The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

A maid, who seemed to like the work, gave notice the other day without warning. "Why do you wish to leave?" the lady of the house inquired. "Is there anything wrong?" "I just can't stand the suspense in this house, ma'am," she said. "Suspense? What do you mean?" asked her employer. "It's that sign over my bed that says: 'Watch ye. For ye know not when the master cometh.'"

A famous doctor says to ease the pressure of our furious age we must; talk it out, escape for a while, work off anger, give in occasionally, do something for others, take one thing at a time, shun the superman urge, go easy with criticism, give the other fellow a break and make yourself available. It appears to us it would be much easier and certainly simpler to put up with pressure.

Except for this and that (which we dare not mention), we would be delighted with the state of the world as it is. And who wouldn't?

A little girl wrote the following composition on men: "Men are what women marry. They drink and smoke and swear, but don't go to church much. Perhaps if they wore hats they would go more. They are more logical than women, also more zoological. Both men and women sprung from monkeys, but the women sprang farther than the men."

"It is impossible to overwork," announced a prominent physician. And, come to think of it, we have never been one to try the impossible.

He had a hard time getting permission to have a night out with the boys. But, finally, he prevailed and soon he had joined his cronies at the poker table. As luck would have it, at midnight, the hour he had promised to be home, he was many dollars in the hole—and so played on. Just about daylight he was about even—so bid his friends goodbye and stumbled home. As he was undressing, the sun broke from behind a five-o'clock-cloud and streamed through the room, awakening his wife. She glanced at the clock, then at her husband and said: "Bill, why are you getting up so early?" And to prevent an argument, Bill got dressed, had a too early breakfast he fixed himself, and then completed the day at the office walking about in his sleep. And we are told that this is a true story.

Her lips quivered as they approached his. His whole frame trembled as he looked into her eyes. His chin vibrated and his body shuddered as he held her close to him. Moral: Never kiss a girl in a hot-rod with the motor running.

A minister was asked to hold services in a sanitarium one Sunday afternoon. Being in the habit of starting his sermons with the words: "Why are we all here?" he continued this practice this special afternoon. Warm up to his sermon, he repeated: "Why are we all here, why are we all here?" As he paused for effect, he heard a small voice from the center of his audience remark: "We're all here because we're not all there."

The poor fellow had been through a terrible accident. After he came to in the operating room, he found himself in a cast from head to toe, both his arms well bandaged and his head so thoroughly encased that only his eyes and nose were visible. Finally, as he realized his condition, he asked the doctor standing near his bed: "Doctor, how long do you think it will take me to recover from this accident?" The doctor thought a moment, then asked: "Physically or financially?"

What a shame our teen-agers have to go overboard for this rock-and-roll nonsense, instead of turning to something sedate and dignified like the Charleston of the Bunny Hug.

Dec. 9 Set As Election Date On Wet-Dry Issue

Petition Filed Contains More Than Required 1,100 Legal Names

Probate Judge Herman K. Longshore announced late Wednesday that the signatures on the petition filed Saturday by the Lauderdale County League for Legal Control of Alcoholic Beverages for an expression on the wet-dry issue have been checked and it is found that more than the required 1,100 legal voters are affixed. Therefore, as provided by law that an election be held not less than 30 days nor more than 45 days following the filing of a proper petition, the date of Tuesday, December 9, has been set for such an election.

The petition as filed contained more than 2,200 names, many of them duplicates, as more than one copy of the petition were circulated. The names were checked Tuesday and Wednesday for their legality and it was ascertained that the petition was in order and legally presented. The election proclamation was then ordered according to law.

Under terms of a local act passed through the Alabama Legislature by Representatives Robert H. Broadfoot and E. B. Haltom, Jr., should Lauderdale County vote wet there can only be state liquor stores and package sales of beer within the police jurisdiction of the county's four incorporated towns, Florence, Waterloo, Killen and Rogersville.

A summary of the Act is as follows:

1. The act shall apply only to counties having a population of not less than 53,000 nor more than 56,000 inhabitants.
2. It shall be unlawful for any person, firm, or corporation to sell or offer for sale any spirituous, vinous, or malt or brewed beverages except within the corporate limits or police jurisdiction of an incorporated municipality.
3. There shall be no sales except for consumption off the premises of the vendor.
4. It shall be unlawful to locate or sell in any establishment located within one mile of the boundary of the campus or grounds of any college or other institution of higher learning or of any elementary institution in any county, unless such establishment is located within one thousand yards of the courthouse of such county.
5. Any person, firm, or corporation who violates any provision of the Act shall be guilty of a misdemeanor, and upon conviction shall be punished as prescribed by law.

The Act was approved September 23, 1957.

