Ferguson, Group manager of the Sheffield exchange, Mayor Earl Lard of Waterloo, Ed Behel, Jr., repairman, and H. J. Parsons, foreman, both of the Florence exchange. The four telephone men look on as Mayor Lard makes the first phone call from Waterloo to Florence using a dial phone.

Waterloo Is Serviced By Bell System

The Southern Bell Telephone Company has extended its exchange boundaries to include Waterloo, and the Gravelly Springs and Wright communities in the Western section of Lauderdale County. The extension went into effect Monday.

Comparatively new, the equipment installed enables the 40 families living in these areas to have telephone service by using only one circuit of wire. It is only the second such system to be installed in Alabama.

Southern Bell was not able to provide the residents of these communities with telephone service at a reasonable cost until the development of this carrier system, according to Forest Brice, manager of the Florence exchange.

Before this installation there were only eight phones in this section of Lauderdale County. They were on subscriber-owned lines and users of the services were, themselves, responsible for installation and maintenance of the lines.

This new service will allow telephone users of the area to receive and to transmit messages with the same ease and facility as calls made with the Tri-Cities, Brice stated.

Since the original survey was taken, 18 other residents of the area have applied for service. A plan is now underway to install equipment to serve them also.

All of these phones will be EM prefixes, and will be served out of the Florence exchange without any toll.

Department Of Justice Orders TVA Contracts Investigation

Many Instances Of Identical Bids Were Submitted

The Justice Department has ordered a grand jury in Philadelphia to investigate possible anti-trust violations by U. S. electrical equipment manufacturers submitting identical bids on TVA contracts.

A spokesman for the justice department confirmed Tuesday an inquiry is underway. He declined to discuss details of the probe other than to say that "certain witnesses have been subpoenaed to testify before the grand jury."

The grand jury will be directed to examine the recent disclosure by TVA officials that 47 large and small electrical manufacturers submitted matched bids in 24 instances over the last 2½ years. In all cases the bids were identical to the last decimal point.

Sen. Estes Kefauver (D-Tenn.) announced May 21 that his senate anti-monopoly subcommittee was looking into the charges. Kefauver said hearings would be held in Knoxville in August or September after congress adjourns.

TVA spokesman declined to discuss the grand jury inquiry or to confirm a report that its contract records have been turned over to the justice department.

The revealing of identical bidding practices by TVA was touched off earlier this year when Westinghouse Electric Corporation and General Electric Company lost a big turbine-generator contract to the British firm of Parsons & Company Ltd. In that case Westinghouse bid $19,453,725 and GE bid $19,873,780. Parsons won the contract with a bid of $13,140,700.

These two companies raised such a fuss over the awarding of the contract to a British firm that TVA officials decided to disclose the identical bidding practices of the entire domestic electrical equipment manufacturing industry.

Marketing Quota Penalty Rates Set

Different Types Of Cotton Will Be Treated Independently As Usual

Marketing quota penalty rates on "excess" cotton of the 1959 crops of upland and extra long staple cotton were announced today by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The penalty rate on upland cotton is 10.1 cents per pound, and the penalty rate on extra long staple cotton is 40.9 cents per pound.

Controlling legislation directs that the marketing quota penalty rate for upland cotton be 50 percent of the parity price per pound of cotton effective as of June 15 of the calendar year in which the cotton is produced. The parity price for upland cotton as of June 15, 1959, was 38.18 cents per pound.

Legislation also provides that the penalty rate on extra long staple cotton be the higher of 50 percent of the parity price or 50 percent of the support price for this type of cotton as of June 15. The parity price for extra long staple cotton as of June 15, 1959, was 81.90 cents per pound. Since 50 percent of the parity price is higher than 50 percent of the support price, the applicable penalty rate for 1959 crop extra long staple cotton is 40.9 cents per pound (which is 50 percent of the June 15 parity price).

