Architects Jury Named To Decide Reynolds Award

Consideration Is Given
Creative Value Using
Aluminum In Building

The American Institute of Architects has announced the names of five distinguished architects to serve as the Jury for the 1959 R. S. Reynolds Memorial Award for the most significant work of architecture, in the creation of which aluminum has been an important contributing factor.

The Reynolds Award — which consists of a $25,000 honorary payment plus an emblem — is international in character. The Jurors therefore have been selected by the AIA Board of Directors from both the U. S. and abroad.

Named to the Reynolds Award Jury were:

John Noble Richards of Toledo, Ohio; Eero Saarinen of Bloomfield Hills, Michigan; Robert E. Alexander of Los Angeles, California; William W. Caudill of Corning, New York; and Carlos Contreras of Mexico City, Mexico.

The Jury will meet in Washington May 11 and 12 to consider nominations for the 1959 Award. The Chairman, selected by the Jury, will announce the recipient of the Award within a week after judging is completed.

The Award will be presented at the annual convention of The American Institute of Architects in the summer of 1959.

The Reynolds Memorial Award is conferred annually and prime consideration is given to the creative value of the architect's contribution to the use of aluminum, and its potential influence on the architecture of our times, rather than to the size or type of structure.

The American Institute of Architects administers the nominations, Jury selection and all other aspects of the Award.

Florence State Okehed For Educational Loans

Initial Allocation Said Far Short
Of Amount Needed; Forms Available

Dr. E. B. Norton, President of Florence State College announced this week that United States Office of Education has approved the college for Federal funds which will be used for the making of low-interest loans to needy students in the National Defense Student Loan Program. Actual receipt of the funds is expected around the middle of February.

The money is being made available under provisions of the National Defense Education Act of 1958 and the Act is being administered by the United States Office of Education.

The specific purpose of the Student Loan Program is to stimulate and assist in the establishment of institutions of higher education of funds for the making of low-interest loans to needy students to pursue their courses of study in such institutions, Dr. Norton pointed out.

The initial allocation of funds is small, and in fact, very far short of the amount needed to meet established needs. As long as the limited funds are available, the college will make loans to needy students who are doing satisfactory work in the field of study at Florence State. It should be pointed out, however, that the

Haden, revenue commissioner; Ralph Smith Jr., legal adviser; Maj. Gen. Henry V. Graham, adjutant general; Joseph G. Robertson, executive secretary; Ralph

To Act Promptly On Segregation If Need Arises

Warning of a break-down in highway construction, Gov. John Patterson this week asked a Special Legislative Session to authorize the issuance of $60 million in revenue bonds for a comprehensive four-year highway program.

"We are duty bound to give the people a good road program, and that is the kind of program that I present to you today," the governor told legislators at the opening session Tuesday. He called his highway program "an investment in the future."

Gov. Patterson called the Special Session because of the urgent need for State funds to match Federal funds already available.

This is a real emergency requiring immediate action to protect the interest of all the citizens of this state and to prevent irreparable injury to the state and its highway and road system," Mr. Patterson said. "If we do not take immediate action to remedy this situation, our road program will break down and we will run the risk of losing Federal funds available for road building in this state."

During the next four years, the governor said Alabama would be allotted more than $326 million in Federal funds for road construction. "In order to take advantage of this tremendous opportunity to build highways and roads for the future, the State of Alabama must provide approximately $99 million for matching purposes," Gov. Patterson said.

"Thus, we will put up $99 million and receive in return over $326 million."

In this same period, the state anticipates revenues from gasoline taxes and other sources for matching purposes of only about $36 million. The governor said it was "absolutely necessary," therefore, that the state sell $60 million of bonds to meet the needs of the highway program.

Mr. Patterson said sufficient revenues were coming into the Highway Department to finance the entire highway program during his administration, including the financing of the $60 million bond issue. "The entire highway program including the bond issue will not require the levying of any additional taxes upon the people," he said.

Nearly two-thirds of the state funds earmarked for the highway program are to be spent on rural roads. Gov. Patterson said 63 per cent of the available state funds would be used on roads in rural areas and the remaining 37 per cent on urban and inter-state roads.

The $60 million bond issue will provide "a splendid highway and road program for every city, county and community in this state," legislators were told.

"This is what we need and it is the best program that we can devise for our people," the governor said. "I have had the assistance of some of the best legal and financial advisors and the best highway engineers in this state in developing this program."