Joseph was able to get back to land by himself, but Raoul could not. William made several attempts to go out on the thin ice to get his brother. He jumped into the icy water and swam to his brother and pulled him safely to shore. Upon hearing of the incident the Advancement Committee under Mr. Julius Fleming made a complete investigation of the accident and at the conclusion, they made application to the National Court of Honor for this award. Col. Thurston P. Paul, Deputy Commander, Redstone Arsenal, will make the presentation. Monumental Park Favored As Site For Coliseum

Final Approval Expected Today Following Meeting Of Agricultural Board

Possible sites for the Lauderdale County agricultural coliseum that is to be constructed here with the aid of a $50,000 allocation by the Agricultural Center Board, previously announced in this newspaper, were viewed and appraised Wednesday morning by A. W. Todd, Commissioner of Agriculture and Industries; W. A. Morrow, Birmingham; J. B. Scarbrough, Gadsden; A. L. Dees, state coliseum program director; Probate Judge Herman K. Longshore and Mayor E. F. Martin. The county has pledged a matching $50,000.

Sites at North Alabama State Fairgrounds and Monumental Park were given close inspection and viewed with the various possibilities of service to the area in mind. The City of Florence, which participate in the program, offered the city-owned property at Monumental Park as a part of its appropriation for the coliseum, as did the officers and directors of the North Alabama State Fair Association. The delegation, it was reported, favored the Monumental Park site for a number of stated reasons but made no decision pending a meeting of the entire board today. A formal announcement of the site approved is expected today from Judge Longshore's office.

The $50,000 appropriation by the state had been offered to Colbert County but was turned down. When offered to Lauderdale County, it was accepted. Tentative plans call for a structure that will eventually seat 5,000 and be available for all types of exhibitions and entertainments.

Marvin Price In Suicide Attempt

Officers, Minister Talk Despondent Man Out Of Jump From Bridge

Marvin Price was twice talked out of suicide Tuesday when he climbed on the O'Neal bridge and threatened to jump into the river. Thousands of persons were attracted to the scene, the first time occurring around 3 o'clock in the afternoon.

At this time, Price said to be in a fit of despondency, shouted to officers who rushed to the scene, that he wanted to "end it all," and "I am going to jump." Chief of Police Noah Danley and Detective Captain James Carter finally coaxed him from his perch near the cross beams of the bridge and took him home. They told him previously that he would not be arrested and offered to get a doctor if he needed one.

However about an hour and a quarter later Price was back on the bridge and officers again rushed to the scene, this time assisted by Lamar Plunkett, minister of the Pine Street Church of Christ, and Capt. James Thomas, in their pleas for him to come down. The Fire Department's rescue truck was also on the scene in the event Price should jump.

Price remained high up on the bridge's super-structure until around 6:35 when he again came down and officers sent him home with Mr. Plunkett, who was largely responsible for the man changing his mind the second time. He said Price was despondent and needed steady employment or get his mind off his problems. He said Price had previously had a drinking problem but had appeared lately to have overcome this.

Baby Planet Is Planned By Redstone Scientists

Space Rocket Would Be Pulled Into Sun's Orbit And Would Never Return

A baby planet has been planned by the Army's Redstone scientists, and will be shot into space soon to create a man-made planet. The rocket, according to Dr. Werner Von Braun, "would never come back."

The reason for this, the German-born scientist stated, was that it would escape the earth's gravity pull due to its terrific speed and fall into the gravitational pull of the Sun where it would enter an orbit much like the earth, Mars and Jupiter all of which revolve about the sun.

The first attempt, it was stated, would be made in the first week of December. The Air Force has launched three of these space probes, one soaring 79,000 miles of the 239,000 miles to the moon in October before the earth's gravity tugged it back into the atmosphere where it was destroyed.

The Army, it was disclosed, plans to shoot a thirty pound rocket at such speed it will pass within 10 to 50 thousand miles of the moon. It will weigh fifteen pounds and carry 15 pounds of radio equipment. It will soar millions of miles beyond the earth and the moon until the sun's gravity pulls it into an orbit, the scientist stated.

Some of the details of the Army's moon-probe plan were made public at a symposium sponsored by the Air Force's School of Aviation Medicine at San Antonio, Texas, Tuesday. The Army's plan was described as less difficult than the Air Force's which more or less was designed to swing its rockets around the moon once or give them a steady orbit around or near the moon and then back again.

Berlin Blockade Threatened By Soviets Engenders New Trouble

Construction Bids For Hospital Set For December 11

Date Moved Up Week Because Of Conflict With Redstone Bid

Specifications and blueprints for the $1,500,000 expansion program of Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital Florence, were mailed to 56 leading contractors of the South this week by Northington, Smith and Kranert, architects, for bids, members of the Board of Governors of the hospital were advised at their monthly meeting Tuesday noon. Bids will be opened at the municipal building auditorium Thursday, December 11. The date set by the board previous was December 4 but because of bids being accepted on that same date for $2,000,000 construction at Redstone Arsenal making it necessary that many of these same contractors be present, the date was moved up one week for acceptance of bids for the local construction.