Growers approved marketing quotas for the 1959 crops of upland and extra long staple cotton in referendums on Dec. 15, 1958. When cotton marketing quotas are in effect, a farmer who does not comply with the cotton acreage allotment established for the kind of cotton grown on his farm is subject to a penalty on his farm marketing excess. The cotton crop from the farm is also ineligible for price support under Commodity Credit Corporation programs. Each type of cotton is treated independently. Upland cotton cannot be substituted for extra long staple cotton or vice versa.

Legislators Study Ways Cure Public School Ills

Hearings Begun As Lawmakers Go Into Second Week Of Called Term

The tax-writing Alabama House Ways and Means Committee started work Tuesday on a school budget that Alabama teachers are hopeful will bring a salary increase as well as money for more buildings. Gov. John Patterson has urged a substantial increase in teachers' salaries, as much as a 20 per cent boost if possible.

"It is a matter of most urgent need to attract competent teachers and keep the teachers we have now. We cannot long endure to continue to lose our best teachers to other states," the governor stated.

Meeting for the second time since the Legislature opened its special session last Wednesday, the committee started a series of public hearings which will lead finally to the drafting of a tax program to meet the school needs.

The committee took up proposals to increase teacher retirement benefits along with other requests for funds for privately operated schools before tackling the tax bills themselves. Bills are pending in the committee to appropriate $400,000 a year to Tuskegee Institute, $15,000 to the state Vocational School for Girls, and $35,000 each for Southern Industrial Institute and the Walker County Junior College.

Hearings on the school tax measures began Wednesday at 10 a.m. The first bill provided for a 3 per cent tax on newspaper, magazines, radio, television and other advertising with the proceeds going to the schools.

Another advertising measure introduced Tuesday was a bill which would put a 2-cent tax on each package of cigarettes. This bill would apply also to cigars and pipe tobacco with the revenue pledged to the schools.

Rep. Emmet Oden of Franklin County, who had earlier introduced a bill to prohibit liquor advertising, took a new approach with a bill designed to levy a 25 per cent tax on liquor, wine and beer ads.

Bills calling for a constitutional amendment to authorize a $100 million bond issue for new school buildings were introduced. The bonds would be general obligation securities with the full faith and credit of the state behind them in contrast to the $75 million in revenue bonds Gov. Patterson has recommended. Revenue bonds could be issued by the Legislature without a vote of the people.

In other business Tuesday, the House passed and sent to the Senate two bills to make soft drink bottles subject to the state's 3 per cent tax. They would bring in an estimated $100,000 a year for education.

It Can Be Done

Not long ago, several Northern congressmen accused the Tennessee Valley area of stealing northern industry. Last week, on a visit to the Shoals area, Gen. Herbert D. Vogel, TVA board chairman, made a statement which refuted the "piracy" charges by the congressmen.

The Tennessee Valley area is not guilty of "piracy" in regard to the acquisition of northern industry. There are many reasons why industry has chosen to move South from the industrial cities of the North.

One reason for this transition is the climate. In this area, the weather seldom goes to the extremes of hot or cold; whereas, in the northern states, near zero temperatures are frequent in winter which make travel to and from work inconvenient as well as add to the complexities of an industry in general. The Tennessee Valley has certainly been blessed by Nature with such a mild climate.

Water and power are other major factors that cause the move to the South of industry. The plentiful supply of water and the low cost of power speak for themselves why an industry would want to come to this area.

Labor, which is a factor in any decision on a location, is still another reason why industry comes South.

These are only a few of the reasons why industries have come South. The northern states should not be screaming and howling about their industries being stolen. They were not stolen. After all, won't the whole of the American people purchase and use products manufactured by these plants? And, if the products are manufactured at a lower price, won't common sense tell you that the selling price will be much lower?

If by chance, a plant that was located, let's say, in the Tennessee Valley, decided to move to another section of the country, would you hear the people of the Valley screaming that one of our industries had been stolen? I doubt it. This has happened. Industries have chosen to move from this area to a more desirable section, but we haven't yelled, "Pirates."

It seems that the northern congressmen want to have their cake and eat it, too. It can't be done.

