The Passing Parade
1884 - 1959

No matter what the operation may be, there is always a better way to do it. That's the way Jim Wilson, Florence's affable city clerk viewed the situation when he invented the Diaper-Tender, now being produced by a Chattanooga firm that has nationwide distribution facilities. Although it has been several years since we found ourselves with the delicate task of cleaning diapers, should we have owned one of Jim Wilson's plastic "tenders" the job could have been done easily, effectively and certainly with no restraint. We predict a fabulous demand for this handy gadget and the royalties that should accrue to the inventor should be considerable.

● A Sunday or so ago, we got it into our thinking apparatus that we wanted to pay a visit to Bailey Springs, that famous old resort that was the mecca of society at the turn of the century and was so popular throughout this area until a decade ago. Well—if you have the same mind's-eye picture of Bailey Springs as we did and have not visited the scene for a number of years, forget the urge. You'll be unhappy if you let nostalgia get the best of you. The entire picture is changed—there's nothing left to remind you of the gay old days but the blowing spring, and it is a painful walk to reach this last surviving landmark.

● It was one of those quiet (?) discussions on the 10th of the month when the old boy was trying to reconcile the balance in his checking account with the stack of monthly bills before him. "You'll drive me to my grave," he quietly (?) remarked. She disappeared—but in three minutes had the car ready for the drive.

● We have just learned why the front seats of the new automobile are so wide. The extra space in the center is for the finance man to sit between the equity owner and his wife.

● A friend, who has just returned from a vacation trip through the Blue Ridge Mountains, tells us that he and his wife stopped at a one-pump gas station in a remote section as they had apparently gotten off the main line of traffic. After telling the mountaineer-operator to fill the tank, his wife asked: "Is there a rest room here?" "No, ma'am, there's none here at the station but you'll find a mighty comfortable rock up there on the porch."

● TVA Director Brooks Hayes, addressing a large group recently, described how he was taught public speaking at college. "At the beginning of the course," he said, "each of us was given a mouthful of marbles through which we had to speak. Everyday we were allowed to reduce the number by one marble. We became accredited public speakers," added the new TVA director, "as soon as we lost all our marbles."

Industry And Business Block Sales Tax Measure

Bill To Reduce Present Levy Has Strong Backing By Administration

Industry and business in Alabama combined Wednesday to block passage of a sales-tax-reducing bill that would knock out many millions in industrial exemptions. The Nichols-Mead bill, which would reduce state sales tax from 3 to 2½ per cent, was reported favorably by the Ways and Means committee and received its second reading in the House on Tuesday. It was backed by the Administration forces who attempted to push the measure through the lower chamber before the Legislature recesses for the week.

Gov. John Patterson, pledging his support to the bill publicly, said, "It is a very fine piece of legislation and has the blessings of my administration. It will help shift the tax burden to those better able to pay." He said his administration would get behind it and "push it with all we've got."

The bill received a dramatic sendoff when Rep. Joe Smith of Russell County made a stirring appeal with tears coursing down his cheeks. Smith sat down to thunderous applause by his colleagues and a large number of school leaders in the back of the chamber and in its galleries.

Smith, chairman of the House Ways and Means Committee, took the floor in an effort to bring the bill to a vote. He defended the acts of the committee in reporting the bill out favorably without a public hearing. He admitted requests for public hearings had been made by certain industrial groups. He said, however, they were the same groups whose representatives had come to Montgomery to testify against various other tax-raising proposals.

The present 3 per cent sales tax with a number of farm and industrial exemptions, produces some $70 million annually for education. However it is estimated that if all the exemptions were removed schools would receive $52 million more.

The Nichols-Mead bill, which would reduce the sales tax rate by ½ per cent, would remove enough of the exemptions to bring in $31 million more than the schools are currently receiving.

Grand Jury Will Probe Stabbing

Florence Native Slain In November 1958 In Hardin County, Tenn.

A Hardin County, Tenn., Grand Jury is expected to investigate the death of Teddy Ralph Wood, 22-year-old Florence native, when it is empaneled Monday, July 20. Wood was fatally stabbed in the chest with a knife in November 1958.

Lindsey Brown, a resident of Hardin County, has been free under bond since last November on charges of murder in the first degree in the case. Lawrence Hairrell, who lives near Waterloo in Lauderdale County, is also under $1,000 bond as a material witness. He is alleged to have been an eye witness in the case.

Wood was killed last November 15 at approximately 9:30 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lilly D. Highland in the Walnut Grove community, six miles from the Alabama line inside Hardin. He was stabbed with a small hunting knife in the chest and in the side. Brown admitted the stabbing, but said it was done in self defense.

Late News

● Former Cuban Air Force Commander Pedro Luis Diaz Lanz, undaunted by a bomb scare that interrupted his congressional testimony charged Tuesday that Cuban Premier Fidel Castro is a Communist. Diaz, who fled Cuba by sailboat June 29, said the revolutionary leader has riddled his government with Reds and is preparing to turn Cuba into a Caribbean center of communism.

● Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey formally entered the race for the 1960 Democratic presidential nomination Tuesday and announced he will open his campaign in September. The 48-year-old Minnesota senator thus became the first of the major contenders to say he will seek the prize at the Democratic national convention in Los Angeles in July.

● Sen. John L. McClellan (D-Ark.) said Wednesday it is crystal clear James R. Hoffa never will clean up corruption in his Teamsters Union. The Senate rackets probers headed by McClellan wound up Tuesday a 2½ year investigation of Teamster President Hoffa and scandals in the union. Committee counsel Robert S. Kennedy said he has no plan for further questioning of Hoffa. But he said the committee still could change its mind and investigate the Teamsters further.

● A fashion show prepared for the American exhibition in Moscow, with scenes of Negroes and whites together at a wedding and a barbecue, will undergo drastic changes before it gets to Moscow. The changes will be made, in part, because of a petition signed by 41 fashion editors who saw the show Sunday and promptly raised a protest against the race-mixing scenes and others. They said the scenes were "not representative of the American way of life."

HOPE, TOO—City fathers of Shullsburg, Wis., prettying the town with new street signs, found they had Faith, Judgment, and Peace and Goodness—but no Hope. However, there will soon be Hope for Shullsburgers, including Kay Morrisey. An undedicated street has been given status—as well as the name, "Hope."

Reimbursement Of Dixon-Yates Upheld By Court

$1,867,545 In Damages Awarded Of Original 3½ Million Claimed

The U. S. Court of Claims Wednesday upheld the claim of the Dixon-Yates combine for damages because the government canceled its controversial power contract. The court was divided 3-2 and rejected the governments contention that the activities of Adolphe H. Wenzell constituted a conflict of interest.

The court rules that Dixon-Yates should be reimbursed for out-of-pocket costs before the contract was canceled. Judge J. Madden, who spoke for the majority, said the court saw "not the slightest conflict of interest in Wenzell's position." The court awarded $1,867,545.66, which was about what Dixon-Yates finally asked. The original claim was for $3½ million.