Mr. Patterson asked the legislators to "take action on the passage of these bills immediately so that we can keep the present highway program going without any let-up and so that we can lay out our plans for highway construction for the years ahead." Bills authorizing the bond issue were introduced in the Legislature.

Looks At Segregation
"Recent legal developments concerning segregation of the races in the public schools is cause for alarm," Mr. Patterson said. "We must reappraise our laws, keep constantly abreast of all developments in this field, and be prepared to act promptly to preserve segregation of the races."

"It is our duty to bring to the citizens of Alabama the kind of government they are entitled to—a government that is honest, efficient and progressive," Gov. Patterson told the legislators. "I am looking forward to working closely with each of you during the coming four years."

Seven Virginia Schools Submit To Integration

Quiet Prevails As General Assembly
Seeks Way To Lessen Race Mixing

While Virginia's Governor J. Lindsay Almond and the General Assembly sought ways for minimizing integration of the races in the state's public school system, Negroes were admitted to seven schools in Norfolk and Arlington counties, following a decree that nullified Virginia's "massive resistance" law.

Special police details turned out to maintain order but for the most part the admission of Negro students to the formerly all-white schools passed off without incident other than some white boys set off some firecrackers and were sent home.

A bomb scare at one of the schools was found to be a hoax and authorities ruled out evacuation of the Stratford Junior High building at Arlington.

Enrollment figures at Norfolk showed 6,443 students on hand at six schools, the tabulation including a total of 17 Negro students enrolled under a federal court order. Officials said it was far less than the estimated figure which they had figured last September at 9,950 youngsters. School Superintendent J. J. Brewbaker however said he figured an enrollment of about 75 per cent or something like 7,400 students.

In the Virginia legislature, now in emergency session, segregationists were outspoken in their denunciation of the integration edict handed down by the state's Supreme Court and the Federal Court.

It was described by Delegate Sam Pope as, "one of the blackest days Virginia has faced since reconstruction."

Said Sen. Miles Godwin, "The rape of our constitution is an accomplished fact."

Segregationists, while hunting hopefully for some new legal angle with which to fight integration, appeared to have little chance of coming up with anything effective. A school closure bill introduced as a counter-measure was defeated in the Virginia Senate.

Governor J. Lindsay Almond and members of the legislature voiced approval of the quiet transition which took place in both Arlington and Norfolk as for the first time in Virginia's history, Negroes attended white schools.

President Eisenhower, who sent troops to Little Rock to enforce mixing races in that city's high school, applauded Virginia's peaceful integration.

Both Norfolk and Arlington plan to keep police standing by for several more days in case of trouble, it was stated. At Arlington police were equipped with riot gear that included gas masks, walkie-talkie radios, loud speakers, helmets, plus the usual revolvers and night sticks.

Governor Almond, it was announced, is setting up a special commission to draw long-range plans for establishing a system of part private and part public schools.

● Sixty-five of the 73 persons aboard a sleek American Airlines Turboprop passenger plane that plunged into the murky waters of the East River Tuesday night, perished despite rescue efforts by harbor craft. The plane's pilot, using instruments due to bad weather, was attempting to find the runway at La Guardia Field when the tragedy occurred.

● Vincent Astor, 67, multimillionaire head of the American branch of the Astor family since his father went down with the Titanic in 1912, died of a heart attack Tuesday, in his 1959 Manhattan apartment. Astor, a fifth generation member of one of the great families that helped build New York City, was a grandson of "The Mrs. Astor" who established New York City's famous society "400" left no children to inherit his tremendous fortune, estimated at around $100 million.

● Thomas S. Gates, Jr., has resigned his post as Secretary of the Navy. It was announced Tuesday. Gates resignation will take effect June 1. William B. Franke, under-secretary of the Navy, has been appointed to replace Gates. Moving into Franke's place will be Fred A. Bantz, now assistant secretary of the Navy for materiel.

Traffic Problem Grows At ECM Expansion Site

Traffic conditions and routes in the area of Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital in Florence are temporarily impeded due to the construction now under way in the hospital expansion program, R. C. Barnes, administrator, reported.

With the front of the present hospital structure already torn off and with work under way on the front, back, and east sides, and with Alabama Street in front of the hospital blocked, access to the hospital is now possible only from the west side, Mr. Barnes said.