It's Up To You

What will cause most of the traffic accidents on this July 4 weekend?

Bad weather? Brake failure? Fatigue? None of these in themselves will cause the accidents, but you, the person, who will be behind the wheel.

In recent studies made by the National Safety Council, there were 77 violations of the law for every 100 drivers in fatal traffic accidents. It was shown that many drivers violated more than one law. Will you be guilty this Fourth of July?

The violations that occurred most frequently were speeding, failure to keep right of the center line, not having right-of-way and driving under the influence of alcohol.

Other violations included: following too closely, improper passing, improper turning, failing to signal, disregarding stop signs and improper parking.

The dangers created by committing a violation of the law will be increased many times this week-end. You will be the one that can prevent the accidents. Will you do it?

If you drive, watch the other person. It's much more dangerous not to.

A freight train plunged over a river trestle over a recreation area near Savannah, Ga., Sunday and a tanker of butane gas exploded. Hawaii voted itself into the union on Sunday. Nearly complete returns showed 136,368 votes favoring statehood and only 7,735 opposed. This is a margin of 17.6-1. The vote cleared the way for formal admission of the territory as the 50th state this summer, probably in August.

A pilotless U. S. Air Force jet fighter hurtled into the corner of a school house Tuesday in Naha, Okinawa, then sprayed fiery fragments over a residential area. A control center set up by U. S. Military authorities said 21 persons were killed and 100 injured. An explosion occurred aboard the F100 Super-sabre jet soon after it took off from Kadena Air Base, eight miles from Ishikawa. The pilot parachuted to safety. An eyewitness said the empty plane headed for an uninhabited hill, veered sharply and then crashed into a corner of the Miami Elementary School. It was not known how many of the dead were school children.

The mandatory death sentence for a 19-year-old white Marine convicted of raping a Negro woman was delayed Tuesday because of a motion for a new trial. The attorney for Pvt. Fred G. If Davis is electrocuted, it would be the first recorded execution of a white man in the United States for raping a Negro woman.

Contract negotiations in the basic steel industry resumed Wednesday after a recess since an extraordinary session on Sunday. Four bargaining teams representing the 12 largest steel companies and the United Steelworkers of America have agreed to meet on a "stepped-up basis" of morning and afternoon sessions. Contracts expired at midnight Tuesday night. But the union postponed a strike deadline until midnight July 14. Intervention Saturday by President Eisenhower paved the way for the postponement.

About 65 persons were injured in Naples Monday night as thousands of striking Italian seamen battled police until they were dispersed with tear gas. The riots were provoked by a government order mobilizing seamen for duty on ships to keep communication with Italy's Mediterranean islands during the worldwide Italian seamen's strike. Some 6000 seamen attacked police with bottles, stones and torches and burned three police trucks and a fire truck. After two hours they were beaten back with clubs and tear gas grenades.

MISS JANIS LEVERAGE COBB, whose wedding to Thomas E. Richardson will be an event of July 4 in Lee High Church of Christ.

Miss Catherine Grost's Betrothal Is Announced

Of cordial interest is the announcement which has been made by Mr. and Mrs. William Frazier Frost, 1634 Hermitage Drive, Florence, of the forthcoming marriage of their daughter, Catherine Donelson, to Sergio Cavallari of New York City and Genoa, Italy, son of Mr. and Mrs. Attilio Cavallari of Rome, Italy.

The wedding will be an event of late-July in The Little Church Around The Corner, New York City.

St. Michael's Church Scene

Following their wedding in St. Michael's Catholic Church of St. Florian and a brief honeymoon in the Southern section of the state, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Edward Carter are now at home at 512 Moss Avenue, Muscle Shoals City.

The bride is the former Juliana Peters, daughter of Mrs. Marvin Peters of St. Florian, and the late Mr. Peters, and the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clair D. Carter of Muscle Shoals City and the late Mr. Carter.

Father Leo Carter, O.S.B., brother of the bridegroom, officiated at the eight o'clock nuptial mass on Wednesday morning, June tenth, following musical selections by Mrs. William Meyer.