Wenzell served as a consultant to the Budget Bureau at the same time he was a salaried official of the First Boston Corp., which became financial agent for Dixon-Yates interests.

It was on this ground that the Justice Department contended the government should be relieved of paying anything to Dixon-Yates as a result of the contract cancellation.

The Dixon-Yates contract, entered into by the Atomic Energy Commission was headed by Lewis L. Strauss, called for a $107 million power plant at West Memphis, Ark. President Eisenhower had ordered the contract signed in 1954. He ordered the contract cancelled in 1955.

Zones Planned By Commission

Area Includes District Of Park, Post Office; Public Hearings Held

The Florence Planning Commission recommended to the City Commission last week that certain areas which include one large downtown area be re-zoned from residential to business property.

Public hearings were held Thursday night at the courtroom of the Municipal Building with the most significant recommendation by the Planning Board as follows:

The area, previously in R-3 zone, and including the Elks Home, portion of the Post Office property, former Brown Owen Tompkins residence area be re-zoned into the B-2 or general business district.

The area to be re-zoned begins at the intersection line of Seminary and Tuscaloosa, from there northeasterly along the center line of Tuscaloosa to the intersection with the center line of Walnut. From here it would go southeasterly along Walnut to the North margin of the present B-2 district, the southeasterly along the present boundary between Tompkins and Mobile to the center line of Seminary and back Northwesterly to the point of beginning.

Also included in this area are the First Baptist Church and First Cumberland Presbyterian Church. As this was only a recommendation from the Planning Commission, it is not a directive of the City Commission.

Mitchell Sermon Proves Rare Find

Manuscript Found By Dan Glenn Reveals Beautiful Penmanship

Proof that penmanship is a lost art was never better demonstrated than in an originally penned sermon by W. H. Mitchell, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church in Florence, great-grandfather of Attorney W. H. (Bill) Mitchell. The sermon was dated 1850 and is in the fine shaded scrip of that era when writing was done with a quill pen.

This rare document by the courageous preacher who was arrested by Union soldiers for praying for the Confederacy, was found among some rubbish in the house formerly occupied by the late R. M. Martin and recently purchased by Dan Glenn. Mr. Glenn's son spotted the sermon during the process of renovating the house. Mr. Martin was a grandson of the Reverend Mitchell.

To say that the sermon is outstanding because of the Reverend Mitchell's unique penmanship would be doing this man of God a great disservice. The eloquence of his language and his great understanding of the Gospel are equally outstanding and impressive. It is impossible, on reading it, not to be convinced of the man's complete and abiding faith and his deep belief in the spiritual values of life.

Mrs. Philip Arell, Florence, is in Montreat, N. C., attending the Advisory Committee meeting of Presbyterian Women of the Church. She will return home next week.

Lauderdale Wool Growers Prosper

Payment For 1958 To Be 70.3 Per Cent; Rate Is Highest In Four Years

Wool growers of Lauderdale County will receive a payment of 70.3 cents for each dollar's worth of shorn wool marketed during the 1958 marketing year, Chairman Joe J. Rasch of the Lauderdale County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee announced today.

The payment rate represents the percentage necessary to bring the national average price wool growers got for their wool during the year ending last March up to the established national incentive price of 62 cents per pound.

The payment rate on unshorn lambs to compensate for the wool on them will be $1.02 per hundred-weight of live animals sold. This payment is designed to maintain the normal practice of marketing lambs with the wool on, rather than shearing them to obtain the shorn wool payment.

The 1958 wool payment rate is the highest in the four years the program has been in operation, Chairman Rasch said. This is the result of relatively low prices received for wool in the market last year. For 1957, the first year of the program, the shorn wool incentive payment rate was 44.9 per cent; for 1956, it was 40 per cent; and for 1955, 15.5 percent.

County ASC offices expect to begin making the 1958 wool payments soon to growers who filed application by April 30, 1959. The payments are for wool and unshorn lambs marketed between April 1, 1958 and March 31, 1959.

CARNEGIE MEDAL FOR HEROINE—Shirley O'Neill, left, counselor with a San Francisco children's youth organization, will receive the Carnegie silver medal for heroism. Her feat: pulling a companion, mortally wounded by a shark off the San Francisco coast, to shore. With the medal goes a $750 cash award.

Following agreement between State Highway Director Sam Englehardt and Conservation Department Director William C. Younger that the Alabama link of the proposed Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway should be a joint project, Mr. Younger advised Mr. Englehardt on June 28 that he had directed the chief engineer of his department to make a study of the proposed route from the viewpoint of their department.

Much of the proposed route for this badly needed highway that will open up the dead-end area of West Lauderdale County, runs through the wildlife preserve that comes under the supervision and direction of the Conservation Department. This vast wooded section, covering many thousands of acres, is reached only by pathways improvised through the woods. Director Younger, appreciating the advantage of such a highway to the work of his department, is now in full accord and offering full cooperation to Director Englehardt and his department in what has developed into a joint project.

Governor Buford Ellington of Tennessee has joined in giving the highway his enthusiastic support and announced that Tennessee will go more than halfway in providing the type of highway through Hardin County to join Alabama at the state line that the development of this section needs and deserves.

Tennessee's Senator Albert Gore has previously joined with Alabama's Senator John Sparkman in pledging all-out support of the project.

In addition to the proposed Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway project, Mr. Englehardt said that progress on the ultra-modern Interstate Highway System has been good in the rural areas but slow in the large urban areas. When finished there will be 878 miles of four-lane, limited access Interstate Highways in Alabama. A total of 199 miles is now under construction, with contracts on 45 miles let during the last six months.

First National To Occupy New Addition Aug. 1

The First National Bank will move into its spacious new addition, which will more than double its floor space, on or about August 1, William H. Mitchell, president, advises.

Immediately after the move has been made, the old portion of the bank building will be completely rebuilt according to plans for the complete structure, which will make the banking facilities one of the most handsome and modern in the entire South.

The rapid growth of the First National Bank long ago outgrew its existing facilities and the completed building will make it possible to meet the increasing demands being made as the result of the growth and expansion of the area it serves, a bank official pointed out.

Miss Betty Ann Moore, Florence, is in Huntsville for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Keith Wible, and Mr. Wible.

Entire Economy Threatened As Talks Deadlock

Five hundred thousand workers in the nation's vast basic steel industry were idled Wednesday following a walkout that marked the sixth major shutdown since World War II.

At the urging of President Eisenhower both sides agreed to continue talks in an effort to reach an agreement, but the Steelworkers Union gave no indication that it would retreat from its demands for higher wages and improved fringe benefits. Industry just as steadfastly adhered to its position that it could not grant the demands plus the argument that it could not increase production and must effect some economies. Basic positions remained just as they were 10 weeks ago when negotiations began.

