fine high school football being played and the splendid coaching these youngsters receive, he said that this was much better than the Canadian system and proceeded to point out the difference in Canadian football and that of the States.

It was announced that Wade Walker, head coach of Mississippi State would be the speaker at the club's April meeting and that Hugh (Duffy) Daugherty of Michigan State would address the August 5th meeting.

Rep. Richard M. ### Well At 750 Feet In Priton Area

Drilling at Hollis No. 1 well in the Priton community was at a depth of 750 feet at noon Wednesday, and officials of the two companies seeking oil on the property said "We could pick up a well on top of the Knox Dolomite structure after 340 feet."

That depth was expected to be reached within 36 hours after drills were down to the 750-foot level, according to Clyde Seitz, official of Tennessee Valley Oil Co. Canfield Oil of Evansville, Ind., has the contract for drilling the first of two wells in north Lauderdale County for the locally-organized concern, and its drillers are working around the clock.

Lending encouragement to those backing the exploration for gas and oil in Lauderdale County were reports from similar ventures elsewhere in this area, Seitz said.

Howard Self No. 1 well in Marion County has been plugged back to 1,583 feet and is being capped as a gas producer, while in adjoining Franklin County drillers are down to 1,150 feet on the Hester White No. 1 and have reached 535 feet on the J. H. Deason No. 1 in Winston County.

In Lawrence County, on the Dave Rutherford property, drills are at 950 feet, and in Blount County a 1,000 - foot depth has been reached on the Velpo East farm. On the A. G. Horton farm in Cullman county, drills are still operating at 3,558 feet.

Coffee Loses Riley To Crimson Tide

Popular 'Jacket Coach Says University Offer Too Good To Decline

Hayden Riley, head football coach at Coffee High School the past three years and basketball mentor there for 10 years, has accepted an offer as assistant basketball coach and will assist in football at the University of Alabama, it was announced Tuesday.

Riley, one of the state's most successful prep school coaches, said he regretted leaving Florence but the offer was "too good to turn down." Officials of the city school system expressed regret at losing his services.

A native of Guin and a four-letter man in high school there, Riley won monograms in football and basketball at Howard College before entering the Navy for three years' service. On his return he enrolled at the University of Alabama, where he earned B. S. and M. S. degrees and won letters in baseball and basketball.

Riley came to Florence 10 years ago as basketball coach and his Coffee High teams have gone to the state tournament six times, winning one Alabama championship. As coach of the football team the past three years, Riley produced a Tennessee Valley Conference football runner-up in 1956.

Coach Riley will replace Preston Brown, assistant to Dr. Eugene Lambert, basketball coach, who resigned to enter business. He assumes his duties at the University June 1.

Humorist Talks To Bankers Meeting

Tom Sims Addresses Banquet Session After Afternoon of Business

Tom Sims, writer of the comic strip Popeye, Ohatchee, U. S. A. and contributor to numerous national magazines, addressed the banquet session of Groups 1 and 2, Alabama Bankers Association at the Coffee High cafeteria Tuesday night. The dinner - meeting climaxed an afternoon and evening program that included business sessions, addressed by leading banking officials and a social hour at the Elks Club. Chas. P. McMeans, of Lexington, president of the groups, presided at all sessions.

Mr. Sims, known as the Sage of Ohatchee, delighted the more than 300 in attendance at the banquet with a discussion titled "Facts are Funnier than Fiction." Drawing on his own experiences, he divided his hilarious talk between politics and fishing, "two subjects that base their entire existence on facts," he pointed out.

Prior to Mr. Sims' talk, a musical program featuring Robert W. Sandlin, baritone, accompanied by Mrs. Jack Baker at the piano, and piano solos by young Jeb Stewart was thoroughly enjoyed by those in attendance. This portion of the evening's entertainment was arranged and presented by Edward H. Smoot of the First National Bank. Harold S. May, college-mate of Mr. Sims introduced the speaker and Charles L. Peery, also of the First National Bank, gave the invocation.

