Grand Jury Asks New Courthouse, Jail Construction

Recommends Changing From Fee To Salary System For Officials

In a lengthy report which cited 143 indictments returned, the Lauderdale County grand jury which reported last Thursday called for construction of a new jail and courthouse as speedily as possible. The jurors pointed out that they have authority to return indictments against persons responsible unless the county jail is sufficient for safe keeping of prisoners, their accommodation and health and other essentials.

"We feel," the report from the grand jury stated, "in view of the present financial condition of Lauderdale County that the construction of a new jail and courthouse should be commenced as speedily as possible."

Another recommendation contained in the report urged that all county officials now serving under the fee system be placed on salaries, effective at the expiration of the terms for which they are nominated or elected. Salaries of members of the Court of Commissioners should be reduced, the report added.

Creation of a county penal farm or work camp was advised by the jurors who criticized the law that requires persons sentenced to hard labor for the county for less than a year be confined to the jail.

U. S. Judge John Paul's ruling that school teachers paid out of public funds cannot be used in segregated emergency schooling at both Charlottesville and Fort Royal, Va., went into effect Wednesday adding another legal blow to the South's segregation forces. Makeshift programs set up at Charlottesville to accommodate most of the 1,700 displaced white pupils in that city were severely jolted by the ruling. Other similar programs had not gone into operation when Judge Paul's ruling came.

The Civil Aeronautics Board Tuesday authorized the nation's airlines to boost fares including the cost of round trip tickets and family plan fares. The lines can put the fares into effect at any time after midnight Sunday by filing a proposal with the CAB. All increases will expire on July 31 of next year, it was stated.

Secretary of State Dulles Tuesday accused Red China of propaganda and subversive activity under cover of its Formosa Strait cease-fire, to drive a wedge between the U. S. and Nationalist China. The main theme constantly reiterated is that Americans must abandon Formosa and go home, Dulles said.

The nine-day mourning period for the late Pope Pius XII who was buried Monday in the grotto beneath St. Peter's, will end Sunday, at which time the cardinals will receive special envoys of foreign countries paying respects to the late Pope. A new pope will be elected on Oct. 25.

Schools' Deficit Cut To $29,703

Deficiency Proves Less Than Originally Thought By Education Board

Lauderdale County's public school system ended the fiscal year in better shape than he and members of the Board of Education at first thought, Supt. Allen Thornton revealed today.

What was expected to be a deficit of $47,180 was reduced in a final audit of school funds to $29,703, Thornton said.

The deficit resulted, said the superintendent, when the funds in state's minimum program originally allocated to Lauderdale County were cut by 7.81 per cent, or $72,911.

And the cut came, he pointed out, after the end of the last school term in May 1958.

He stressed that schools in Lauderdale County will have to operate on a curtailed basis during the 1958-59 term with regard to instructional supplies, maintenance and operational expenses since teachers' salaries and transportation costs must be met and the $29,703 deficit will have to be paid out of current income.

Supt. Thornton called on school personnel and parents "to recognize the condition of the schools and be as cooperative as possible so that we will be able to absorb the deficiency of $29,703 caused by the prorotation of the 1957-58 school fund and operate a nine months' term without showing a deficit at the end of the 1958-59 term."

Direct Protest Will Be Lodged By Army Chiefs

Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, chief of the Army's ballistic missile research team of 110 German scientists at Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville, was said to have been on the way to Washington Wednesday to protest the proposal that the Army surrender its major missile scientists and facilities to the new civilian space agency.

Defense Department officials who were not identified by their own request, said that the proposal was made by Dr. Keith Glennan of the national aeronautics and space administration to Army Secretary Wilbur Brucker. Also affected by the proposal that involves a total of 2100 scientists, is the entire personnel and facilities of the Army's jet propulsion laboratory at Los Angeles.

When asked for comment Brucker said: "Anything might say at this time would be wrong." Army spokesmen indicated they would have to be "light lipped" about the matter but that the loss of their key scientists, including German-born Werner Von Braun would be keenly felt.

Immediate reaction when the proposal was made public was that a great number of leaders in the long-range missile group at Redstone Arsenal might balk at such a transfer and choose jobs in private industry at greatly increased salaries.

It was also feared that President Eisenhower's new agency would not have the funds necessary to carry out research development at the same level on which the missile team is now working. The consensus was that a civilian space agency such as NASA would be continually involved in a fight for funds to the extent its research program would lag. Under a military such as prevails at Redstone more money would normally be available and development projects with primarily military applications might also be adapted to the space research program.

The Von Braun team has proved its ability to handle assignments of both military and scientific import, it was pointed out.

The Jupiter IRBM missile, the nation's most accurate and successful IRBM, and which has been used to launch three earth satellites, used hardware that was developed as a part of the military program.

A comment from Dr. Ernest Stuhlinger of the Redstone team attempting to typify the reaction of the missile experts working there. He said, "If the team were split up in this way it would have the consequence that many of us—that is—key people would lose interest in staying with either of the two halves and would accept positions at some other place. Stuhlinger is director of the Army Ballistic Missile Agency's research projects laboratory at Redstone.

Final Word Pending
President Eisenhower said Wednesday that he has yet to make a final decision on what missile facilities will be transferred to the new national space agency.

Former Resident Killed In Wreck

A former Florence resident, Mrs. Rayford E. Kyles, was killed in an automobile accident in Richmond, Va., Wednesday morning as she was driving her children to school.

Mrs. Kyles is the former Martha Wilson, daughter of Mrs. Leatrice Wilson of Florence, and a sister of Mrs. Lyman Mitchell, also of Florence.

Mrs. and Mrs. Kyles have lived in Richmond several years, where he was transferred by Reynolds Metals Co. from its Listerhill plant. In addition to the husband, mother and sister, two children, Rayford, Jr., 12, and James, 6, survive Mrs. Kyles. It was learned here that James was a passenger in the car with his mother and received serious injuries.

Funeral arrangements were incomplete late Wednesday.

Dr. Henry W. Cheney returned Monday from a six-weeks' visit to his daughter, Mrs. Robert W. Swett, in Smoke Rise, N. J., and to his son, Henry Cheney, Jr., and Mrs. Cheney, Raleigh, N. C.

Synagogue In Atlanta Bombed By Agitators

Mayor Of City Thinks Dynamiting In South Internationally Inspired

BULLETIN

A fifth arrest has been made in connection with the bombing of a Jewish Synagogue in Atlanta and police now say they believe they hold the key that will unlock the mystery of south-wide bombings by a secret ring of anti-Jewish fanatics. Detective found pencil drawings of a Nazi swastika and anti-Semitic literature in one of the suspect's homes. Rewards for the dynamiters have climbed to $15,000.

A dynamite blast ripped a large hole in the wall of an Atlanta Jewish Temple, damaging the structure to the extent of $200,000. The tremendous explosion set off early on Sunday morning shook the fashionable Peachtree Road section of the city and was the fourth southern city in which Jewish worship centers have been dynamited this year. Others were in Miami, Jacksonville and Nashville. It followed by one week the blasting of the high school in Clinton, Tennessee.

Laboratory and technical facilities of the FBI have been offered the city of Atlanta in tracking down the criminals responsible for the act.

N. R. Johnson of the FBI in Atlanta said, "we are actively assisting the Atlanta police department in their investigation of the case and working directly with them."

The explosion took place at 3:35 a.m. on Sunday and made a hole 15 to 20 feet square at what had been a side entrance to the Temple, home of the Hebrew Benevolent congregation in Atlanta. Police said some 40 or 50 sticks of dynamite were placed outside the heavy wooden door, the blast wrecking the office and study of Rabbi Jacob M. Rothchild, head of the congregation of more than 1,000 families. The auditorium was also badly damaged as were a number of stained glass windows.

In offering $1,000 reward for information leading to the identity of the criminals, Atlanta's Mayor William B. Hartsfield said he believed the dynamiting had "international implications" that it was done by rabble rousers operating on hate. He added it was possible these Southwide dynamitings could be intermingled by people having international reasons. He added the city had been flooded at times with what he called "hate magazines" and other literature.

Hospital Plans Are Step Nearer Final Realization

Plans for enlargement of the Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital are expected to be returned here from Atlanta by U. S. Public Health Service by Oct. 27, members of the hospital's board of governors were told this week.

And if no changes have been ordered by the federal agency, which checks the plans after they are examined by the State Health Department, advertisement for construction bids should begin by Nov. 1.

The plans as prepared by the firm of Northington, Smith & Krantz call for additions to the existing ECM Hospital to cost an estimated $1,500,000.

UNEMPLOYMENT PAYMENTS SHOW SEPTEMBER DROP

Unemployment insurance payments to Alabama's jobless workers during September totaled $3,931,086, Arthur D. Kelly, director of the Department of Industrial Relations, announced today. This total included $1,600,059 paid under the temporary unemployment compensation program which extends duration for workers who have exhausted benefits under the regular program.

The $2,331,027 paid under the regular state unemployment compensation program marked the sixth successive month of decrease.

Coffee Prepping For Homecoming

Athens Golden Eagles Are Friday Night For Yellowjacket '11'

When Coffee High and Athens' Golden Eagles do battle Friday night in the Yellowjackets' annual homecoming game at the stadium, the winner should have wrapped up the Tennessee Valley Conference crown.

MISS BETH McDOWELL

Though both have tough opponents the rest of the way, the lightly-regarded cat season's start, that is) Eagles and Coffee appear to be the two top teams in the loop. Coffee is currently leading the conference with three wins and no losses, while Athens has four wins and a tie in loop play. Neither team has suffered a defeat.

Butler surprised Athens last Friday night by tying the Eagles 7-7, but Athens had 16 first downs to the Rebels 8, 226 yards rushing to Butler's 82 and 291 net yards to Huntsville club's 163. Only in passing did Butler surpass, completing four of 10 while Athens made good on six of 15. Butler's air gain was 81 yards, Athens' 65.

But, since they don't pay off except on the goal line, the Eagles are anticipating a rough evening before a stadium sure to be overflowing. Athens fans are great team followers and Friday night is to be no exception.

Coffee came out of the 19-7 win over Desher without any serious injuries and should be primed for a great homecoming show. At halftime, Miss Beth McDowell, name of Coffee's Homecoming Queen, will be crowned. Bands from both schools will perform for the crowd.

City Commission Assigns Duties

Members of the Florence Board of Commissioners met in an organizational session Tuesday with E. F. Martin being named ex-officio president and commissioner of public health and safety.

Alvah Hall reassumed the duties of commissioner of finance and utilities and George Green, elected last month, was named commissioner of streets, parks and public improvements.

The First National Bank of Florence was designated the city's depository.

Stanley Rosenbaum, member of the Muscle Shoals Regional Library, requested that the city increase its appropriation for the library by $600 annually—to $10,600. The county has already granted the request for an additional $600, making its support of the library $10,600 per year.

