The Passing Parade 1884 - 1959 By HAROLD S. MAY

● How many of your fellow students in the first grade do you recall? That is, if you have now passed the half-century mark! And further, if you haven't seen them for 53 years? We thought so. We had that rare experience of renewing a friendship the past weekend that had lain dormant for all these years - and what a thrilling experience it was. For nearly four hours, we went over each and every person who in that far distant year was a friend of ours - she (yes it's a 'she') left Florence after that year and was anxious to learn what we knew of each. Of course her husband and our PW (pretty wife) were rank outsiders in the conversation.

● Whether it's on the road or in an argument, when you see red - stop!

● The best remark concerning the Florence State - Vandy football game last Saturday that we heard, was made shortly before the midway intermission. Seated two rows in front of us was a loyal Lion supporter who was beside himself at the prospect of a close game. The Lions had the ball, the score was 13-7, a little time left before the half was to end, when this enthusiastic student stood up and began shouting advice to the Florence Staters: "Freeze the ball! Freeze the ball! There's only a little more than two quarters left in the game."

● Someone, of experience, has remarked that women would be more charming if one could fall into their arms without falling into their hands.

● Stuart Symington, the Missouri Senator whom we pick as the next President of the United States, has introduced a bill in the Congress for the establishment of a Foreign Service Academy to rank in stature with the three military academies. No smarter move could be made, in our opinion, that to make it possible for those entering our diplomatic service to have the training necessary for their high positions. It has never appeared to us to have even an iota of sense to select some big industrialist or successful businessman for top diplomatic posts just because he contributed liberally to the party's campaign fund. That's one reason why this country wins the wars (except the Korean conflict) and loses the battles of the conference tables.

● Possibly the most complete squelch came from the woman who entered the sheriff's office to file a complaint. "I want you to arrest Mary Smith (to coin a name) on a charge of petty larceny... she stole my husband!" she explained.

● Your share of the cost of crime in these United States is $128 annually, or a total of $506 for the average family. These figures come from the report of FBI Director J. Edgar Hoover who decries the increasing cost of this "luxury" from which practically no person gains. Even those who carry off the loot fail to reap true benefits from it.

● There's a place in the Sadaboga Island—to reach them you go out a few thousand miles in the Pacific Ocean and take a right turn—where they sell wives for $10 each. In discussing this situation, a friend of ours remarked that it seems inflation is reaching all over the world.

Annual Farm-City Week Sponsored By Kiwanis Interdependence Rural And Urban People Stressed By Extension Head

Throughout Alabama and the nation Farm-City Week is being observed during which time special efforts are being made to bring about a better understanding between urban and rural people.

This is being done through proclamations, talks before civic groups, visits between city and farm residents, through newspaper stories, and radio and television announcements.

In Florence Farm-City Week has been given special emphasis for several years through the local Kiwanis Club, being observed on Friday night of last week with a banquet at Coffee High School Cafeteria at which time the guest speaker was Dr. E. T. York, Jr., extension director, Auburn University, who spoke on the "Interdependence of Farm and Non-Farm People." He was introduced by Lauderdale County Agent L. T. Wagon.

Dr. York pointed out to Kiwanians and farm leaders of Lauderdale County that thirty-five per cent of Alabama's population lives on the land and seventy-three per cent engage in agri-business, that is are either farming or handle farm products or farm supplies. This 73 per cent account for 64 per cent of the state's income, he explained.

Thus the economic well-being of non-agricultural people is greatly influenced by how well the farmer prospers.

Dr. York pointed out also that farmers depend on non-farm people for a market for most of their products, processing their products, for farm machinery, materials for homes, chemicals needed on the farms, and to expand the national economy so that agriculture can grow and prosper.

Everybody depends on the farmer for food, the first essential, and for most of their fiber, the second essential, Dr. York stated. In 1958 sixty-five per cent of all fiber consumed was cotton.

Two thirds of the farmer's gross income is spent for goods and services. When farmers prosper they spend liberally, York pointed out.

Wage Increase Granted Workers By Union Carbide

Nineteen Day Strike Ends As New Contract Is Signed On Nov. 19

Start-up operations have begun at Union Carbide Metals Company's Sheffield plant, after a nineteen-day strike. Approximately 130 of the 305 hourly workers idled by the work stoppage have returned to work thus far, and additional personnel are scheduled to resume their former duties within a few days.

The first furnace unit was placed in operation yesterday morning. It is anticipated that the other three furnaces operating prior to the strike will begin manufacturing ferro-alloys before the end of the week.

According to Plant Superintendent, C. E. Green, "Barring unforeseen circumstances, 90 per cent of those people working before the strike should be back at their jobs by Friday; and our pre-strike level of employment should be reached early next week."

"We are all very pleased that the strike is ended," Green continued. "Through the efforts of the negotiating teams, agreement was reached by which we can continue to work harmoniously for the betterment of Union Carbide Metals, all its Sheffield employees, their families, and the community."

