The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

• We continue to receive commendation from members of the Florence Chamber of Commerce on our appeal for a change in policy that, through regularly scheduled open meetings of the membership, might bring it from the doldrums, into which it has sunk, back to an active, progressive organization that could return it to the leadership in the community it once held. For example:

• From a member connected with a financial institution: "I well remember the inspiration and valuable aid given the business interests of Florence in the weekly meetings of the Chamber of Commerce held in the offices of the organization then located in the building occupied by Lamar Furniture Co. Every member was interested in the progress of the community then and was anxious to help. It's a different story now."

• From a younger member: "I joined the Chamber of Commerce with the hope that I might have a part in its work. What chance have I got under the present set-up when a few carefully selected members ARE the Chamber of Commerce?"

• From a 15-year member: "It seems to me that we would be better off if we organized a 'Committee of 100' or some such number on a purely democratic basis and do away with the present Chamber of Commerce. In looking over the plans for the new building I see that no thought has been given to providing a place for open membership meetings. Guess they don't want the general run of members to have a part. Yes, I'm on one of the committees but what does that mean? Let's let the membership interested in attending open meetings have a part in every problem, not leave action up to a committee that gets the problem when it has already been hashed out."

• From a member of a firm of contractors that has had a phenomenal growth: "All we get to know about the Chamber of Commerce is when they need more money. I've never been on a committee although my partner has been on one that never met. If we had regular open meetings of the membership I'm sure we'd get somewhere. You never know when committees meet - how, then, could any new thought be given the organization? Maybe, someday, those in charge will see the light."

• From a businessman who has never been a member: "I'd like to have a part in the Chamber of Commerce if I knew what it is all about. There's never been a meeting I could attend and learn of its operation. In fact, I've never been asked to join."

• We were talking to Tom Calahan, the big concrete contractor Tuesday morning and he remarked that according to the radio we were going to have snow that night. We questioned the prediction as the sun was shining brightly and the weather was warming up. "Well," said Tom, "maybe the report is not correct as I heard it over an old, beat-up portable radio." Maybe that would make a difference

• Another publication has folded. The Hickory Hills Weekly called it quits after three issues had hit the "streets." Its staff of three Kilby School fourth graders, headed by Frederick Horsfield, and including Hank Self and Hal May was disbanded after paid-in-advance circulation money was refunded. Lack of advertising revenue was given as the cause of the paper's demise.

"Salute" To Horsfield To Be Shoals-Wide Event Number Speakers To Pay Tribute To Reynolds Executive March 1

Reynolds vice president in charge of operations, W. Monroe Wells, of Richmond, Va. and John M. Ward, executive vice president of the Alabama Chamber of Commerce, Montgomery, will be among the out of town speakers at the "Muscle Shoals Salute to Basil Horsfield" March 1 at the V.F.W. Hall in Sheffield.

Well known local figures to appear on the formal program of short speeches include W. H. Mitchell, Lewett Flagg, The Reverend Edward G. Mullen, W. B. Martin, Jr., Hoyt Greer and B. T. Gardner.

Other officials from the Reynolds headquarters in Richmond are also expected to come, Chamber of Commerce officials said.

The "Salute" is being sponsored by the Florence Chamber of Commerce, and the Muscle Shoals Chamber of Commerce to honor Basil Horsfield who recently retired after service as a vice president and director of Reynolds Metals Company.

It was Mr. Horsfield who picked Muscle Shoals as the site for what has come to be the largest Reynolds plant complex in the world.

A 30-year veteran of the aluminum industry, Mr. Wells has been with Reynolds since 1946. He has been a vice president since 1955 and a director since 1956. His responsibilities include all manufacturing operations of Reynolds Metals Company.

Chamber officials reported Wednesday that ticket sales were moving briskly and it appeared that the entire 350-place capacity would be sold out.

Those serving on committees from the two Chambers of Commerce are as follows:

Hoyt Greer, Dick Biddle, Wilson Foote, Mayor Leonard Beard, B. T. Gardner, Sammy Barksdale, Morris Kilbanoff and Frank Mosier along with Chamber of Commerce administrative heads Ed Debor and Hewlett Jackson.