Ambulances and automobiles carrying patients to the hospital who cannot walk will gain access by this method: Swing around on Riverview Drive and turn to the right after passing Dr. M. C. Dunn's residence, thereby heading into the hospital parking lot on the west side. There an access road cuts in west of the laundry and comes into the hospital at that point via the snack bar.

This access road is only for ambulances and cars bringing people to and from the hospital who cannot walk. Others must use the west side parking lot, which has been extended by the addition of temporary parking facilities.

Signs at the intersections of College and Locust Streets and Alabama and Locust Streets route the traffic down Riverview Drive and then additional signs point out the way to entering the hospital.

Mr. Barnes said that it is hoped that Alabama Street will be opened to traffic again in a few weeks, when the use of Riverview Drive will be discontinued, but the road leading down to the nurses home will be blocked for a number of months, he said.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. B. Cranwell, and their family, on North Wood, is her sister, Mrs. Tom Neely, Jr., of Atlanta.

● The battle of the petitions now claims the interest of the people of Florence as the voters are being sounded out as to their feelings regarding the proposed change in the city's government. The first petition to face the voters was that sponsored by the Florence League of Women Voters. In this petition it is proposed that the city have an adequate city manager form of government with a three-man city commission serving full time. The second group of petitions asks that an opportunity be given to vote a change in city government to a full-time mayor, adequately paid, and two additional commissioners, acting on a part-time basis. Now, we learn, that a third petition may be circulated. This petition, too, calls for a change from the present form of city government to that of a full-time, adequately paid mayor and a city council composed of one man from each ward in the city. The latter, it is pointed out by the sponsors, is the most democratic of all systems proposed. Although the petitions calling for a strong, full-time mayor have been in circulation but a week, 6 of 14 petitions checked Wednesday afternoon showed 240 had signed for this system. A wholehearted approval of the plan is reported. No information as to the number backing the other plans is available.

● With interest growing throughout the city in the proposal to change the form of Florence's government, it is certain that a measure to bring about a change will go before the next session of the Legislature, after which the people will be able to express their wishes at the polls. Everyone agrees that Florence has outgrown its present system of government and with the future appearing so bright, the time to act is now.

● Another note of progress in Lauderdale County is the interest being shown in the proposed Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway (a name suggested by an interested person) that would connect Waterloo with Counce, Tenn., a distance of 16 miles, along the beautiful stretch of the Tennessee River in the western part of the county. A meeting tonight at Waterloo has been called to discuss measures necessary to bring to fruition this badly needed highway and it is expected that an association with this as its goal will be organized.

● It is a real pleasure to carry the information that a new plant is locating in Florence. It has been some years since a completely new addition to Florence's industrial development could be announced. We extend a warm and cordial welcome to President John Wall and Plant Manager H. G. Sheehan of the Permanent Machine and Tool Co., of Detroit, as they cast their lot with us. Mr. Wall, a native of Paris, Tenn., has made a tremendous success of his efforts in the Michigan city and we predict an even greater success here where he is assured of every cooperation.

● The little fellow answered the doorbell and the visitor asked if his father and mother were in. "They was in," said the boy, "but they is out now." "They was in. They is out. My, my, where's your grammar?" asked the visitor. "She's gone up stairs to lay down," answered the youngster.

● Pickets picketing a machinery supply company in Portland, Ore., were picketed by pickets protesting that the original pickets were carrying picket signs made in a non-union shop.

● There's a lot of our friends who are known for the hard bargains they drive, but the hardest bargain to drive is an old-model, second-hand car.

● Unlike their grandmas, older career girls now pray for the day when they will be sixty-two and eligible for social security.

A Scout Is Friendly

The fourth point of the Boy Scout Law reads, "A Scout is friendly. He is a friend to all and a brother to every other Scout."

Now, as the Boy Scouts of America celebrate their 49th anniversary during Boy Scout Week, February 7 to 13, let us see how this friendliness is fostered.

Friendships form readily in the Cub Scout pack, Boy Scout troop, and Explorer unit as their programs promote democratic ways of living together.

The weekly neighborhood den meetings of the Cub Scouts who are eight, nine, and ten years old are full of fun as they take on themes of American history, geography, natural science, and safety. At monthly pack meetings where they put on interesting demonstrations and program features, the Cub Scouts meet and know the parents of members of the other neighborhood dens.