Fertilizer Industry Expansion Is Seen

TVA Forecasts Increased Use In Coming Decade As Program Developed

The fertilizer industry has seen a period of rapid growth in the past 25 years and use of fertilizer will continue to increase during the next decade, TVA says in booklet, "Fertilizer Trends," showing statistically some of the principal trends in the industry. The booklet, a revision of an earlier publication, was published today.

As part of its unified resource development program, TVA undertakes research and experimental production of fertilizers at its Fertilizer-Munitions Development Center, Muscle Shoals. It also carries on a broad program of fertilizer use education, in cooperation with agricultural colleges and industry, which extends into 31 states. The new booklet is a compilation of statistics from government agencies and other sources, as well as TVA, used in the administration of the fertilizer program.

"During the past 25 years the fertilizer industry has seen a period of rapid change—a period of vast expansion of the old established companies and the entry of many new companies," the booklet states.

"Since World War II fertilizer consumption in the United States has more than doubled—from 2.6 million tons of plant nutrients in 1945 to over 6.2 million tons in 1957 and an estimated 6.4 million tons in 1958. Some geographic areas are only now beginning extensive use of fertilizers. Trends in population growth and total fertilizer consumption over the past 25 years would suggest a national market in the early 1970's of exceeding 10 million tons of plant nutrients used to grow the foods and fibers for the growing population of the country.

"Although relatively large proportions of some crops are now fertilized, in many cases they are fertilized at rates per acre much lower than the land-grant colleges recommend. As an example, farm-

New Weapons To Fight Cancer

Major breakthroughs may be in the offing in scientists' search for drugs to battle cancer, says Jerry Bishop, staff reporter for the Wall Street Journal.

Mr. Bishop goes on to say:

"The chemical attack against cancer is moving forward on a broad front. Spearheading the push is a massive, Federally-backed program now screening existing chemical compounds and molds (from which antibiotics can be made) at the rate of 50,000 a year to discover any anti-cancer properties they may have. Accompanying this empirical search for new cancer weapons is an accelerated campaign by drug makers and research organizations to develop tailor-made drugs to battle cancer."

It is understood that forty-four new drugs are being tested clinically on cancer patients. This was reported by Dr. John R. Heller, director of The National Cancer Institute, the Government agency at Bethesda, Md. Dr. Heller says that results indicate that scientists are on the "threshold of breakthroughs" in the treatment of cancer with powerful drugs.

However it is pointed out by researchers that thus far no known drug is a cure but may be used to supplement surgery and radiation by selectively seeking out and destroying cancer cells without harming surrounding healthy tissues.

Radiation and surgery, it is emphasized, "are our first line of defense" and recovery depends on the promptness with which cancer is diagnosed and treated.

That this early detection and treatment of cancer is of vital importance is borne out by the following figures. Out of 450,000 new cancer cases diagnosed each year, some 300,000 will not be cured by known methods. About 75,000 of those who die this year could have been saved by earlier or better treatment.

Beware of quack cures or false claims. Only the doctor is competent to determine the presence of cancer.

Time For A UN Police Force

One glaring weakness in the United Nations that has become apparent to the world in recent months is the lack of an effective police force. It is largely because of this that the United States has found itself in the role of a sort of world policeman. This is not good because it puts this nation in a position where it must bear the responsibility of stopping aggression and by the same token endanger the security of the American people.

President Eisenhower and many other world leaders have admitted this weakness but nothing seems to be done about it. The UN does have an emergency force but it is not of sufficient strength to enforce an edict of the United Nations. This emergency force will soon pass out of existence and if no effort is made to bolster the UN with a permanent police force then the UN as a real factor for world peace may well fall as did the League of Nations.

We have seen the need for a strong police action in several parts of the world. The Korean War was called a UN police action but the United States bore the brunt of the entire war both militarily and financially. The ineffectiveness of the UN police action was never better demonstrated than in the Suez crisis and in the current Middle East situation.

It would therefore seem wise to look beyond the present type of UN police force and explore the possibility of establishing a truly international one, that is one recruited directly by the UN instead of being made up of separate national contingents as it is now. Such a force would have a real advantage over one based on national units since it would not be dependent on the various political positions taken by the nations furnishing the soldiers. Its allegiance would be to the UN.

With all the problems that might well be involved in recruiting such a force it seems that it would be well worth the effort. Actually the importance of a UN police force lies in its symbolic value and its organization definitely would lend prestige to the UN itself.

A Suspicion Confirmed

Figures compiled by the Bureau of the Census for the National Association of Travel Organizations confirms something we'd long suspected: That Southerners are the most travel-happy people in the United States.

In the first survey of the nation's travel habits, for which the association footed the bill, the census bureau learned that Southerners took more trips than anybody, leaving home 76 million times in a year as compared with 68 million by residents of the North Central states, 44 million in the Northeast and 42 million in the West. Correlatively, the Bureau of the Census questioners found that the favorite destination of the American traveler was the South, accounting for almost 80 million of the 231 million trips taken last year.

The Southerner has always been a traveler, even when transportation was limited to mule and oxen and roads were almost non-existent. But family ties have always been stronger in the South than elsewhere in the nation, and only a catastrophe could prevent the clans from visiting when crops were laid by or crops were harvested in the fall. And visits in the South in days gone by were no mere week-end affairs, but extended into weeks, months and sometimes years.

Much of the family spirit still exists today among Southerners, who are reputedly more gregarious and hospitable than their fellow-countrymen, so the findings of the census bureau comes as no surprise.

And it is pleasing—and profitable—to find that the South, despite Supreme Court dicta and the presence of federal troops in Little Rock, is the section which other Americans most want to visit.

St. Michael's 4-H Clubs Organize

On Monday morning, the first 4-H meeting of the year was held at St. Michael's School. The new officers elected were: President, Frank Meeker; vice-president, John Joe Peters; secretary, George Locker; reporter, Paul Foster; song leaders, Rudolph Longer and Thomas Largent.

Projects were chosen by the 19 members.

The girls 4-H Club of St. Michael's School held its first meeting Monday. Officers for the new year were elected, and are: President, Patricia Largent; vice-president, Cornelia Rose Mabry; secretary, Barbara Bernauer; reporter, Jean Bueffer; song leaders, Barbara Gruber and Angela Kroger. All members are looking forward to a good year.

The Roman Catholic Church's 261st pontiff, Pius XII, who died Thursday, was reverently laid to rest into the crypts beneath the great basilica of St. Peter as the campanone, the mighty bell of St. Peter's tolled the mournful signal to the Eternal City of Rome. The 82-year-old pope had served for 19 years, death following a series of strokes. Vatican sources said this would not be the final resting place of the pope, final burial being probably in the Grotto of St. Peter whose altar was consecrated by Pius during the Holy Year 1950.

The first U. S. moon try was successful when an Air Force rocket zoomed 79,120 miles into space Saturday or roughly about one-third of the distance to the moon. The instrument-laden craft is said to have sent back much valuable information, especially with regard to the radiation band surrounding the earth. Scientists announced the moon would burn up when it reached the earth's atmosphere Sunday. The Air Force announced another try was being planned in the near future.

The announcement was made by the State Department last Thursday that all U. S. troops will be pulled out of Lebanon by Oct. 31 in view of the progress made toward stable international conditions.

U. S. warships stopped escorting Nationalist convoys carrying supplies to Quemoy Thursday on the fourth day of the Communist "cease fire." It was hoped by Americans on Formosa that the truce could be extended for months although Peiping promised only a three-week let-up.

A new and more rigid voter qualification law has been outlined in Alabama to the State Legislative Council by Rep. W. L. Martin, Jr., of Greene County. Present voters would not be affected since they would be qualified under the grandfather clause, Martin pointed out.

The $64,000 efficiency survey of Alabama State Docks was closed Friday with the discharge of the last of eight $195-a-day consultants. The costly survey was criticized as "completely unnecessary" by Governor-nominee John Patterson.

The Atomic Energy Commission announced last week that the Russians had staged the sixth atomic explosion in their latest series of atomic tests. The latest test was described as a bomb of relatively "high yield." It was fired north of the Arctic Circle.

The first private school class opened in Little Rock Monday as a new battle shaped up over the operation of the city's public schools which Gov. Orval Faubus has sworn to keep segregated. Academies were set up to take 60 students in two churches and rural schools agreed to accept 71 more.

Writer Finds Central Studios, Spic And Span

Thelma Young, long-time school news editor of the Birmingham News, recently visited Lauderdale County's Central High, and recorded her impression of that school for readers of her paper. Mrs. Young's story follows:

Central High School located 11 miles from Florence, is one of the several Lauderdale County schools in which the local residents can take great pride.

The school plant comprises several buildings, all neat, clean as a pin, and well kept, evidencing the pride of the students in their school.

A visitor, entering the main building, gets the feeling of studious concentration from within, yet the classrooms are bustling with activity.

A friendly atmosphere, starting with the principal, in his attractive pine-paneled office, and extending through the faculty and student body, greets the visitor.

Central High has an enrollment of more than 1000 students, an increase of 100 over last year, and a faculty of 35. It is considered a rural school, yet only 7 per cent of these students have parents who are engaged in farming. Pretty new houses dot the highway all the miles out to Central, but the majority of the school patrons are employed by the various industrial firms in the busy Tri-Cities area.

Joe C. Wilson, the genial and capable principal, is so well liked and popular in the community that the football stadium has been named for him. Now in his eighth year at Central, he points with pride to the many improvements—such as a two-year-old addition to the main building, a science department with new equipment, and, naturally, an increase in the number of students electing this subject; a new cafeteria and a modern commercial department.

The faculty at Central works closely with the students in all extra-curricular activities. Many of them serve as sponsors for the various student organizations. Although the Student Council, Beta Club, FHA, and FFA are separate student groups, they work as a unit in the interest of the school, sponsoring various projects which benefit the school as a whole.

Other student organizations are the "C" Club, Glee Club and Chorus, Math Club, Science Club, Library Club and Girl's Physical Education Club. A school band is being organized this year for the first time, starting in the seventh and eighth grades.

Central seems to have more than a normal share of outstanding students. Typical of the higher-caliber leadership to be found among the Central students is that provided by Sara Paulk, Redem Kimbrough and Myron Wright, to name three of the student leaders.

Sarah is a 16-year-old 11th grader, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Paulk, Florence, Rt. 6. She is treasurer of the Beta Club, president of her Home Room, member of the Student Council, and club editor for the school annual. She also belongs to the FHA and has served as president of this group. Sarah is a pianist for the Pisgah Methodist Church, in her community, and works in Vacation Bible School. She plans to attend college and to become a missionary.

Reeder, another of Alabama's "Junior Citizens," is 17 years old and a senior at Central High. His parents are Mr. and Mrs. Paul Kimbrough, and his father is employed by TVA.

Reeder is president of the senior class, member of the Beta Club and Student Council. He is on the school basketball team and an active participant in school programs and drives.