Mrs. Dziat Heads Credit Committee

Under the chairmanship of Mrs. Luita Mae Dziat, Assistant Vice President, The First National Bank of Florence, the Installment Credit Committee of the Alabama Bankers Association held its fourth annual seminar in Montgomery on February 23 and 24. The program is planned each year to keep Alabama bankers abreast of current trends in the field of installment lending.

Featured on Wednesday's program was Marshall Dugger, Vice President and Cashier of The First National Bank of Tusculum, who discussed the earnings of a bank's installment loan department.

Installment credit from the standpoint of management and its place in the entire loan and investment portfolio was discussed by W. H. Mitchell, President of The First National Bank of Florence.

Other phases of consumer credit were covered by Louis J. Asterita, Deputy Manager in charge of the Installment Credit Commission, American Bankers Association; Curtis Kendall, Senior Vice President, American National Bank and Trust Co., Mobile; and R. T. Mayfield, Vice President, First National Bank, Fort Worth, Texas.

Mrs. Dziat has been a member of the Installment Credit Committee for a number of years. She is a first woman chairman of a permanent committee of the state association.

Late News

• In a fight to withhold its membership lists from Southern authorities, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People Tuesday won a Supreme Court victory. In the decision, the court struck down two tax ordinances in Little Rock and North Little Rock, Ark., requiring local NAACP groups to file financial statements and to disclose their membership rolls, calling them unconstitutional. The court believed that the measures were an unwarranted violation of the rights of NAACP members to freedom of assembly.

• The Civil Aeronautics Board announced Tuesday that it has evidence of a dynamic explosion near the seat of Julian A. Frank, the heavily-insured passenger aboard a National Airlines plane that crashed near Bolivia, N.C., last Jan. 6. It was indicated by CAR Chairman James R. Durfee that the plane disintegrated in flight following an explosion which was triggered "electrically by a dry cell battery." All evidence pointed to Frank as a bomber "with suicidal intent."

• John Satterfield, 54, Mississippi segregationist, Tuesday was named president-elect of the American Bar Association. His selection was made during the mid-Winter meeting of the association's house of delegates. He will take office in September of 1961.

Joe C. Wilson Asks Education Post

Principal Of Central High School Enters Race For Superintendent

Joe C. Wilson, 37-year-old principal of Central High School, Friday entered the race for Lauderdale County Superintendent of Education subject to action of the voters in the May 3 Democratic primary.

Principal at the Lauderdale county institution for the past nine years, Mr. Wilson has had a varied career in the field of education. Born in Randolph county, he was educated in the public schools there, finishing high school at Woodland High. He attended junior college at Southern Union College at Watley. From there he went to Jacksonville State College, receiving his AB degree in 1946, and followed up his education at the University of Alabama, where he received his MA in 1949.

Since then he has completed six additional months of advanced study.

Married and the father of three daughters, Mr. Wilson is a member of the Central Heights Methodist church; is a member of the County, State and National Education Associations; and is a member of the American Legion, having served two years in World War II as a first sergeant, eight months of which time was spent overseas in Europe beginning at the time of the Battle of the Bulge.

Mr. Wilson started teaching in Tuskegee High school as a business education teacher, where he remained for a year, before accepting the assistant principalship at Tusculosa County High school at Northport, which position he filled for four years. He then served for a year as principal of Valley Head school before coming to Central High.

Mr. Wilson said that his duties as Central High principal has prevented his making more than a limited campaign for the office he seeks.

"I cannot in conscience neglect my school work and consequently will have to do what campaigning I can in the evenings and on weekends. However, I hope to see and meet as many people over the county as possible and request my friends and acquaintances to lend me their influence, support and votes and to make others familiar with my record. I invite all those unacquainted with me to make an investigation of that record and assure them, if elected, I will do my utmost to make the county an effective and devoted superintendent," he concluded.

Thousands Jam Airport To Greet U. S. President

Greeted by more than 5,000 enthusiastic Brazilians crowding the airport runway at Brazilia, Brazil, Tuesday, President Eisenhower officially launched his "hemispheric Crusade" of friendship and aid to under-developed South American lands.

The big jetliner carrying the President on the first stop of his four-nation tour of South America was compelled to circle the airfield at this new capital city of Brazil for some 15 minutes while police pushed the crowds back out of the way.