The delegates to the afternoon session at the Elks club were welcomed by Tom Rogers, president of the Florence Chamber of Commerce, after John D. Cox, minister, Sherrod Avenue Church of Christ had given the invocation.

James C. Ward, president of the Third National Bank, Nashville, delivered the principal address of the afternoon with S. Wallace Harper, of Demopolis, president of the association, and Howard Morris, ABA, secretary also addressing the meeting.

Following the nomination of officers to serve during the coming year, as presented by E. F. Walker, Haleyville, Cecil Crow of the State National Bank, Huntsville, was elected president.

I've been hearing some rumors lately; it seems that there may be some building being done around here pretty soon. According to what I have heard, there will be an official announcement from the president's office in about two or three weeks.

The WSGA held its election—with only the women students voting—last Tuesday. Nominees for the offices were Betty Baker, and Anne Wilson, running for president; Barbara Brown, Ida Meeker, Arma Turbyfill, Rose Waldrep, seeking the vice-presidency; Carol Ellwanger, Gerda Newton, and Catherine Mae Sherer ran for the secretaryship; candidates for treasurer were Judy Tuck, and Marie Waldrep. For day student representative the choice was between Harriet Chance, and Zecora Willcutt; running for social chairman were Sylvia Adecock, Barbara Jones, Betty Miller, Mary Tom Rickard, and Ivous Thompson.

Tuesday Betty Baker, Eldridge, was elected president; Gerda Newton, Vina, vice - president; Judy Tuck, Decatur, treasurer; and Harriet Chance, Tusculumbia, day student representative. In Wednesday's run-off Rosa Waldrep, Springfield, and Betty Miller, Killen, were elected vice-president and social chairman, respectively. The SGA ought to be having its election pretty soon. Billy Joe Camp, Hanceville, has been appointed to succeed Charles Grainger of Sheffield. Billy Joe is already sports editor of the "Florida."

The North Alabama Regional Science Fair is being held at FSC March 14 and 15. There will be junior and Senior Division projects entered by students from the high schools—junior and senior—of the region. Winners and their exhibits will be sent to the National Science Fair in Flint, Michigan. I'm looking forward to seeing some interesting exhibits.

Oh, yes, last Saturday was the day of the Coed Ball. The WSGA has been working for weeks on the theme—"Around the World in Eighty Days"—and the decorations—enormous pictures representing the various continents of the world. The lead-out came through a large globe. They expected about 110 couples; I don't know whether anyone counted them or not, but I do know that there was a very good crowd.

The Coed Ball is one of the two big dances of the year (the other is Sadie Hawkins) for which the girls do the inviting; both always seem to be huge successes.

Next week, Wednesday the 19th, we'll have an opportunity to see the '58 Lions in action. The F-Day game, sponsored by the Florence Kiwanis Club, is set for that afternoon; proceeds from the game go to the Kiwanis-operated free dental clinic.

W. R. Chisholm, a recent patient at ECM Hospital, is now at his home on Hermitage Drive.

THE SPILLWAY

A FASHION SHOW we've heard there'll be...
No "sacks" allowed there...no sirree...
Fine cloths all 'broidered...with beads they're rife...
From grandma's attic they'll come to life...

THE STORY AS we've heard it is that Elizabeth Brock a-visiting went and returned to Florence with a whole wardrobe of "hand-some and exquisite" fashions of yesteryear... From their moth-balls and trunks in Greensboro attics to a tea party in Florence is the jaunt these one-hundred-and-more-year old frocks are taking...

They'll be modeled at Elizabeth's party come Saturday afternoon and we can hardly wait to see such items as the beaded blouse which weighs six pounds... Incidently... we think our prospective hostess has had a verree... clever idea...