He also is a vice president of the Methodist Youth Fellowship at Oakland Methodist Church, near his home at Florence, Rt. 6.

Myron is president of the Student Council at Central. He is a 16-year-old senior and his parents are Mr. and Mrs. Dewey I. Wright, Florence, Rt. 2. Myron plans to study engineering in college, either at the University of Alabama or Tennessee. Under Myron's leadership, the school's Student Council has for its project this year, the purchase of new stage curtains for the auditorium.

Central High is just one of many Alabama schools which is suffering from "growing pains," but with the spirit of determination this school and community has, this problem will be solved. This is another of our state schools which is doing a first class job of turning out first class citizens.

Fertilizer

ers in nine southeastern states still use less than half as much total fertilizer as their state colleges recommend. In 1954 less than 20 percent of all hay and pasture crops in the Southeast were fertilized. If the rest of this hay and pasture were fertilized, the use of fertilizer in these states would be almost double. This represents an immense educational challenge and market opportunity.

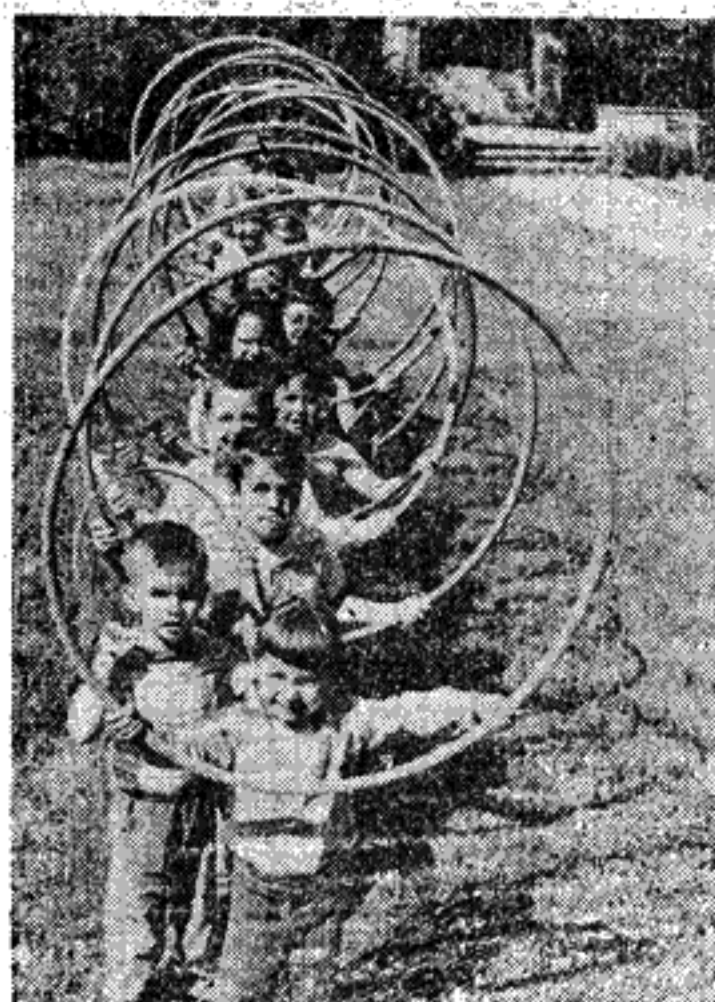

"In addition, much more emphasis will probably be placed upon forest fertilization, non-farm use of fertilizers, and other such enterprises."

The booklet shows that consumption of all fertilizers increased in the nation from 5,546,000 gross tons in 1943, to 22,224,000 in 1957.

The booklet lists producers of various materials and total production figures including elemental phosphorus, superphosphate, concentrated superphosphate, ammonium nitrate.

TVA today also made available a limited publication "Fertilizer Summary Data" which shows fertilizer use by states and geographic areas.

Deaths

Mrs. Mattie E. Lester

Funeral services for Mrs. Mattie E. Lester, 81-year-old Killen, Rt. 2, resident, were held from Harrison Chapel at 2 p. m. Monday, the Rev. W. H. Smith officiating and burial in Canerday cemetery.

A member of the Methodist Church, Mrs. Lester died at 8 a. m. Sunday at ECM Hospital.

She is survived by four daughters, Mrs. Earl Murphy, Iron City, Tenn.; Mrs. Homer Haygood, Killen, Mrs. Grady Roberson, and Miss Eugene Lester, all of Killen; Homer Lester, Florence, Cecil Lester, Florence, and Melvin Lester, St. Joseph, Tenn.; Route 1; a brother, Wiley Kennedy, St. Joseph, Tenn.; Route 1; two sisters, Mrs. Price Gist, St. Joseph, and Mrs. Will McMurtry, Florence.

B. W. Nicholson

Britton Wade Nicholson, former Florence resident, died at the home of a daughter, Mrs. D. O. Warren, 210 Park Lane, at 8 p. m. Sunday. Funeral services were held from the Methodist Church at Mt. Pleasant, Tenn., at 2 p. m. Monday, with burial in the Mt. Pleasant cemetery.

Mr. Nicholson, 79, was a native of Cheatham County, Tenn., and was visiting his daughter here at the time of his death. He was a retired carpenter and made his home near Gadsden.

He is survived by his wife Mrs. Vera Kate Nicholson; two daughters, Mrs. D. O. Warren, Jr., Florence, and Mrs. E. J. Fulmer, Gadsden; a son, J. J. Nicholson, Kosciusko, Miss.; two brothers, J. C. and John Nicholson, Ashland City, Tenn.; three grandchildren and a number of nieces and nephews.

Miss Roxie Tidwell

Funeral services for Miss Roxie Tidwell, Killen resident, who died at ECM Hospital last Thursday morning, were held from the Killen Church of Christ at 2 p. m. Friday, Chester Hunnicutt officiating and burial in Antioch cemetery. She was 71.

Miss Tidwell, a lifelong resident of Lauderdale County, was a member of the Church of Christ. Surviving are two nephews, Tom Tidwell, of Cloverdale, and Luther Tidwell, of Batavia, O.; a niece, Mrs. Bama Smith, Lafayette, Ind.

John Henry Hill

John Henry Hill, 54, died at the residence of his son, Robert Hill, Killen, Rt. 1, at 7 a. m. Monday, after a long illness. He was held at Goodlettsville, Tenn., at 10 a. m. Monday.

A native of Winston County and a brick mason by trade, Mr. Hill had lived in Florence for 33 years. He is survived by two sons, Robert Hill, Killen, Route 1, Jack Hill, Florence, Route 6; a daughter Mrs. Nell Hinton, Lotts, Tenn.; 10 sisters and three brothers, six grandchildren.

W. O. Price

W. O. (Buck) Price, former Florence resident, died at Madison, Tenn., Saturday. Services were held at Goodlettsville, Tenn., at 10 a. m. Monday.

Among his survivors is a sister, Mrs. C. A. Spann, of Florence, and a number of nieces and nephews.

Mrs. Susie Ann Witt

Funeral services for Mrs. Susie Ann Witt, 80, of Waterloo, Rt. 2, were held from Murphy Chapel Baptist Church at 2 p. m. Saturday, the Rev. Virgil Geans officiating and burial in the adjoining cemetery.

Mrs. Witt died at 11:55 a. m. last Thursday at the home of her son, Olen L. Witt. The widow of the late Johnnie R. Witt, she was a native of Lauderdale County and a member of the Baptist Church. Witt of Waterloo; a daughter, Mrs. Ida Dowdy, Waterloo; a brother, Dave Balentine of California; 27 grandchildren, 37 great grandchildren.

Fire losses on farms in Alabama have increased almost 70% in the five years, 1952 to 1956, the latest year for which complete figures are available.

Farmers in the state suffered insured fire losses in 1956 totaling $781,841, while in 1956 their losses increased to the staggering sum of $1,314,985, over one-half million dollars higher.

Yellowjackets Win Weekly Schedule From Deshler, 19-7 Of Bookmobile

Line Play Of Coffee Overwhelms Attack Of Tusculumbia Tigers

A superior Coffee High Yellow Jacket subdued a fighting, dangerous Deshler High Tiger Friday night in Deshler's stadium to hold a clean record of five wins and no losses in the current football campaign.

After an exchange of punts, Coffee recovered a Deshler fumble at mid-field and in three plays had its first marker. The PAT failed and Coffee led 6-0.

Deshler suffered from fumbles when they received the next kick-off but finally got going to near mid-field when forced to kick. A 60-yarder put the ball in the end-zone from where Coffee took over on their 20 and immediately marked to their second touchdown. The PAT was successful and Coffee led 13-0.

Again Deshler took over and marched to their 45 yard line where on the fourth down, Crowe kicked to Coffee's seven. Coffee marched up field to their 29 where Cook blasted center for six yards and fumbled. Deshler recovered. A beautiful pass failed by inches but, with Coffee's defenses opened up, a slice off the Tigers' left side netted a TD which, with a successful PAT, placed the score 13-7 in Coffee's favor.

Coffee took the next kick-off on their 26, picked up a first down on their 37, another on the 48 and then a beautiful executive pass put the Yellow Jackets on the 13 where two plays netted a third touchdown. The PAT failed. Score: 19-7. And thus ended the scoring and the first half.

The second half saw the two teams battled back and forth with occasional threats but no real opportunities for a scoring punch although Coffee carried the game to Deshler the great part of the final two quarters. The game ended with Coffee in possession on Deshler's 40.

ROGERS 4-H GIRLS NAME NEW OFFICERS FOR YEAR

The 7th grade girls of Rogers High met in Mrs. Gray's room to start a 4-H Club with our leader Miss Ann Phillips.

The first thing we did was to fill out registration cards and check projects for the year. We then elected officers who are the following:

Whitten Consigns Ten Bulls To Sale

Wilburn H. Whitten, Route 2, Florence, has consigned 10 top-notch Hereford bulls to the Alabama Hereford Breeders Association sale, to be held at Demopolis Nov. 25. Whitten, who is president of the Lauderdale County Cattleman's Association, said that 75 of the best Hereford bulls in the state will be auctioned off at this sale.

Strictly a cattleman and interested in the growth of the beef industry, Whitten became president of his local association in January of this year. Since that time he has been one of the key workers in getting the membership from 28 to 126.

Inniss and Ivy Jean Curtis.

We believe we have chosen good officers and look forward to the coming year with Miss Phillips. Pamela Parker, Reporter

Patterson Pledges Fight To Finish

Nominee Calls Civil Rights Commission No More Than Secret Police

Governor Nominee John Patterson was the featured speaker at a meeting of the Dallas County Citizens Council at Memorial Stadium. The Gov. Nominee of the Democratic Party speaking to a large crowd, said, "My administration shall do everything possible to keep our schools and public places segregated. My administration shall fight the Republican Administration in Washington and the NAACP to the last ditch. It is unthinkable that the Federal Government should want to destroy our public school system here in Alabama. We must always be on guard to prevent another Little Rock here in Alabama. At the moment Alabama is in good shape on this all-important issue. I have fought the NAACP from the first day I took office as your Attorney General and I shall continue the fight after I have become your Governor. Patterson has given a standing ovation by the Council and the crowd stayed to shake Patterson's hand. The Governor Nominee was heard to remark that the handshaking brought back memories of his campaign to win the Democratic Party's Primary.