BULLETIN

The Steelworkers Union proposed Wednesday that the industry agree to submit strike issues to a fact-finding board to be headed by a neutral party selected by Chief Justice Warren. The union proposed that an investigating board be composed of a man named by the union, one by industry and another by Warren.

continue talks in an effort to reach an agreement, but the Steelworkers Union gave no indication that it would retreat from its demands for higher wages and improved fringe benefits. Industry just as steadfastly adhered to its position that it could not grant the demands plus the argument that it could not increase production and must effect some economies. Basic positions remained just as they were 10 weeks ago when negotiations began.

The walkout shut down 90 per cent of the steel producing industry and threatened the nation's entire economy.

David J. McDonald, president of the United Steelworkers of America said he would offer industry negotiators an undisclosed plan for settlement of the strike. He said however that he expected industry to turn down the plan.

Alabama Plants Idled
In Alabama 25,000 workers were idled as iron and steel producing plants ground to a halt at midnight Tuesday. Picketing was reported peaceful in Birmingham and Gadsden.

TCI coal miners, members of the United Mine Workers Union, also walked off the job and the 244-member Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Engineers struck as their contract expired at the same time as the United Steelworkers.

About 19,000 were out at the big TCI operations in Fairfield, Ensley and Bessemer.

At Republic Steel in both Birmingham and Gadsden another 6,400 were idled by the strike.

Limited maintenance personnel entered some of the plants by an agreement between the union and industry officials. At TCI officials and some salaried personnel remained at work.

The communique did not mention whether the Nationalists hit back, but it is reasonable to suppose they did.

Hollywood Up In Flames

Firemen stood guard Saturday over the smoldering embers of a brush fire which flashed through Laurel Canyon in Hollywood, Calif., Friday, destroying 28 homes and threatening hundreds of others. Fifteen homes were damaged. Damage from the 1,000-acre fire was estimated at nearly two million dollars. Deputy Fire Chief Donald Hibbard called it "the worst I've seen in the city in my 27 years as a fireman." Fire Department officials said there is a definite possibility that the fire was set intentionally.

Eclectic Banker Involved In Storybook Drama

A fast thinking banker tricked a holdup man into a coffee break Saturday, then in a savage battle scalded him with hot water, clubbed him into submission, shot him, and killed his companion. The two bandits had kidnapped Eclectic's police chief and forced Cashier-Manager Carl Ray Barker to open the bank. Then they held the banker, his pregnant wife and small daughter and the police chief captive in the Barker home about an hour while waiting for a time lock to open the bank vault. In the wild, storybook drama that brought an hour of terror to a bloody climax, Barker, 31, subdued William D. Hayward, 26, with hot water and the butt of the bandit's own gun, then killed James Franklin Bray, 25, with two blasts from a 16-gauge shotgun. Eclectic is a small farming town of 1,000 population 30 miles northeast of Montgomery, home of the two bandits.

Cable Subscribers To Get Channel 15 Early September

Big Step Forward In Better Entertainment For Television Viewers

Beginning Early in September, TV cable subscribers will be able to receive programs of WOWL-TV, Channel 15, without antennas, all band sets, or UHF converters. It was announced jointly this week by Bill Mays, general manager of Muscle Shoals Cable Corporation and Dick Biddle, president of Television Muscle Shoals, Inc.

The announcement marked a big step forward in local television entertainment.

As part of the cable company's current expansion program, Channel 15 will be added to the cable on or about September 1, Mays and Biddle said.

Mays said addition of Channel 15 has been pending for some time, and became possible when the FCC approved, several months ago, Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation's application to install microwave relays allowing the cable to increase the number of channels it carries from three to five.

"Our company wants to provide the best entertainment we can, at the lowest possible cost to the consumer, and this move is a step in that direction," Mays added.

WOWL-TV's management, through Biddle, expressed "delight" that Channel 15 programs will be distributed to cable TV viewers. "In so working together to bring more and better television to more people, we hope to demonstrate our interest in the welfare of the citizens of Muscle Shoals," Biddle said.

Biddle continued, "We are grateful to Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corporation for the cooperation it extended in the negotiations which preceded this agreement, and we congratulate Bill Mays personally on the aggressive job he has done in his short tenure as manager. The cable company makes available a choice of TV channels to its subscribers, and we are very happy that Channel 15 is soon to be one of the channels offered to TV cable subscribers."

According to Mays, "This is our latest move to increase and to broaden our service to TV cable subscribers. I'd like to point out again that our five-channel changeover, which will allow us to add Channel 15, also will include installation of a new type of amplifier, and this equipment will provide even better pictures on the present channels."

Another channel, as yet unannounced, is slated to be added to the cable this fall, bringing the total to five. In several public statements, Mays has let it be known that he leans heavily toward Channel 10, which carries programs prepared under the direction of the Alabama Educational Television Commission. Last April, he asked local citizens—householders, educators, businessmen, editors—to comment on educational TV. Since then he has received hundreds of letters, he says, expressing enthusiastic support.

Mays announced that as the five-channel changeover is carried out other equipment will be installed to provide additional entertainment services. He declined to say what these will be.