TRIMMING EXACTLY TWENTY-ONE days from Mike Todd's breathtaking adventure will be Alberta Rogers and Corinne Acker who will go around the world in fifty-nine days... (that is... if they can resist tarrying in some of the places they'll visit... and they admit they'll not even try)

Taking off in the wild blue yonder sometime in June... we can expect to see them "when they return"... and that's about as much info as we can get for the present... We do hereby give early notice that we'll want a full report when you return... girls...

OTHER TRAVELERS OF the coming season will be Ann and Leo King who're already getting passport papers readied as they get themselves ready for an en-vious spree of far-away travel... It's only conjecture with us that their port of departure will be the West Coast this time...

EDNA AND (NATIONAL Furniture President) Henry Lamar are planning a fabulous journey to the continent... and Margaret Rice will come from Jackson... Mississippi... to join Bess Meade in a leisurely tour of the British Isles... All in all... it looks like a lonely summer for Florentines who remain in Florence during the approaching months...

A COMPLETELY BLINDING experience was the glimpse we had of Jean Jolly's fourth finger... left hand... It's a sparkle that really sparkles and we hear the fortunate gent is Jimmy Hinton of Tusculumbia whom we would like to be the first to congratulate...

The Madam tips her bonnet to one who outstripped us at Florence State... and EVERYWHERE... A real gal if ever we saw one is bride - to - be Jean...

MOST EXCLUSIVE CLUB hereabouts is the Monday Morning Study Group... Composed of four members... they are Jean Fraser... Martha Gilbert... Lois Morris and Cara Slaton... and after making an intensive study of several interesting subjects... they're now turning their thoughts to England... Be seel' you any ole Monday... girls...

A DAY TO BE remembered by lovers of opera is this... When Discussion Clubbers meet at Alberta Rogers' home this afternoon they'll have the pleasure of hearing Eleanor Christeson give the program on (we think) Opera...

Let's Talk
Over
By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
I have a friend who was left very much alone by the death of her sister last summer and it looks like she just can't get going again. She has a lovely old home where they had lived but she has locked that up. She moves from one rented room to another and can't seem to get satisfied and now she's talking about moving to a furnished apartment.

Don't you think she should go back to her own home and get a roomer? That's what all her friends think is best for her, but she is hard to reason with.

I am only asking because I'm interested.

R. B.

Dear R. B.,
Interested, I'm sure, and probably a wee bit meddlesome, too. I think your friend would probably appreciate your interest more if you'd show it with kindnesses and attentiveness, yet leave her the privilege of making her own decisions and attending to her own affairs.

It often happens that those who are left alone through bereavement are "looked after" by so many well-meaning friends that adjustment is made more difficult for them.

Advise your friend when she asks for advice and give her a little time. The chances are that she'll eventually do just what you and others have in mind for her. In the meantime, she doesn't need to be "looked after."

Dear Sara Saze,

To plant a little garlic and fill in my flower beds so I can dig a garlic bulb when I want to rub a salad bowl and in order to have both for pickle making. Will they "simple take the place" as my neighbors tell me?

Mary.

Dear Mary,
Garlic spreads slowly and when it is dug fairly often it presents no problem. If dill flowers are left in the Spring but your beds are dug it is a simple matter to turn under the volunteers.

I have had both for years; have had no problem with either. I think you'll like the convenience of having them within easy reach.

Telephone Talk

by
FRANK REYNOLDS
Your Telephone Manager

WHAT DO BELLS SAY? For hundreds of years the ding dong of bells has been the signal for news. Right here at home the mellow tones of our church bells call folks to services or invite them to a wedding. Bells pealing ring in "The Happy New Year." Our door bells announce visitors and friends. But that bell we hear most—the telephone bell—can be the most thrilling of all. Its ring is exciting . . . maybe an old friend calling, someone planning a party, a new baby in the family. Whenever you have good news to share, chances are you announce it with the friendly ring of the phone because your phone's the quickest, most cheerful way there is to put folks "in the know!"