Baskets of white gladioli against a background etched with English ivy marked the altar space where the wedding tableau formed. Given in marriage by her brother, George Peters, the bride was gownned in white nylon lace and satin of Empire design. A sweetheart neckline and long, tapering sleeves distinguished the fitted bodice, and a flared, floor-length skirt was fashioned with back-pleats which extended into a court train.

A headdress of sequins and pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and white satin streamers cascaded from her bouquet of pale pink rosebuds.

Mrs. James T. Lewis, sister of the bride, was her only attendant. She wore a wheat-colored model of tulle over taffeta, designed with molded bodice and flaring skirt. A bandeau of yellow and white blossoms on yellow net was her headdress.

James T. Lewis was best man for Mr. Carter and ushers were Bernard J. Peters and Louis J. Zierer.

A wedding breakfast in the home of the bride's mother followed the ceremony. The wedding cake, garlanded with pink and white summer blossoms, centered the table around which guests were seated including family members and members of the wedding party.

James Elbert Robbins Weds Miss Marianne Sharp

First Presbyterian Church of Lakeland, Florida, was the setting when Marianne Sharp, daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Marion Kosciusko Sharp of Lakeland, became the bride of James Elbert Robbins, son of Mrs. William Jesse Robbins of Florence and the late Dr. Robbins, on Saturday, June twenty-seventh.

Dr. John L. Newton, minister of the church, read the vows at eight o'clock in the evening after nuptial selections were presented by Mrs. Roscoe N. Skipper and the church choir.

Lighted by cathedral tapers, the altar was decorated for the occasion with arrangements of white gladioli against a background of palms. Bouquets of gladioli marked family pews and lighted candles nestled with greenery in the window recesses.

Dr. Sharp escorted and gave his daughter in marriage. Seed pearls re-embroidered the deep, rounded neckline of her gown of hand-clipped Chantilly lace over nylon tulle and a molded bodice accented the fullness of the skirt which tapered at the hemline from tee-length in front to floor-length at the back.

Her fingertip veil of imported illusion was caught to a crown of seed pearls and she carried a colonial bouquet of white carnations and gypsophila.

Serving her sister as honor attendant, Miss Patty Sharp wore silk embroidered organdie over pink faille designed with closefitting bodice, Sabrina neckline and a large bow at the waistline. Her flowers were sweetheart roses.

Miss Frances Elliot of De Funiak, Florida, Miss Mary Marchman Harman of Grantville, Georgia, and Miss Priscilla Gainer of Lakeland, were bridesmaids. Their princess frocks of white lace over pink taffeta were detailed with boat-shaped necklines that formed deep back-Vs and they carried bouquets of pink carnations. Their headresses were flower-trimmed winged hats of gathered net.

Robert Curry Robbins of Kingston, North Carolina, was best man for his brother and ushers were William E. Shelby of Florence, Joseph Slater of Arlington, Georgia, cousin of the bride, and Malcolm M. Thaxler of Gainesville, Florida.

Immediately after the ceremony, Dr. and Mrs. Sharp were reception hosts in Fellowship Hall at the church. White embroidered organdie veiled the bride's table where a tiered wedding cake, decorated with a replica of the bride's bouquet, was the central ornament.

Among those assisting were Mrs. William H. Vogler of Memphis, sister of the bridegroom, and Mrs. W. Turner Shelby of Florence.

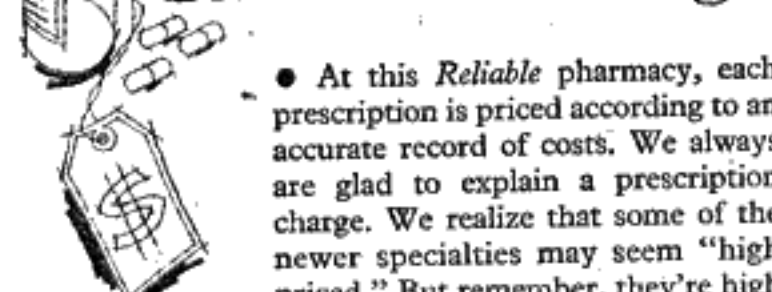

Before leaving for their honeymoon, the bride changed to a tan silk jacket-dress worn with matching hat and bone accessories. A corsage of white carnations completed her attire.