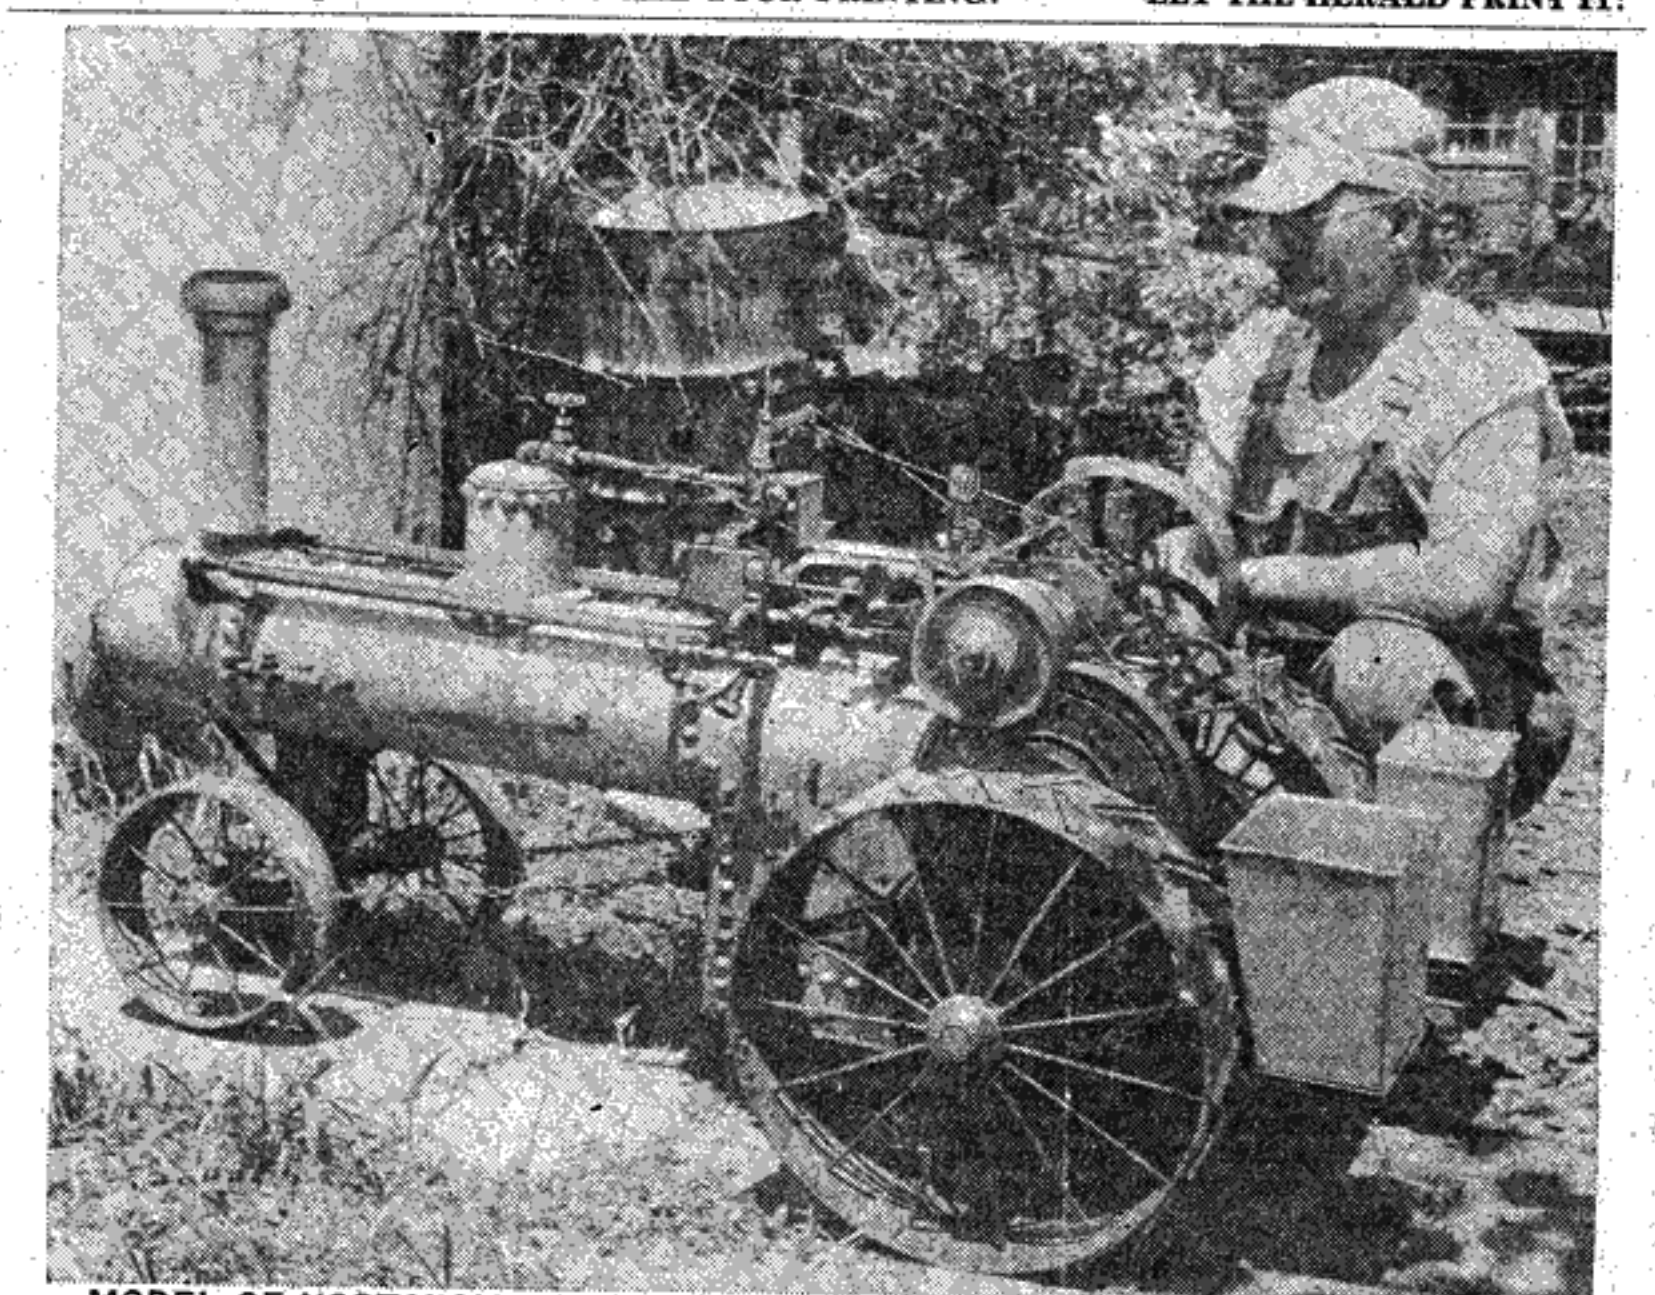

Commission To Study Resources

The Alabama Legislature has passed and Gov. John Patterson signed into law a measure creating an 18-member Water Resources Study Commission to appraise the state's water supply and future water needs.

River development, in the governor's opinion will play an important role in Alabama's industrial expansion.

The newly-authorized Water Resources Study Commission is charged with recommending, within the next three years, a basic water policy which will best meet the state's future water needs. The commission's recommendations may well result in some "water control" legislation.

MODEL OF NOSTALGIA—Old-timers who exult over the fabulous farm meals and forget the heat, haze and bone-cracking work of the wheat harvest will cherish the thought of this scale model 20-74 Nichols and Sheppard steam engine. Webster Mooney, who once operated one of the machines, poses beside the miniature in Nortonville, Kan. The threshing engine took 4½ years of Mooney's spare time to build, and is built to about quarter-scale. Mooney had boiler and gears made for him; the rest of the work is his own. It can be fired with either wood or coal or will operate on compressed air.

A Needless Waste

The writer and his family recently returned from a 2400 mile trip to the East. During this trip through a portion of eight states naturally all types of driving conditions were encountered. It was amazing to say nothing of confusing how traffic rules and signals varied with each state and even in localities within the same states.

There is little doubt that one of the most important steps we could make in providing greater safety on our highways and city traffic as well, would be the adoption of a universal system of traffic signals and highway markers followed by a serious campaign of driver education, depriving licenses to anyone until the applicant demonstrates through adequate testing that he has a thorough understanding of such regulations.