A smiling Eisenhower stepped from the plane and was greeted by Brazilian President Juscelino Kubitschek who presented him with a key to the city which is being carved out of the jungle. The President compared Brazilia to a hustling frontier town of the West and his own town of Abilene, Kansas.

The two chief executives agreed on a second "Declaration of Brazilia" to be signed by U.S. Secretary of State Christian Herter and Brazilian Foreign Minister Horacio Lafer. The Declaration sets forth the four principles of hemispheric cooperation. It is similar to the document drawn up by the late John Foster Dulles in 1958 which called for "Democratic freedoms and the fundamental rights of man" to be preserved by a stronger, more prosperous hemisphere.

The two presidents declared that they were confident that the hemispheric crusade for economic development will lead to "greater prosperity and harmony for all."

These words were enthusiastically received by South Americans waiting to hear such pronouncements by the President of the United States. Ceremonies at the airport were held to a minimum and the President left shortly on a trip through unpaved streets which were a sea of mud due to the heavy rains, though the temperature was in the 80's.

The President stood in an open car despite the rain and waved to the crowd as cries of "Viva" echoed along the five mile stretch from the airport to the center of town where a plaque was to be unveiled commemorating Mr. Eisenhower's visit.

Mr. Eisenhower flew into Rio de Janeiro Wednesday receiving another enthusiastic welcome as huge throngs jammed the streets of the Brazilian capital following the landing of his plane at Galeao Airport. Thursday night, he fired a thunderous salute of 105 guns as the cabin cruiser carrying the U.S. chief executive crossed the bay.

Rogers FFA-FHA In Annual Meeting

Parents Honored With Banquet Monday Night At School Cafeteria

The annual mother-daughter, father-son banquet of the Rogers High school, Greenhill, FFA and FHA chapters was a delightful event of Monday night when the school lunchroom was filled to capacity to enjoy a delicious banquet followed by entertaining skits. Leon Grigsby, FFA president, and Rebecca Joyce Kennedy, FHA president, presided.

The program, decorations and food carried out the George Washington birthday observance motif and the 275 members and guests ate by candlelight as appropriate background music was played.

A skit presented by FFA Vice-President Kenneth Smith joined together in happy wedlock Home Economics and Agriculture, who were represented by Marie Burns and Phillip Gamble with a horse collar serving as the wedding ring.

Marie Burns, FFA Sweetheart, and FFA Beau Phillip Gamble were crowned by the runners-up Pat Flynn and Billy Richardson and another skit that was between the brilliantly witty play-wright and the spirited and beautiful actress.

Katharine Cornell, an actress and producer, was first recognized in the theatre in 1931 with "The Barretts of Wimpole Street," and has since achieved a record of success in the theatre. Miss Cornell was married to producer-director Guthrie McClintic in 1921. He has staged most of her recent plays.

Brian Aherne's most recent appearance on the American stage was as one of Bernard Shaw's heroes in the national company of "My Fair Lady."

He first achieved success as one of England's most popular silent screen stars after which he has appeared in some 25 films in America. He is married to Eleanor de Laigue Labrot, sister of Broadway producer Alfred de Laigue.

Sealed bids were to be opened at 10 a.m. today for the sale of $20 million in education bonds, the first portion of the recently approved $100 million bond issue for school construction.

TWO GREAT STARS—Katharine Cornell and Brian Aherne promise to delight lovers of the stage on Monday night at Coffee Auditorium, when they present "Dear Liar." The basis of this delightful comedy-drama is correspondence between Bernard Shaw and Mrs. Patrick Campbell, an actress at the height of her beauty at the turn of the century. Curtain time 8:15 p.m.

Reapportionment Given Push By Gov. Patterson

North Alabama Legislators May Block Passage Redistricting Bill

Unless they are able to get a reapportionment bill through the Legislature to change the balance of power, North Alabama legislators threaten to block passage of a congressional redistricting bill.

Governor John Patterson this week held out the threat of North Alabama reprisals against Black Belter who are blocking action on reapportionment. He suggested unless the Legislature is reapportioned before the redistricting issue arises in 1961 an effort may be made to elect all congressmen from the state-at-large.