Governor Nominee Patterson was also the key speaker at a giant rally sponsored by the St. Clair County Executive Committee of the Democratic Party at Pell City. Also present at the rally were the Democratic Party nominees for state and county offices in St. Clair County.

John Patterson in his speech which is regarded by many as the kick-off speech of the Nov. 4th General Election said that this week a member of the Civil Rights Commission in Washington D. C. came to Montgomery. "I am glad to report that he found that the people of our state are not welcome here. This Civil Rights Commission of the Republican Administration inspired by the NAACP is no more than a secret police. These secret policemen are sent here to look over our shoulders and to spy on the various Boards of Registers of our state. I think it is high time that the Republican Administration knew that the people of our state will not stand for any invasion of our States rights."

The Pell City rally was the first of a series scheduled for Patterson and the other Democratic Party nominees both on the state and county level. Other rallies are set for Russellville on Oct. 21 and Huntsville on Oct. 22. Invitations are being mailed for all candidates.

90 Registered In Wilson P-T A

Year's First Meeting Held Monday; Officers For Term Are Installed

At the first meeting of the Wilson P-T-A. on Monday, 90 members were registered for membership. This represents an increase of 27 per cent over the total enrollment of 1957-58, according to Henry Ligon, P-T-A. president.

Mr. Ligon told parents, "We need you in our P-T-A. Some important projects have been completed by our organization and others are now being worked on. Our school expansion committee has made some important progress. We have solved our water problems, improved our lawns, and developed our school library. All this could not have been done without your help in P-T-A."

Officers for this year were installed in an impressive ceremony by Jim Patterson, 6th grade teacher. Those present and installed were Mr. Ligon, president; Mrs. Emmanola Fox, vice-president; Mrs. Margaret Olive, secretary; Mrs. A. D. Wilson, treasurer, and Mrs. Betty Spurgeon, reporter.

Three recommendations of the P-T-A. executive committee were approved by the association. These were (1) sponsorship of the girl scouts; (2) purchasing of two water coolers, and (3) financial assistance in paying for ovens for the lunchroom. Mrs. Fox, Brownie troop leader, and Mrs. Douglas Wilson, intermediate troop leader, reported an active program for both units with the total membership of 37 girls.

Earl Gray reported on progress made by the Wilson School expansion committee. Mrs. Marie Pruitt explained that the preschool library center will be in operation after the November meeting, which deals with preschool service.

The program topic for Monday's meeting was "Understanding Our New Report Cards." Members of the program committee were introduced by Mrs. Douglas Wilson, program chairman, and included Mr. and Mrs. James Gallion, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Tulon McRight, Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Wilson, and Mr. Alvin Parker. These served on a panel, each explaining in detail one section of the new report cards. Mr. Parker explained how the new report card was developed, the purpose of reporting, and emphasized that the elementary report card is an evaluation of pupils progress in relation to each child's ability and maturity.

Mr. Ligon announced the regular meeting date for the Wilson School P-T-A. on the second Monday night of each month at 7 o'clock.

Elmore-Ingram Nuptials Said In Jacksonville, Fla.

Of interest in Florence where the bridegroom has many ties is the wedding of Anna, Madeline Dadel Elmore, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Franklin Harper Elmore, and Thomas Benjamin Ingram, Jr., all of Jacksonville.

Mr. Ingram is the son of Mrs. Thomas Benjamin Ingram, also of Jacksonville, and the late Mr. Ingram, and the grandson of Mrs. Nell Roper Ingram of Florence and the late George K. Ingram.

A small guest company of family members and intimate friends were present at the half past four o'clock afternoon ceremony which took place on Friday, October tenth, in St. John's Cathedral when the Reverend Eugene L. Nixon and the Reverend William Eckman heard the pledges.

Graduated from National Cathedral School in Washington, D. C., the bride attended Florida State University in Tallahassee where she was a member of Alpha Delta Pi sorority. She was a member of the 1957-58 Debutante Coterie of Jacksonville and was Queen of the 1958 Ye Mystic Revellers.

Mr. Ingram was graduated from Bolles School and attended Emory University in Atlanta where he was affiliated with Kappa Alpha social fraternity. He has completed two years' service with the United States Marines and is now enrolled at Jacksonville University.

After a trip to Sea Island, Georgia, Mr. and Mrs. Ingram will be at home in Jacksonville.

Late September Vows In Lexington Church

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Lawson Stevenson are at home in Fayetteville, Tennessee, after their marriage in Nebo Presbyterian Church in Lexington on Saturday, September twenty-seventh.

The bride is the former Shelby Jean Ritter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Reeder Ritter, and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Walter Stevenson.

Marked by a double ring ceremony the vows were heard at seven o'clock in the evening by the Reverend E. G. Shepard, minister of the church, and nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Aaron Norton, pianist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father before an altar arranged with baskets of white chrysanthemums and greenery and lighted by white tapers in branched candelabra.

Her waltz-length gown of lace over bridal satin was distinguished by a moulded bodice with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves tapering to the wrists. Her elbow-length veil of illusion fell from a rhinestone-studded lace headress and with her white Bible she carried a white orchid encircled by white carnations.

Miss Okalee Moore of Florence served as honor attendant and Mrs. Edith Orr and Miss Janice Johnson were candlelighters. Miss Moore's frock of pink lace was complemented by a bouquet of white carnations and Mrs. Orr and Miss Johnson wore blue lace with white carnations at their shoulders.

Best man for the bridegroom was Milton Orr.

Margrette June Slaton To Wed Robert T. James

Announcement has been made by Mr. and Mrs. E. O. Slaton of Rogersville of the engagement of their daughter, Margrette, to Robert Thomas James, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. James of Florence.

Graduates of Lauderdale County High School, the bride-elect is now with Redstone Arsenal in Huntsville and the bridegroom-elect with the Electricity Department of the City of Florence.

Their wedding date is to be announced.

Shirley Ann Cypert's Engagement Is Told

Foretelling the approaching marriage of their daughter, Shirley Ann, is the announcement which has been made by Mr. and Mrs. Claude Cypert of Central Heights.

Miss Cypert, a graduate of Florence State College is affianced to Harold Graham, son of Mr. and Mrs. Koval Graham of Tusculum and presently a student at Florence State College.

Their nuptial date will be announced later.

Nelson-Redding Vows To Be Late Fall Event

The engagement of Glenda Lee Nelson, daughter of George Nelson of Florence and the late Novella Darby Nelson, to Edward Doyle Redding, Jr., of Lafayette, Georgia, son of Mrs. Redding, Sr., and the late Mr. Redding of Florence, has been announced by the bride-elect's father.

Miss Nelson was graduated from Coffee High School and has attended Florence State College and her fiancé, graduated from Coffee High and Florence State, is a member of the coaching staff at Lafayette High School.

The wedding is planned for November twenty-eighth.

Two Affairs Compliment Fay Comer, Bride-Elect

Two events during the week-end feted a pretty bride-elect, Fay Comer, whose marriage to Jerry Bedingfield will be an event of Saturday, October 18, at 6 p. m. at the Rogersville Church of Christ.

At noon on Saturday Mrs. Joy Beckman entertained with a luncheon at her home on Shoals Creek.

An arrangement of fruit was used in the center of the prettily appointed table, at which the honoree, wearing a melon colored broadcote faille with white carnations, sat with her mother, Mrs. Almon Comer; her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Sallie Comer; the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. Ira Bedingfield, Jr., and his grandmother, Mrs. Ada Bedingfield.

Other guests were Mrs. Otha Rose, Mrs. Mike Beckman, Mrs. Brown Snoddy and Faith Snoddy. She was presented with the platter in her china pattern.

In the evening Mrs. Polk Comer entertained at her home with a gift tea for Miss Comer.

For the occasion she wore red with white corsage.

Guests were greeted in the reception hall by Mrs. Larry Bedingfield and Miss Cynthia Romine, who kept the registers. Fall flowers in mixed colors were used throughout the reception rooms, the refreshment table being centered with an arrangement of tiny pink 'mums with silver and crystal appointments.

At the punch bowl was Mrs. John Cecil Hudson with Miss Pat Bedingfield serving the cake. Others assisting Mrs. Comer were Mrs. Douglas Ezell and Mrs. Harold Comer.

Miss Rawls Feted At Morning Coffee

A vista of gardens and pool against Lake Pickwick in the distant background was framed by open veranda doors at the home of Mrs. George McBurney, 463 Palsade Drive, as guests called on Tuesday morning.

Honoree of the occasion was Miss Aline Rawls of Mobile, aunt of the hostess, whose occasional visits to her sister, Mrs. S. S. Roberts, are eagerly anticipated by relatives and friends.

Low bowls of pink roses were about the rooms and in the dining room pink chrysanthemums centered the coffee table which was spread with a white linen cloth fringed at the border.

Mrs. Allen Northington and Mrs. William Mitchell assisted with the courtesies.

Guests numbered twenty-five.

Discussion Club Resumes Meetings

"Almost like being alone on the trip," was an oft-heard comment following Discussion Club's first meeting of the season when Mrs. Elbert Lamar, president of the club and in charge of the afternoon's program, described the beauty spots of Europe.

Using slides to complement graphic word-pictures, members and guests were taken through tulip and hyacinth gardens in Holland; to the fountains of Rome; to cathedrals in many countries.

Mrs. W. W. Slaton and Mrs. Henry Bradshaw were hostesses on Thursday, October 9, at the home of the former on South Pine Street. Guests other than club members were Mrs. S. S. Roberts, Mrs. Sam C. Harlan, Mrs. Earl Fraser, Miss Faye McKinley, Mrs. Thomas Ashcraft, Mrs. Julian Nance, Mrs. John Hutchinson, Mrs. Madding King, Mrs. Walter Bell, Mrs. Cloyd Beasley, Mrs. William Connor, Mrs. Fred Knight, Mrs. Mary S. Meeks, Mrs. Frank M. Perry, Mrs. L. M. Jester, Mrs. Richard Parker, Mrs. Van W. Arnold, Mrs. F. P. Beuchamp, Mrs. Sewell Jones, Mrs. Joe Meade, Sr., Mrs. Jewett Flagg, Mrs. J. V. Cosby, Summerell, Mrs. William Harrison, Mrs. Robert Hill, Mrs. Frank Irvine, Mrs. Thomas McGough, Mrs. Richard Penney, Miss Josephine Penney, Mrs. A. L. Maples.