Agreement on a new contract between the Union Carbide Metals Company and Local N. 3838, United Steelworkers of America, AFL-CIO, was reached late Wednesday according to a joint announcement by C. E. Green, superintendent of the Sheffield Plant, and Grady Pounders, President of the local union. The agreement was ratified by a vote of the union members on Thursday, November 19.

Terms of the new agreement included a nine-cent general increase in wages, plus the incorporation of the present thirteen cents per hour cost-of-living allowance into the basic wage schedule. The cost-of-living, or escalation clause has been deleted from the new contract.

Other features of the settlement included increased shift premium pay and a more liberal vacation plan permitting four weeks of paid vacation, annually after twenty years of service. The SUB in the previous contract will expire on November 1, 1961, and will include a straight time wage reopener clause on November 1, 1960.

The Sheffield plant, a principal supplier of ferro-alloys to the steel industry, had been on strike since November 1.

Negotiators for the company were Glen Nicholas, George Tarbox, George Rieder and John Graham. The union was represented by Local President Grady Pounders, Marvin Ritchie, Arthur Monerret, James Narmore, Grady Garrison, Kenneth Tidwell, Clarence Hester and James Summerville, International Representative.

Coffee, Sheffield To Vie For Title

Jackets Favored To Win Turkey Day Classic This Afternoon At 2

This afternoon at 2 o'clock the 1959 prep football season will reach its climax as the Coffee Yellow Jackets and the Sheffield Bulldogs clash in their annual Turkey Day game at Sheffield's Stadium.

A capacity crowd is expected to be on hand for the contest, which has become one of the hardest fought in state football.

The Coffee Jackets, a slight choice over the Bulldogs, have an 8-1 record, while the Colbert County rivals hold a 7-2 record for the season. Riding on this game will be the Tennessee Valley championship and the Tri-Cities title.

Should the Jackets win they would be in possession of their third TVC crown and the Tri-Cities title, but should Sheffield come out on top, the win would send Coffee into a co-championship with Cullman and hand the Bulldogs the Tri-Cities title.

This game will see four of the fastest halfbacks in recent years pitted against each other. Charley Young and Terry Haddock are the Jackets' answer to Harris and Carter for Sheffield. Rounding out Coffee's backfield will be Quarterback Newt Pitts and Fullback Dan Weaver.

Quarterback Kenny Farmer and Quarterback Sonny Daniels and Billy Young comprise Sheffield's starting unit.

Both clubs finished up their practice Wednesday with light workouts.

The feeling is growing in diplomatic circles in London that chances for an East-West summit meeting are fading. However officials in Paris and Bonn say the meeting with the Soviets is likely to take place in June.

Observers say that Red China is trying to put the brakes on negotiations between the Soviet Union and the Western Powers. There is also speculation that there will be no summit meeting until America elects a new president and that it will possibly be sometime in 1961.

West German press chief Felix Von Ehardt however had a different opinion and indicated he believed it would be held in April of this year. American and French diplomats say that the logical date appears to be sometime between April and the end of May. They agree it is hardly possible before that time.

Russian Premier Nikita Khrushchev will visit France for two weeks beginning the middle of March and French President Charles de Gaulle will visit Britain on April 5. Following de Gaulle's visit Western discussion of the Khrushchev visit and details of arrangements for the meeting could take another two weeks. There is also the possibility, already discussed, that de Gaulle will visit the United States in May and this could further delay the talks.

There is also the possibility that Khrushchev might lose interest if the summit meeting date is shoved any farther into the summer and would wait until a new president is elected rather than talking with the out-going president.

British newspapers say there is little to support Prime Minister Harold MacMillan's hopes that there will be an early conference of leaders.

Rasch Tells How Legislation Will Affect 1960 Crop

Recent legislation on cotton allotment for the future was explained Tuesday by Joe Rasch, Chairman of the Lauderdale County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

According to Rasch, the new law requires that, in determining farm cotton allotments, the farm cotton allotment for the previous year shall be used as the "base" of at least 75 per cent of the farm allotment for that year was planted to cotton or regarded as planted cotton.

Thus the acreage planted to cotton or regarded as planted on a farm for 1960 must be at least 75 per cent of the regular "Choice A" farm allotment to preserve the entire allotment as a base for 1961.

Acreage may be regarded as planted to cotton if it was included in the previous year's Conservation Reserve or the Great Plains Program, the allotment acreage was released to the County ASC Committee for reapportionment to other farms, or if the county committee determines that planning was prevented by a natural disaster or illness of a farm operator or producer.

If 75 per cent of the previous year's regular farm allotment was not planted to cotton, the base in determining future farm allotments will be reduced to the average of (1) the regular allotment for that year, (2) the acreage planted or regarded as planted in that year.