Some North Alabama members have talked about this as an argument to force a reapportionment bill through, based on the assumption also that the state would lose one congressman after the 1960 census and the state divided into eight instead of nine districts. North Alabama members have threatened to block passage of a redistricting bill. This would, they contend force the state to elect all its congressmen at large instead of by districts.

The Governor indicated that he might support such a move, stating that he would use "any legal or parliamentary device to obtain reapportionment." The governor also said he would consider a special session of the Alabama Legislature this year to take up the matter but that nothing is definite.

Patterson indicated that he and his cabinet were winding up a long study on the possible prororation of school funds and a decision would be announced possibly in the next few days. He hinted prororation was probable and the question to be resolved was just how much to prororate school funds.

Sealed bids were to be opened at 10 a.m. today for the sale of $20 million in education bonds, the first portion of the recently approved $100 million bond issue for school construction.

The Great Need . . . Brotherhood

All over the world there is strife and dissension and our own country is no exception. Religion against religion, race against race . . . it is no wonder those who espouse the cause of peace are as voices "crying in the wilderness."

It is not easy to say just what remedies may be needed to cure a world sick with hate, fear and frustration, but one thing is certain, we who cherish peace and love freedom must act militantly and at once.

Today, the great movement to establish religious and racial amity is the organization of Christians and Jews, presenting a united front against world wide strife and dissension. It is the one great movement that does offer hope to the people of this nation and to the world for only by uniting people of all faiths can anything worthwhile be accomplished.

During this annual Brotherhood Week let us rededicate our total effort toward bringing about brotherhood among all people of all faiths and in all walks of life. In that way we can defeat the evil forces seeking to foster Godlessness and hate.

Payola—Who Is Guilty?

Payola is a recently coined word that has invaded almost every facet of American life. It is a new word for an old, shall we say, common offense. Payola, in various degrees, has ranged all the way from top White House aides—as witness the Sherman Adams-Goldfine case—to radio disc jockeys taking under-the-table pay for cluttering up the ether with records certain companies wanted promoted.

It gets a little tiresome when "little guys" have to be labeled crooks and thugs for taking gifts when the records show President Eisenhower has received more than $300,000 in gifts since entering the White House. F.D.R. was the recipient of no-telling-how-much in gifts while occupying the same position for more years than any other chief executive. Could all these be considered "payola?"

The main concern of the networks seems to be stopping disc jockey payola at its source and that is as it should be. But why all the publicity? We have simply singled out a few examples of so-called payola and pretend to be righteously indignant when as a matter of fact we don't care a hoot one way or the other.

The practice of payola should be curbed in the interest of decent ethics whether in business or politics but it should not be confined just to the flock of sugar-voiced announcers who force the public to listen to the clanging of so-called popular music . . . it should include all forms of payoff from the White House on down.

Otherwise we are discriminating.

What Price Economy?

What is it that makes today's politician shy away from anything that even remotely resembles economy in government? There are exceptions but we must in all fairness point out that the Democratic Congress, while justifiably critical of the Administration's lack of economy, has been guilty of more profligate spending than any Congress in history. Not only that it has done absolutely nothing to relieve the present confiscatory income tax burden and very little to curb waste in government that even our school children know is scandalous.

Sen. Stuart Symington recently scored the government for its reckless spending and made some concrete suggestions how real savings could be effected. As a potential presidential hopeful Senator Symington's speech hit on a subject close to every thinking American's heart and it showed that here was one economy-minded political leader ready to do something about it.

It is a hard job, this being president of a nation with a government as top-heavy as this government has grown to be. And many times a president is blamed for things that should be blamed on Congress. For instance Mr. Eisenhower proposed a number of economies last year that reached file "13" just about as fast as congressional committees could get them there. Because comparatively small publicity was given his efforts in many cases he continued to be blamed with a spendthrift policy.

Some measures that would have saved the taxpayers money would have been more flexible rates on government loans; better procedures in selling government surpluses and encouragement of more financing of projects by local governments and private enterprise. This proposal was designed to remove government from areas that more properly belong to states, counties and municipalities. The President made an effort that died largely because too many politicians these days haven't the courage to stand for economy.

The Democrats might as well look down the gun barrel and admit they have a most formidable opponent in Richard Nixon, there being little doubt the Vice President will be the Republican candidate. And if the Democrats do not have a workable platform for putting this country back on its feet by reducing the tax burden and the national debt and a program of civil rights based on the constitutional rights of all the people, then they might as well face the fact that the road to the White House will be hard sledding.