Allen M. Northington, who gave the board a run-down on the final plans as approved by both the board and the state health department, stated that he felt that from 12 to 14 firm bids would be received and that those invited to submit bids are the top contractors of this area.

It was explained by R. C. Barnes, administrator, that the rating of the hospital would be increased from its present 111 bed rating to a minimum of 190 beds, and possibly more, when the remodeling of present facilities is included. It was pointed out that the completed hospital would be the most modern in the state with the finest equipment available.

Dr. M. M. Jackson, president of the hospital staff, and Mr. Northington were guests of the board at luncheon held at Mitchell-Hollingsworth Annex.

Co-Op Acclaims 1958 Cotton Crop

County Yield Rated High—State Goes Over Oct. Forecast

Word received from the Lauderdale County Co-Op reveals that that this years cotton crop with 90 percent picked produced one of the highest and best grade yields per acre ever. With only about 10 percent of the cotton left in the fields, barring bad weather, this should hold true for the remainder of the year.

The excellent crop this year was attributed to good weather and the late planting of the cotton.

County Agent Wagon, also, recommended that wheat be planted at this time for best results, the ground being cool after the summer heat.

Alabama Cotton Report

A 1958 cotton crop of 450,000 bales is forecast for Alabama based on November 1 reports from growers and ginneries. This is 15,000 bales above the forecast last month and compares with 530,000 produced in 1957 and the 1947-1958 average production of 884,000 bales. Yield per acre for the state, indicated at 397 pounds, is significantly better than last year and the ten-year average. However, the prospective 1958 yield is still well below the record 1955 yield of 478 pounds of lint cotton per acre. Acreage harvested in 1958 will be the smallest of record for Alabama due largely to participation in the Soil Bank program.

The month of October was ideal for picking over the entire State. Harvest is now virtually complete in southern and central counties, and the bulk of the crop has been picked in northern counties, despite a late start. Grades have been good in contrast to the rain damaged 1957 crop.

The Bureau of the Census reported 384,007 bales ginned prior to November 1 this year, as compared to 459,110 bales to the same date last year.

COUNTY SCHOOLS TO OPEN THIRTY MINUTES EARLIER

Lauderdale County's rural schools will begin opening for the day's session 30 minutes later—or at 8:30 a.m.—beginning Monday, November 17. The schools will remain in session until 3:30 p. m. instead of 3:00 a.m. as at present.

The change in opening and closing hours is in line with regular procedure followed throughout the years. Allen Thornton, superintendent, announced. All buses will arrive 30 minutes later than now to pick up the children.

Russians Said Trying Increase World Tension

The free world appeared puzzled this week over the Soviets' newest threat to the peace of the world when Nikita Khrushchev indulged in saber rattling in Germany for a change. This time indicating that four-power rule in Berlin should be ended.

Ten years ago the Russians were forced to give in when the Allies started and successfully inaugurated an airlift. Today the old issue of Russia's interference with transport and communications between West Berlin and West Germany has reared its ugly head and experts agree it could spell real trouble.

As long as the Russians talk about blockading Berlin they aver, things will rock along without too much change, but if they interfere with Western Control over West Berlin or transport and communications between West Berlin and West Germany there will be real trouble.

Russia's attitude as to the status of West Berlin was made public when Khrushchev spoke at the Russian-Polish friendship rally in Moscow Monday. He said then that four-power rule in Berlin should be ended. He said the agreements under which the West has unhindered transport and communications rights between West Germany and West Berlin are obsolete and the Communists should free themselves of them.

He said Russia would consider any attack on East Germany as an attack on the Soviet Union. This was considered one of the most menacing statements made by the Soviet leader and if Khrushchev is serious it follows there will be a formal denunciation of four-power rule in West Berlin and that East Germans will interfere with transport, both surface and air, into West Germany. Further, Khrushchev said, if the West interfered with such a blockade it would be considered an act of war.

It is felt that Khrushchev knows the full importance of his words, meaning that such action could mean World War III, but it is felt in the light of past performances, that the Soviet leader might be using such tactics to increase world tension.

It is known that internally Russia is preparing for a widespread "crackdown" on malcontents both inside Russia as well as in her satellites. Any increase in world tension would help speed up such a "crackdown," it was stated.

In reply to Khrushchev the West let it be known that any Communist interference in Berlin will be met with the same firmness as that shown at Quemoy. The State Department has bluntly rejected the Soviet leader's proposal, a spokesman quoting recent U. S. statements of U. S. readiness to fight for West Berlin.