Farm cotton allotments for 1960 may not be less than the smaller of 10 acres or the 1958 farm cotton allotment, but beginning with 1961, the reduction in the farm base, if 75 per cent of the previous year's allotment was not planted or regarded as planted, will apply to all farm cotton allotments regardless of their size. Therefore, small cotton farms are guaranteed an allotment equal to 10 acres of the 1958 farm allotment only if the 75 per cent planting requirement is met each year.

Farmers releasing cotton allotment acreage may not designate the farm to which the county ASC Committee reapportions the acreage.

Rasch explained that acreage planted or regarded as planted to cotton on farms is credited to the state and county for the purpose of future state and county allotments.

The Way of All Tyrants

What has happened to Fidel Castro? Perhaps his treatment of his former friend and comrade in arms, Major Hubert Matos, tells it better than anything else. Matos, who is in prison, says Castro plans to execute him.

Major Matos, beloved schoolmaster of Camaguey, being fully cognizant of the injustices done the Cuban masses by a dissolute government joined Castro in his effort to bring about the needed reforms.

It was Matos who took a company of men and two truck loads of arms to Castro who was hiding in the Sierra Maestra mountains. Matos then joined the tiny army which was the nucleus of the revolutionary force that later overthrew the Batista regime.

Matos later went to Costa Rica seeking further aid for Castro, at that time smuggling his wife and children out of Cuba. He took part in the expedition that resulted in supplying Castro with modern weapons, enabling him to turn the tide of battle against the soldiers of the government.

Matos, a natural soldier, was promoted to major and when the success of the revolution was assured, made commander of the province of Camaguey. Matos' education and tact enabled him to be of great aid in carrying out Castro's land distribution edict.

Later Matos became convinced that Fidel Castro had become irrational and irresponsible when he appointed his red-tainted brother, Raul, as head of Cuba's new army.

Matos then resigned his command and told Castro to send a substitute. Castro is said to have flown to Matos' headquarters in a rage and denounced him as a traitor. Matos and 36 of the officers of his Camaguey regiment were arrested.

Actually Matos never wavered in his belief in the revolution and a free and independent Cuba.

It was Castro who had wavered because Cuba is no more free today than it was under Batista. He cannot long hold the freedom-loving Cubans under his despotic and domineering excuse for government.

He, too, will go the way of all tyrants.

What About Taxation?

Today's tax laws are not uniform in application and they are not too understandable. The present high tax rates are an invitation to cheating on tax reports and yet the public's willingness to pay its fair share of taxes is based on a conviction that tax laws are fair and fairly administered. The government recognizes that the tax system must be voluntary despite all the enforcement machinery.

Certainly better enforcement against deliberate cheating is desirable but Congress should certainly provide tax laws that treat everybody alike and a tax rate low enough to discourage "cutting corners."

The House Ways and Means Committee has uncovered a large assortment of ideas, analyses, suggestions and statistics in studying the income tax laws. It was shown that some $24 billion is left unreported involving a minimum of $5 billion in revenue.

If the tremendous waste in government could be curtailed taxes could be reduced. Many experts argue that reducing taxes would actually increase revenue through increased spending and subsequent creation of more jobs.

It is encouraging that Congress is giving thought to the problem. A tax cut is not likely until spending is substantially curtailed and waste and duplication in government closely scrutinized.

Retired Colonel Will Administer Small Loan Act

A 53-year-old retired Army colonel who is trained in police work will take over next week as new supervisor of the State Bureau of Loans.

Col. Lehman J. Lewis of Montgomery will administer the newly enacted Alabama Small Loan Act, which goes into effect in January. "He is a man uniquely qualified for this important job," said Gov. John Patterson.

Col. Lewis retired from the U.S. Army last April after lengthy service in the provost marshal's department. A native of Wetumpka, he is presently employed as director of instruction for the International Assn. of Chiefs of Police.

His appointment to the Bureau of Loans was made by State Banking Supt. John C. Curry, who has Many ex-servicemen would like to know if it is permissible for them to pay off their G.I. Loans ahead of time, or if they may make payments in advance without being penalized. On many conventional home loans you must pay a penalty if you try to "double up" on payments or pay off the balance of the loan ahead of schedule. But that's not so when you have bought your house with a G.I. loan. The law gives you the opportunity to pay off ahead of time all or any part of the mortgage and there is no penalty. Of course, the advance of paying in advance is strictly financial. By paying off a loan ahead of time, you save on interest charges. Sometimes this can amount to as much as a couple of thousand dollars. Any G.I. home-owner who suddenly comes up with a windfall of extra cash should be aware that he can make not better investment than paying off that mortgage. If you have extra money, and you want to cut down on interest charges, you can pay off on your G.I. loan on any regular payment date. However advance payments may not be less than 100 dollars or one monthly payment, whichever is less. Any time you reduce the principal of your loan you're going to save on those interest payments. Any veteran seeking information regarding G. I. Loans should contact his nearest County Veteran's Service Officer.