The Boy Scouts, over eleven, make friends as they form patrols in the troop, elect their own boy leaders, and plan their programs. These friendships are strengthened as they camp and hike together.

The new Exploring program for high-school age young men provides a series of social experiences that help Explorers increase their skill in working and living with others.

World Scouting today in 67 nations finds 7,589,183 enrolled.

America's Scouts make friends with those of other lands at the world Scout jamborees usually held every four years. Several hundred American lads will camp together with about 12,000 others from all parts of the world at the Tenth World Jamboree in the Philippines next July 17 to 26.

Through the World Friendship Fund of voluntary contributions since 1944, Boy Scouts of America have helped less fortunate brother Scouts of other lands.

We congratulate the Boy Scouts on their 49th milestone.

How Long Can We Endure

Karl Marx in his manifesto one hundred years ago attacked the capitalistic world with its private enterprise system and its right of private ownership. Among the most important of the ten planks outlined by Marx were two devoted to taxation as a means of destroying the capitalistic system:

1. "A heavy progressive or graduated tax."
2. "Abolition of all right of inheritance"—in other words a 100 per cent inheritance tax.

By such means Marx knew he could dry up sources of capital and thereby destroy the capitalistic system and establish communism in its stead. Marx knew this was the most potent weapon of all for many reasons.

First the personal income tax, if levied at sufficiently high and heavily progressive rates, would reduce one of the main sources of capital upon which industrial and economic progress depends. Likewise the capital gains tax and the inheritance tax would still further reduce the supply of money.

Taxation based on "ability to pay" is a political concept and not an actual truth. It has no defined limits nor is it based on any comprehensive mathematical principle. Carried to its logical conclusion it would mean the virtual reduction of all incomes after taxes to the same level . . . the very essence of communism. Those who support such a doctrine, and there are many, are in effect supporting the Marxist theory whether they realize it or not. There have been many bills over the past several years advocating a return to the 25 per cent income tax limit. Sponsors of this very vital proposal have endeavored to show that the 25 per cent limit, if adopted and enforced, would not only restore our vital human rights and economic stability, but would raise production and increase the availability of risk capital, now sorely needed.

It will take a strong popular demand upon the Congress to restore the 25 per cent maximum tax limit. No spending government ever gave up its spending voluntarily. A strong centralized, bureaucratic government cannot exist without money and it will fight from every angle to preserve its advantage.

In a recent speech Senator William E. Jenner of Indiana, (now retired), had this to say:

"The members of this body have seen the growing demand by the public for reduced spending and lower taxes which reached its peak last year. Senators remember how angrily the public protested the Eisenhower budget for fiscal 1959. Yet we have seen this year the wildest spending debauch ever engaged in by any Congress. I have chosen these words deliberately. Nothing in the New Deal, nothing in World War II, and nothing in the post war years or Korea, is anything like as outrageous as was the spending spree of 1958.

The Administration had virtually achieved a balanced budget in 1957 and was trying to pay back part of the debt that now costs us $8 billion a year in interest alone.

Where is the surplus now? Gone with the wind. The Secretary of the Treasury says we went into the red nearly $3 billion in the year just ended. The deficit will be perhaps $12 billion this year. We have thrown away the hope of a balanced budget for years to come."

The American people, the senator avers, can stand inflation, even the loss of every dollar they have accumulated . . . "but they cannot stand the moral deterioration, the intellectual decadence, that the flight to inflation brings. The men in Congress who push American economy over the brink from financial responsibility to runaway inflation, will have to answer for the destruction of everything political, economic, moral and intellectual that has made America strong."

It is hard not to agree with the Senator's logic which points out that the people cannot afford to remain apathetic in the face of both confiscatory taxation and confiscatory spending. Somewhere and somehow it will have to stop.

The time is dangerously short.

Switzerland's male voters, who regard politics as strictly a man's business, overwhelmingly rejected Sunday a proposal to allow women to vote in federal elections and run for national office. Dr. T. Keith Glennan, the nation's civilian space chief, warned Tuesday that Americans "must roll up their sleeves" for a long expensive space program or buy telescopes to watch Russia's triumphs. Prince Rainier Suspends Monaco Constitution

Prince Rainier suspended the constitution and disbanded the Legislature last week to show that he alone was boss of every one of Monaco's 368 acres. The action—accomplished in the grand style of a Hollywood production—plunged the tiny principality into what might be termed a "crisis." But there was no real threat to Rainier's rule.