County Agent L. O. Wagon was a guest of the club and explained the purpose of Farm Week, which occurs this month. He stated that this year the event is being observed throughout the U. S. and Canada and an effort to catch up urban people the great advances made on the farm in home life and operation were being stressed.

What Is Our Stake In Politics?

What is our stake in politics? The answer is our future, the future of our children and our children's children. It's that important.

"Why party politics?" some ask. It appears so silly and undignified. Why not do the job with a non-partisan study group to make our decisions from the standpoint of the merit of the candidates regardless of their party affiliation? Can't we just dispense with political parties?

The answer so far is, "No." Two major parties operate the government. The government will not be any better than the parties themselves. The parties are not simply campaign organizations. They have many functions, not the least of which is promulgating party issues. Party platforms have a way of becoming law and most laws passed at each session of Congress reflect much of the party-in-power's philosophy.

This country faces a number of crossroads decisions and they are important to every man, woman and child in America regardless of party. Will the federal government continue to grow at the expense of state governments? What will be done to meet the crisis in education? How much further can the public debt go before national bankruptcy? What will be done to stop the squabbling in high places that appears to be jeopardizing the nation's defense? How will the government continue to meet its ever expanding needs?

These problems are not likely to be settled directly at the polls but in party caucuses. The two major parties, competing for power, will make up their minds what stand to take and then will try to sell their stand to the people. It is up to the people to choose what they think is the best for the country. They can do this at the polls. If they are not sufficiently interested then certain groups are liable to apply pressure and such groups may take over roles in government far out of proportion to the number of citizens whose interests they represent.

The U. S. News and World Report says organized labor now feels sure of the support of 177 members of the House and 35 members of the Senate when the cards are down on major issues. It is possible that since the November elections they have a friendly majority in both houses of Congress.

Labor leaders achieved this political success by a way that is open to all citizens. They exercised not only the privilege of voting but by active participation in partisan politics at every level, proving that participation in group work counts far more than simply marching to the polls to discharge a more or less monotonous duty.

"Business men," says Walter F. Patenge, writing in Kiwanis Magazine, "are among the many groups entitled to representation. Yet, today, they find that politics at all levels is producing more and more restrictive and punitive legislation directed at them and interfering therefore with the functioning of the economy upon which all America depends."

"The only way to reverse this trend for the good of business and for the good of everyone else, is for businessmen to get into politics. The first step? Let each businessman find out when his party holds its next meeting—and be there."

A Threat To Our Survival

On August 23, last, the Conference of State Chief Justices by an overwhelming vote of 36 to 8, approved a report attacking the "Earl Warren" Supreme Court, as the New York Sunday News puts it, "in language about as strong as lawyers ever permit themselves to put on paper."

Continues the Sunday News: "The Warren Court," said the justices of the supreme courts of 3/4 of the states, "has taken to invading the territory of Congress and making laws on its own instead of leaving that job to the Senate and the House, whose business under the constitution is to make ALL FEDERAL LAWS."

This was a tough indictment of the nation's high tribunal because it came from experienced judges of other courts and not from someone incompetent to criticize. "The Supreme Court," continues Sunday News, "has been tried by a qualified jury of its peers (if not its superiors) in legal learning and judicial experience, and has been found wanting. Its persistent invasions of Congress' lawmaking territory are a threat to the very survival of this country as a republic. That is how serious the situation is, and how menacing to the traditional rights and privileges of all of us."

The two men most responsible for killing curb-the-Warren-Court measures which came very close to passing in the last Congress were, of all people, Senate Majority Leader Lyndon Johnson and Speaker Sam Rayburn, both Texas Democrats.

The 1958 report of the American Bar Association's Special Committee on Communist Tactics, Strategy and Tactics summarizing the Warren Court's 20 worst pro-Communist decisions in addition to showing how the criminal conspiracy operates throughout the free nations of the world may be purchased for 10c per copy (to cover cost of production and mailing) from America's Future, Inc., 542 Main St., New Rochelle, N. 'The Matchmaker' Ends Tonight

The final performance of the current Rehearsal Club production, Thornton Wilder's "The Matchmaker," is scheduled for tonight at 8:00 in Kilby Auditorium. This play is a rewritten version of "The Merchant of Yonkers" which was directed in 1938 by Max Reinhardt.

The play is a comedy in four acts set in the early eighties. The plot revolves around a merchant who is rich and employs a matchmaker to find him a wife. She involves in her farce various young people who are eager to live dangerously for a little while and finds some adventure. The play moves with a swift pace from a tangled web of complications into a hilarious climax. The play is rowdy, gay, and romantic.

