The Passing Parade

1884 - 1959
By HAROLD S. MAY

As the days go by, we are beginning to feel that the invitation to Mr. Khrushchev to visit this country was a mistake. Now, if some member of the State Department shows up carrying an umbrella—we will know that a mistake has been made. Shades of Prime Minister Chamberlain!

Labor Day reminded us that a lot of people who spent about "capital and labor" never had any capital and never did any labor.

The tragic automobile accident that shocked the entire county Monday night, in which three young lives were snuffed out, makes us more certain that there should be a federal law requiring automobile manufacturers to install governors on all cars limiting their speed to a maximum of 50 miles per hour. The only exception being the cars of peace officers.

Inflation is a state of affairs when you never had it so good or parted with it so fast.

With the football season now upon us, we'll hear a lot about good sportsmanship in the months ahead. The young gladiators will be told how to win with modesty and how to be good sports when they lose. And there's the trouble—you have to lose to prove that you are a good sport.

Have you heard of the Texan who developed an inferiority complex—he thought he was no better than anybody else.

Most youngsters have grown up learning about their relatives usually designated "close relatives" and "distant relatives." However, today, with the great improvement in transportation there are no "distant" relatives.

As cooler weather sets in you'll recall that the "open door" policy was conceived by an American statesman, but is practiced by youngsters everywhere.

By one stroke of Governor Patterson's pen, the camellia has been designated as Alabama's official flower. Thus the stately goldenrod, long the official flower of the state, is removed from its high place that it has held for so long. To our mind, the camellia is much prettier than the goldenrod, smells a lot sweeter and its delicate petals are lovely to look upon. But—this imported Asiatic flower that is certainly not grown widely in Alabama in no way has the appeal of the strong, handsome, inspiring appearance of the native goldenrod. We like the goldenrod for our state flower much better. Who brought about the change?

The new county agent visited a farmer in the hill section of the county. The land was almost a solid rock. "I don't see how you can make a living on this rocky land," remarked the agent. "Well, mister, let me tell you something," replied the farmer, "I'm not as poor as you think I am. I don't own this farm."

When a man brings flowers home to his wife for no reason—brother, there's a reason.

Keeping up with the Joneses was surpassed by Jim and Bill, two rival businessmen, who did everything they could to impress each other. A few weeks ago, Jim called Bill to advise that he had just bought a new Cadillac, with all the latest improvements. "It's even got a telephone," advised Jim. Not to be out-done, Bill bought a Rolls Royce with a phone. He couldn't wait to inform his rival. Picking up the phone in his car, he called Jim who was out cruising in his car and said: "Jim, I'm calling from my new Rolls Royce." "Just a minute, Bill," Jim answered, "I've got a call on my other phone."

Accident On Labor Day Kills Three, Injures One

Florence Street Scene Of Tragedy As Driver Loses Control Of Car

At 10:26 p.m., Monday, two Florence men were killed instantly, a little later, a Sheffield woman died of injuries and another young Florence girl was taken to ECM Hospital and remains in a semi-conscious condition, all were victims of a bloody, one car accident on Cypress Mill Road.

Killed instantly was Robert H. Hendon, Jr., 23, of 301 Minnehaha Street, Florence, the driver of the car, and Thomas Wilburn Staggs, 21, of 329 Sweetwater Ave., Florence. Barbara Hindman Quinn, 24, 111 Thirty-First St., Sheffield, died enroute to the hospital.

Hospitalized was Ruth Agnes Foster, 18, of Rt. 5, Florence, who suffered lacerations of the head, left leg, back and pelvis injuries and possible broken back.

Just two hours before the end of the Labor-Day-Weekend, the car which Hendon was reported driving, was traveling west on Cypress Mill Road when he evidently lost control. The car ran off the left side of the roadway, cut a power pole in two pieces, knocking it some 40 feet. The vehicle then sideswiped a tree, and slammed into another tree.

The motor and grill of the car was knocked some 10 to 15 feet from the remainder of the car.

Staggs in the left rear of the car was killed instantly and his left arm was caught on a tree.

Hendon was pinned under the wheel for almost 30 minutes while Florence firemen, volunteers and wrecker crews worked to free him. His right foot was pinned under the brake pedal, officers reported.

Mrs. Quinn's late husband died in another automobile accident 11 months ago in York, Alabama.

Lexington Bank Robber Is Caught

James G. Reves Charged With Burglary After Officers Find Money

James G. Reves, 30, was indicted by a Federal grand jury Friday on charges of burglarizing the Lexington, Ala. bank last February.

Reves is also charged in connection with the theft of a $250,000 diamond from a woman in Las Vegas, Nev.

While protesting the arrest of a friend in Hot Springs, Ark., Reves was arrested by Hot Springs police on a burglary charge.

When arrested, officers found several thousand dollars in his pockets. The FBI was called in and found that some of the money came from the Lexington Bank.

The bills checked by the FBI, bore serial numbers recorded by a woman in Lexington, saving them because of a television show which gave prizes to persons who had bills matching serial numbers announced on the show.

Reves was jailed in New Jersey on the diamond theft charge along with Joseph Frank Simonetti, a Birmingham businessman.

Democrats and Eisenhower Administration forces made peace yesterday in their session-long fight over housing legislation. The drive for adjournment picked up speed, but the House invited a new veto by passing a $1,185,309,903 pork barrel money bill containing 67 rivers and harbors and flood control projects which prompted President Eisenhower to reject an earlier version.