In The Week's News

Son Born To Queen Elizabeth

Queen Elizabeth II gave birth to a second son Friday, after a long and anxious confinement. The birth came some 30 hours after she called in her doctors. Heralding the birth, the great bells of London churches pealed out the news and crowds began to swarm around the palace in increasing numbers. The baby was the first born to the reigning British in 103 years, and takes second place in the line of succession to the throne. There are two other children, 11-year-old Prince Charles and 9-year-old Princess Anne.

King Extradition Signed

Gov. John Patterson Friday signed extradition papers which will return Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr., to Alabama to face perjury charges. The Negro integration leader, accused of making false statements in filing Alabama State income tax returns for 1956 and 1958, announced in Atlanta, his residence at the present, that he is ready to answer the charges and will not fight extradition.

U.S. Apologizes To Cuba

The United States Friday officially admitting a U.S. based plane flew on a raid over Cuba, apologized to the Fidel Castro regime. The State Department announced that Charge D'Affaires Daniel Braddock, top-ranking U.S. diplomat in Cuba, has been instructed to "express to the Cuban government this government's sincere regrets that the plane managed to escape the vigilance of our intensified airfield patrols." A situation that has made Castro's new charge doubly embarrassing is the fact that U.S. officials have been denouncing and denying similar previous accusations by the Cubans.

Chessman's Life Spared Again

California Governor Edmund Brown spared the life of Caryl Chessman Friday less than 10 hours before Chessman was to die in the gas chamber. A telephone outside the execution room flashed word from Gov. Brown's mansion at Sacramento to Warden Fred Dickson: "You can send him back upstairs. I am going to grant him a 60-day reprieve." This was the eighth stay in 12 years for 38-year-old Chessman, under a double death sentence since 1948 for lovers' lane crimes in Los Angeles.

Symington Criticizes Administration

The charge that the President's Administration has misled the American people about their defensive strength was renewed in the Senate Friday by Stuart Symington (D-Mo.) touching off a "freewheeling debate with Republicans pitted against Democrats." Symington said that the people of this country are entitled to the truth, declaring, "some unpleasant facts well-known to the Communists are kept from the American people." Joining in the attack was Majority Leader Lyndon B. Johnson, (D-Tex.) who, like Symington, is a potential candidate for the Democratic presidential nomination.

Army Denies von Braun to Quit

It was denied Friday by the Army that Dr. Werner von Braun and some 12 other top missile experts would go into private business rather than work for the Civilian Space Agency. The Army Ordnance Guided Missile Agency said that German-American scientists had no plans to accept the reported "lucrative private business offers." A spokesman said that these reports "come up every two weeks and none of them are true."

Sketches From Life

By FRANCES HALL

MRS. DONALD J. EDWARDS
(Elizabeth Landsford)

"Mrs. Donald J. Edwards is one of the most gracious of people," is the observation of a close friend.

Recognized throughout the literary groups of Florence as one of its most able and learned members, Mrs. Edwards gives much of her time and talent to the enhancement of the cultural interests of the community.

Mrs. Edwards has been a resident of Florence for many years, having previously resided in New Orleans and Iuka, Mississippi. She attended the Southern Female University of Florence. She was married to the late Donald J. Edwards, who was engaged in the insurance and real estate business in Florence.

For 37 years, Mrs. Edwards has made her residence at 472 North Court, at which is located her beautiful home literally filled with antiques, many acquired on her European visit a number of years ago. Mrs. Edwards is very generous about opening the doors of her home to cultural meetings of the area.

The literary field, in which Mrs. Edwards is most interested, has a special fascination for her. This keen interest in literary works is particularly evidenced in her unusually large private library. One of her books dates back to 1704, and she has loaned many of her rare volumes to public libraries for exhibition purposes.

A popular book reviewer and poetess of some note is our personality of this week. She has as- founded members of various clubs of the area by her ability to quote a book almost verbatim and in a most interesting manner. Mrs. Edwards at one time wrote poetry for the Memphis Appeal and because of this talent, her name was recorded in "Analogy of Alabama Poetry."