For anybody looking for adventure, go see "The Matchmaker."

In The Week's News

Five of the six members of the Little Rock School Board threatened to resign today as the U. S. Eighth Circuit Court of Appeals in St. Louis directed the board to integrate the school district. Wayne Upton, president of the board, said there was a possibility the board would pass on the integration problem to a new board. The St. Louis court also made permanent an injunction that prohibited the School Board from leasing the four high schools closed by Gov. Orval Faubus last Sept. 15 to a corporation for operation on a private, segregated basis.

The third attempt by the Air Force to place a satellite around the moon failed last Saturday. The 52-ton rocket, carrying a top-shaped moon satellite, roared off to a beautiful start at 2:30 a.m. but the flight ended less than 45 minutes and 1,000 miles later when the third main stage rocket failed to ignite. This was far short of the 200,000-mile distant target. This was as of now the final attempt for the Air Force although it is expected that the Army will get the first of its two chances to "shoot the moon" about Dec. 5.

A jury of 12 white men convicted John Kasper Saturday of inciting to riot during Nashville school integration disorders there last fall. His sentence was set at six months in the workhouse and a $500 fine.

The United States announced today that Russia has fired two nuclear weapons tests since this country halted testing. President Eisenhower said, however, that the American suspension will continue for the time being. At the same time he warned, "If there is not shortly a corresponding renunciation by the Soviet Union (of testing), the United States will be obliged to reconsider its position."

An Air Force C-45 cargo plane enroute from Orlando, Fla., to Maxwell Air Force Base attempted an instrument landing at Muscle Shoals Airport around midnight Wednesday and crashed onto Southern Railway property 1.5 miles west of Town Creek city limits in Lawrence County. Of the four crew members aboard one was killed and the other three were injured. Police in Town Creek said during the attempted approach the left wing of the plane clipped the top of several trees, cut off two utility poles and wreckage was strewn for some distance.

Lions Will Host Tennessee Tech

Saturday Night Will See Last Home Game Of The 1958 Grid Season

After suffering two losses in a row, the Florence State College Lions are in the midst of preparations for their final home game of the 1958 season in which they play host to Tennessee Tech Saturday night.

The Lions were caught on the short end of a 20-0 mark in Coffee Stadium last Saturday night as the invading McNeese State Cowboys laid their brand on the Florentines. The loss put Florence's record at three wins against four setbacks.

Tennessee Tech, the conqueror of mighty Chattanooga, holds five victories against three defeats. In their last three outings, the Golden Eagles have topped opponents by a one-point margin each time.

Starting the season with losses to Florida State and Memphis State, 7-22 and 0-13 respectively, Tech bounced back for a 22-7 conquest of Morehead and fell the following week 14-25 to powerful East Tennessee.

The Eagles have taken Western Kentucky 7-3, Murray State 14-14, Chattanooga 13-12, and Eastern Kentucky 20-19 since the East Tennessee defeat.

The Tech record speaks for itself with the outstanding victory coming over Chattanooga two weeks ago and the Mocs going on to defeat the University of Tennessee 14-6 last week.

Florence again found that their offense would move between the 20-yard lines last week as they rolled up 172 yards rushing to 168 for their opponent. A fumble halted one FSC drive on the McNeese 27 and another gave the visitors the ball on the Lion 31 to set up a touchdown.

This week the FSC's are working overtime as they try to make a last-ditch comeback. Tennessee Tech and Austin Peay remain on the Florence schedule and still give the Lions hope for a winning year.

Little Singers Warm Audience

Capacity House Hears Memorable Program By Children's Choir

The Little Singers of Paris were presented at Coffee Auditorium, Monday night, by the Muscle Shoals Concert Association to a capacity house.

The little boys, who predominate in the group (there were a few older boys and men to supply the deeper notes), are excellent singers. Indeed, the Little Singers have the range, flexibility and expressiveness of a fine organ. The voices ranged from cello-like to flute-like and they blended wonderfully; several of the pieces ended in beautifully complex, deeply moving, chords.

The Right Rev. Msgr. Fernand Maillet, their director, was obviously a fine musician. He conducted with a wealth of expression in his face and hands, and with great attention to detail. He also displayed much charm and humor in his occasional remarks to the audience.

As a symbol of the historic friendship between our two countries, the Little Singers appropriately closed the concert with the singing of "The Star Spangled Banner" and "La Marseillaise."

James Lafayette Lewis Takes Bride In Mobile

Of interest in Florence where the bridegroom's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell A. Lewis, have made their home for the past several years, was the marriage on Saturday evening, November eighth, of Nita Faye Maddox and James Lafayette Lewis.