It is hard to say what an average driver is but one might assume that he is a fairly well-mannered, sober individual trying to make his way to some destination and back without mishap but nevertheless somewhat confused and hard put to figure out why one state paints a broken line passing signal in the highway and another allows passing on a solid white using a parallel yellow line to indicate "no passing." He is allowed 55 miles an hour speed in one state and 55 in another. He travels through one town with traffic signals hung in the middle of the thoroughfare, another with signals on the corners, many times not too easily distinguished. One could mention many more variations, all well-intentioned but each causing more and more confusion as our highways and byways become increasingly crowded with vehicles.

Taking stock of this problem of traffic regulation and the adoption of a uniform code is long past due. Every motorist should interest himself in this because its adoption would mean greater safety for all who travel the nation's highways.

Until this is done we shall continue to waste lives and property needlessly.

Safety Makes Sense

National Farm Safety Week will be observed next week. During this week President Eisenhower asks all persons and organizations interested in the welfare of farm people to support and participate in its observance.

The theme this year, "Safety Makes Sense," is proved by the record in which accidental deaths among farm people have been reduced from 19,500 in 1947 to 12,000 in 1957. The death rate based on declining farm population was also reduced from 66 in each 100,000 workers in 1947 to 57 the year before last.

Why not make a special effort to promote farm safety not only during next week but all through the year.

field, N. J., to Robert Oscar Lewis, son of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar D. Lewis of Florence. Vows were spoken at Sacred Heart Church in South Plainfield, the Rev. John L. Gerety, officiating.

The bride's gown of Chantilly lace had a scalloped neckline, fitted bodice and waltz-length bouffant skirt. A cloche of matching lace and tulle leaves held her shoulder length veil of illusion. She carried a cascade bouquet of white orchids and stephanotis. She was given in marriage by her father.

The matron of honor was Mrs. Robert Van Fleet of Dunellen, N. J., sister of the bride. She wore a maize silk taffeta sheath with a bouffant net overskirt. Her head-dress was a yellow cloche with shoulder length veil and she carried a cascade of white carnations and yellow roses.

Best man was Olcott G. Mills of Ft. Monmouth, and ushers, also from Ft. Monmouth, were Winfield Bailey and Alvin W. Mapp.

The bride's mother chose as her wedding costume a frock of blue lace with which she wore a white feathered hat. Her corsage was of yellow roses.

Mary Ann Eady Wed In Late Afternoon Ceremony

Wearing a gown of white lace over bridal satin, Mary Ann Eady, daughter of the Reverend and Mrs. George Chalmus Eady of Rogersville, exchanged nuptial vows with John Tilden Crede Riddle, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert George Riddle, Sr., of Muscle Shoals City, in First Methodist Church of Rogersville on Friday, July tenth.

The Reverend Pete Lunati, pastor of Highland Park Baptist Church, read the five o'clock vows before an altar banked with greenery and detailed with standards of white gladioli and chrysanthemums. The chancel rail, traced with foliage and clusters of white blossoms, was outlined with cathedral tapers which burned in branched candelabra and in the window recesses, candles in triple arrangements were garlanded in greenery. Lilies of the valley and bows of white satin ribbon marked family pews.

Nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Lunati, organist, and the Reverend Lunati, vocalist.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. Detailed with scalloped and rounded neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands, the close-fitting bodice of her wedding gown accented a very full skirt with back panel extending into a chapel train.

Her veil of illusion cascaded from a bandeau of orange blossoms and her white Bible was marked with a white orchid and lilies of the valley showered with lover's knots of white satin streamers.

Miss Glenda Halpin of Dallas, Texas, was maid of honor and other attendants were Miss Betty Gaultney of Killen, Mrs. George Eady, Jr., of Florence and Miss Betsy McLemore of Rogersville.

The honor attendant wore white chiffon over pale yellow taffeta and the bridesmaids, pastel green. Their frocks were identically designed with scooped necklines, molded bodices and cummerbunds of taffeta. The bouffant skirts were designed with tiers of ruffles at the back. Their headresses were of matching tulle and their bouquets of yellow and white pompons.

Robert George Riddle, Jr., attended, his brother as best man and ushers included George Joseph Eady, brother of the bride, of Rogersville, Cliff Hicks of Florence and Gerald Ingle of Sheffield.

Immediately after the ceremony, the Reverend and Mrs. Eady were reception hosts in the parlors of the church where sentiment marked the appointments of the bride's table. The outwork cloth of linen was brought many years ago from Dublin, Ireland, by the bridegroom's great-grandmother and the punch bowl, also a reminder of the past, had been used at the same ancestor's wedding event. All-white flowers and crystal candelabra of white tapers completed the appointments.

Assisting were Mrs. Robert Riddle, Jr., sister-in-law of the bridegroom, Mrs. Wendall Halpin and Miss Dianne Halpin.

Before leaving for a honeymoon trip, the bride changed to a frock of blue embossed cotton worn with white accessories. The orchid from her bouquet was her corsage. Upon their return they will be at home in Florence.

New Yorker Is Bride Of Robert Franklin Gibbons

In St. Joseph's Catholic Church of Florence, Eleanor Virginia Gorom became the bride of Robert Franklin Gibbons, son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Edward Gibbons, at nine o'clock on the morning of Tuesday, July seventh.

Father Roger Lott, O.S.B., read the vows following nuptial selections presented by Mrs. Alan McRae, Jr., and Mrs. Norman Hill. The bride was given in marriage by Thomas Edward Gibbons, father of the bridegroom, before an altar decorated with fan-shaped arrangements of white gladioli and greenery interspersed with cathedral candelabra of burning tapers. Her gown of Rosepoint lace over tulle and bridal satin was designed with a molded bodice distinguished by a scalloped Sabrina neckline and long sleeves marked at the wrists by tiny, lace-covered buttons. The bouffant skirt was accented by panniers of lace over tulle and extended into a chapel train. A tiara of pearls and rhinestones held her fingertip veil of illusion and her bouquet of white gardenias was showered with white satin streamers.

Mrs. John William Brink, sister of the bridegroom, was the bride's only attendant. She wore cerise silk organza over taffeta, with white accessories, and her bouquet of white carnations was accented with puffs of cerise and white tulle and satin streamers.

Mr. Gibbons chose John William Brink to serve him as best man. At the wedding breakfast which followed the ceremony an arrangement of white gladioli and blue Queen Anne's Lace centered the linen covered bride's table.

After a honeymoon trip, Mr. and Mrs. Gibbons will be at home in Baltimore, Md.

THE SPILLWAY

AROUND EACH CORNER on the street
We meet a traveled friend ...
And then there in July heat
Our eager ear we bend ...

BEING A GOOD listener is one of our favorite pastimes ... and listening to vacationers tell of cool mountain retreats ... or of the delightful delights of the seashore ... is an easy and pleasant way to beat the July heat ... Hence we report that ...