RIGHT ARM: Reference books are mighty handy when you want to know something—say like what's the biggest mountain in Canada. Well, there are all kinds of reference books, and one of the most valuable is one you use every day—the telephone directory. Its white pages save you time by avoiding wrong numbers . . . the yellow pages are an easy shopping guide of places to buy things. And the introductory pages give helpful information on how to get the most out of your telephone service. So, remember to keep your directory nearby when you phone—it's so handy.

A LITTLE THING CAN MEAN SO MUCH

A letter from Greenhill, Ala.:
"I'd like to express my appreciation of your promptness in restoring service on our telephone lines during the recent snow storm. Our telephones mean a lot to us out here in the rural communities. Thank you."

McDougal filled his pulpit as usual. In the evening 67 attended Training Union and evening worship. There was one addition to the church at the morning service, Buddy McCrary.

On next Sunday a special Sunday School class will meet for organization. It will be a class for Young Married couples. For the past year or so our church has been without a class for this group.

The faculty is planning to sponsor a political rally Friday night, April 4. We hope to have a few of the candidates for state offices present, along with all local candidates.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Herston and children visited Mrs. Herston's grandfather, Holly Hamner, in Tupelo Miss., last Sunday. There was a family reunion at the home of Bradley Cox last Sunday. All his children — Mr. and Mrs. Bob Cox of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cox of Decatur, and Mrs. Reuben Freeman of Athens and Mr. and Mrs. B. T. Cox Jr., of Anihem, Calif. Also Mrs. B. T. Cox, Jr.'s, brother and family, Howard Denny of Pensacola, Fla., and several other relatives were present.

a special class that is, because of the lack of young married couples in our community. Now, however, we have several couples in our community to fall in this group, and our church is anxious to meet their need of a class of their own, so this class will be reorganized Sunday morning. If you are a young couple in our community we cordially invite you to meet with us on this day and help us organize. The Sunday School room will be located next to the nursery, so that you may be close to your children, if you wish to leave them there. Or, you may feel perfectly welcome to keep them in the room with you, whichever you prefer. But if this group applies to you we hope you will give some thought to joining this special class next Sunday morning. We need your presence very much, and will greatly appreciate having your family in Sunday School with us.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

THE SEARCH CONTINUES

Throughout the history of mankind runs the account of a double quest: Man searching for God... our restless eagerness to understand and please our Creator has paralleled the centuries of progress.

God seeking Man... ceaselessly, patiently. His Love has lighted the ages, ever reaching toward our hearts, encompassing our souls.

Yet no powerful lens ever devised will aid in this search. Our quest finds its consummation not beneath the lens of a microscope—but beneath the spire of a Church!

What man does not recognize his own inability to cope with the complexities of life?

There awaits you next Sunday in the Church of your choice the peace and assurance that generations have sought... the FAITH which unites Man and God.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For the children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Younger Farmers Should File For SS Protection

"It will be a long time before I'm 65 years old. Why should I worry about filing Social Security earnings reports now?"

This sentiment is often expressed by the young, self-employed farm operator. But the farmer who thinks that the man already over 65 is the likely one to file his earnings reports for Social Security payments, is in for a surprise.

According to API Extension Farm Economist Foy Helms, the new Social Security law states that any individual (regardless of age) who has a net self-employment income of $400 or more a year for his farming operations, must file a report of this income with the Internal Revenue Service. This is required even though the farmer may not have to pay federal income tax.

Although old-age insurance benefits are payable to workers who become eligible to receive them after 65 (62 for women), the law also provides for survivors' benefit payments to the dependents of a worker who dies insured under Social Security, regardless of his age. The law is just as important to the younger farm operator with a wife and children as it is to the older farmer. By paying the Social Security tax on his farm earnings, the farmer can guarantee Social Security payments—totaling between $50 and $200 per month—to his widow and children, in event of his death at any age.