Montgomery Negroes won only a moral victory yesterday, when a Federal judge ruled segregation in Montgomery public parks was unconstitutional. City Commission closed all the parks in the city after the suit was originally filed with the Federal Court Dec. 22, 1958. U.S. Middle District Judge Frank M. Johnson who made yesterday's ruling, has already ruled the parks cannot be opened by any court order, because there is no law requiring a city to operate public parks.

Reports say that by Oct. 1, TVA will have basic orders in for the largest expansion of generating facilities in its history. Generating capability totaling 1.4 million kilowatts, almost two full years of normal increase in power demand and costing an estimated $280 million when installed, is included in the orders.

President Eisenhower will make a radio-television report to the people tonight on his talks with Allied leaders in Western Europe. He will speak from his White House office from 5:30 p.m. to 5:45 p.m. Central Standard Time. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said all the major networks have agreed to handle the 15-minute speech and that except for one possible delayed radio broadcast, all of them will be live.

Attorney General Enjoins Number Loan Companies

Asks For Court Order To Padlock Those Who Charge Unfair Interest

BULLETIN

Action was postponed Wednesday on the Gilchrist small loan bill by Governor Patterson and his legislative leaders who decided not to push it immediately. However some of the governor's leaders said it would probably be put on "special order" before everything else either on Friday or next Tuesday.

A massive injunction suit filed in Montgomery Circuit Court by Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion was directed at 295 loan companies.

Gallion asked for a court order to put small loan companies out of business if they persist in charging unlawful interest rates.

Local Companies named in the suit were: Frank Dirago, Jr. and Rose Dirago of Tusculum; Employees Finance Co. and Liberty Finance Co. of Sheffield; Capital Finance Co., Jackson Finance Co., Modern Finance Co., Southern Finance Co., Standard Loan Service and Tri-Cities Finance Co. all of Florence.

The atty. Gen. offered the loan companies a way out if they agree to "work with our Legislature and pass a fair law with a fair interest rate." Otherwise, he said, "for all practical purposes, they will be put out of business. This would in effect, padlock their loan offices and cancel their licenses."

Alabama's present law fixes the legal interest rate at 8 per cent a year, but provides no criminal penalty for violation.

Loan companies cited in the suit include 86 in the Birmingham area, 39 in Mobile and its suburban communities, 25 in Montgomery, 15 in Gadsden and one in adjoining Alabama City, 14 each at Anniston and Selma, 12 in Huntsville and 10 at Decatur.

All persons who have cases on the non-jury docket of the law and equity court are reminded that they must be present in the court room when their cases are called Monday. A number of people have been permitted to sign their own appearance bonds for highway and traffic violations and a number of others have made bonds with the sheriff. All these persons are required to be present in court unless they have made full settlement of their cases before Monday. Only by persons keeping up with their cases and being present in court when they are called can the court function effectively. Those who do not appear when their cases are called will jeopardize themselves and their bondsmen.

Sheffield Ford Plant Producing Parts For Falcon

Pistons, Oil Pump Cover, Housings Among Units Cast In New Foundry

Vital parts for Ford's new Falcon are now being produced at the company's Sheffield Aluminum Castings Plant, it is announced today by Harry G. McMurtry, plant manager.

Initial scheduling of Falcon parts began at the Alabama plant, Ford's Southernmost manufacturing facility, early in August and was gradually accelerated to present full production, according to Mr. McMurtry.

The list of Sheffield-made parts includes pistons, oil pump cover and body, water outlet connection, flywheel housing and automatic transmission castings.

Although the Falcon program has not accounted for an appreciable increase in employment at the Sheffield plant, Mr. McMurtry said that approximately 30 persons have been added to the production staff in the past six months.

At present the plant is operating on a three-shift basis with a total of 650 employees. In addition to the Falcon castings, the Sheffield plant is now producing aluminum engine and transmission parts for Ford, Edsel, Mercury, Lincoln and Thunderbird passenger cars, as well as Ford trucks.

Since re-tooling was performed on a gradual basis, there was no shutdown time for the changeover to production of 1960-model parts, Mr. McMurtry added.

The new Ford Sheffield Plant, which has been in full production since mid-1958, is of Ford Motor Company's network of more than 70 manufacturing and assembly units.

Services Held For Alfred J. Martin

Former Florentine Was Resident Of Knoxville When Death Occurred

Funeral services were conducted Monday afternoon in Decatur, Ga. for Alfred John Martin, 87, of Knoxville, Tenn., with Dr. Vernon S. Broyles, minister of the North Avenue Presbyterian Church, Atlanta, officiating. Burial followed in the Westview Cemetery in Atlanta.

Mr. Martin, a former Florentine, and father of Albert Martin, production manager of The Florence Herald, died Thursday morning, in Knoxville after being in failing health for a number of years. He was a native of Detroit, Mich., but spent a large part of his life in Atlanta, Ga. In 1918, he moved to Florence where he was connected with King Stove & Range Company, Sheffield, and the Martin Stove and Range Company, Florence, until he retired in 1945.

Mr. Martin was a member of the First Presbyterian Church in Florence.

Surviving in addition to his son, of Florence, are, another son, Ralph A. Martin, of Atlanta, and two daughters, Miss Elizabeth Martin, M. D., Atlanta, and Mrs. Alex A. Shafer, Knoxville.

TOM OLIVE WINNER PONTIAC STATION WAGON

Tom Olive, Florence, route 5, was the winner of the 1959 Pontiac station wagon awarded on Labor Day by the Shell dealers of Florence and Lauderdale County.