Resolution Opposes French Tests

In the General Assembly Friday, a debate shaped up on an Asian-African resolution opposing French atomic tests in the Sahara Desert. A key group of delegates faced the choice of offending France or making an exception for her after going on record Thursday night against further nuclear weapon tests. A showdown is slated after the assembly gives unanimous approval to a U. S.-Soviet proposal to turn all disarmament proposals over to the 10-nation East-West conference opening in Geneva in February.

"Cactus Jack" Celebrates Birthday

Former Vice President John Nance Garner (Cactus Jack) marked his 91st birthday in Uvalde, Texas Sunday with a huge cake and a quiet party given by old friends. Garner, who retired from politics in 1940 after a historic break with Franklin D. Roosevelt over the third term and the Supreme Court issues, said only that he wants to live to be 92 so that he can square off his years of public and private life. Garner spent 46 years in public service.

DAMAGES AWARDED IN DEATH KING YOUTH

Arnold King, father of Harlan Glenn King, 18, who was killed in a highway accident near Azalia, Ind., June 28, 1958, was awarded $6,000 as damages in his $50,000 suit against Bobby Joe Lash of Lauderdale Wednesday afternoon in Lauderdale Circuit Court.

King alleged in the complaint that Lash had negligently operated the car in which his son was a passenger, causing it to collide with a large tractor-trailer, thereby resulting in the death of his son.

The firm of Pounders and Wilson represented King, while Robert Cox of Mitchell, Poelnitz and Cox represented the defendant.

Sketches From Life

By FRANCES HALL

HOMER L. REEDER

"Homer Reeder has spent his entire lifetime with the thought uppermost in his mind of being of service to the people of his native county, which has an almost sacred appeal to him," was the remark made by a friend who has known him since his boyhood.

Throughout the years, he has been interested in the improvement of the educational advantages of the county and the economic development of the district. In both of these endeavors Mr. Reeder has been a constant tie between the rural and urban areas.

Mr. Reeder entered the cotton business in 1906 and since has been closely identified with it and its related activities. He is recognized as an authority on cotton marketing as well as cotton production.

As a member of the State Legislature for three terms, Mr. Reeder devoted himself to the enactment of legislation that would benefit the people as a whole, but with an eye always focused on its benefits to Lauderdale County.

Homer Linden Reeder was born at Cloverdale, December 17, 1873, the son of John W. and Virginia Booth Reeder. He attended Cloverdale school and worked on the farm until he entered Florence State Normal College in 1892.

After being graduated in 1895, he taught school for three years in Alabama, where he was graduated in 1900 with a B.S. degree.

Mr. Reeder taught for two years in Florence city schools before serving as principal of Patton School and later as County Superintendent of Education from 1910 to 1914.

Mr. Reeder was married to Loula Paulk of Cloverdale in 1901. They have four children; Lucia, Howard L., Homer Preston and Mrs. Freida Baskerville. Mrs. Reeder died Dec. 31, 1958.

Fertilizer Plant To Install New Granulating Unit

Farmers Of Area To Be Provided With Modern Facility At Decatur

Tennessee Valley Cooperatives, Inc., will install complete granulating equipment in their Decatur Plant, it was announced this week.

The general trend in recent years has been toward higher analysis, 50lb bags and granulation. The success of other plants in the general area in recent years indicates the need and acceptance of granulated materials. Since Tennessee Valley Cooperatives has been the production of all analysis of mixed fertilizer in a complete granulated form, which will remain in condition in storage and will have better drillability in the field. No more separating of plant foods in the bag. Every granule will carry a balanced ratio of all the elements properly blended for greatest economy on the farm. Easier handling — free flowing — water soluble — the latest — the best — North Alabama farmers will have it.

Installation of the new plant facilities will be financed by the sale of 10-year "Debentures" bearing interest at 6%. These debentures went on sale through the county cooperatives November 18. They will be sold in denominations of $100.00 with a limit of $5,000.00 per investor and restricted to sale to residents of Alabama.

The twenty-two years of successful operation of Tennessee Valley Cooperatives has built up a net worth of a million and a quarter dollars against which these Debentures will have first priority which makes this a very safe investment, it was pointed out.

Sewell, Garth Are Exchange Guests

Recent Visitors To Russia Report On The Situations Found In Their Travels

John B. Sewell, of Trinity, and Winston Garth, of Athens, who were members of a party of farmers who recently toured Russia and West Germany, were guest speakers at Tuesday's meeting of the Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder. Karl Tyree, Jr., was in charge of program arrangements and presented the speakers.

Mr. Sewell said that the group represented beef and dairy producers of the Southeastern states and made the tour as guests of the Soviets. After reaching Copenhagen, they flew to Moscow by Russian jet and there went through an ordeal as they passed through customs. They found the Russian leaders to be a group of show-offs, and, according to advanced information, met all kinds of interference in their journey through the land of the Soviets.