Mrs. Lamar and Mrs. Otha Peritt assisted at the treatable during the refreshment hour.

Mrs. Bower Hostess To Firenze Members

Miss Julia Neal gave the program at last week's meeting of Firenze Club, providing delightful entertainment for her listeners with a review of Robert Ruark's "The Old Man and the Boy." Turning from his scrutiny of present turbulence, the author brings his talent to bear on a moving story from his own life—the details of his early relationship with his amazing grandfather in the coastal regions of his native North Carolina.

Mrs. Byron Bower was hostess at her home on North Seminary Street and Mrs. E. L. Stickney, Sheffield, was the club's guest for the afternoon.

Mrs. A. J. Darby and Mrs. J. W. Powell assisted during the tea hour.

Mrs. Elebash Hostess Florence Study Club

Inviting her guests to The Town Club for the first meeting of the season, Mrs. Edgar Elebash was hostess to Florence Study club on Tuesday afternoon, October 7.

Miss Orpha Ann Culmer was guest-speaker for the occasion, giving a review of "The Price Is Right," a delightful story of the author's favorite department store—Macy's, of New York—by Margaret Case Harriman.

Mrs. Elebash was assisted at teatime by Mrs. William Hairston and Mrs. W. L. Williams.

Notice To Newcomers

Those interested in a Newcomers Club which will have evening meetings are asked to contact Mrs. Roger E. Harlan, 1622 Winston Street, Telephone EMpire 3-3428. An organizational meeting will take place at the above address at 7:45 p. m. on Thursday, October twenty-third.

Faculty Women's Club Marks 10th Anniversary

The 10th anniversary of Faculty Women's Club of Florence State College was marked Tuesday evening when the autumn buffet supper was held in Rogers Hall, festive with candlelight and flowers.

Tables at which nearly a hundred members were seated were decorated with tendrils of ivy and specimen dahlia blossoms.

Presiding, Mrs. John Finley welcomed the fourteen new members; Mrs. R. L. Archibald, Mrs. Fred Bitters, Mrs. Arthur Brown, Mrs. Henry Cheney, Mrs. James Cole, Mrs. Lawrence Cowell, Mrs. W. L. Crocker, Mrs. Clyde Erwin, Mrs. Clarence Hackbarth, Mrs. James O. Johnson, Mrs. Ernest Rhodes, Mrs. William Richie, Mrs. Arthur Kilgore, Mrs. Bobby Chapman, and Mrs. Billy Presley. Mrs. Finley also presented Miss Julia Neal, who informally told of the club's organization and briefly reviewed the highlights of the intervening decade.

Recent guests of Mrs. B. S. Haraway, 1436 Chisholm Road, were her daughter, Mrs. John R. Lovegrove, and Dr. Lovegrove, of Nashville.

Mrs. George Hill, 321 North Seminary St., after a visit to her son, George A. Hill, Mrs. Hill, and family in Birmingham, is spending this week in Montgomery where she is attending the State convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Here during the week-end to visit their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Harold Koonce of Central Heights and Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Landers of Sheffield, were Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Landers and daughter, Lisa, of Auburn.

Mrs. W. C. Trotman, West Mobile St., has returned from a round of visits in Biloxi, Miss., where she was the guest of her brother, George Ditto, and in Mobile and Robertsdale where she visited other family members.

Arriving from Tulsa, Okla., Mr. and Mrs. James Freeman and daughter, Debbie, are guests of Mrs. Freeman's parents, Mr. and Mrs. T. R. Bosley, Shoals Creek.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Simmons, Jr., of Florence left by plane last Thursday for a vacation stay in Jamaica. Accompanied on the trip by Mr. and Mrs. Billy Watterson of Decatur, they are expected to return during the week-end.

Called by the illness of their father, L. Elston Tate, North Wood Ave., Mrs. Grady Williams, Mr. and Mrs. James Williams of Marietta, Ga., Mr. and Mrs. James Striegel Tate of Augusta, Ga., have arrived in Florence.

The Muscle Shoals Concert Association announces the opening of the 1958 season with the lovely voices of Brian Sullivan tenor and Frances Yeend, soprano, at 8:15 tonight at Coffee High School auditorium.

Sullivan is a major figure among operatic tenors with roles in Metropolitan and San Francisco operas as the "Voice of Firestone" and the "Telephone Hour." He carries over to the recital stage the same superb vocalism, the same richness in color, the same glowing temperament and the same interpretative sensitivity that distinguish him on the operatic stage.

As Dimitri in "Boris Godounoff" the San Francisco Chronicle describes him as the "first really big tenor—big in voice, physical presence and dramatic capability—whom we have had as the pretender to the Russian throne, so that for the first time in our local experience the Czar Boris was opposed by a credible antagonist."

Sullivan's roles include Cavaradossi in "Tosca," Tamino in "Magic Flute," Rodolpho in "La Boheme," the Duke in "Rigoletto," Julien in "Louise," and as "Lohengrin."

Miss Yeend, who is American born, has become a top name in the musical world in a few short years. As a leading soprano in the New York City Opera, San Antonio Opera Festival, Cincinnati Summer Opera, New Orleans Opera and the Northwest Opera Association. Her lovely voice is especially effective as a recitalist. She is superb in oratorio and is a favorite soloist with symphony orchestras both in America and abroad.

Miss Yeend was especially praised for her operatic part as Turandot by the Dallas Morning News: "A performance of magnificence Miss Yeend not only enacted the role with frigid imperiousness, but coped with its soaring tessitura as few others today can . . . the tensions of the cruel sequence were drawn out by Miss Yeend, both historically and vocally."

The Association will also present Little Singers of Paris on Nov. 16; Brailowsky, pianist, on Feb. 16; and the Minneapolis Symphony Orchestra on March 5.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE

Today's demand for practical application of the spiritual truths taught and practiced by Christ Jesus will be emphasized at Christian Science services this Sunday.

The topic of the lesson-sermon is "Doctrine of Atonement." The Apostle Peter's directive, "But as he which hath called you is holy, so be ye holy; for I am holy" (1 Peter 1:15, 16) will be included in the Bible readings.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert O. Hyde are expected to return Saturday to their home on Riverview Circle after a week in New York City.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Doss, Sannover Ave., is her aunt, Mrs. J. C. Egan, of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Here from their home in San Diego, Calif., Mr. and Mrs. Cyril Yates and sons, Bobby and Michael, are guests of his brother, Porter Yates, Mrs. Yates, and her mother, Mrs. James Lovelace, 615 Cleveland Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Wallace and children have returned to Memphis after attending the funeral of their grandmother, Mrs. Susie Witt.

Among out-of-town residents attending the funeral of Mrs. Susie Witt were her grandchildren, Mr. and Mrs. Gene Campbell of Jonesboro, Ark.

William L. McDonald is convalescing at his home on Hough Road following recent surgery at ECM Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. O. L. Glendenning left Friday to return to their home in San Diego, Calif., after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. Frank Smith, Meridian Street. Mrs. Glendenning is a former Florentine.

Mr. and Mrs. F. G. Robertson, Jr., (Barbara Fike) of Fulton, Ky., have announced the birth on October 6 of a daughter, Gwenn Marie. The baby's maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Alton Fike, 1727 Cloverdale Road.

Mr. and Mrs. O'Steen Darby and daughter, Babbette, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert M. Cox and son, Bobby, were in Cullman on Sunday, October 5, to attend the seventy-fifth birthday celebration of Mrs. John Thompson and the family reunion which took place at the home of Mrs. Thompson's daughter, Mrs. H. G. Laminack.

Mrs. Mary S. Meeks, formerly of Jackson, Miss., is now at home in the residence of Miss Fay McKinley, 419 S. Cedar St.

Combining business with a vacation trip, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Smith, Hermitage Drive, are spending this week in Los Angeles.

After a week's absence Mrs. C. O. Beasley is returning today from Nashville and Mr. Beasley from a business trip to Indianapolis, Ind.

THE SPILLWAY

THE WIFE KER-CHOOS this time of year . . .
She sneezes loud and long . . .
But if your sympathy's all with her
We tell you . . . you're sure wrong . . .

"MY WIFE ONLY has hay fever . . . I suffer from it . . ." "Two of our next-door neighbors speaking . . . and we admit we think he has a point . . . We pause between our own ker-choos to offer a handful of tissues to each . . . and a heartfelt of sympathy to all . . . as we look hopefully forward to the arrival of helpful Jack . . .

CREDIT WHERE CREDIT is due . . . Louie Powers Rossmaster (address Tennessee Court Apartments) was given credit by News Week Magazine for having sent "The Seaman's Version of the Twenty-third Psalm" carried on page 8 of their October 13 issue . . . We read with both interest and delight . . .

ANOTHER CHARMING ITEM with Louie again at the helm . . . Two exquisite china plates (property of our charming friend) will be offered for public viewing at Florence-Lauderdale Library in the near future . . . one bordered with a delicate inscription of the Lord's Prayer . . . the other portraying Leonardo da Vinci's masterpiece . . . The Last Supper . . .

ALSO AT THE LIBRARY in recognition of United Nations Day (October 24) can be seen during the entire month a small model of the UN buildings . . . miniature flags across front . . . It's in the display case and it's EXACT and very interesting . . .

OTHER MASTERPIECES to be seen there daily are the exquisitely decorative flower arrangements . . . The Federated Garden Clubs of the district are in charge . . . Honors during October go to University Heights Club whose current president is Evelynne Young . . . and whose Civic Committee Chairman (directly responsible for these bits of beauty) is Grace Tease . . .

SAGGING A BIT at Summer's end . . . the social life in Old Florence Town is being revived for the Fall season by the arrival of delightful visitors . . . F'rinstance . . . there's Mae Cutting . . . here to visit her cousin . . . Emerson (and Marguerite) Lucas . . . after a Summer of visitin' in Canada and points on in her home . . . in New Orleans Mae has been an interesting and interested member of the Philharmonic Symphony Society from its very earliest days . . . In charge of the Child's Concert each year and as a member of the Chamber Music Committee . . . she has many delightful contacts . . . one such being Florence's Mary Ashcraft Moore . . . (We continue to claim you . . . Mary)

ALSO BEING GIVEN the red carpet treatment are Aline Rawls and Elsie Weller . . . Aline is here from Mobile to visit her sister . . . Minnie Roberts and (Doctor) Shaler . . . and Elsie accompanied Mae Irvine's "Aunt Janet" Eskine down from Staunton, Virginia, for a Fall visit in Mae's charming edge-of-town home . . . Informal and small-ish coffees and Come-lunch-with-me parties are sandwiched-in with movie engagements and late afternoon chit-chats . . . Numbered among the hostesses are Martha McBurney . . . Peggy Perry and Hal-lie Foy . . . Alberta Rogers . . . Clyde Tytee and Helen Williams . . . Charlotte Flagg . . . many others . . .