Smog Smothers Britain

Choking gray smog blanketed southern Britain last Friday, raising fears of a repetition of the 1952 smog that killed 12,000 persons. The poison content of the fog gradually built up as the black shroud trapped smoke and other fumes which normally would rise away from the public's breath space. Householders were asked to cut down on coal fires to reduce the smoke.

Dr. Louis H. Evans Dr. Lippincott To Exchange Speaker Speak At College

Distinguished Lecturer Tells Of Religious State In Washington, Nation

Dr. Louis Hadley Evans, minister-at-large of the Board of National Missions of the United Presbyterian Church, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Florence Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon. The Rev. J. V. C. Summerell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church, a guest, presented the speaker.

Dr. Evans delighted the membership and a large number of guests when he took over the direction of Religion in Washington. Fully qualified having observed the capitol city's religious habits while serving the church attended by President Eisenhower and his family, Dr. Evans stressed the return to religious observances that is prevalent throughout the city and the national government. He told of the religious atmosphere in the Pentagon, as well as in the other branches of the government. Pointing out how the American people literally kill modern day presidents, Dr. Evans described the criticisms and caricatures that fill the newspapers regarding each and every act of the presidents. He also said that the position of Secretary of State is a man-killer and the Secretary truly has a heavy cross to bear.

Recalling the fact that General MacArthur, after World War II, when he took over the direction of affairs of Japan immediately called for religious aid and more missionaries to assist him in the governing of that beaten country.

The address of Dr. Evans was described as being the most fruitful heard by the Exchange and its guests in many years.

Programs Throughout Nation Begin Saturday, Continue Through 13th

Boy Scout Week marking the 49th anniversary of the organization in America will be observed beginning Saturday, February 7, through Friday, February 13.

Boys and leaders arranged programs involving parents of Scouts, institutions sponsoring the units, and officials of numerous communities, large and small.

Boy Scout Week activities will show each community the value of Scouting as a program for boys and young men.

The final year of the Four-Year Program, "Onward for God and My Country," is launched during this anniversary.

Units who have successfully carried out activities in each of the three phases of our National Safety Good Turn of last year will be honored. These covered traffic, outdoor, and home safety.

Boy Scout Sunday will be observed in many churches with Scouts and leaders attending services in uniform. Those of Jewish faith will hold their observances in synagogues and temples tomorrow (Friday) evening and Saturday.

Visiting Scientist On Campus This Week In Interest Of Chemistry

The program of visiting scientists, sponsored by the Division of Chemical Education of the American Chemical Society of the National Science Foundation, has assigned to Florence State College, Dr. D. W. Lippincott, associate professor of Chemistry at the University of Florida. His visit is made possible by the Danforth Committee.

Dr. Lippincott is on campus this week through Friday, meeting with various chemistry classes for conferences with students and faculty members. He will speak to a general convocation in Kilby Auditorium this morning at 10 o'clock and tonight at 7 o'clock in Rogers Hall he will address a joint meeting of Kappa Mu Epsilon, honor mathematics fraternity, Beta Beta Beta, biology group, and Student Affiliates of the American Chemical Society. Friday noon he will be guest speaker at the Florence Kiwanis Club.

Earlier on the faculties of Capital University, Ohio State and Michigan State University, Dr. Lippincott received his doctorate at Ohio State.

Although especially interested in the teaching of general chemistry, he offers advanced courses in physical organic chemistry.

Dr. Lippincott has recently become interested in the problem of secondary school science and has taught chemistry at two National Science Foundation summer institutes for teachers. He has started a program for helping in service science teachers in Florida.

The objectives of the program are to strengthen and stimulate the chemical programs in colleges, to provide the chemical staff and major students in colleges with opportunities for contacts with productive and creative chemists, and to aid in the motivation of able college and secondary-school students for careers in chemistry and the teaching of chemistry.

The Rogers Pirates will be the newest entry into the football ranks come next fall.

The final action on the matter was taken last Monday night when a committee of interested citizens met at the high school and mapped out plans for a fund raising drive.

The committee, which will meet every Monday night for reports and to map future plans, has set an initial goal of $5,000. Most of this amount will go for equipment and the rest toward the new athletic field.