The exchange of vows took place in Dauphin Way Baptist Church in Mobile at half past seven o'clock, Dr. Harold W. Seever officiating. A reception in the church social hall followed the ceremony with Mrs. Nash Vaccaro, mother of the bride, and Mr. Vaccaro, of Tampa, as hosts.

Nuptial selections were presented by Milton Yeager of Mobile, organist.

Basket arrangements of white chrysanthemums were interspersed with fern and wedding tapers burned in branched candelabra to mark the altar setting where George R. Larson gave his sister-in-law in marriage. Her bridal gown was of Chantilly lace and silk tulle over taffeta. Lace scalloped outlines the deep-squared neckline of the bodice and long sleeves tapered to the wrists. Scattered appliques of matching lace complemented the voluminous tulle overskirt which swept to a chapel train and a Juliet cap of lace held her circular veil of silk illusion. Her bouquet was of white carnations and stephanotis.

Attending the bride were Miss Mary Garrett of Center, maid of honor, Miss Penny Dunn of Tampa and Miss Kay Durant of Mobile. Their wait-length sheath frocks of dawn blue lace were designed with high sabrina necklines and draped taffeta accented the Empire waists. Sculptured Juliet caps of matching lace and bouquets of blue and white carnations completed their attire.

Flower girl Nancy Ann Fulmer of Mobile wore blue tissue taffeta and scattered rose petals from a basket.

James Fulmer of Baton Rouge, Louisiana, attended the bridegroom as best man and ushers were his brother, Russell A. Lewis, Jr., of Atlanta and Earle Darby, Jr., of Florence.

Before leaving for a honeymoon in New Orleans and points in Louisiana and Texas the bride changed to a tweed suit of grey and white wool with black velvet collar. She wore black accessories and at her shoulder she pinned white rosebuds.

Mr. and Mrs. Lewis will be at home at 3549 Bellaire Drive North, Fort Worth 9, Texas.

Mrs. Porter Hostess Thursday Study Club

Mrs. Elmer Russell gave the program at last week's meeting of Thursday Study Club, entertaining her listeners with a review of Evelyn Anthony's "Victorian Albert," a portrait of Queen Victoria and her consort in which the author skillfully reconstructs the fascinating intimacy of her subjects' twenty-one years of married life. Mrs. Hugh Porter greeted her guests at the Town Club including, in addition to club members, Mrs. Cecelia Wilson, Mrs. Charles Rasch and Mrs. Jack Scarbrough. She was assisted at tea by Mrs. Ralph Smith and Mrs. Ernest Henley.

Barbara Gail Richey Weds In Church Setting

Marked by an evening ceremony in Central Baptist Church, Barbara Gail Richey became the bride of James Thomas Butler, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Aubrey Butler of Florence, on Thursday, November sixth. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Dewey Richey, also of Florence.

The Reverend Markie Butler, minister of the church, officiated at the eight o'clock service before an altar background of Boston ferns with basket arrangements of white gladioli and white asters interspersed with branched candelabra of lighted tapers. Nuptial selections were by James Burt Webb, organist, and Roy Isbell, vocalist.

Mr. Richey gave his daughter in marriage. Her floor-length gown of Chantilly lace over ivory satin was designed with scalloped bateau neckline re-embroidered with sequins and pearls and long sleeves which tapered to points before the hands. Her only ornament was a pearl and topaz lavalier belonging to her mother. A jeweled tiara held her fingertip veil of illusion and with her bride's Bible she carried a yellow-throated orchid showered with stephanotis.

Serving her sister as honor attendant was Mrs. Clyde Martin of Senatobia, Mississippi, and bridesmaids were Miss Gloria Dean Richey, cousin of the bride, and Miss Mary Jean Tipton. Their broad-clothed satin frocks of Autumn gold were detailed with scooped necklines, three-quarter sleeves and pleated cummerbunds and their flowers were cascade bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

Flower girls Cynthia Elaine Richey and Deborah Gail Martin, nieces of the bride, wore gold tulle and net and scattered tiny white chrysanthemums from the baskets which they carried.

Franklin Watkins served the bridegroom as best man and ushers were James Triplett and Robert Sharp.

Upon leaving after the ceremony for a honeymoon on the coast, the bride was wearing a two-piece dress of sheer blue wool with black suede accessories. Her corsage was the orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. and Mrs. Butler will return to Florence to make their home at 808 Nellie Avenue.

The announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Edmond M. Cobb, 635 North Cherry Street, parents of the bride.

COLLEGE GROUP JOINS IN SPONSORING FILM FEATURE

The Wesley Fellowship Group of Florence State College has joined the Woman's Society of Christian Service and the two Wesleyan Service Guilds of the Florence First Methodist Church in sponsoring the advance sale of tickets to the feature length film, "Albert Schweitzer," according to Miss Annette Gibbs of Hanceville, President of the Fellowship.