Russell Cave To Attract Tourists

Congressman Robert E. (Bob) Jones in his weekly bulletin says the Interior Department predicts that Russell Cave in Jackson County will be "one of the most spectacular tourist attractions" in the Eastern States.

After Congress or the President accepts Russell Cave as a gift from the National Geographic Society, the National Parks Service will get the place ready for tourists. A museum will be built telling visitors that the Cave has had human occupancy for 9,000 years and that further digging may show that mankind had been there even longer. The oldest record now of people in our country is 10,000 years. What will be spectacular is that any new finds will be left as they are, but lighted, covered by glass and a push-button tape record will explain what the relics mean.

What is important for us in North Alabama is that hundreds of thousands of tourists will be invited to our area by the Federal Government to see the Cave and other attractions, and we should be getting ready for these visitors.

TEST YOUR SOIL . . . Testing the soil of land used in growing row crops or pastures, is a must for any successful farmer. And it is a simple and easy operation if the instructions are followed. Supplies and instructions are available at the county agent's office. Extension Service workers will gladly explain the various steps. Follow the example of this farmer and take your tests now, urges County Agent, L. T. Wagon.

Newer Methods Of Feeding Hike Profits On Cattle

Feed normally represents about half the cost of milk production.

So an effective way to increase dairy profits is to cut feed costs, says API Extension Dairyman John Parrish. Research completed recently by the U. S. Department of Agriculture shows that replacing grain and concentrates usually fed to dairy cattle with more high-quality roughage is one way to lower feed expenses.

"At their Beltsville, Md., research center, USDA specialists found that dairy heifers, when fed quantities of good forage, reached normal weights at 24 months of age with much less grain than is usually required," said Parrish. "Compared with the 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of grain commonly consumed before calving, the Beltsville heifers grew normally on 560 pounds of grain and plenty of good forage."

"Experimenting with this means of reducing costs of raising dairy heifers, specialists found that dairy heifers, when fed quantities of good forage, reached normal weights at 24 months of age with much less grain than is usually required," said Parrish. "Compared with the 2,000 to 3,000 pounds of grain commonly consumed before calving, the Beltsville heifers grew normally on 560 pounds of grain and plenty of good forage."

"These studies indicate that it's important to maintain a high legume content in the roughage rations," Parrish explained. "Alfalfa hay was combined with other high-quality roughages such as corn and legume silage."

Naturally Rich Land Best For Raising Cotton

It takes good land to make high cotton yield; fertilizer alone will not do the job.

Lauderdale County farmers have learned that 600 pounds of fertilizer per acre increases cotton yields by about the same number of pounds on almost all soils. But total cotton yields have been highest on land naturally most fertile.

These facts were pointed out this week by L. T. Wagon, County Agent, when he strongly urged growers to "put cotton on the farm's best cotton land."

"No Lauderdale County farmer should fail to study his land now to determine which acres will go into cotton," said Mr. Wagon. "This is more important than in past years, because you are trying to raise per-acre yields to offset the acreage cut."

Land that is high in organic matter, is well drained, and warms up early in the spring makes best yields, according to the agent. Cotton following several continuous crops of dug peanuts or alfalfa or sorghum cut for hay will not produce highest yields.

"Growers can make good rates of fertilizer pay higher returns by using them on good land," said Wagon. "If you start with less than your best land, then you are starting with one strike against this year's cotton crop."

Strawberry Good Bet For Farmer

Strawberries are mighty good eating, besides this, berries offer excellent opportunities for Alabama farmers to earn some extra cash.

are in good demand this year and usually bring satisfactory prices on local markets. Processing strawberries for year-round use in family meals leaves little chance for an oversupply in the next few years, he pointed out.

Farmers who wish to take advantage of this opportunity may set out strawberries anytime from now until late March, Bagby said. In south and central Alabama he recommended planting the Blakemore and Kionmore varieties. In north Alabama, Blackmore and Tennessee Beauty varieties should be used.