The group urges all persons interested in the project to attend the next meeting Monday night. Funeral services for M. L. Hall were held at Shiloh Church of Christ Saturday at 2 o'clock with Aldon Hendrix and Fulmer Roberts officiating. Burial was in the adjoining cemetery.

Marcy B. Darnall Has Varied Career

Versatile Publisher Of Herald, Now Retired, Has Won Many Honors

By NELLE BIGBEE
News Correspondent

Marcy B. Darnall observed his 87th birthday Tuesday. Few men can look back on the varied, interesting life he has experienced. Darnall served in both the Army, Navy, was a bandmaster, Editor and publisher, postmaster, a legislator and author of syndicated editorials which were published in every state. At his Florence home Darnall is surrounded by trophies and scrapbooks of his careers.

But don't get the impression he's too concerned about past happenings. The latest books and encyclopedia covering every subject are on his desk. The thing he enjoys most about the sunset years is to pursue his favorite hobbies of reading and listening to good music.

"I GET INTERESTED in my grandchildren's textbooks and enjoy studying biology," he said. He stays up nightly until after midnight to listen to radio programs of classical music. "They don't play good music during the daytime," he pointed out. And being retired, he can sleep late mornings.

Of all his experiences, he enjoys his music the most.

"I played a clarinet, and was a bandmaster during and after the Spanish-American War," he said. "In fact, I got in the Army on my musical ability. We left our instruments on the ship and when we reached San Juan we marched all night. That was in May, 1898."

"I was a private with the 20th U. S. Infantry."

BEFORE HE SAILED, however, romance entered his life. Soldiers enroute to Cuba passed through Missouri and a group of ladies from a seminary met the train with bouquets of flowers. Hidden among the flowers were the girls' names and addresses. Being the studious type, Marcy Darnall didn't stop reading a book. Another soldier who had five bouquets handed him one.

"Here," he said, "I can't write to all these girls. You take this one." He did. Her name was Leticia Milliken, and they celebrated their 60th wedding anniversary Jan. 23. Together they published The Florence Herald until they retired four years ago.

These Southern Railway Dollars stayed home!

THE RAILROAD that "Serves the South" is more than a mass transportation service vital to the economic development of the young and fast-growing Southland. To the hundreds of communities along its lines, Southern Railway is an important home-town industry, too.

Many of the dollars that the railroad receives from its customers in a community never leave town. They "stay home" to create jobs, to buy goods and services of all kinds—and to help pay local taxes. Of every $100 the Southern received last year in Revenues, $86.05 was paid out for wages, materials and supplies and taxes. $15 million went for state and local taxes alone.

A good share of all of our dollars are stay-at-home dollars that stimulate local business and contribute to the economic well-being of the territory we serve.

Not only is the 8,100-mile Southern System one of the Southland's largest industries. It is hundreds of local industries as well, that benefit the Southern's friends and neighbors throughout the South.

THIS, TOO, IS TEXAS EASTERN

Have You Ever Wondered Just Where Your Natural Gas Supply Comes From?

Twist a valve on your range. Instantly a blue natural gas flame appears! Where did it come from?

If your local distributor is supplied natural gas by Texas Eastern, that gas could have come from the wells on the bayous of Louisiana...or from the rolling plains of Texas...or even from as far away as the brown hills of northeastern Mexico...via pipeline.

Texas Eastern's pipeline system stretches from Mexico to New York, passing through 15 states. There are more than 6,100 miles of pipe of varying sizes in the system. Sixty-one compressor stations, located every 50 to 75 miles, supply the horsepower required to move large volumes of gas through the lines. In addition, there are 417 special points where we buy gas for our pipeline and 114 points where the gas is sold to distributors.

Last year, more than 600 billion cubic feet of gas were delivered to distributors serving millions of homes and thousands of factories. Next year the quantity will be even greater.

To operate the 6,100 miles of pipeline, Texas Eastern requires the diversified talents of nearly 2,000 people: engineers, construction workers, chemists, mechanics, electricians, welders, oilers, compressor operators, communication and electronic experts, maintenance men, right-of-way men, accountants, and a whole host of clerical help.

Operation and maintenance of the system is continuous. Maintenance crews are stationed about every 100 miles along the pipeline. Because the pipeline, other than at the compressor stations, runs underground, the right-of-way is constantly patrolled. In congested areas, this is done on foot or by automobile; in other areas by airplane.