Visiting collective farms, they soon learned that those working these areas were little more than serfs, however, when they visited the state farms in the area around Kiev in the Ukraine, they found the farms were the most fertile in the entire country and modern equipment and methods were employed. The equipment on the collective farms were little more than junk.

Commenting on conditions they found, Mr. Sewell said: "Where they have left God, as in the Soviet, you can't find much happiness." When questioned as to their beliefs, Mr. Sewell said, he found the old people still clinging to their beliefs while the young people, under the present teaching, ridicule the existence of a God."

Mr. Sewell praised the building and industrial progress they found in Moscow and other cities and pointed to the great advance in construction of homes, hotels, public buildings and industrial establishments stating that in many areas of development they were far ahead of the United States.

Mr. Garth gave an illustrated talk of their visit to Russia and West Germany showing pictures he had taken within the Kremlin, Red Square and other points of interest as well as in the new West Germany still marred by destruction brought on that nation during World War II.

Guests of the club included Jos. Buffler, Charles Moore, C. H. Jackson, Ben Craig, Rip Thompson and Leland Moore.

Robbery Foiled By Young Girl

Quick thinking by a young Lauderdale girl foiled a robbery attempt at Bentley's Service Station at Center St. last Thursday night.

Mr. Bentley's daughter was outside the station, located on Highway 72, in an automobile when she saw two men park their car across the highway from the station and begin walking toward where she was sitting. She told Lauderdale County Sheriff's Deputy A. V. McCorkle, who answered a call to the station, that there was apparently trouble coming, she turned the lights of the car on the men, who then ran to their car and left.

McCorkle said he did not find out about the attempted robbery until early Friday.

MISS HOME ECONOMICS—Carolyn Kline, Florence State's Miss Home Economics appears to be beaming with pride as she descends the steps before leaving for the State Home Economics Convention. Israel-Teks Vows
Solemnized in Temple B'nai Israel on Sunday afternoon, November twenty-second, was the marriage of Miss Shirley Anne Israel, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Manuel Ben Israel of Florence, and Milton Teks of Tusculumbia, son of Manuel Teks of Florence and the late Mrs. Teks.

Rabbi J. S. Gallinger read the one o'clock vows following a program of nuptial music presented by Mrs. John den Boer, organist. Basket arrangements of mauve gladioli and carnations against a background of lighted mauve tapers marked the altar where Mr. Israel gave his daughter in marriage. The bride chose for the occasion a street-length gown of champagne-colored lace over mauve satin detailed with a tunic bodice which came to a point at the waistline. A wisp of matching veiling fashioned her headpiece and she carried a single mauve orchid encircled with lilies of the valley and showered with satin streamers.

Mrs. William Morgenstein of Brooklyn, New York, was the bride's only attendant. She wore a street-length sapphire blue satin in frock and her flowers were a cluster of light blue carnations with deeper blue satin streamers. Louis Teks served his brother as best man and ushers were Arnold Teks, also a brother, and Jack Muheldorf, cousin of the bride.

Mrs. Israel chose for her daughter's wedding a Dior blue gown of lace with which she wore an orchid corsage, and Mrs. Harry Aizenstart of Miami, Florida, sister of the bridegroom, complemented her royal blue attire with a corsage of red rosebuds.

Immediately after the ceremony, Bill Cadenhead, Res. AT 2-6336, Cecil Williams, Off. AT 2-6861, Res. AT 2-1919.

Many To Benefit Under New Act

Large Number Veterans And Families Affected By New Pension Ruling

It is estimated that a large number of new cases will become eligible for pensions in Alabama on Ann Young and Mr. and Mrs. James F. Young.

Guest of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Hipp and family is his mother, Mrs. Catherine Hipp of Johnstown, Pa.

Mrs. J. Will Young is spending the holiday weekend with her daughter, Mrs. J. D. Suttles, Mr. Suttles, and their daughter, Miss Martha Suttles in Atlanta.

Miss Annette Koonce arrived yesterday from SMU in Dallas, Texas, for a Thanksgiving visit with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Koonce, Walnut St.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Lane and children, Martha and Fred, of Birmingham are holiday guests of relatives in the district, having come especially to be with Mrs. Lane's aunt, Mrs. Herbert Deichert of Los Angeles, also a guest of relatives.

the 1st of July, of 1960, effective date of the recently enacted Veterans Pensions Act.

Of these new cases there will be a number of widows and children of veterans made eligible by the widows equalization clause and there will be some additional cases involving living veterans, widows and children who believe they will be eligible by the increase in the income limitation. Neil R. Smart, Manager of the Alabama VA Regional Office in Montgomery, indicated.

Smart suggested today that the veterans, widows, or guardians of children who believe they may become eligible after next June 30, a wait until after the first of the coming year to start action toward that possible end.