HOT TO TROT . . . and ready to roll Atlanta-ward come Saturday will be Auburn rooters . . . Archie and Bob Osborn . . . Joyce and Don Thrasher . . . Hazel and Joe Meade . . . and just-about-everybody-else-round-town . . .

NO "RIBBING" . . . THIS . . . "Twas an actual occurrence of last Friday as Ann Beck sat up front in her car and reached toward the rear with purchases she'd made while marketing . . . She heard a sharp click and learned moments later that she'd cracked a rib . . . "Don't tell me any funny stories . . ." she's implored friends since . . . explaining that even a real big smile causes pain . . .

NAMES HAVE MEANING . . . The name RUTH HERLEAN may mean pleasurable evening hours to those of you who're NEW-COMERS to the district . . . She's organizing a new Newcomers Club . . . with meetings to take place in the evenings . . . Her telephone (in case you're interested) is EMpire 3-3428 . . .

OUR CONGRATS AND may-you-have-many-more go to two-year-old Lindley Paxton . . . who'll reach the second milestone come Saturday . . . with mamma Jeanie making it a real celebration . . . Invitations are being issued to a group of two and three-year-olds and a PARTY with ALL THE TRIMMINGS is promised . . .

ANOTHER BIRTHDAY of the week is that of Mary Cats Hyde . . . whose hubby Bob has taken her for a week's whirl in New York as a b-day present . . . What with a practical nurse at home with the kiddies . . . and a' that . . . we'd call HERS a party with all the trimmings . . . too . . .

THE YEAR-ROUND colony on the lake was joined Saturday by Hazel and Joe Meade and young Joey as they moved into their brand spankin' new home on Lauderdale Beach . . . a place which is right at the top of our list of MUST-SEES . . .

AND NOW . . . CHEERIO and goodby . . . until more news comes through The Spillway . . .

Let's Talk
Over
By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze,
A woman moved in next door about a year ago and from the very first she's been real neighborly. She is in and out of my house three or four times every day.

Now, the trouble is that she's just about soured on the whole world, it looks like. If you let her tell it, there's something wrong with every single other friend I have. There's something wrong with every business house in town, too, and several she won't go to because there's somebody working there she just won't put up with. And the same with the churches.

Now, I've always been the happy-go-lucky kind. But my family tells me that this woman is rubbing off on me. And I can tell that I think hard of some after hearing so much talk from her.

But I don't know what to do. Don't you think she'd turn her sharp tongue on me if she thought I was trying to ease away?

It looks like I need your help real much.

Sincerely,
Mrs. S. A. P.

Dear Mrs. Sap,
I couldn't resist that, and besides, I do think you're a "sap" if you open your doors three and four times each day to a woman who continually speaks unflatteringly (to put it mildly) of your friends and loved ones. I can't see how you can call one "real neighborly" who so completely disregards your own feelings.

Three and four visits per day are two or three more than even the most congenial neighbors should allow themselves. It's poor taste in the first place, and besides, how can she find the time? I imagine you can hardly run your sweeper without picking her up.

Begin now to break those tentacles. Be kind and tactful but let her know where you stand. If she does turn on you, it is what I believe will eventually happen anyway.

In a situation such as this you can only choose the least bad road to follow.

Dear Mrs. Saze,
I am faced with storing my four little girls' Summer clothes. We live in cramped quarters and I'll have to put them in a big box in the basement. Are there any special precautions which I should take? I sure can't afford to have them ruin.

Sadie Hawkins Week didn't create much of a stir this year, but the dance had good attendance and Dr. Earl McGee officiated as "Mar-rin' Sam."

The "Flor-Ala" has received its Associated Collegiate Press rating for last semester—that is for the spring semester—our rating was 2nd class. Just over 100 points from 1st class.

Homecoming keeps getting closer and closer, and the committee keeps getting busier and busier. Friday, the student body selected Miss Marilyn Branyon of Fayette as Homecoming Queen. Eight girls will form her court.

Members of the court are Mar-gene Adkins, Talladega; Jane Blair, Florence; Skipper Carter, Town Creek; Sue Cox, Stevenson; Jan-ice Johnson, Flint, Michigan; Joyce Shrader, Hollywood; Marilyn Wil-ley, Tusculumbia; Shelia Wilson, Decatur.

One of these days I'm going to get a nice simple book about football and then I'm going to read it and then I'm going to be able to watch a football game in a reasonably intelligent manner. Any how, it was a good game and we won and the 'Bama game that I was trying to keep up with was good too.

With the Southeastern La. State game so far away from home, I guess I'll have to listen to it on the radio, but the Lions will be back home the next week and I hope will play to a big Homecoming crowd.

OAKLAND 4-H CLUB ELECTIONS OFFICERS

The Oakland Junior High 4-H club held its first meeting of the year on Monday morning and the following officers were elected: Brenda Robinson, president; Helen Williams, vice president; Paula Artis, secretary. Songleaders are Frances Jones and Louise White; reporter, Linda Cox.

News Of KILLEN

By Mrs. W. D. Stutts

School

Our P.T.A. had a very interesting meeting on Thursday evening of last week. Curtis Newbern, principal of the Anderson school, and Alvin Parker, principal of the Wilson school, were our special guests. They discussed the new report cards that have recently been adopted by the county schools.

A large number of teachers, parents and other interested friends attended the meeting. There are about 90 paid members to date. We expect to have over 100 soon.

Miss Harris' group won the attendance prize at the P.T.A. meeting. They are already planning to win again at the next meeting.

Our school was very busy last Friday. Besides our regular school work, the nurse was here giving shots to the smaller children, the 4-H clubs had their meetings, and the surplus food program was in operation.

Mr. Muse's eighth grade class elected room officers. They are: Elizabeth Beavers, president; Carl Holden, vice president; Glenn Tidwell, secretary-treasurer; reporters, Shirley Herston, Patricia LeMay, Ted Miley, Jerry Smith.

Our basketball program moved off to a good start on last Thursday at the Killen school. We won a double-header over the Cloverdale school.

Our enrollment continues to increase. Recent new pupils are Larry Lovelace, fourth grade; Don Chinnard, seventh grade, and Steve Hefner, first grade.

The Killen Lions Club met in the school lunchroom last Saturday night. Plans were made for the club's annual "Ladies Night" program to be held Saturday night, Oct. 25. Two new members joined the club, Tye Cobb, Chief of Police, and J. D. Poarch.

We are pleased to know that the Killen Lions Club is sponsoring eye examinations and fitting of glasses for some children in our area.

Mrs. Landers was absent on Tuesday, due to illness. Mrs. Mae Jones was her substitute.

Monday evening.

The R. A. and G. A. groups enjoyed a weiner roast, together with their leaders, Mr. and Mrs. Buddy McCrary, on the lawn of the Carter Thompson home Saturday night.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Burgess and Tommy of Cleveland, made a short visit here over the weekend.

Mrs. Oma Camp and Mrs. Emma Thompson visited the Estes Barkley family near Ardmore Sunday and attended church with the Barkleys at the Pleasant Grove Church there.

Mrs. Lula Shelton visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Shelton last week.

Club Meets

The Powell Home Demonstration Club met in the home of Mrs. Grady Weigart on Monday of last week. The demonstration was given by the new agent, Miss Conner, and was on the subject of milk for all ages. The group enjoyed their meeting with the new leader very much, and are looking forward to the coming year with her.

Athens College Sets Plans For Founders Week

Founders Week celebration begins at Athens College Saturday, October 25 at 10 a. m. with coffee for the alumni and parents of the students in McCoy Parlor in Founders Hall. A parade follows and then a barbecue lunch. The crowning of the Founders Queen will climax this day.

Sunday, October 26, Dr. Henry King Stanford, president of Birmingham-Southern College, will speak on Athens College Day at the First Methodist Church at 10:55 a. m.

On Monday night the Athens College Drama Quarete will present a play, "Don Juan in Hell," at 7:45 in McCandless Hall. There will be a reception in Founders Hall Parlor following the play.

Senator John J. Sparkman will be guest speaker at the Founders Convocation in McCandless Hall at 7:45 p. m., Tuesday, October 28.

Founders Week will close on Wednesday, October 29, at 10 a. m. with chapel in McCandless with the Rev. T. A. Edgar, superintendent of the Huntsville district, as the speaker.

On Sept. 20, 1814, after the national Capitol had been destroyed by the British, Congress moved into Blodgett's Hotel under guard of U. S. Marines.

GWINE TO LOUISIANA—This attractive young lady, current Leo's Loveliest, comes from Alabama and she's 'gwine to Louisiana but, alas, with no banjo. However, she's making the trip with the FSC Lionettes, who'll cheer the Lions team in its game with Southeastern Louisiana College at Hammond Saturday night. A pre-game trip to New Orleans is included in the outing.

Training Union Workshop Slated At Florence's First Baptist Church

The First Baptist Church in Florence will be host to a Training Union workshop today from 10 a. m. until 3 p. m. Charles Dorris is education director at the First Baptist Church.

Sponsored by the Alabama Baptist state Training Union department, and the Southern Baptist Sunday School Board, this workshop is designed for pastors, education directors, Training Union directors and Sunday School superintendents, as well as the leaders, teachers and workers from churches in the vicinity.

Mrs. Maurice Williams, state Training Union worker with nursery, beginner and primary ages, will direct the workshop. Assisting her will be Mrs. Max Sherman, Birmingham; Mrs. F. A. Pickler and Mrs. Houston Barksdale, approved state Training Union workers; Miss Nora Padgett, director of beginner work Training Union department, Baptist Sunday School Board, Nashville; Mrs. Jesse Meek, director of children's work, Tennessee Baptist Training Union department; George Caldwell, state secretary, Alabama Baptist Training Union department; and Gerald Blackburn, associate, Alabama Baptist Training Union department.

Department conferences will be held, including discussions of goals, characteristics of children, organization and records, duties of leaders, rooms and equipment, creative activities, music, storytelling and planning.

One of the main features of the workshop will be a special session that deals with the particular equipment and materials needed in each department. On display will be the furniture, toys, games, books and other items that are recommended for the best teaching situations.

The first 30 minutes of the workshop is scheduled for a period of introduction in the purpose and value of studying the most successful materials, equipment, and teaching methods used with various age groups. The remainder of the time will be used in department conferences.

This workshop is one of several being held this week in the north west section of Alabama. In 1955, the Alabama Baptist state Training Union department held statewide workshops, and in the two following years, presented similar programs in the southern and northeast parts of the state.

The State Fire Ant Committee has voted to continue its eradication program against this South American pest that has spread over a large portion of Alabama and Theother states. The action was taken at a recent meeting at which various aspects of the program were discussed.

APPEAL MADE FOR AID TO LITTLE ROCK SCHOOLS

Editor: Help Little Rock, to help yourself.

There should be thousands of people in Alabama and other southern states, and even northern states, who believe Faubus is right.