Angry southern Congressmen denounced the Civil Rights Commission Tuesday as the Commission called for stronger anti-discrimination laws. A filibuster to kill off the group was hinted at both sides engaged in the heated debate.

The Commission's proposals deal with guarantee of voting rights, speeding up of school integration and the elimination of racial barriers in public housing. Northern congressmen praised the commission for working to improve racial relations.

Sen. Jacob K. Javits (R-N. Y.) called it a "well - reasoned, middle-of-the-road document. He said he would offer amendments to a civil rights bill now stalled in the Senate Judiciary Committee. One of the two recommendations of the Commission would require preservation by state officials of federal voting records and impose restraints on registrars to prevent them from depriving Negroes.

Southerners Protest
Senator Richard Russell, leader of the southern bloc, called the Civil Rights Commission's report "the most deliberate program of deceit and distortion that has ever come from a government agency." He said, without mentioning filibuster, that he would do everything in his power to make this "the last report the commission will ever have the opportunity to make." The commission is due to expire Nov. 8 unless Congress extends its life.

Governor John Patterson said the Civil Rights Commission's report is a slander on the integrity of Alabama and its officials. Senator Lister Hill added his strong protest to the report by calling it "one of the most indefensible and irresponsible statements of a public agency that I have ever read."

According to Patterson the Federal government would set up federal voting registrars—"a kind of U. S. supreme board of registrars who would tell us who can vote."

"Even more serious and far-reaching is the proposal by these civil rights that we give the vote to everyone who is over 21 whether he can read and write or not," Patterson continued, adding, "the absurdity of these Civil Rights Commission recommendations strengthens our position in defending our state laws on voter registration. We have a constitutional duty to defend our rights as sovereign states and we will continue to do so."

More Phones For Waterloo Area

Telephone demand in the Waterloo area is requiring additional work in the area, according to F. W. Brice, Manager of Southern Bell.

The completion of lines into the area early this summer has caused more applications for service than could be handled Brice said. "It will be necessary for us to spend an additional $10,000 to provide more lines for this section," Brice added.

The additional work will be completed in a few months at which time an additional 24 telephones can be connected. Early this summer 48 telephones replaced the old country fire line that had served Waterloo for many years.

Soviet Leader To Appear On TV Radio Network

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has declared that his visit to the United States next week is "resolved to take measures which will help melt the ice of the cold war." He said he hoped this would enable nations to breathe easily and added, "I would hope the U. S. government is guided by the same considerations."

Three way protection is planned for the Soviet Premier on his visit. Most of the details are secret, however Government officials listed the following as special procedures most likely to be adopted, use of military planes to transport the Russian leader to various American cities. Use of military troops to act as guards in small cities. Maintaining a close check of refugee group leaders who might cause trouble.

Sticking close to Khrushchev throughout his expected 13-day visit will be members of the Special Projects Branch of the State Department's Physical Security Division. This elite group of bodyguards is comparable to the Secret Services Special White House Detail which guards the President and Vice President. Like Mikoyan and Kozlov, the Kremlin chief is expected to bring along a bodyguard team of his own. So far, the exact number is unknown.

Although Khrushchev's complete itinerary has not been announced, officials are reported to be eager for him to see small-town life in the U. S.

Sherman L. Greene, senior bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Church says Khrushchev should visit a Southern City to see for himself that Communist propaganda is wrong. American Negroes are not downtrodden, Greene criticized the State Department for not including such a visit in the Soviet Premier's itinerary. In a letter to the President, Bishop Greene suggested that Khrushchev visit his home city, Miami, Fla.

The itinerary thus far known, Khrushchev will be the guest of the City of New York at an official luncheon on Sept. 17, but nothing has been said about giving him Manhattan's traditional ticker tape parade up Broadway.

He will be escorted from Pennsylvania Station where he arrives by train from Washington to the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel. He will be formally welcomed by Mayor Robert F. Wagner in the Starlight Roof of the Hotel. About 750 persons are expected to attend, announced Richard C. Patterson, Jr., Commissioner of the city's Department of Commerce and Public Events.

On the night of Sept. 17, Khrushchev will make a major address in the grand ball room of the Waldorf at a dinner sponsored by the Economic Club of New York, a group of business leaders. More than 2,000 persons are scheduled to attend the dinner.

He is scheduled to speak before the United Nations General Assembly on Sept. 18. This will wind up his two-day stay in New York. U. S. Propagandists have come up with an apparent can't lose proposition by deciding to beam back to the Soviet Union, at least two major speeches by Premier Nikita Khrushchev.

Slated for live broadcast are his addresses during his visit to the National Press Club Sept. 16 and to the U. N. Assembly in New York, Sept. 18.

The Khrushchev broadcasts raise these possibilities:
1. If the Soviets try jamming these programs going into the Soviet Union, as they have in the past, they will be open to world wide ridicule for clobbering the voice of their own leader.

2. If they don't jam, Soviet listeners will have an unparalleled opportunity to tune in on the American radio.

Three senators and two House members joined last week in urging a period of national mourning during the visit of Khrushchev visits "as one means of mourning for the victims of Communist terror and of expressing (Continued on Page 2)

War Declared On Loan Sharks

War has been declared on loan sharks in Alabama by Attorney General MacDonald Gallion, backed by the governor, a number of legislators and, let it be hoped, a large segment of the public.

Gallion has filed court action against 295 small loan operators in what is described as the largest suit of its kind in the legal history of the United States.