AMONG THE MOST enthusiastic of Summer trippers is Mary Rogers ... recently returned from a jaunt through the beautiful Carolinas with one-time Florentine ... Evelyn Peeler ... and a visit with Evelyn in her lovely Raleigh, N. C., apartment ... where "sixty-four trees can be counted from one window-view ..."

AND SECOND TO NONE in enthusiasm (or ANYTHING ... for that matter) is our teenage charmer ... Nancy Nichols ... who has recently returned from Colorado Springs whence she journeyed with (her sister) Martha (Nichols) and David Matthews (Russellvillians) ... The Matthews were interested in the Civitan convention ... Nancy was interested in JUST EVERYTHING ...

LOOKING AHEAD ... we anticipate with pleasure future chats with Alma Long and Buna Paulk ... who are on a Western tour ... and with Ann King ... who's planning a leisurely trip with her niece ... Susan Delony ... and other relatives ... and with three of our charmingest young gents ... Rayford Kyle ... Acker Rogers and Tommy Smith ... who'll take off tomorrow for a stay at Camp Sequoia ... and with Louisa Jones ... who's spending three weeks as counselor at Camp Nacomee (a contraction of Nashville-Columbia-Memphis ... in case you (as we) didn't know ...)

AND MOST OF ALL ... we can hardly wait till a year from August when Beth (Cunningham) and (her hubby) Van Kennedy's sojourn in India will end ... Of particular interest are background facts which include Van's birth in that storied land (his father was a missionary) ... and his and Beth's experience of five years ago when he was on a Fulbright Scholarship ... This time he's being sent by the Ford Foundation and has been granted a year's leave of absence from U of Cal at Berkeley where he's a faculty member ... They've toured England and arrived Sunday in Oslo for a look-see at the Scandinavian countries ... The mountains of Switzerland are next on their itinerary and they'll report on August first at New Delhi ... When they return next August ... it'll be by way of China and the Near East ... and they'll be 'mongst our GLOBE CIRCLIN' friends ... Their son ... eleven year-old Jonathan ... after a full school-term in India ... is the family member whose report we'll be most eager to hear ... There's ever-so-much more ... but Madam (as you know ... ? ...) NEVER tells ALL ...

A ROMANTIC MOOD upon us ... we reveal our heart-warming opinion that Ann Starkey (formerly Ann Jackson of Waterloo ... and recent bride of our long-time friend ... Nelson Starkey, Jr.) is one of the loveliest newly-weds we've laid eyes upon ...

AND AT THE RISK of the ever-present BLUE PENCIL ... we give forth with our ESP ... and urge you to watch for an early announcement of an engagement of great interest ... The wedding will be an event of early Fall and the local tie is involved in an out-of-town way ... It's our prediction that you'll know ALL soon ...

RECENT VISITORS in our midst were Eloise and Doug Jackson ... up from Montgomery for the long weekend and guested by Jane and (Doctor) John Herring at their home on the lake ... And over Bailey way ... Madolyn (Stricklin) Hunter arrived from Nashville for a family gathering with (momma and poppa) Tillie and Bob Stricklin and (sister) Virginia and Culver Ellis and their children ... And from the Lone Star State came long-time-no-see visitors ... Nannie Sharp Henson and her brother ... Clyde Sharp ... who answered the "Go West" urge in 1903 and liked what they found ... (Their "back-home" visit of the past week was the second in fifty-six years) ... With them were Clyde's wife ... Jessie ... and their son ... Melvin ... an instructor in Spanish in the Tyler, Texas, school system and one-time interpreter for our government in old Mexico ... They were guests of their cousin ... Pearl Hill ... whose home is on Savannah Road ... And 'twas really WONDERFUL ... seeing 'em around again ...

THE PARTY WHIRL continues ... Rebecca Jester and Edna Lamar are entertaining at their recently purchased lakeside cottage today ... their honoree being Dora Stuart of Mobile ... guest of her sister ... Corinne Milliken ... Minnie Roberts will honor her daughter and daughter-in-law ... Mary Craig Marshall and Marjorie Roberts ... at teatime tomorrow at Woodlawn ... and Molly Nance and Minnie Flowers will be luncheon hostesses at The Town Club on Saturday ...

BIRTHDAY GREETINGS (a little late) and our best wishes go to Molly Koonce of 401 North Walnut ... who celebrated the passing of her eighty-eighth milestone recently 'midst the warm companionship of family members and a host of admiring friends ...

WELCOME NEWCOMER ... Cynthia Clara Furio ... who arrived on Sunday ... July twelfth ... in Glencoe, Ala., to be greeted with open arms by mama and papa Peggy (Massey) and (the Reverend) Pete Furio ...

AND NOW ... CHEERIO and goodbye ... until more news comes through The Spillway ...

Let's Talk It Over

By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara,

What's wrong with a woman that treats her husband fine as long as things are running along OK, but just let him hit it tough for a while and she treats him like dust under her feet?

I'm talking about my own wife. I was really the cock of the roost, to let her tell it, as long as money was coming in good for us. Then I made some bad deals and couldn't buy her a new car this year. When I broke that news to her she didn't speak to me for nearly two months and is still glum and shut-mouth most of the time.

But she was still planning big on us taking the children to the coast for two weeks in August. Well, I already know I'm not going to be able to swing it, but how to tell her and how to live with her after I tell her is another proposition. Every time we're in company she goes out of her way to talk about "stupid people who can't make a living." Of course, her one idea is to embarrass me, but she's also making it harder for me to carry on. I'm positive I've had some contracts cancelled because of her remarks. Most folks prefer to do business with a winner, you know.

What's your idea, Sara? "Stupid."

Dear "Stu," My idea is exactly the same as yours and everybody's else—you've got a poor excuse for a wife.

Has she completely forgotten the "for better, for worse" clause in the I-do's she once said with you? Or did she just never mean it in the first place?

I wouldn't be surprised if she's had it too good, too long. Why not suggest to her that, since your efforts are not proving satisfactory, she take a sling at being the family provider?

Just remember that you're not the first guy who reached for a peach and got a lemon instead. And hold on to your self-esteem and sense of humor. You're sure to need 'em, and how!

Dear Mrs. Saze, I have received a formal written invitation to a tea and want to accept. But I've never written a formal reply and I wonder if a note—just the usual kind—would be OK. I know these people real well.

Or, could I telephone? Thank you.

Dear Unsure, Always reply in writing to a written invitation. Among friends, I've never seen a time when a note is out of order. But, in answer to a formal invitation, be brief and to the point. The following is an example: (After the salutation) Please forgive my informality. I look forward with pleasure to seeing you on (the date) at (the place). Thank you for remembering me. (Signed.)

YOUR Health

"Your Health" is presented by your physician as a health service of the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

Prevention Against Heart Disease

A simple and effective prevention against heart disease is presented by one of the world's leading authorities on the heart. It is the establishment of a habit of regular exercise throughout one's life.