A Supreme Court decision does not make a law. Only the Congress of the United States can make a law.

Privately financed schools in Little Rock are much preferred to integrated ones and all States Righters and people who believe in the Bill of Rights can show their loyalty to the southern cause by today sending their check to Dr. T. J. Rainey, president, Private School Corporation, Little Rock, Ark. Box 1958.

This usurpation of power by the nine little men in Washington (and integration itself) must be stopped.

Period.

There is no such thing as token integration just as there is no such thing as "a little garlic."

Signed) J. Emory Morris,

WARNING TO DOG OWNERS

We wish to caution you against the use of cotton poison to rid your dog of fleas, ticks, lice. DDT and BHC (Benzene Hexachloride) are the main toxic ingredients in the more common cotton poisons. These agents are fairly easily absorbed through the skin of the dog. After absorption, the poison is distributed to all tissues, especially the kidneys, liver and fatty tissue.

The early symptoms to be noted are hyperexcitability, convulsions, rapid breathing, frequent urination, biting and grinding of teeth, excessive salivation, hair standing erect. Later symptoms are, extreme depression, apparent blindness, paralysis. Some or all of these symptoms may be present.

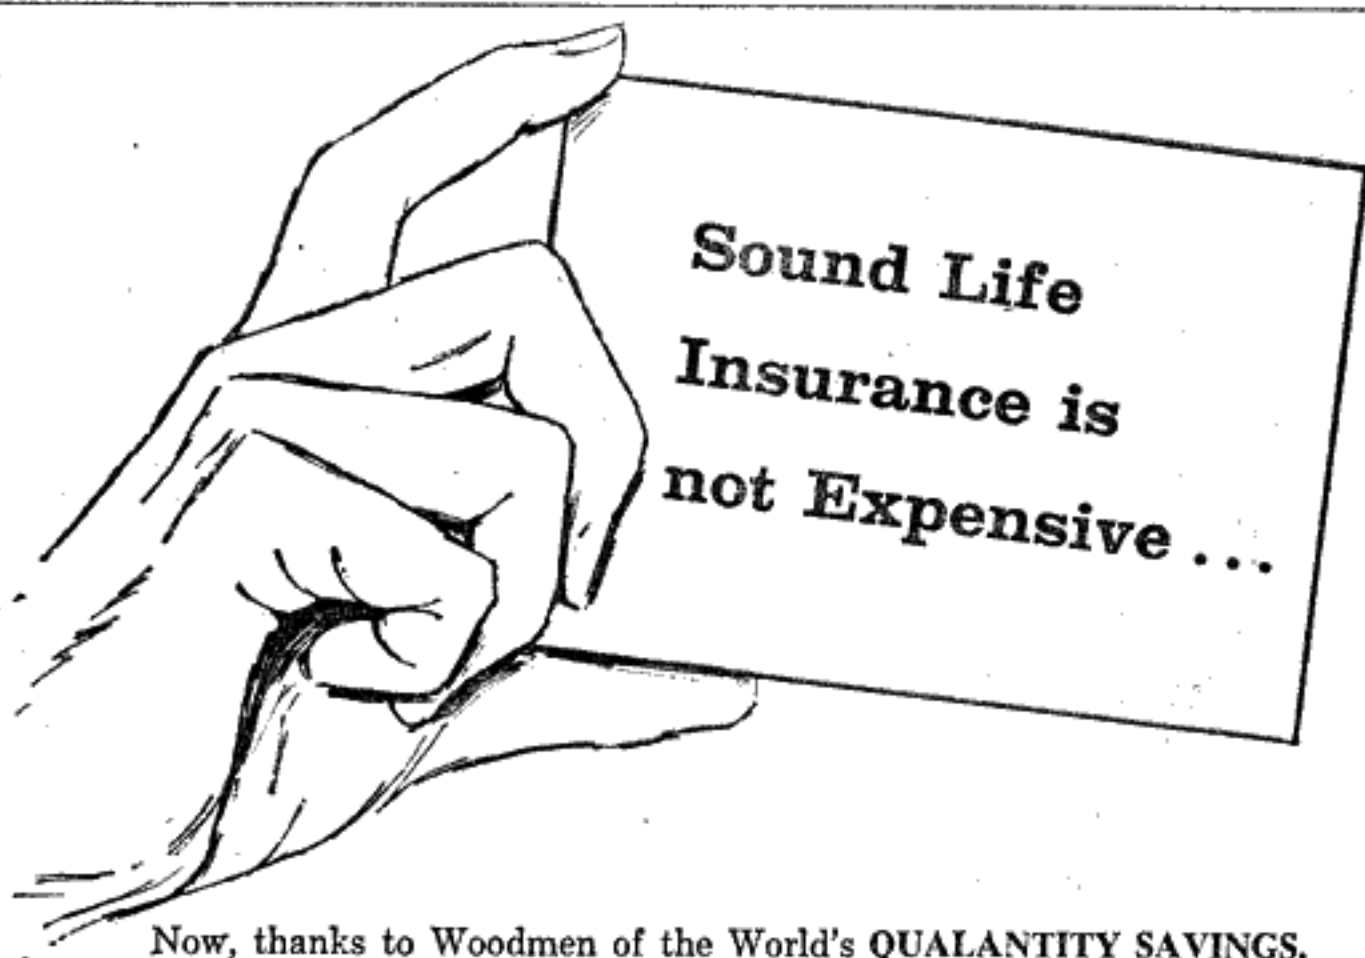

FIRST AID:

1. Wash animal entirely with soap and water and remove any food or water that may be contaminated.
2. Give good laxative.
3. Take animal to a veterinarian as soon as possible.

These symptoms are easily confused with rabies and distemper.

DO NOT USE COTTON POISON ON YOUR DOG.

Churches

Church of Christ has Bible study at 10 o'clock each Sunday morning, followed by regular church services conducted by Bro. Ellis Coats, minister.

Bible study is held each Wednesday evening at 7 o'clock. Methodist church has a church school at 9:45 each Sunday morning, church services at 11 o'clock and 7 o'clock each Sunday.

Bro. Beasley is bringing fine messages at every service, and everyone is invited and urged to attend.

Circle 1 of the WSCS met in the home of Mrs. Howard Hadlock on Monday afternoon of this week.

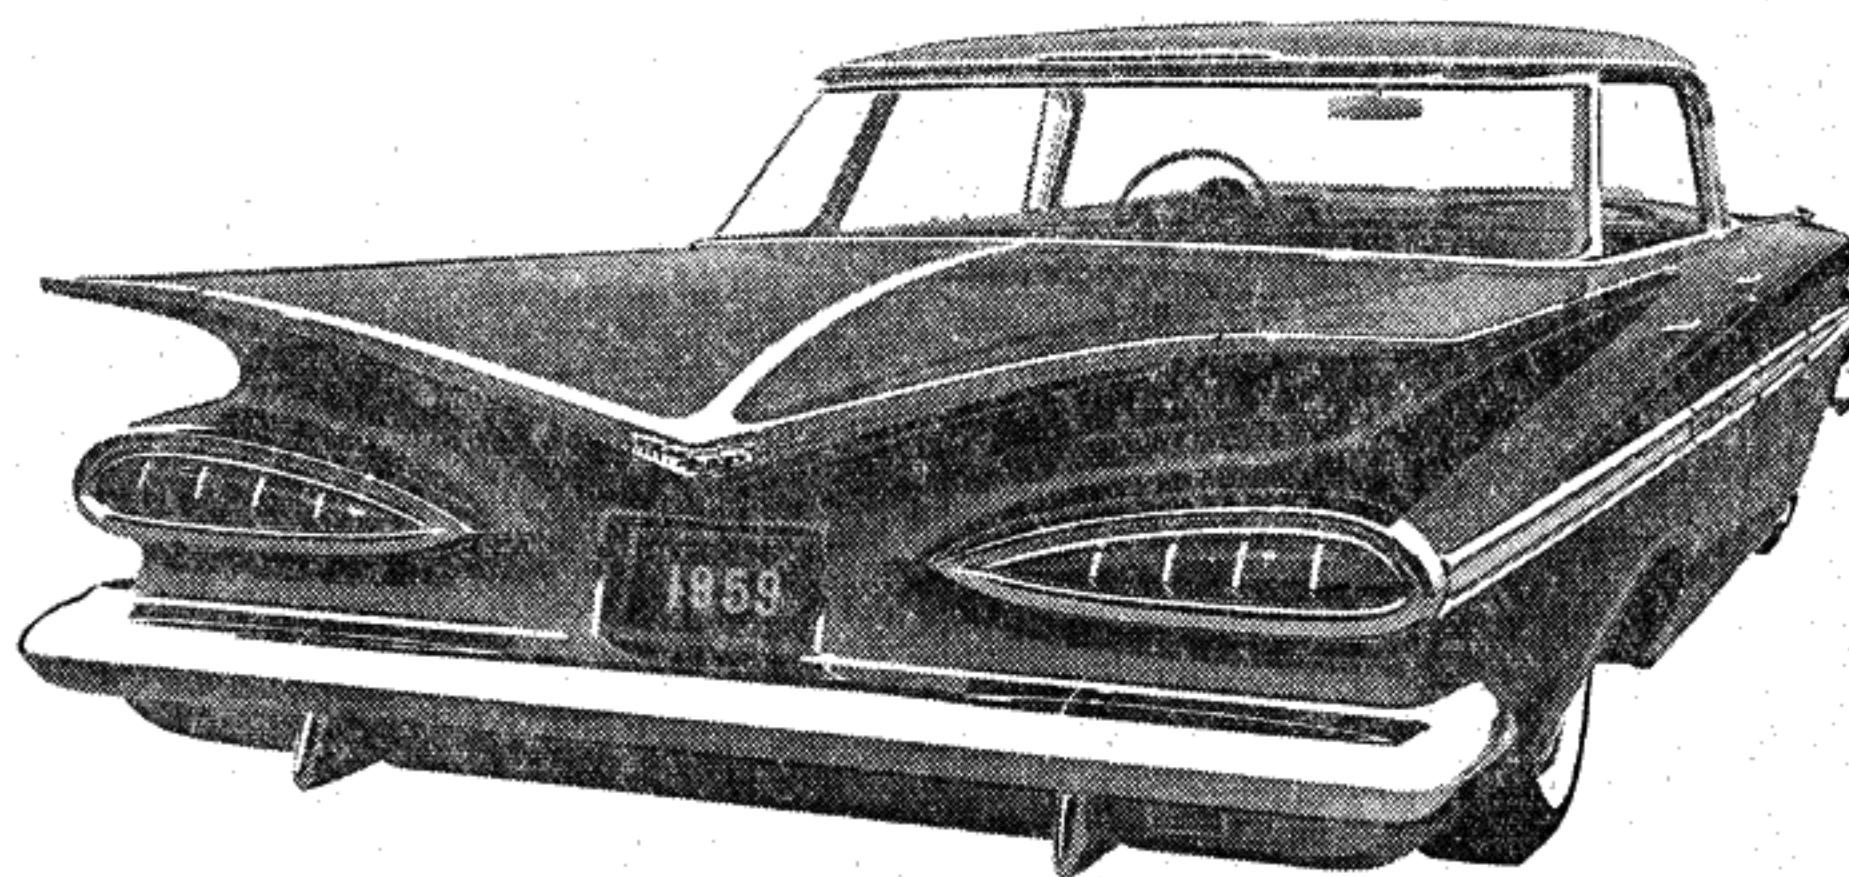

The Methodist Men's Club will not meet this week but will meet a week from this past Tuesday evening in the lunchroom of the school. This is an important meeting, and all members and interested citizens are urged to attend.