Keeping this giant system filled with gas is the responsibility of our gas supply section. These people contract with producers to obtain gas for transmission to markets. They have done their work so well that today our reserves—gas available for the future—total more than 12 trillion cubic feet—and they are being increased every year.

The staff that manages the gas system and is responsible for all present and future planning has its headquarters in Shreveport, Louisiana.

From sun-up to sun-down, gas moves continuously silently and dependably through our pipelines from Mexico to New York so that any time, day or night—at your command—a warming gas flame can be brought to life.

AN ITEM OF NOTE concerns the move from Decatur to New York made recently by Chemstrand's president . . . Ed O'Neal and (wife) Mildred . . . making it a sort of family affair . . . with their two daughters already at home in the Big Town . . . as well as (his sister) Amelia O'Neal Nuessle . . . "And they're urging me constantly . . ." we heard delightful Florentine Julia O'Neal say in regard to her children . . . which gave us a bad moment until she added . . . "But I'm not going to be swayed . . ." After that we breathed again . . .

A LOVELY PICTURE of a lovely girl is that which smiled at us recently from the pages of the New Orleans Times-Picayune . . . Emily Hayne Walker . . . Queen of the Carnival Ball . . . is the daughter of (Em and) James Walker . . . whose forebears lived for many years in the old homeplace at the corner of Wood and Jackson Highways (more recently known as the Martin home) . . . Nostalgic memories will come to many at the very mention of this gracious family . . . whose remaining tie with Florence is our charming Willie McFarland . . . The Walkers have been . . . for many years . . . as prominent in the social life of The Crescent City as they once were in our North Alabama town.

IF WE CAN believe what we hear . . . there'll be some interesting reading available to us in the not-too-distant future . . . Seems that Lula Massey was joined at Virginia Beach by her traveling companion . . . Mae Galliford . . . and that they've been busily engaged in writing the memoirs of their last-year's trip around the world . . . We can hardly wait . . .

BEAUTIFUL . . . BUT even so . . . it's wise to watch your step . . . 'Twas at the lovely entrance to Mapleton . . . home of Cara and (Doctor) Bill Slaton . . . that Mary Wallace Kirk slipped and received a painful injury . . . Able to be out with friends again . . . though continuing to experience discomfort . . . Madam extends sympathy and blows an admiring kiss to a favorite person . . .

SOMETIME THIS WEEK is as close as Tillie Stricklin could come to naming the time when she and (hubby) Bob will take-off for St. Petersburg, Florida, and a visit with Laura and Otho Peritt in their new trailer-home . . . They expect to remain for several glorious weeks of fun and sun . . . and pleasant camaraderie . . .

MARKING HER SECOND milestone . . . Laura Roberts was joined by a small group of small fry at the home of gran'momma and gran'poppa Minnie and (Doctor) Shaler last Saturday afternoon . . . as she celebrated in no small way . . . before returning next day to her North Carolina home with (parents) Marjorie and (Doctor) Shaler, Jr., and older sister . . .

Numbered among the guests was six-month-old Jody Meade . . . son of Hazel and Joe of Lauderdale Beach on-the-lake . . . who (accompanied by gran'momma Bess) enjoyed with relish his first social engagement . . .

WE'LL BE WATCHIN' for you at The Town Club on Tuesday morning when Ruth Flagg . . . Olive McGraw and Duley Teel gather their friends 'round them for "a cuppa coffee" . . . It's another "can't wait" for us . . . to which we expect to arrive early and remain for the duration . . .

AND NOW . . . CHEERIO and goodby . . . until more news comes through The Spillway . . .

Pipeline milkers with leaky valves cause acid to form in the milk and give it a bad taste, studies show.

A week of registration and the first few days of classes ended Friday with the Coronation Ball. The walls of the gym were white, thanks to a roll of newspaper; along the right wall tables covered in white (sheets) and lighted by candles in bottles were partitioned from the dance floor by "trees" in large pots. At intervals among the potted trees stood old fashioned lamp posts.

All of this, with a little imagination, was reminiscent of a Parisian street cafe. At about 9:30 Friday night David Robinson, and Jane Mills, last year's Mr. and Miss FSC, led Jimmy Moore and Barbara Brown and their court across the ballroom. Kneeling before Jane and David, the new Mr. and Miss Florence State College received their crowns, then led the court onto the floor for the lead-out dance.