By delaying this action, both the VA and the applicant will benefit by avoiding premature correspondence and interviews before necessary facts information can be determined. For instance, income for the calendar year 1960 cannot be accurately determined until the first of the determining year arrives, Smart pointed out.

Application filed in the first few months of 1960 will result in no delays as there will be ample processing time by the July 1 effective date.

When making garments that are to be washed or drip-dried, be sure that shoulder pads, lining, and facing are also washable to avoid unequal shrinkage.

Bible Comment:

Thanksgiving Thought for This Year

For a Thanksgiving meditation, as valid now as when it was first spoken, the words of the theologian Henry C. Potter return to us:

As we gather about the family board today, let us remember the homeless and homeless and unbefriended, and be sure that we have done something to make sunshine in their hearts, no matter what November gloom may reign outside.

And as we grasp the hand and look into the eyes of friend and kinsman, be this the greeting we give:

"Brother, whatever else our homes provide today of plenty and good cheer, let us provide things honest in the sight of all men."

And then, in the name of that Master whom we serve and great exceeding love: "let all bitterness and wrath and anger and clamor and evil speaking be put away from us with all malice; and let us be kind to one another, tender-hearted, forgiving one another—whatever the old wound that aches and burns today, even as God for Christ's sake hath forgiven us."

Warning Issued By Public Health On Trailer Heaters

The Department of Public Health has released a warning against any further use of a small gas burning space heater for trailers. The brand name is "Thurman Heater." It is a wall panel unit, 8,000 BTU capacity, usually labeled 8M or 8MNS with a 13x19 inch opening using bottled gas. There are some 2,000 of these heaters in use and they are installed in 82 makes of trailers.

The Michigan Department of Health has reported that this heater is apparently the cause of 8 deaths in 3 separate incidents in Michigan in recent weeks. Investigation by the Michigan Health Department showed that the heater very rapidly built up to lethal concentrations of carbon monoxide under normal operating conditions.

The Industrial Hygiene Division of the Indiana State Health Department has obtained the serial numbers of all trailers known to be equipped with these heaters and has telephoned or written all trailer dealers as an attempt to rid trailers of such a hazard.

Counterfeit Bills Found By Officers In Making Arrest

Leymon Holliman, former Lauderdale County resident, was arrested by Florence police officers Tuesday following an automobile accident at the corner of Cherry and Reeder streets at 7:55 a.m. Holliman's arrest for driving while intoxicated resulted in the finding of a number of counterfeit $20 bills on his person.

Holliman was wearing a hunting jacket at the time of his arrest, officers noticing the twenty-dollar bills inside the jacket. Determining the bills were bogus Chief of Police Noah Danley notified secret service agents in Birmingham who immediately came to Florence where they are conducting an investigation.

Holliman, formerly of Rhodenville community had been residing in Toledo, Ohio, it was stated.

Tax Facts For The Homeowner

THEFT, DAMAGE AND DESTRUCTION OF PROPERTY

(This is one in a series of articles on federal income tax filing. These articles are based on information provided by the American Institute of Certified Public Accountants in cooperation with the Internal Revenue Service.)

You can get some relief from casualty and theft losses by taking advantage of the legitimate tax deductions you are allowed.

To help you prepare a correct return and take advantage of legitimate tax savings, this newspaper is printing a series of four articles prepared with the help of the state and national organizations of certified public accountants.

Today's article considers the problems you may have in claiming deductions for theft or casualty losses. Later articles will offer advice on other tax problems of particular interest to homeowners.

Time and Destruction
There are a great many ways in which your property can be damaged or destroyed, as for example, by fire, storm, flood, or explosion. Generally, a casualty which will give rise to a deductible loss must occur with some suddenness. However, there are situations where the casualty occurs over a period of time and still results in a deductible casualty loss. For example, consider the damage caused by termites.

Say that you purchased your house in June 1957 and at that time a check by experts showed that there were no termites present. Then, in February 1958, you discover that termites have been eating your house from under you. Can you claim a casualty loss deduction for the termite damage? Yes, you can, even though the damage took place over a nine month period.

The casualty here, is the invasion of your house by the termites. The money you have to spend to repair the damage to your house as a result of the termite invasion is a good measure of the amount you deduct as a casualty loss. However, it is probable that a casualty deduction will not be allowed where the termite damage did not occur over a relatively short period of time.

The Property Must Be Yours
You must have ownership of the damaged property to claim a loss deduction. It is quite conceivable that severe damage to the property around your house may cause the value of your property to decline. Although the damage occurred suddenly, you cannot claim a deduction for the loss in value unless your own property was actually damaged.

You can claim a deduction for a drop in the value of your car due to an accident. This is true regardless of whether you or another driver is to blame, unless the accident is a result of your willful negligence. However, if you are responsible for a car accident and have to pay for damage inflicted on someone else's car, you cannot deduct the payment as a casualty loss.