Dr. Paul Dudley White, clinical professor of medicine at the Harvard Medical School and heart consultant to President Eisenhower, practices what he preaches, and he was 73 years old on June 6, 1959. Physiologically, exercise can be very important, Dr. White declares, not only during your youth but in the establishment of a habit that should continue all our lives, even into old age. "The effect of the establishment of a habit of regular exercise throughout one's life," he says, "will probably be in the course of time found to act as one of the best antidotes against the alarming development of the epidemic of coronary thrombosis and high blood pressure in this country today." News Of LUTTS

By Mrs. Verta Weeks

Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Bevis and daughter of Waynesboro, spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bevis.

Those visiting the Bill Weeks Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Wright and son of Greenhill, Mr. and Mrs. H. O. King and daughter and Mr. and Mrs. Willard Reaves of Cloverdale, Mr. and Mrs. Nelson King of Selmer, George Reaves, G. L. Montgomery and Jimmy Barkley.

Mr. and Mrs. G. M. Horton of Florence, spent the week-end here with Mr. and Mrs. Edward Henson and attended the Dedication Services at Powell Cemetery.

Jerry Barkley spent Saturday night and Sunday with Glennis Weeks.

Lawrence McFall, Bill Weeks and George Reaves were all in Florence Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Cedrick Balentine of Sturgis, Mich., and Mr. and Mrs. Raymon Reaves of Vernon, Ala., spent last week here with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Bevis and other relatives here and in Ala.

Mrs. Leona Henson spent a while Wednesday afternoon with her niece, Mrs. Reria Pigg who is ill with Pneumonic fever.

Janice Barkley spent the week-end at Cloverdale with Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Oakley.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymon McFall and Mr. and Mrs. Edsel Holt and son of Florence, spent a while Sunday afternoon with George Reaves.

advice, adds Dr. White, there should be also recognition of the wisdom of preventing overweight and avoiding the eating of over-rich food, heavy with animal fat.

The heart, arteries, and veins derive a physiological benefit from a regular habit of exercise, the doctor adds. Also, among the advantages of the regular exercise habit are sustained muscle tone that will stand one in good stead in emergencies, good effect on the digestion, better use of the lungs, and a great help to the nervous system. One of the best ways to counteract the harmful effect of nervous tension from business, professional life, and family worries, is physical fatigue from healthy exercise, insists Dr. White.

Using the muscles, particularly out-of-doors, in walking, bicycling, canoeing, horseback riding or similar pleasures can be very important. "One of the faults of our current civilization," concludes Dr. White, "is that our young adults become, they claim, too busy to continue the exercise that they will be in need of during the next two decades, even more than they needed it when they were children."

Plan Outlined For Payments

If it is your understanding that you cannot receive disability insurance payments at the same time you receive disability payments from another Federal or State agency, you should get in touch with the social security office according to Mrs. Mary King Temple, district manager of the Sheffield Social Security Office.

Although earlier Social Security Act amendments provided for an offset of disability insurance benefits against any other Federal or State disability payments, this offset was removed by the 1958 amendments. Beginning with August 1958, it has been possible for qualified disabled workers to receive the full social security disability payments to which they are entitled regardless of the receipt of any other disability payments.

To qualify for social security disability payments at age 50 the worker must have worked for at least five out of the ten years before becoming disabled. In addition the worker must be too disabled to engage in any substantial gainful activity.

If you have not applied for disability payments solely because the benefit would be offset against some other disability payment, you were already receiving, you should contact your Sheffield Social Security Office without delay.

Checks of $75 or over went to 3,676 old people — all listed as exceptional cases. This was almost three times the number drawing $75 or more at the start of the year.

In June, checks of exactly $75 went to 2,293 persons. The remaining 1,383 received up to as much as $119 each.

DON'T PAMPER COTTON

You don't have to be a chemical engineer to wash cotton. It can be thoroughly laundered in hot water with soap or detergents that remove soil and odors. Most cottons are dyed with fast colors to prevent fading and are treated to resist shrinkage. Cotton comes out of the wash fresh and really clean.

Foods of the Future

BACON THAT BRIDES WON'T BURN?

Your grandfather's old smokehouse never had the kind of burn-proof bacon that you'll soon be getting, thanks to food research.

Research chemists have found how to cure bacon so it won't burn readily. Now meat packers can cure it with a synthetic sweetener instead of sugar, to get this virtually char-proof bacon.

Nutrition researchers are bringing many interesting changes to food products, but changing styles of foods won't change many Americans' preference for the two "old favorites"—BEER and ALE.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

Child in the SUN

The sight of a child playing in the sun — a reflection of God's goodness!

At such moments, children seem like echoes of God's love. In their own boundless joy, with their unquenchable enthusiasm, they point the way to truth, love, faith and beauty.

It is a way all of us can follow. By turning to God with a child's simplicity, by seeking Him through the Church, we can emerge from life's shadows and stand again in the full light of eternal truth.

Find your way to church . . . this Sunday.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Cotton fabrics with special finishes scorch more easily than those without. However, the fabric with a special finish can be ironed in one-fifth the time needed to iron the others.

To remove burned or scorched food from the bottom of an aluminum vessel, fill it with water, allow it to boil, then remove the softened food with a wooden spoon.

Prepare Soil Now For Fall Garden

You can do a two-in-one job by preparing the land for a fall garden while taking care of the spring crop.

According to API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby, when the spring garden starts bearing vegetables in abundance, it's time to get ready for the fall garden. The first step is keeping the soil free of vegetative matter such as grass and weeds. Heating will result if the green matter is turned into the soil, and the seed will not germinate.

It's also important to keep the garden hose or another source of water ready for those dry days, says the specialist. The preferred means of irrigation consists of running water into the furrows between the rows. However, any effective type of irrigation is important in hot dry weather.

There is a large selection of vegetables that can be planted from mid-June to September. Bagby states that tomato seed should have been planted around June 20 in North Alabama. The stronger vegetables such as cabbage, cauliflower, broccoli, Louisiana sweet collards, Brussels sprouts, mustard, and Swiss chard should be planted in firm seedbeds from mid-July to late August.

Also, the specialist recommends starting onions from dry sets from late August through September. Most root crops should be planted in August, but start preparing the seedbed for all garden crops as soon as possible.

"Keep all green vegetative matter out of the soil while the summer temperatures are very high," says Bagby.

When you buy a new skirt, blouse, or suit, paint over the buttons with colorless nail polish to keep them nice and shiny and prevent them from tearing off.

As expected, Congress passed price support limitations . . . not much doubt but that the President will sign the bill into law . . . limitations are set at $50,000 per commodity . . . means that you can receive a support of $50,000 for your cotton and also an equal amount for your soybeans, if you grow both items . . . some exceptions, however: you may receive supports in excess of $50,000 for one commodity if you agree to pay back the excess within a specified time (recourse loans) . . . or if you reduce your production in accordance with rules set up by the Secretary of Agriculture . . . law won't allow him to demand cuts of more than 20 per cent . . . while members of co-operatives are restricted to the $50,000 maximum, the co-ops, themselves, are not placed under this restriction . . . all this applies to the 1960 crop . . . this year's crop doesn't come under the bill.