Commenting on the pending legislation in an open letter to the Legislature, the Committee on Small Loan Studies, Junior Bar Section, Alabama Bar Association has this to say:

"After suffering the loan sharks' bites for years, the Alabama borrowing public awaits protection and relief from vicious lenders by the 1959 Legislature. Simple legislative controls can draw the economic sharks' teeth and protect legitimate lenders who fill the need for small loans.

"With Governor John Patterson, Attorney General MacDonald Gallion, legislators and the public are aware of the need for small loan legislation, the question is not whether a small loan law will pass, but whether a GOOD SMALL LOAN LAW will be adopted. And without a doubt the powerful and crafty loan shark lobby will continue to spread confusion, falsehood, and scandal to defeat adequate regulation."

The two page open letter ends with this warning: "Do not allow Alabama's long struggle to curb loan shark abuses to end with the passage of any form of Loan Shark Relief Act. But adopt the sound legislation of the 'Gilchrist Bill.'"

This newspaper, like many others, stands 100 per cent with Gov. John Patterson and Atty. Gen. MacDonald Gallion in their fight for an effective, yet fair small loan law. Those who engage in the small loan business should be allowed to make a profit, but should not be allowed to conduct an extortion racket. Too many times we have turned our backs and allowed racketeering to run wild in Alabama and most certainly some of the vicious practices of the small loan companies come under this classification.

Any element that puts money before the happiness and well-being of the people should be curbed once and for all. Legislation to do this must not be a makeshift one but one with teeth in it designed to hit the clever loan shark from every angle.

Once this is done the results will be felt statewide in the release of millions of dollars into the legitimate channels of trade instead of the coffers of the small loan companies which are small in name only.

How Long Can We Afford It?

The recent tour of the Partlow school for the mentally deficient at Tuscaloosa by the members of the Legislative Interim Committee revealed conditions that defy the imagination . . . conditions that should shock every decent thinking citizen in the state of Alabama . . . conditions that should shame everyone into some sort of immediate remedial action.

It is terrible to think we have neglected a condition like this for so many years, turning our complacent backs upon the most helpless and dependent individuals in existence, the mentally deficient.

Partlow school with a capacity of 800 has 1670 patients of all ages, 45 being over 65 years of age. This means the space, equipment and staff are less than fifty per cent adequate to care for the inmates.

This means that Partlow is a school in name only. It means Partlow is only a custodial institution in which the inmates (a better word than patients or pupils) learn little or nothing and spend their days and nights in terribly crowded, unsanitary misery.

There are only two doctors, nine registered nurses and 12 teachers to care for and counsel this "city for the mentally ill." They do the best they can on the $2.25 a day the state allots for the maintenance of each mentally ill patient.

The answer to this problem will only come when every citizen awakens to his responsibility and demands that something be done. It is everyone's duty . . . we can no longer shut our eyes or our hearts to the state's greatest need.

Walk-In Milk Parlor Completed

By S. M. EICH
Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Davis who own a 121 acre farm in the Greenhill community have just completed their walk-in elevated type milk parlor. Mr. and Mrs. Davis are now milking six cows. They are keeping production records through the WADAM program and are feeding according to these production records.

Mr. Davis said: "By using scrap lumber and family labor this walk-in milk parlor cost me only $4.00. The only items that I had to buy was cement and nails."

Mr. Davis also said, "We had some difficulty at first training the cows to enter the new walk-in type milk parlor; however after approximately a week they walked in like they were at home. They are so easy to handle now that Mrs. Davis and our two sons ages 15 and 11 do all of the milking."

Mrs. Davis says: "I believe that milking the cows with our cow to milk machine in our new milking parlor is twice as easy as milking the old way by hand in the barn. I would recommend to anyone milking six or more cows to use this new system of milking."

Mr. and Mrs. Davis plan to purchase ten additional cows as soon as they can find them so that they will be milking 16 cows. They are selling manufactured milk.

Defoliation May Help Cotton Crop

According to L. T. Wagon, Lauderdale County Agent, it will be necessary for a great number of farmers to defoliate their cotton, in order to speed opening and cut down on the rotting of the bolls.

Much of this year's cotton is large and has very heavy foliage, which keeps out the sunshine, retarding the opening of the cotton and increasing the rotting possibilities. Mr. Wagon urges all farmers to check their cotton for rot and if there is signs, to begin the use of defoliant. This material will remove the leaves in about a week's time, permitting sunshine to reach the cotton bolls.

Mr. Wagon, again pointed out that this year is one of the best cotton crops in the history of Lauderdale County and that farmers should take utmost care in harvesting in order to deliver dry, clean cotton to the gin in order to get a good grade and staple, which will result in more dollars per bale. He said, "the better the condition of the cotton, the better sample the gin can turn out."

He asked farmers to be sure the cotton is well open before picking and to pick it dry and clean.

Mr. Wagon said that it is apparent that some farmers harvest their corn before it is completely mature. Corn that is not mature contains a great amount of moisture, allowing the corn to be subject to rot in the cribs.

Rioting In India Continues

Ten or more persons were killed and at least 37 wounded, when Communist-led mobs surged throughout the riot-ridden, strike-bound Calcutta area Friday. Attacking police stations and patrol squads with guns, bombs, and knives, this made the fourth straight day of open battle against the West Bengal state government. Prime Minister Nehru's Indian Federal Government is also being drawn into the fight, as the Communists declare they are fighting for proper distribution of food and against high prices.

Narcotics Ring Broken

Shelton E. Tellow, Miles J. Cooperman, 29, and Richard E. Austin, 37, all members of the Chicago police and until just recently, all members of the police narcotics detail, along with a former federal narcotics agent, Edward R. Gayles, 38, a Negro, have been charged by a special grand jury on being involved in a coast-to-coast narcotics distribution ring.