After July fifteenth, Mr. and Mrs. Robbins will be at home at 1517 Farnell Court, Clairmont Road, Decatur, Georgia.

It
Over
By
SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze, I'm a widow with four grown children and our house is real small. Now, the twenty-two year old girl married last winter and it looks like I've got five grown ups on my hands.

It's getting to be a real problem and there's bickering all the time because my son-in-law wants to buy a place but my daughter says she doesn't want to keep house. She thinks she'd get lonesome being to herself all day and I doubt that she'd know where to start with all that has to go on around a house, meals and cleaning.

She's the oldest girl, but more like a baby than the others and I'm afraid, if her husband tries to make her take on responsibilities, she'll leave him. She's always been hard to manage and he's making the mistake of trying to make her buckle down, which just isn't the best way with her.

I feel like there's something I ought to do, but don't know what. Please give me your advice. Troubled.

Dear Troubled, I think there's something you should have started doing twenty-two years ago. After a child is grown and married is not time to begin teaching her (or him) the things that are best learned gradually, beginning with the first years.

You say you're afraid your daughter may leave her husband because he wants her to "buckle down." But had you thought that HE may be the one to do the leaving? And, if she continues to show no inclination to take on the responsibilities that come with marriage, it may happen at any time.

Or, even worse—to my way of thinking—is the course resorted to by the disillusioned husband who starts stepping out on his wife.

Whatever your reason for having failed your daughter (because that's what it amounts to), I think you'd better have a frank talk with her now. Show her this column and go on from there. I think you'd want her to know that you're available at all times with advice, encouragement, the things that it's a mother's pleasure to give. But that the reins are in her hands.

And best of luck. I think you're going to need it. Dear Mrs. Saze, We are working girls (there're four of us) and best of friends, and we've been saving our pennies and doing without for nearly three years. Our objective is a trip to Europe and we hope to have vacations in August and we think we'll be able to swing the deal at that time.

But we know we can't do things on the grand scale and we're in

Urban Impresses Audiences With Piano Control

College Artist Performs
For Students, Public;
Played Confidently

In one of the most artistic piano performances ever heard in old Wesleyan Hall, Walter E. Urban on Tuesday evening, June 30, favorably impressed his audience with his brilliant and with his subtle pianistic control. Mr. Urban, who this Summer joined the music staff of Florence State, presented his program at ten o'clock in the morning and again in the evening.

As he progressed from Bach (the six dances of the Suite No. 3 in B Minor) through a Mozart Sonata (E flat major, K. 282), Urban's audience was warmly receptive to his clear delineation of musical line, his crisp rhythm, his high concept of musical idea.

When a Chopin group was reached (the Military Polonaise, the C-sharp minor and E minor Waltzes, and the oft-popularized Heroic Polonaise—all familiar to most concert goers), Urban's listeners were aware that here was not just pianistic skill but a technique adequate to perform the most difficult compositions with confidence and accuracy.

Mr. Urban closed his program with a show piece by the contemporary Dohnanyi (the F Minor Capriccio) which left many seasoned listeners thrilled with his display of technical dexterity. Those who attended the night performance also heard an additional group of three Brahms "Intermezzi."

Afternoon Ceremony Unites
Frances Cox, Howard Hall

A three o'clock in the afternoon ceremony in North Wood Methodist Church marked the exchange of vows between Frances Louise Cox, daughter of Mrs. Dorothy Cox of Florence and Otis Lee Cox of Birmingham, and Howard Thomas Hall, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Franklin Hall of Florence, on Wednesday, June twenty-fourth.

Curtis E. Platt, minister of Popular Street Church of Christ, officiated after nuptial selections by Mrs. E. W. Beasley, organist, and Mrs. James Franklin Hall, Jr., vocalist.