Proving A Casualty Loss
Determining the amount you can claim as a casualty loss may be very difficult. Generally you are allowed to claim the amount of which your property decreased in value. In other words, the difference between the value before the casualty occurred and the value after the casualty. This may sound simple, but take a look around your house and count the number of items for which you could prove the sales value right now, if you had to. After the accident you can usually get an expert to give a written appraisal of the value, but it is the before-casualty value that may be difficult to prove, even by appraisal. In some cases, a repair bill will be considered sufficient to support your deduction.

The best thing you can do is gather together any information that may help support the amount you claim as a deduction. For example, if your home is badly damaged, a qualified architect can often give a reasonable estimate of the before and after value. The appraisal fee, by the way, is a deductible expense.

Theft Losses
You can claim a deduction for the value of property that is stolen. The problem is claiming losses from theft is that you will probably have to show some evidence that the theft took place. Be sure that there is at least a police record of the theft and a report of any findings the police may have come up with. Also, you might keep track of newspaper accounts, insurance reports, and so on. Theft losses are deductible in the year you discover that your property is missing.

You can get additional information on casualty and theft deductions from the instruction booklet issued by the Internal Revenue Service each year.

Coggins Escapes From City Jail

James Leo Coggins, 37, of 1215 West Fourteenth Avenue, Sheffield, a professional escape artist with dozens of misdemeanor convictions plus a three-year military sentence in his past, escaped from the Florence City Jail some time late Sunday or early Monday and is still at large.

Coggins was being held in the Florence jail for public drunkenness and escaping from a street work gang. He had been in the jail since November 3 and had approximately another month to serve, according to Chief Noah Danley.

Coggins used a fire hose to reach the ground from the fourth floor, but the exact manner in which he escaped from his cell is still unknown.

Extension Class In Reupholstering

Do you want to learn how to re-upholster? Next Tuesday, December 1st, the Alabama Extension Service is sponsoring an upholstery demonstration at the Florence Recreation Center. The demonstration begins at 9:30 A.M. and ends at 2:00 P.M.

This is an unusual opportunity to learn a lot about upholstery in a short time as two agents will be demonstrating at the same time on different chairs. Miss Willie Mae Crockett, the 4-H agent will demonstrate how to repair the inside of a chair showing how to stretch webbing, tie springs and pad. Mrs. Marilyn Moore the Farm and Home Development agent, will show how to put on a new outside cover. Mrs. James Boatwright, Mrs. Elbert Murphy and Mrs. Herman Marks will assist with the demonstration.

The chairs being used in this demonstration came from a junk heap. The assistant home agents say "It would be hard to find a chair in worse condition than these were when we got them."

This demonstration will be the only upholstery demonstration offered by the Extension Service in Lauderdale county for several years. The public is invited, so plan to come and bring your neighbor.

If your house lights dim when motors start or appliances are turned on, it may be a sign that your wiring is too small for the electrical load it must carry.

No, rarely. Of 50,000 children who have been enrolled in the Music School Settlement of New York City during the last 43 years, not one has become a delinquent. One research revealed that among 2,408 inmates of Sing Sing prison only 19 were musicians. A mid-western penitentiary had a single musician among 4,780 prisoners. Astonishing!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

| Sunday | Genesis | 1 14-18 |
| Monday | John | 1 1-5 |
| Tuesday | Psalm | 118 27-29 |

| Thursday | Matthew | 1 13-14 |
| Friday | Psalm | 119 106-108 |
| Saturday | Revelation | 22 9-5 |

From the dawn of human history, man has gazed with awe and fascination across the horizon. What secrets are buried in the sea's vast bosom and what strange lands and peoples and adventures are out there beyond the sunset?

The unknown has always presented a mystery and a challenge to mankind. Many have faced it with fear and shrinking. Others have accepted its challenge and have opened up new vistas of human knowledge.

Those who live and search in the Everlasting Light, His Holy Word, need have no fear of what lies beyond the oceans of water, the oceans of human experience, or the oceans of human thought. For the land and the sea are God's, and He rules in the kingdom of men.

Residue Testing For Fluid Milk

An investigation of fluid milk production is now under way. Inspectors of the Food and Drug Administration are examining milk for antibiotic and pesticide residues, reports Auburn University Extension Dairyman John Parrish.

Samples of milk shipments in interstate commerce or milk offered for shipment are being tested. Penicillin and other antibiotics used for treating mastitis and other infections should always be used within their limitations, warns Parrish. If dairymen follow manufacturers' instructions for antibiotic usage, no adulteration of milk will occur. Ordinarily, milk cannot be sold until 72 hours after treatment.

Insecticides for controlling flies around barns and on animals must be carefully supervised to prevent contamination of milk, feed, water, or milking equipment. And only specific chemicals are safe for direct use on lactating animals, adds the dairyman.