The feature, to be played at the Cinema Theatre in Florence on November 16-18, is a color film biography of the world-renowned "jungle doctor," musician, preacher, writer and Nobel Peace Prize winner, who is often called "the greatest man alive."

Mrs. Harry Nash and Mrs. Judson Sandlin are co-chairmen of the advance ticket sale. "Members of the circles, guilds and Wesley Fellowship have tickets for sale," they said, "and, in addition, either of us will be glad to provide information to anyone interested in securing advance tickets to this great film biography."

Leo Views the College Campus

By Dottie McRae

By the time this paper comes out, or by the time it gets to you I will be in Chicago—I think I'm going to have two whole days of classes to make up when I get back and a lot of fun while I'm there.

Students from all over the country will be at the Conrad Hilton to discuss problems and techniques peculiar to the collegiate press. At least that's the impression I got—I've never been to the ACF conference. There'll be some free time for sight-seeing or shopping of whatever, and there'll be a luncheon Saturday at which cartoonist Al Capp will speak—and that's about all I know.

Religious Emphasis Week is next week. The steering committee, under the joint chairmanship of Dr. W. T. McElheny and Jean Gardner, Sheffield, has worked long and hard with the various committees to iron out all the wrinkles.

Co-chairmen of the various faculty-student committees are Hospitality—Mrs. George Maness and Mary Ann Holt; Florence publicity—Mr. Otis L. Peacock and Dwight Coffey, Decatur; class visits—Mr. Billy O. Martin and Annette Gibbs, Hanceville; convocations—Miss Gladys Shepard and Jimmy Moore, Sheffield; seminars—Mrs. Floyd Parker and Bill Nelms, Birmingham; vespers—Ann Carol Wade, Hamilton; faculty-staff luncheon, Mrs. Walter B. Jones, and breakfast—Ida Meeker, Stevenson.

Halloween is long gone, but last week I heard that a few enterprising goblins had approached the door of the college infirmary on the night of October 31. Much to their dismay, they were met by a lady in white with a hypodermic in her hand. For some reason they didn't stay to see what kind of treat she might offer.

The Newman Club is sending representatives—Bill Hines, Florence; Alan McRae, Florence, and possibly Henry Lockenby, Florence, and Frank de los Reyes, Holguin, Cuba—to a state meeting at the University of Alabama Sunday.

Unfortunately, I missed the ballgame last Saturday. Aside from the outcome of the game, I think I must have missed the game of the year. The fog was so thick that FSC's sports publicity director, Billy Joe Camp, had to leave the press box and go down to the field in order to see the final minutes of the game. The broadcaster was having a miserable time. So, apparently, was the team.

Most of the companies co-operating in a survey made by the National Institute Conference Board say that their expenditures for research and development in 1958 will equal or exceed 1957 totals.

GREAT MEDICINE

A famous and humane doctor—Dr. Alan Gregg—once gave his ideas on the meaning of "Great Medicine." He said that the best in medicine calls for the use of a group of medical and health specialists to aid the physician in caring for the patient, and that everyone deserves the benefits of Great Medicine when needed.

I like to think that pharmacists are included in the group that Dr. Gregg described and that their skills and the infinite pains they take in filling prescriptions are a part of Great Medicine.

Your pharmacist also acts on the Great Medicine principal of equality in service to all of his customers.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Our Value...

Scientists say that the chemicals in our bodies are worth only a few cents. God says that we belong to the highest order of His creation, made in His own image.

Statistics lose us in a multitude of more than two and a half billion people living in the world today. God tells us that He knows us as individuals. Each of us has a place in His plan. No one else can fill it, because no two people are exactly alike.

Friends say that they love us, but that love sometimes fails. God's love has given us our families, our friends, our possessions, our world, our very lives . . . and He gave us His only Son. It was He who taught us to call the great God of Creation our Father.

The Church of Christ invites us to come, to worship our Heavenly Father, and be forgiven by Him. Then we may reevaluate ourselves as individual children of God, not merely as part of a multitude.

Copyright 1958, Keister Adv. Service, Strasburg, Va.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The bobwhite quail hunting season will open throughout Alabama Nov. 15 rather than Nov. 20 and the wild turkey season will open Nov. 10 rather than Nov. 20, according to regulations issued here today by the Alabama Department of Conservation.

In addition, raccoon and opossum hunters in Washington and

Morgan counties are now permitted to use lights and shotguns, with shot not larger than No. 8, between sunset and daylight.

Robert Folsom, Director of the Conservation Department, said that quail and turkey reproduction were exceptionally good this spring and summer, giving populations which he feels will support five additional days of quail shooting and 10 extra days of turkey hunting.