Banked with Boston ferns interspersed with branched candelabra of burning pink tapers, the altar's central decoration was a fan-shaped arrangement of pink and white gladioli and white stock, with smaller fan-shaped arrangement of pink and white gladioli and white stock, with smaller arrangements of the same blossoms flanking the sides.

Wearing the gown which had been worn by her aunt, Mrs. Ernest Albert Ziegler of Atlanta, in her own wedding, the bride was given in marriage by her father. Pearl medallions outlined the portrait neckline of the molded bodice and were repeated in the full, hooped skirt which extended into a chapel train.

A tiara of seed pearls held her fingertip veil of illusion and she carried a white orchid encircled by white roses and lilies of the valley and showered with white satin streamers.

Serving the bride as matron of honor was her sister-in-law, Mrs. Robert Godsey Cox. Bridesmaids included Miss Dianne Cowart and Miss Sara Dean Blake, both of Haleyville, and Miss Alice Marie Donahue, the latter a junior bridesmaid. They wore dresses of white eyelet-embroidered organza with sashes of ice blue for the bride attendant and blush pink for the bridesmaids. Matching velvet bands with tiny veils were their headresses and they carried nosegays of Summer blossoms.

The bridegroom chose his brother, James Franklin Hall, Jr., of Tusculum as best man and ushers were Robert G. Cox of Gulfport, Miss., brother of the bride, Donald W. Threlk and James H. Mardis, both of Florence.

A reception in the church parlors followed the ceremony. A tiered wedding cake centered the bride's table which was covered with a white cutwork cloth posed over pink and caught at each corner with a bridesmaid's nosegay. Bouquets of pink and white gladioli and pink tapers in silver candelabra completed the appointments.

Assisting were Mrs. Zingale, Mrs. Bert Robinson of Tusculum, Miss Carolyn Beavers, Miss Brenda Marks, Miss Joan Jackson and Mrs. Hattie Southward.

Before leaving for their honeymoon in New Orleans and along the Mississippi coast, the bride changed to an ice blue linen dress with matching jacket, a small black straw hat and patent accessories. The groom from her bouquet wore her corsage.

Mr. and Mrs. Hall will be at home upon their return at 1705 North Wood Avenue.

Miss Hollis Bower left last week for New Jersey where she joined a group which is now touring the West, the itinerary to include points of interest in Canada.

Mr. Mrs. Abston Mark
Silver Wedding Anniversary

Pink gladioli and bowls of mixed summer blossoms decorated the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Abston on Chisholm Road when they celebrated their Silver Wedding anniversary on Sunday, June 21.

Kay, of Cope Girardeau, Mo.

Veiled in white lace over silver grey linen, the refreshment table was centered with a tiered wedding cake decorated with a miniature bridal couple and the numerals "25."

More than one hundred guests called between the hours of half past two and five.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar I. Moses of Ypsilanti, Mich., are spending their vacation in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Nicodemus Weldon.

Mr. and Mrs. Reeder Barnett and children of Detroit, Mich., are visiting in the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. P. M. Barnett.

Visiting in the Sam Bullard home are his children, Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Bullard and children and Mr. and Mrs. Don Creamens all of Cleveland, Ohio.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

A Nation's Prayer

ALMIGHTY GOD, in Whose love and eternal care this world has found its sole meaning and ultimate destiny, bless this House.

In the exercise of a holy freedom our people have chosen that man who with his helpmate here abides. Whether we support or oppose his policies, lead us to uphold him in his sacred duty, to the preservation of our Constitution and the safeguard of our liberties.

Strengthen him and his counsellors in the fulfillment of their trust. Enlighten both his supporters and his loyal opposition in every search for the best solution to the problems that beset our nation and our world. Preserve the peace, never letting the flame of freedom flicker for one moment in our hearts.

And guide the families of our land to the Sources of Light and Life and Love, multiplying the influence of the Bible, extending the witness of the Church... that the blessing we invoke upon this House may permeate every home in a dedicated America.