Former Dothan Mayor In Tax Trouble

Former Gov. Gordon Persons and Public Service Commission President C. C. (Jack) Owen have testified before a Federal Grand Jury meeting in Birmingham, on a tax case. It is believed that the two as well as Persons' former executive secretary, Vernon Merritt, and his finance director, D. W. Hodo, testified on a tax evasion case brought against James F. Thrower, a former member of the state ABC Board. The Internal Revenue Service claims Thrower, a former Dothan Mayor, owes $44,000 in back taxes and fraud penalties for 1952 and 1954.

Politicians Denied Equal Time

The House has passed a bill providing that radio and television stations don't have to give equal time to political candidates on news programs. The exempted broadcasts include bona fide newscasts, news interviews such as panel shows, news documentaries and on-the-spot coverage of actual news events.

Girl, 10, Saves Infant's Life

"After all, Joyce is the only baby sister I've got, I simply had to do something!" That was the simple explanation from Linda Kay Gibson, 10, who was credited with the breathing of life back into her two-year-old sister by mouth-to-mouth respiration. She kept on for about 5 or 10 minutes. When police arrived, Joyce was breathing regularly. "They said I did good," Linda Kay happily reported.

New Outburst of Violence

The latest outburst in a wave of youth violence in New York City, was a teenager chasing a 28-year-old man four blocks Monday night pelting him with bits of concrete. The man stumbled at a curb and the youth stabbed him with a knife. The man died minutes later.

Veterans' Column

State Dept. of Veterans' Affairs

The biggest topic of conversation in the field of veterans affairs during the past couple of weeks has been the new non service pension bill which was signed into law by President Eisenhower on August 29th, states W. O. Crumby, Veterans' Service Officer, Lauderdale County. Veterans and widows already on the pension rolls are wanting to know how they are going to fare under the new bill when it goes into effect next July 1st. We're also getting lots of questions from veterans of the Korean Conflict and World War Two, states Mr. Crumby. They're interested in learning what benefits will be available to their wives and children at the time of their death, and for all of those now on the rolls or who may be added to the rolls before July 1, 1960, the new law will have no adverse effect. Reason for this is because any person who's receiving a pension by July 1, 1960, may elect to continue receiving the same benefits under the law in force prior to that time. Or, if he chooses, he may elect to receive benefits under the new law. In other words, he may take his choice of receiving pension under whichever law would be to his advantage. War Two and Korean veterans will be interested in learning that their widows and children will become eligible for a pension on the same basis as widows and children of War One veterans. At the present time, and until next July, War Two and Korean widows and children are not entitled to a pension unless the veteran has a service-connected disability to a compensable degree at the time of his death.

Goal Of Club Is Project A Month

Homemakers Adopt Needy Family; Other Activities Are Listed

A project every month has been the goal of the Homemakers Home Demonstration Club in Lauderdale County.

Last December the club adopted a needy family, reports Home Agent Sara Frances Conner. They provided the family with a two-week's grocery supply, toys, and clothing. In January they sent a box to the district TB sanatorium including nine pairs of pajamas and handkerchiefs materials for the women.

The project for February was sending two boxes of winter clothing to the Department of Pensions and Securities, says Miss Conner. And during April the club members tested the eyes of 300 elementary school children with an eye-testing machine made available by the Lions Club. In addition, they sent Easter baskets to their adopted family.

The club members painted the music room at the school and made draperies for the first aid room during May. They also sent their needy family another week's supply of food. In June potted plants were placed at the five nurses stations at the local hospital.

The club continued their good work in July by making a first aid kit for the school. According to Miss Conner, the kit was completely filled and a surplus of the most frequently used articles was provided.

The president of the Homemakers Club is Mrs. Ollie Bowling and Mrs. Conner Haeger serves as project chairman.

FARM SURPLUS BILL PASSED

Although slowed by a one-man roadblock, Senate passed a $4½ billion farm surplus disposal bill Tuesday. The Senate thus wrote an experimental revival of the depression-era food stamp plan into a bill authorizing a vast extension of the surplus crop disposal program. The bill, favored by Alabama's two senators, John Sparkman and Lister Hill, went well beyond what the Eisenhower Administration had asked and the House had voted. A Senate-House conference committee now will attempt to work out a compromise which is virtually certain to include some version of the food stamp plan.

Coaches Talk To Quarterback Club

Members Get 'Look-See' At Local Grid Prospects At Tuesday Meeting

Tuesday night at the Florence Golf and Country Club, the Tri-Cities Quarterback Club membership got their annual outlook on what to expect from the local high schools and Florence State.

Coaches George Weeks and Hal Self of Florence State, Joe Grant of Coffee; Walton Wright and A. C. Curry of Sheffield; and Bobby Moore of Desher gave the run-down on their respective teams.

Hal Self of Florence State started the program, stating, "Florence State has the toughest schedule of any school its size in the South this year." He also said, "We have a good group of boys, but we are small. All in all, the morale is much better than last year and we'll give you a good football game anytime you come out and see us." George Weeks then explained that tackles are the weakest spot this year without depth.

Grant pointed out that Coffee had 11 lettermen returning and that the biggest loss from last year's 8-2 season were offensive boys. He pointed to end as the major worry. He also stated, "We are not disappointed, we have problems, but have been pleased with progress thus far."

Wright, the dean of local coaches, pointed out that Sheffield had more experience in the backfield and that the line would be green.