The Training Institute for pastors, superintendents, teachers and all interested persons is being held this week at the First Church of Florence. Several members from our church are availing themselves of the opportunity of attending, and are finding the classes very interesting, inspiring and informative.

School

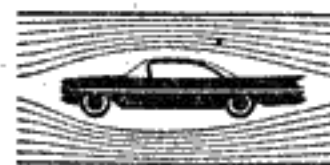

The second meeting of our P.T.A. was held last week. At that time Carol Roberson, teacher of the men's class, brought to us a very good devotional. The program consisted of the showing of an excellent film on the Development of the TVA, which was quite informative and helped to give all attending a greater insight into and appreciation of the work of the TVA. Following the film, a short business meeting was held. The room count was taken and the attendance banner was won by the first grade.

P.T.A. officers for the year are: president, Mrs. Owen Murphy; vice-president, Mrs. Hugh L. Rice, Jr.; secretary, Mrs. Walterine McCollough; treasurer, Norman Hall.

Scouts Deliver Folders

On Saturday morning Pack 52 of the Cub Scouts of Rogersville delivered 300 Civil Defense folders to the homes in and surrounding Rogersville. Den mothers leading the groups were Mrs. Sam Whitehead, Mrs. Kelm Weather and Mrs. Os Waddell, assisted by Kelm Weather and Oba Kelley.

Junior Girls' Auxiliary

The Junior Girls' Auxiliary of the Baptist Church had their first meeting of the year at the church last week at which a new slate of officers was elected, as follows: President, Eva Jean McMasters; vice-president, Barbara Scoggins; secretary-treasurer, Dixie Barnes; program and prayer chairman, Phyllis Campbell; community mission study, Carolee Wilson; Forward Steps, Judy Comer; social, Barbara Scoggins; stewardship, Dixie Barnes.

The Auxiliary was named the Willie Mae Kennedy Auxiliary for a missionary to Nigeria with whom the girls will correspond during the year.

Demonstration Club

The North Rogersville Home Demonstration Club met with Mrs. J. A. Waddell on Friday afternoon with Miss Sarah Connor, new demonstration agent, present to give the demonstration, "Milk For The Whole Family."

On the devotion of Mrs. Waddell read 1 Corinthians 13 and a general discussion of the chapter followed.

The food value and the many uses of milk in the diet formed part of a most informative demonstration.

Plans were made to quilt the quilt which has been made in sections and is to be sold to raise money for the club.

Fellowship Dinner

On Friday evening the Baptists enjoyed a fellowship dinner at the old church. Plans were for Rev. Earl Trent, Association field worker, to speak, but were cancelled because of an emergency meeting in Bro. Trent's work.

W.S.C.S. Meets

The Women's Society of Christian Service, presided over by Mrs. Buford Mitchum, had for their program when they met on Tuesday evening at the Methodist Church, the introduction to their new study, "Concerns Of The Continents," which deals with home mission causes.

Mrs. Field Lewis was in charge of the discussion with Mrs. Olga Harvey, Mrs. Henry Hudson, Mrs. F. T. Vickers, Mrs. Ocie Fuqua and Mrs. Mitchum taking part.

Mrs. Vickers gave the devotion.

Garden Club

For the devotional Mrs. Preston McCormick used thoughts from The Upper Room and Psalm 101 when the Rogersville Garden Club met in the home of Mrs. Ben Fuqua on Thursday afternoon.

Gift bouquets of fall flowers were used throughout the lovely home.

At roll call each member answered with suggested subjects for next year's programs. Plans for Christmas were presented by Mrs. J. R. Waddell, Christmas plans chairman.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

ATTENTION Teen Aagers!

You teen aagers have many problems! Sure, they are hard to solve, but with the right kind of help, you can find the right answer.

Have you ever discovered that God can satisfy your longings? In His Church, you work and play with other teen aagers, sharing with them the experience of worship through music, Bible study, and prayer. Here you discover that others have passed through similar experiences, solved similar problems.

In the Church are adults who remember their own teen age tangles, and have come to realize that human beings are more or less alike, regardless of age. Here are leaders who can help and who really understand! The Church offers you teen aagers an opportunity to be yourselves at your very best, to exercise all your powers, to make life as wonderful as your rosiest dreams.

How about it teen aagers? Don't you want to give the Church a chance?

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

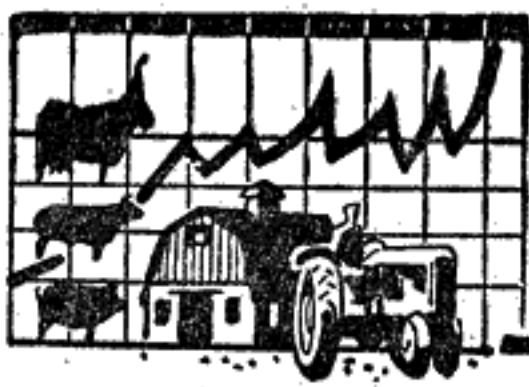

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FEEDING TIME!—This litter of 11 week-old pigs farrowed by a Duroc-Hampshire sow on the Earl Romine farm, north of Rogersville, indicates why Mr. Romine has successfully made the change from cotton farming to the "hog business." Shown at left with Mr. Romine is Asst. County Agent Sam Eich, Jr.

Hogs Prove Profitable Solution To Question Of Declining Acreage

For the small farmer, smitten with successive cuts in cotton acreage and facing an uncertain future, one way out of the dilemma appears to be the hog "business."

That, at least, is the advice of Earl Romine, who lives in the Romine community north of Rogersville, and has experienced the blows common to other small farmers in Lauderdale County.

And he should be well qualified to speak on the subject, for he's made the transition from cotton-to-hog producer successfully, and now has 26 brood sows, a registered boar and 89 pigs on his 52 acres.

Though he and his family had always kept a couple of sows to provide meat for the table, it was not until about two years ago that Mr. Romine, recognizing that the small farmer was steadily being driven out of the cotton business, decided to try his hand at hog production on a sizable scale.

To begin with, he acquired 15 sows and a registered Duroc boar, and began planning his field and crop program—with the help of Extension Service agents—to fit this new type of farming. He found a market for his hogs in Florence and other nearby points, and was thus encouraged to go on, although a farrowing house caught fire in his second year and burned five sows and a number of pigs. Fortunately, eight older sows broke out of the blazing house and saved themselves.

Only a few weeks ago Mr. Romine acquired one of four Landrace boars placed in Lauderdale County by Alabama Polytechnic Institute with the cooperation of the Florence Packing Co. This is a relatively new strain in this area, but it is a meat producer rather than a lard-type hog—and, as Mr. Romine points out, that's what the buyers are looking for. His sows are crosses of Hampshires and Durocs and Yorkshire Durocs.

The East Lauderdale farmer cited a recent shipment of hogs to the Florence market from Illinois, and it's hard for him to understand why this should be so when conditions are as favorable here as he has found them.

"There's a good market here for hogs," he says, "and we can raise them just as good as they can in the Corn Belt."

A large part of Mr. Romine's success with hogs, even a non-farmer can see, is the consistently large litters his sows and even gilts produce. One sow dropped a litter of 20 pigs, while five sows and four gilts are now nursing 89 little porkers between them. Some of these he will top out while some will be sold at eight weeks.

None of the Romine place is in the Soil Bank and just under five acres are devoted to cotton which, Mr. Romine says, he kind of wishes he had planted in corn. However, he has in 24 acres of corn which is expected to average 50 bushels to the acre—about twice the county average. He feeds his corn to the hogs, adding protein supplement and minerals as recommended by the Extension Service for a balanced ration. For grazing, his hogs have two acres of crimson clover and tye and three acres of Ladino clover.

He now has a good stand on nine acres of Ladino seeded according to recommendations and fertilized with two tons of lime, 400 pounds of 0-14-14 and, on three of the nine acres, an additional 1,600 pounds of slag.

We noticed three separate piles of pumpkins close to his hog lots and asked Mr. Romine if the hogs were getting them. He replied he fed some of them, and didn't see they did any harm, though Assistant County Agent Sam Eich, Jr., was quick to put in that the Extension Service doesn't recommend pumpkins as hog feed.

Before we left his place, Mr. Romine was trying to make the agent believe that most of his hogs' rations were pumpkins.

This cotton-turned-hog producer wants to increase his brood sows to 30 before leveling off his program, and he indicates he may cut out some row crops to reduce his annual $700 bill for outside labor. He devotes all his own time to his hogs and pastures.

The father of Alton (Monk) Romine, former Florence State gridiron star now playing end for the professional Green Bay Packers, Mr. Romine and his wife have two of their grandsons, both of whom are in school, living with them.

To the small farmer worried about his declining cotton acreage, Mr. Romine strongly recommends hog production, but he warns, "Don't go into it unless you mean to stay."

Telephone Talk

by FRANK REYNOLDS
Your Telephone Manager

The beauty of autumn colors in the turning leaves... the excitement of football... the hustle and bustle about town... no doubt about it, the fall season is once again under way. A busy season for you. A time when you depend more than ever on your good friend, the telephone! There's so much to be done... so many details to attend to. Just pick up your phone and away you whiz through a long list of "musts." Wonderful time-saver, the telephone. Gives you extra hours of leisure... saves you so many extra steps. You can make your telephone your "biggest bargain" in time... in convenience... and in the small cost of the service.

"Such a lovely home—it's a shame she doesn't have a bedroom extension phone."

A WOMAN'S WORLD? You'd think so sometimes, but I've decided they keep us men in mind most of the time. Take the matter of that bedroom extension phone. We're the ones who enjoy the luxury of reaching for the phone when it rings in the dead of night. No tripping over furniture or falling downstairs to answer it. They're pretty smart, these women, to insist on extension phones where they're most needed. And—to choose them in attractive colors, too. Actually, the whole family enjoys the fun and convenience of extra phones. Maybe you'd better look into it too. Call our Business Office any time. We'll be happy to give you all the details.

THE STATE OF THINGS in Alaska is of particular interest to all of us, now that Alaska is the 49th. Did you know that Alaskans make more telephone calls per person than folks in any other country!