According to Auburn University Extension Entomologist Jerry Ruffin, two to three tablespoons of 50 percent wet table methoxychlor can be directly applied on milk cows with out residue danger. Apply the chemical only by hand and use no more than every two to three weeks.

Dairymen can also use sprays containing pyrethrins, allethrin, piperonyl butoxide, lethane, thalite, and repellents such as MGK II, 326, tabatrex, and crag. But even these insecticides should be applied only when there is no danger of getting them directly into the milk.

Full information regarding this problem is available through your local veterinarians, reports Parrish.

Powell Farmer Builds Box Silo

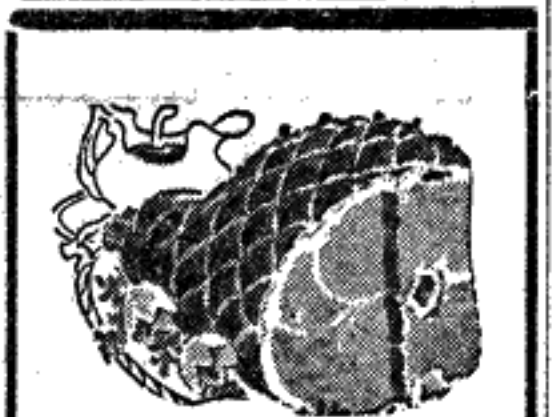

Roy Weigart realized he needed silage for his grade-A dairy operation, but he was unable to find a suitable location for a trench silo.

However, the Lauderdale County farmer did not let this problem defeat him. He obtained instructions for a box-type silo from local Extension workers, and in one day's time, he and his son built the silo. According to Assistant County Agent Herman Marks, the silo measures 12 by 45 by 5 1/2 feet and will hold 80 tons. The sides are boxed up with 2-by-8's and braced four feet apart with poles. The cost of the materials was $57.50.

In addition to operating the dairy, the Powell community farmer raises 16 acres of cotton, 25 acres of corn, and 15 acres of sorghum for silage on his 127-acre farm.

How spiritual enlightenment brings protection from evil will be brought out at Christian Science services Sunday.

"Ancient and Modern Necromancy, Alias Mesmerism and Hypnotism, Denounced" will be the subject of the Lesson-Sermon. Included in the Bible passages to be read is Paul's counsel to the Romans (13:12): "The night is far spent, the day is at hand; let us therefore cast off the works of darkness, and let us put on the armor of light."

Corner on Cotton
BY BOB COLLINS

This seems to be the year of the big cotton crop... increased surplus crops... more use of farm equipment... larger soil bank... and a reduction in farm income, sorry!!... all of these facts have been brought out recently by statements of the Agriculture Department.

The latest cotton crop estimate (based on growing conditions of Nov. 1) predicts a crop of 14.8 million bales... that's up about 100,000 bales... if the estimate is right, the yield per acre will be 474 pounds... last year's yield was 465.

At the same time the USDA is estimating that the surplus agricultural crop pile will reach a new record, also... early next year the $10 billion mark will be passed according to the report... on Sept. 30 of this year cotton accounted for about $1.3 billion of the surplus... wheat was tops with $2.9 billion.

And the USDA thinks that farmers are going to idle more of the nation's cropland through the soil bank... farmers have already offered to remove 9.6 million acres from production through the conservation reserve; however, there isn't enough money available to handle all of this... soil bank officials estimate that they will handle just under 6 million acres in addition to the 22.4 million acres already set aside under the 1958 program.

And this year the farmer will increase his expenditure for farm equipment by about 15 percent over 1958... you can get an idea of mechanized farming's gain by comparing the productivity rate of field hands... it is four times greater now than 40 years ago.

However, it looks as if the profit from farming will be down about 15 percent from the 1958 figure... and the USDA reports indicate a possibility that profit levels for farmers could be the lowest in 18 years.

New Fiber
A leading synthetic fiber manufacturer has just announced a new staple fiber... claims are that the new fiber is lighter in weight than other synthetics and at the same time has high strength and resistance to abrasion.

New Growth
Recent experiments indicate growth patterns of cotton may be controlled by light application using certain rays of the spectrum... could have quite an effect on developing uniform fruiting.

How To Improve Milk Production
Feeding, Managing Are Only Some Of Ways Better Breeding Vital
By HERMAN H. MARKS
Assistant County Agent
Every producer of milk is anxious to increase production per cow. There are a number of methods which contribute to increased milk production. Examples are balanced rations, proper management practices, and following good breeding practices.
Many milk producers are doing something about feeding and managing, but are not improving their herds by better breeding. A cow cannot produce more milk than she is bred to produce. One of the best ways to improve breeding is to breed your cows to a proved bull. These bulls are usually very expensive and cannot be afforded by all dairymen, but through artificial breeding this service can be had by all dairymen in this area. Artificial breeding is a mighty good way to improve the quality of your cattle resulting in increased milk production. This service is available in this area to all milk producers.