Moore is the newcomer to local coaching circles. He moved up from a Tiger assistant to the head job, when Coach Howard Chapell resigned. Moore said, "Desher lost an awfully lot of good boys from last year, but started this year out with 45 and still have 43 including eight lettermen. We have a monogram winner at every position."

Program Chairman Charley Finney announced the next meeting would be Monday, Sept. 21 and Claude (Monk) Simmons, president of the Mid-South Sports Association, promoters of the Sugar Bowl, will be the guest speaker.

Legion Will Fete Junior Ball Team

On Saturday night September 12th the members of the 1959 American Legion Junior Baseball Team together with their fathers and the coaches will be guests of Florence-Lauderdale Post No. 11, American Legion at the Post Home on south court street.

The program will begin with a supper being served at 6:30 p.m. followed by a color sound movie of "The Highlights of all important plays from each of the seven games" of the 1958 World Series between the New York Yankees and the Milwaukee Braves baseball teams. All veterans are invited to the supper and the showing of the film. Those wishing to come for supper should call AT 2-5122 and make reservation but those wishing to see the movie only do not have to make a reservation

Twilight Ceremony Unites
Judy Watson And Arkansan
Wearing white Chantilly lace over bridal satin, Miss Judith Elena Watson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Howard Watson of 2126 Arlington Boulevard, Hickory Hills, Florence, exchanged nuptial vows with James Richard Martin of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, in Pine Street Church of Christ on Saturday, September fifth.

Pledges were heard by L. Lamar Plunkett, minister of the church, at half past six o'clock following selections by a choral quartet and a solo by the bride, a talented vocalist.

English ivy and Woodwardia fern fashioned the background against which the wedding tableau formed and branched candelabra entwined with ivy were alight with pink tapers at the altar sides. Arrangements of lilies of the valley were placed at the ends of the prayer bench and, tied with white satin streamers and frills of white net, marked family pews. Pink tapers nestled with greenery in the window recesses and, prior to repeating their vows, the bride and groom each lighted a single cathedral candle on the altar.

Mr. Watson escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. A molded bodice with Sabrina neckline and long sleeves tapering to points over the hands accented the voluminous hooped skirt of her wedding gown which extended into a chapel train. Her fingertip veil of French illusion fell from a half-shell of lace outlined with a tiny frill of tulle and her bouquet of lilies of the valley and fleurs dramour was centered with a white orchid. Her only ornament was a single strand of pearls, a gift from the bridegroom, and for "something old" she carried and heirloom lace handkerchief.

Miss Linda Lawson served as maid of honor and bridesmaids were Miss Marion Harrison, Miss Rose Marie Vaughn, Miss Carolyn Daniel, all of Florence, and Miss Harriet McClellan of Columbia, Tennessee. Their Chantilly lace sheaths in shades of lavender and pink were fashioned over taffeta and detailed with Sabrina necklines, elbow-length sleeves and pleated overskirts of taffeta. Our Gas Supply People Like to Keep Ahead of Demand... About 20 Years Contracting for the natural gas that we pipe through our pipelines for use in homes and factories far removed from the source of supply is the job of our people in the Gas Supply Section.

In addition to buying gas to meet the day-to-day needs of our customers, they are contracting for gas in the ground that may not be delivered into our pipelines for years to come.

Our Gas Supply people are doing their job so well that we now have natural gas reserves under contract totaling more than 13 trillion cubic feet. And these reserves are being added to as new fields are discovered in areas that can be reached by our pipelines.

With delivery of gas out of these reserves running at an annual rate slightly in excess of 600 billion cubic feet, you can see that we will have gas on tap for a long, long time.

The men to whom we look to determine how much gas we have in reserve for the future are our reservoir engineers. They are highly trained specialists, most of them with long experience in oil and gas field production. From production records and a study of formation charts, they can estimate, with reasonable accuracy, the amount of gas or oil that a given well or a given field will produce in its lifetime.

Those who are most likely to appreciate the work being done by our reservoir engineers will be the householders and plant owners of the future — because they will be able to enjoy, as you do today, the clean, efficient heat of natural gas flowing from wells a thousand or more miles away through the Texas Eastern pipeline system.

This is one of a series of monthly reports on the diversified activities of Texas Eastern Transmission Corporation.

Graham Defends Southern Stand

Evangelist Billy Graham made a strong defense of the South in view of recent juvenile violence in New York City. "If what has been happening in New York had happened in a Southern City, there would have been an outcry for Federal troops," Graham said in an interview, Thursday, September 3.

Graham said a number of New York's ministers with whom he has talked recently, label the city a "racial tinderbox."

"I'm convinced," Graham declared, "that racial tension in many Northern cities is far greater than anywhere in the South." He said he was equally convinced that race relations "ultimately will be better in the South, than in the North, and I don't think people living in our great Northern metropolitan areas have any justification in pointing a condemning finger at the South."

In The Municipal Election September 21st
IS A VOTE FOR PROGRESS
FOR THE CITY OF FLORENCE

HE PLEDGES:

- To give the office a thoroughly business-like operation.
- To give to the office every moment of his time it so justly deserves.
- To institute every possible cost-saving in the conduct of the office.
- To cooperate fully with the other commissioners and aid them where possible in their duties, if it is so desired by them.
- To watch carefully the spending of all city monies so as to secure full value for every dollar spent.
- To have an open ear for every citizen and an open mind in meeting their desires.