Need For More Purebred Hogs

Too many people in the purebred hog business are producing registered scrubs. According to G. B. Phillips, API Extension specialist in animal industry, Alabama needs more breeders of purebred hogs, but not more multipliers of registered hogs.

To be a successful swine breeder, Phillips reminds beginners in the business, you must have faith in the breed of your choice. And a good boar is absolutely necessary. Don't get into the purebred business if you are going to start with an ordinary registered boar. The beginner can't afford to let a few dollars keep him from buying a good boar.

You must learn to recognize good hogs. Even a market hog grower must be a keen judge of hogs. Some of a breeder's best-spent time is in visiting other breeders, shows, sales, and fairs where different types of hogs may be seen and studied.

Record keeping is a must. If you raise purebred hogs, certain records, such as breeding and farrowing dates, litters, and their ancestry, are absolutely basic.

Sanitation is a must. You don't have to have expensive buildings and equipment but neat, clean ones are a strong selling point.

If your premises and hog lots are too unsanitary, your prospective customer may not buy anything but he probably won't buy.

And along with other points, Phillips says, feeding and management are just as important to the purebred producers as to the market hog grower. You'll want to keep up with—and follow—latest information and methods that will cut costs and make profits, and you'll want to do rigid culling. Very few herd owners should offer for sale more than about half of their stock for breeding purposes.

Game Preserves Hunters Dream

Would you like to hunt where you won't have to worry about posted signs and where there are plenty of game birds to be hunted? A dream?

Not so, says API Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl F. Kennamer. There are 308 places in America where hunters can follow their favorite hobby in shooting preserves. In fact, continues Kennamer, there are two such hunting preserves in Alabama.

Pen game shooting or private preserve hunting may be a promising enterprise for a man who has 100 to 1000 acres of land and wants to make a little money. And, besides a source of income for the landowner, a hunting preserve gives city hunters a place to hunt and takes pressure off the game we have.

Here's how game preserves work. The owner furnishes the land, the hunting dogs, and game. All the hunter has to take with him are his gun and shells. The owner of the preserve raises or buys game (pheasants in Alabama), turns them loose, and in a few hours the hunters go after them. Because only stocked game is bagged, there is no limit hunting.

Charges vary according to the services offered by the owner. Some preserves operate as resorts, with many attractive features. Others simply provide hunting for a fee, with no frills. Guides and dogs are furnished, but most preserves permit you to use your own dog. Some preserves charge by the number of birds bagged, others by the number released. Some offer membership rates.

The preserve season in the Southeast opened Oct. 1 and will continue through March 31.

Better Future For Dairyman

Alabama dairymen averaged less than 7,000 pounds of milk per cow for all Dairy Herd Improvement Association cows on test last year. Sounds like a lot of milk, doesn't it? But though it indicates progress, it isn't enough to keep every Alabama dairyman in business. "In fact," says API Extension Dairyman John Parrish, "Alabama ranks 45th in the nation in milk production."

Things are looking up though, reports the specialist. State dairymen produced more quality roughage this year than in any year since 1953. Most dairymen have culled herds rigidly, so production per cow should be greater in 1959.

The fact that a dairyman uses records to cull low-producing animals from his herd doesn't prove that he raises the quality. Parrish points out, unless proved sires are used to produce future generations. As we approach our main breeding season, it is important that dairymen study their programs and use the best sires available for future herd replacement.

Parrish also stressed the importance of having some cows calve in August. Markets always need more milk during August, he said, and the cow that calves then will be helping supply milk when needed. The cow will also be in peak production at the beginning of the base period in September. Only 5.5 percent of Alabama dairy cows are on a dairy testing program. "If we can raise the number of cows on test to 10 percent in 1959," says Parrish, "we feel that it will be one of the best things we can do to help Alabama dairymen produce more milk."

STANDARD OIL

WHERE YOU STOP WITH

Confidence...

...in gasolines that are first in performance

From long experience, Southern motorists expect Standard Oil to be first with the best, and Standard Oil dealers to supply them with gasolines that are constantly improved. That Standard Oil gasolines fulfill these expectations is evidenced by the fact that they are bought by more motorists than any other brand in the area served by Standard Oil dealers.

To further justify this continued confidence, the quality of all three of our popular gasolines has again been improved, to assure you a new high in performance, whichever you use.

Your confidence in us is reflected by our confidence in the future of the South. During 1957, our expenditures in Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Kentucky and Mississippi, for additional real estate, buildings and facilities, enlargement, repair and maintenance of, present plants and equipment, and all expenses of operation, including payrolls, licenses and taxes (excluding Federal income taxes)—amounted to over $50,000,000.

Our future is the future of the South. We never lose sight of this fact in making plans and expenditures.