Crop Estimate

An estimate of U. S. cotton for this year places the yield at 14 million bales . . . this figure comes from the International Cotton Advisory Committee . . . group also thinks foreign production will be lower . . . we had about 11.5 million bales produced in the U. S. last year . . . estimate of world production this year is 28.9 million . . . last year it was 27.8 million.

Surplus Down??

The same group . . . ICAC, that is . . . also thinks that there will be an increase in consumption especially in the U. S. and Canada . . . all this adds up to a slight reduction in stocks.

Colored Cotton???

The Russians who invented the telephone, radio, automobile and the ability to take credit for most everything someone else does, have a new claim . . . they say they are growing a colored cotton that doesn't need to be dyed . . . wonder it's red?

Penalty Rates

Cotton farmers who exceed their acreage allotments take note: here are penalty rates for "excess" cotton . . . upland cotton, 19.1 cents per pound . . . extra long staple cotton, 40.9 cents per pound.

Cull Your Cow Herd Severely

This is the year to cull your cow herd severely.

API Extension Livestockman Bob Farquhar reports that slaughter cattle prices at present are too good to allow inferior, slow-producing cows to remain on the farm. By heavy culling it is possible to delay the apparent decline in prices in the years ahead. Even though prices and pasture conditions are favorable now, farmers should look farther ahead than this fall.

The specialist points out that we may have some four to five million more cattle on farms next January than we did this past year. This is due to the present reduction in the number of cattle going to slaughter and the rapid increase in the number being held on the farm. Although such a large beef supply might be manageable, it would still bring a sizeable reduction in prices.

Cull low-producing cows and inferior heifers now while the prices are good, recommends Farquhar. An aggressive beef promotion program should be continued to expand the per capita consumption of beef at fair prices to cattlemen. The specialist also advises growers to prepare for the 90 or more pounds of beef per person indicated by the present herd expansion for the next five years.

"Don't stop expanding in the cattle business if you have the resources," says Farquhar. "Expansion should be done on the basis of making the best use of your land, breeding herd, and other investments. However, it's not advisable to expand only when prices are favorable since they are often followed by liquidation and low prices later."

Although the current build-up in cattle may lead to lower prices, it need not change the cattlemen's sound plans for expansion.

THE SOURCE

The divine, eternal source of all life and action will be stressed at Christian Science services Sunday.

Highlighting the lesson-sermon on "Life" is the Golden Text from John (5:26): "As the Father hath life in himself; so hath he given to the Son to have life in himself."

Services will be held at 10:30 a.m. at the Christian Science Center, 1000 N. 1st St., Birmingham.

Agricultural Reminders

Sell Calves When Ready
Cattlemen should sell their calves when "ripe." Guard against holding too long to wait for higher prices. Calves should be 500 pounds or more and about eight months old when sold. Reports indicate that more cattle will hit the fall market, and if everyone waits, prices will surely fall. Discourage farmers from selling when calves are too young, because maintenance cost of the cow remains constant. The number of take-home dollars is more important than bragging about prices per pound received.

Summer Management Jobs
Blackleg and malignant edema continue to cause many Alabama cattlemen unnecessary loss. Vaccinate calves at around three months of age. Where there is a history of these diseases, or they are known to be in the immediate vicinity, do so at a month of age. They will pick up this disease as soon as they begin to do some grazing.

Worming
If milk and grass are plentiful and calves are not growing as they should, three or four ounces of phenothiazine is usually a good investment. Worm population builds up rapidly in the summer months, and short grazing is an ideal condition for heavy infestation. Fly control should be a part of the routine summer jobs. Spraying every three to four weeks will control flies in most instances. Methoxychlor, malathion, or toxaphene, or a combination, used as directed will do the job. About two quarts of mixture per mature animal will be necessary.

Back-Rubbers
Many report excellent results from the use of back-rubbers.

Rubbers erected in a triangle, with salt in the middle where cattle normally congregate, is a good plan. Back-rubbers should be about 15 to 20 feet long, approximately 18 to 20 inches from the ground in the middle, and four feet high where tied to the post. Treat the rubbers with a five percent methoxychlor, DDT, or toxaphene-oil solution. One gallon of oil solution will treat 15 to 20 linear feet or burlap sacks. To make an oil solution, mix one quart of a 25 percent emulsifiable concentrate of the insecticide with one gallon of fuel oil, diesel oil, or kerosene. Re-treat the burlap every three to four weeks.

Meriwether Says State Saves Money

More than $1 million dollars has been saved Alabama taxpayers during the past five months in state purchases, according to Charles Meriwether, State Finance Director.

The Patterson Administration ran for office on a platform of saving millions for Alabama taxpayers. The first millions were saved before the new administration was in office for even a half year.

Meriwether said, "we have been able to search the market, and with out bulk-buying practices, been able to save upwards of $1 million already this year."

Meriwether further stated, "It is my firm opinion that the state will be able to save more than $1 million a year in all our purchases."

Bright Spots In Poultry Outlook

The skies may look pretty dark right now, but there are certainly some bright spots in the poultry picture.

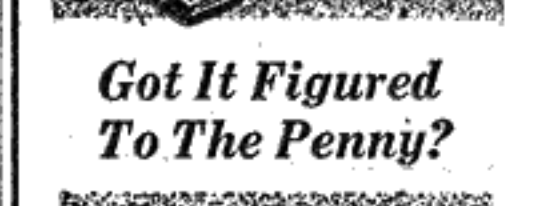

According to API Extension Poultry Specialist S. L. Davis, over-production or under-consumption has been one of the poultryman's main problems. To get the picture for the months ahead, he points out the significance of recent reports on production.

For the United States as a whole, the number of chicks hatched in May of this year was down 10 percent from the same month last year. And the number of broiler-type chicks was down four percent. Some especially good news for egg producers is that the number of egg-type chicks hatched in May was down 20 percent from May of 1958.

The specialist reports that broiler chicks hatched from January through May this year were up eight percent as compared to the same period last year. However, the news is better with egg-type chicks since there were four percent fewer hatched during the first five months of 1959. The number of broiler-type eggs in incubators on June 1 was seven percent less than a year ago. And the number of eggs for egg-type chicks was down 31 percent.

But the poultry industry in Alabama isn't following this national trend. The specialist reports that the state had an increase of 33 percent in the number of broiler chicks during January through May. And there were 35 percent more egg-type chicks hatched this year. This means that Alabama has increased from 50 million broiler chicks last year to 66 1/2 million during the same period this year. The number of egg-type chicks hatched during the first five months of 1959 has increased from 3,100,000 to 4,182,000.