Give Him The Opportunity To Serve All of The People

E. T. STOVALL is a successful businessman and knows what is required to maintain a sound business administration in every type of endeavor. Telephone Talk by

FORREST W. BRICE
Your Telephone Manager

THERE'S NOTHING LIKE the old-fashioned sound of the school bell ringing to remind us that hundreds of our well-scrubbed, bright-faced youngsters will once more be crossing streets or waiting for rides. So let's all remember our "driving manners" and heed the traffic safety rules of school zones and bus signs.

OTHER BELLS are ringing more often during the busy fall season too — telephone bells. Most folks have learned how easy and fast it is to shop by phone. In fact, there's a growing new class of consumers in the country — women who've learned how much time they save when they order by phone. So, when you're at your busiest with "things to do" piling up all around, let your telephone work for you. It'll save you lots of time and steps and doesn't cost any more whether you make one call or a hundred (in town, of course).

AND BY THE WAY, to make your telephone shopping easier, don't forget the Yellow Pages are a handy guide for the goods and services you want.

AND LADIES, here's something made to order for you. I'm sure you'll enjoy our new 15-minute technicolor film, "Plan for Pleasant Living" — a room-by-room tour of an idea-filled home, designed and furnished in cooperation with GOOD HOUSEKEEPING.

It'll give you a hatful of wonderful ideas for any decorating you're planning this fall. Just call our business office and we'll arrange a showing at your next woman's club meeting, PTA meeting, or other get-together. It'll be something new and interesting, and there's no charge.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

She'll Never Neglect Him...

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Mrs. Thompson is a "modern" mother. She wouldn't think of neglecting her baby's regular visit to the doctor. She knows that these early check-ups plus proper diet, rest and care, are vital if her child is to grow up into a strong, healthy boy, ready to take his place in tomorrow's world.

Nor will she forget an even more important factor in his development—his spiritual check-ups. When the time comes and baby is old enough, his tiny footsteps will lead him into Church School where another kind of ministry will be given to him. Later still, he will worship with his parents, and the importance of the family unit together at work, at play and in worship will be engrained in his mind.

In tomorrow's world he will be well equipped to take his place physically, mentally... and spiritually.

Hot Weather Cuts Milk Production

Don't lose money this summer by letting your cows get uncomfortable.

"Tests have shown that comfort for cows in hot weather may be as important as proper feeding if you want top production," says A.P.I. Extension Dairyman John Parrish. One reason for this is that cows don't perspire. Their bodies are kept cool by giving off heat in the form of water vapor. And during hot weather, this vapor is mainly given off by more rapid breathing and panting. When the temperature rises, the cow has more difficulty getting rid of the heat generated within her body.

According to the specialist, recent tests in Missouri showed that milk production dropped sharply when the temperature went above 75 degrees with a relative humidity of 85 percent. In this test, production of Holsteins dropped 10 percent at 80 degrees and 35 percent at 90 degrees. However, production of Jerseys and Brown Swiss didn't drop as much.

Dairymen can provide shade if natural shade is not available, says Parrish. A pole-type shelter open on all sides will protect your cows from summer heat, he adds. The shelter should be constructed where air currents move freely and close to the feeding area.

Since high humidity at high temperature is also responsible for drop in milk production, air blowing over the back of cows is beneficial. The specialist points out that night grazing is also very important during hot weather. Tests in Kentucky showed that dairy cows grazed less than two hours during the daytime when the temperature was 90 degrees or higher. However, these same cows grazed an average of 6½ hours during the cool of the night.

Pork Can Help In Meal Plans

There may be 12 per cent more pork on the market during September than a year ago.

API Extension Consumer Education Specialist Dorothy Overbey states that the pork supply now coming to market is expected to be the largest in a decade.

With the children in school, homemakers welcome a plentiful supply of "smoked pork for breakfast treats and lunch boxes. What can beat the aroma of sizzling sausage, crisp bacon, or juicy ham for a really good breakfast? And cold cuts of pork, ham slices, and homemade sandwich fillings are perfect for noontime, says Miss Overbey. Pork which is high in protein and thiamine and completely digestible is a basis for any well balanced meal.

The specialist points out that bacon is an especially good buy and ham is expected to be lower than it has been for a long time.

Corner on Cotton

BY BOB COLLINS

There's more and more talk about new uses for cotton... new developments in spinning and weaving... and with all this talk and all these developments it's very easy to lose sight of the need for cost cutting research in the production stage... now we are not advocating that any phase of research be slighted to benefit another phase... certainly cotton needs all the help it can get from any angle... but the cost of growing cotton must be reduced to keep farmers interested in producing cotton... no matter how cheaply cotton can be processed into consumer goods, the basic cost is determined in the fields... the raw material sets the pace.

Increased costs of tools, labor and a couple of other items have increased the costs of growing cotton, and these, together with mandatory acreage reduction, have driven many farmers to other crops... as inflation grows the costs will increase and more farmers—especially farmers with small acreage—will be driven away from the crop, we're afraid... this certainly points to the need for increased research efforts to reduce costs to the farmer... we are, of course, talking about "per-pound" cost and the increased yields per acre that have been mounting are steps in the right direction.

More Money If Hogs Certified

Purebred hog breeders are finding that it's well worth the effort to work toward certified meat-type litters.

According to API Extension Hog Marketing Specialist Ray Cavender, four litters have now met requirements under the Alabama Certified Meat-Type Hog Program. And several other purebred breeders report that litters are in the process of being certified on the farm.

To prove that the program is worthwhile, the national breed association report that during the past year purebreds with records of performance sold for about 50 dollars more per head than their cousins without performance records.