Amen.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

Because of a breakdown of the draft system of the Revolution, General George Washington had only 1,000 Regulars, and 2,000 state militiamen, on March 14, 1777, to fight some 20,000 British troops around New York.

Wheat Harvest Is Three-Fourths Over In County

Yields Per Acre Good But Grade Of Wheat Low, Especially At Cloverdale

Harvest of Lauderdale wheat allotment crop is approximately 75 per cent complete with yields per acre reportedly very good. However, the grade of wheat is low because of heavy rains.

L. H. Rickard, county agricultural stabilization and conservation office manager in Lauderdale said that rain early last week slowed the harvest, but he estimated county-wide the work was 75 per cent complete.

"Farmers are selling most of their wheat commercially, and quite a few have planted the 15 acres which they are allowed under the program without an allotment," he stated.

"A lot of the Lauderdale wheat is low grade, the rain damaged it quite a bit, especially the flood in the Cloverdale region," he added.

Rickard said the yields per acre were pretty good, maybe a bit above normal.

The Lauderdale County allotment is 7,726 acres although more wheat than that probably was planted due to the 15-acre clause.

Herman Marks, Lauderdale extension official said that yields of between 34 and 40 bushels per acre have been reported in some cases which is considered excellent for this area.

Marks said that while there had been considerable concentration on the wheat harvest, farmers are also poisoning cotton and some are still at work getting grass out of fields.

 Assistant County Agent

Winter Legume Cover crops
 Decide now on the winter legume cover crops you will plant in the next few weeks. There are several good ones: hairy vetch, crimson clover, Austrian peas, and burr clover.

Winter legumes should definitely be in the cropping system on most farms. Some of the highest cotton and corn yields being made at the API Experiment Station are in the cropping systems where winter legumes are included.

The winter legumes may be planted in cotton and corn middles in the late summer or early fall. They may be used in combination with small grains or ryegrass for winter grazing.

Lime
 Try to apply lime ahead of late summer and early fall planted crops. You can get on the land with equipment better now than in the winter. Remember acid soil is one of the biggest soil fertility problems in Alabama. It may be your biggest production problem.

Soil Preparation
 Good soil preparation will largely determine your success with winter grazing mixtures such as crimson clover, ryegrass, alfalfa, pastures, etc. Break the land now, and disk or harrow after each rain often enough to control weeds and grasses. A well fallowed, firm seedbed will help you profit with these crops. You cannot expect success if you seed on a freshly prepared or poorly prepared seedbed, especially in the late summer and early fall when there may not be much rain.

Turf Grasses
 Have the soil well prepared and be ready to seed turf grasses when rains come if you cannot apply water. You can get set the zoysia grasses—such as matrella or emerald—and the bermudas and St. Augustines.

Set Tiflawn bermuda on athletic fields and other areas that receive heavy tramping. If the bermudas are set closely and watered, with plenty of nitrogen applied, you can get a sod within a few weeks.

Apply fertilizer to your established turfs.

Soil Testing
 Don't guess. Fertilize and lime by test. You can use your money more wisely by having a soil test made

Many Alabama soils are low in potash, say Alabama Extension agronomists. To increase the potash supply of the soil, more farmers should use high-potash fertilizers, such as 4-12-12 or 0-10-20.

WHAT DOES THIS SIGN MEAN?

The R in this symbol is an abbreviation of the imperative of the Latin verb "recipio," meaning to take. In French, the letter P for "prenez" (take) is used. The stroke at the base of the R goes back to the ancient days of superstition, when an invocation, or prayer to a favorite deity was used . . . the sign of Jupiter, the chief divinity of the Roman gods, was customarily employed. Even today, this final stroke is a part of the prescription symbol.

THE RX IS FOUND ON EVERY PRESCRIPTION, BUT THE SKILL AND INTEGRITY INVOLVED IN COMPOUNDING AND DISPENSING EACH PRESCRIPTION IS OUR OWN PERSONAL CONTRIBUTION TO YOUR GOOD HEALTH.