The change in registration procedure this semester turned out to be one of those things that proves how few people read instructions. The registration line was supposed to enter from the opposite end of Bibb Graves last week and naturally everyone entered the usual way and had to turn around and start over. People are funnier than anybody.

Classes started Wednesday, two days earlier than usual, so they're well on the way to getting organized. Registration period isn't over yet, though, so people are still coming in. It will be another week or so before everything gets settled.

This year's Diorama beauties will be chosen from ten girls selected by the staff—Skipper Carter, Town Creek; Madeline Hillman, Florence; Janelle Holley, Florence; Tonita Kilgo, Florence; Pam Whitt, Decatur; Lois Lumpkin, Florence; Marilyn Wiley, Tusculumbia; Jean Tipton, Florence; Mary Buck Martin, Parrish, Tenn.; Nell Wade, Phil Campbell.

electricity for better living

In winter, you use more electricity than at any other time of the year. More lighting for inside activities and relaxation . . . more cooking, especially during holidays . . . more hot water for cleaning and laundry . . . more heating for comfort . . . more viewing of television for entertainment. You enjoy more electrical living in winter because you're inside your home more of the time.

And because you use more electricity, your average cost per kilowatt-hour is at its lowest . . . giving you a real buy in comfort, convenience and livability. In winter — more than ever — electricity is your best bargain for better living.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH
The Church is the greatest factor in the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

*Mt. Whitney in California: 14,996 feet high! Just one of the spires of the Cathedral we live in.

When God made this world of ours he gave us many a glimpse of Himself. In the towering peaks we see His dignity—in the fertile plains, His providence—in the wild storms, His wrath—in the shimmering rainbow, His mercy—in the mighty falls, His strength—in the mirror lake, His peace.

But to reveal His Love—the greatest quality of God's nature—He gave us His Son, Jesus Christ... born in a stable... slain on a cross... risen to reign forever.

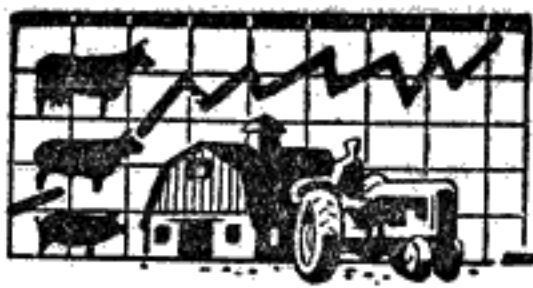

This world is the Cathedral in which men worship Him. Its altars are the churches to which the faithful throng.

Life is God's gift: To live in His Cathedral... and work... and play... and WORSHIP!

Corner on Cotton

By BOB COLLINS

There is a growing concern in the cotton trade over the handling of Choice "A" cotton... the law says the CCC must purchase the "A" cotton to support it... this puts the government in business as never before... prior to this the farmer always had the choice of withdrawing his supported cotton from the loan if he wished... now there is no choice on "A" cotton... much of the concern centers around the destruction of the competitive marketing system... if normal trade channels are not maintained the farmer may have no place to sell his cotton except to the government and there'll be no chance of selling it for the "best" price because there'll only be one price: The one set by the government... remember the story about the camel that sticks his nose in the tent?... then the first thing you know he's all the way inside... surely there is a way to preserve normal trade channels and it's worth any amount of trouble to keep as much of the camel out of the tent as is possible.

Agricultural Reminders

By SAM EICH
Asst. County Agent

We shall briefly cover the subject of UTD farms, in the county, this week.
There are twenty-six Unit Test Demonstration farms in Lauderdale County located in different communities in order for other farm people in these communities to observe recommended practices and results, thus broadening the use and effectiveness of each farmer as a demonstrator.
Farmers need know the value, effect and the best method of the use of fertilizer materials tied in with recommended farming practices for a well-balanced, profitable farming.
Efficient use of fertilizer on Unit Test Demonstration farms tied in with other recommended sound farming practices offer opportunities to help farmers in the county increase their net farm income.

Most of the UTD farmers in the county are taking or planning to take soil tests at this time to determine correct amount and grades of fertilizers to use on the different crops on their farms.
Other farmers besides the UTD farmers are taking soil tests this year so that they may realize higher income by following recommended and tried practices.
We at the County Agent's office will be glad to assist all interested in the soil testing program in any way we can.