"There's not a better time to get started on this program than with those fall litters coming up soon," says Cavender. He points out that the first step is getting the litter qualified as a PR (Production Registered) litter.

To do this, follow your breed association's requirements. Carry the litter so that two of the pigs reach 200 pounds in 180 days or earlier. Then submit two animals from the litter for slaughter between 180 and 230 pounds. The specialist stresses the importance of carcass information as an essential part of certification and performance record.

The small effort involved in doing this on-the-farm performance testing of your swine is well worth it in dollars and cents, states Cavender. County agents can supply purebred breeders with completely detailed information about the Extension Service's certified meat-type hog program. They will also cooperate in obtaining necessary information for certification.

Changes Needed In Agriculture

Three important changes must take place during the next few years in American agriculture.

In order that farmers keep up to date, API Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones lists some necessary changes. He says farm businesses must become larger enterprises; farm management must be greatly improved; and quality products must prevail while inferior products are purposely kept off the market.

Another important factor, mentions Jones, is coordination of production and marketing. This means growing items that are wanted and those that can be efficiently marketed. He adds that it is also necessary to adopt research as soon as findings are proved useful and practical.

Check Animals For Screw Worm

The success of the screwworm eradication program depends on the cooperation of every livestock and pet owner.

The program's aim is to wipe out this costly pest in the Southeast, states API Extension Entomologist Jerry Ruffin. Although it has been very successful, continued success means inspecting your newborn or injured livestock and pets frequently. Immediately report any suspected screwworm case to your county agent or livestock inspector.

Ruffin urges that you save any samples of any egg masses or maggots for the agent to inspect. These samples are extremely important because a microscopic examination by experts will determine whether they are true screwworms or another species of blowfly.

Clean bugs off the car or truck windshield and headlights with a discarded nylon hose. The abrasive nylon does the job in a hurry and takes up little space in the glove compartment.

cially farmers with small acreage—will be driven away from the crop, we're afraid... this certainly points to the need for increased research efforts to reduce costs to the farmer... we are, of course, talking about "per-pound" cost and the increased yields per acre that have been mounting are steps in the right direction.

NCC Leaflet

A new leaflet on protecting cotton's quality is just off the press of the National Cotton Council... the leaflet is part of an industry-wide educational program to reduce damage caused by excess heating and machining of the fiber before it gets to the mills... this leaflet can put money in your pockets... it's free... just drop a card asking for the "Quality Leaflet" to the National Cotton Council, P. O. Box 9905, Memphis 12, Tennessee.

Prices Down

Over-all farm prices were down to 239 per cent of the 1910-14 average in mid-August... that figure is lower by one point than the one of the month before... this makes the third straight month that over-all farm prices have fallen... costs were down too, but not so much.

Red Cotton Cut

Red China says it is reducing its annual cotton goal from 4.5 million tons to 2.5 million... announcement came at the same time the Reds admitted that the recent estimates of record production weren't accurate.

Shaded Lots To Help Stock Gain

Cattlemen should be particular about choosing a feeding site in the dry lot.

API Extension Livestockman Bob Farquhar says that more cattle feeding is now being done in Alabama. Therefore, many growers have found it advantageous to graze their cattle during the fall and winter months on small grain grazing, cool season grasses, and different clovers. The cattle are then put in dry lot for a 90-day finishing period beginning in the late spring or early summer. This means that cattle are fed during some of the hot months of the summer.

According to the livestockman, recent research studies showed that cattle made satisfactory gains during the summer when ample shade was provided. These tests provided the cattle with no shade, natural shade, normal wind circulation, and unnatural wind circulation with the use of fans. The cattle fed in the natural shade area made the best gains and used their feed more effectively. "Similar work done here at Auburn substantiated these findings," says Farquhar.

Forest Land Is Increasing Fast

Each year in Alabama, 100,000 acres, or 165 square miles, become forest land.

This change has been going on for 20 years, says API Extension Forester Ike Martin. It proves that Alabama farmers are concentrating their efforts and fertilizer on their best land instead of fighting submarginal land for crops. When

Alabama Eligible Hill-Burton Funds

Applications On File For Large Number Of Health Centers, Hospitals

Dr. D. G. Gill, State Health Officer, has announced that the 1959 Alabama Master Hospital Plan will be reviewed by the State Board of Health at a meeting to be held on or after September 8. Prepared by the State Health Department, the plan is revised annually. It is a comprehensive plan for the construction of health and medical facilities in the state. Included in its provisions are general hospitals, public health centers, tuberculosis sanatoria, nursing homes, chronic disease facilities, rehabilitation centers, diagnostic centers and related medical facilities.

After review and approval by the State Board of Health, the plan will be submitted to the U. S. Public Health Service. Approval of the Public Health Service will make Alabama eligible for a federal grant for construction of hospitals and other facilities under the provisions of the Hill-Burton Act. The amount which will be available to Alabama will be determined by the 1959-60 appropriation now pending in Congress. Last year, the State received about $6,000,000.

The Hill-Burton program has been in effect 12 years. During that time, 141 projects have been approved for construction in 57 Alabama counties. Most of these projects have been general hospitals and public health centers.

The State Board of Health currently has applications on file for construction of 31 general hospitals, 16 public health centers, four schools of nursing, one tuberculosis sanatorium, two mental hospitals, three chronic disease facilities, 11 nursing homes and two diagnostic centers.

Approval for construction will be granted on the basis of relative need as established by the 1959 Master Hospital Plan. Dr. Gill said that additional applications will be welcomed.