Sharing the association of this most delightful lady are various women's clubs and literary organizations of which she is a member. She is a member of the Florence Frieze Club and has been a member of the Florence Garden Club and the Current Events Club. Very prominent in the work of the First Presbyterian Church, of which she is a member, Mrs. Edwards is exceedingly active in the "Women of the Church" organization and rarely misses a service of the church.

Graciousness is the word that most aptly describes Mrs. Edwards, and her literary friends find in her a source of never ending inspiration and stimulation for the things beautiful.

THE SPILLWAY

BEFORE ANOTHER SNOW should fall
And birdies chirp for food...
We've been deluged to give you all
This recipe that's good...

NU'ROUS REQUESTS FOR the popular chick-a-dee pudding recipe have reached our ears during recent days and we're ever-so happy to oblige... and to note that the BASIC ingredients are usually on the pantry shelves... Add equal parts of peanut butter and grits or cornmeal (cooked or raw) to melted fat... Stir in sorghum (or sugar) and crumbs... (Special treat... add scratch feed or peanuts... raisins or sunflower seed)... This fare should draw birds of many feathers to your door... come snow or come SPRING.

AND COME WHAT MAY... our travelin' friends continue to travel... and to make delightful future plans... Mary Frances and Gilman Doss are this very minute flitting from Isle to Caribbean Isle... as they look forward to looking-in on Laura and Otho Perritt in their mobile home in St. Petersburg, Florida, ere they return to our midst... FOLLOWING a recent and verree delightful visit with friends at Langley AFB in Texas... captivatin' Virginia Carr also visited longtime friend Gloria (Walker) Aronson and Ed and chillun in El Reno, Okla., before arriving in Florence town late last week... CARDS RECEIVED from Mae Irvine and Jo Penney and Julia Walker report a charming enroute stop-over with (Rivers Wiggins' charming sister) Lula Mae Galloway and Bill in their story book home (their house has been photographed by Better Homes and Gardens magazine) in Burnet, Texas...

IT'S WESTWARD HO for Eloise and (Doctor) Pete Heslington (and it's a safe bet that golf bags are included with other luggage for these devotees of fairways and putting greens)... They're enjoying a mid-Winter holiday in sunny Arizona... ALSO travelin' Westward... Deitz Doss is presently being guested by friends and relatives in (her former home) Tulsa, Okla... AND after tearing himself away from his new Elk River abode... Billy Wright is enjoying a ten-day skiing spree with a group of work-and-play friends in Aspen, Colorado...

IT'S CHIT-CHAT time in Richmond, Va., whence Ellen Redd has hied herself for a visit with a chum of girlhood days... ex-localite Caroline (Foy) Robins (her hubby) Berkeley and their trio of young beauties...

RICHMOND VIA NEW YORK is the route which Louise Jones expects to take come March... She'll be accompanied to the Big Town by Nita Bassel (it'll be Nita's AEA holiday jaunt away from her school-teaching duties) and they'll rub shoulders with theater-goers and cafe-frequenters for night onto a week before coming home their separate ways... In Richmond... Louise will (ofcourse) visit (her chile) Louisa... a student there.

OUR REPORTER REPORTS... that one time Florentines Anita and Carl Lavender are on the move from Ashtabula, Ohio, to Marietta... Carl having preceded Anita... who'll follow upon completion of her teaching assignment and who writes of having already been in touch with other local transplants to her soon-to-be home... including the Kelly Elmores (of Sheffield) and Sally and George Lincoln and Jane and Ben Case (of Florence)...

RUMORS COME DRIFTING of Springtime plans for a South American SAFARI... Columbia to be the destination and JAGUAR to be the object of the hunt... Seems that Paul Donaldson has caught the enthusiasm of (Doctor) John Dabbs (veteran of an adventure of a year ago in South Africa... You should just SEE his pictures and trophies)... And if our listenin' ears are not deceived... L. and Foy, Sr. and Hershel Hensley are showing definite signs of succumbing to safari fever and joining up for the trek.

AT SO RUMORED IS still another adventurous jaunt... Not to be outdone by the male of the species... Irene Parker is making plans for a summertime hunt on the Continent... using a camera as her weapon and the beauty spots of the Old World as the objects of her search... She's presently taking a photography course at Florence State... and (her hubby) Dick will join her for the last month of European travel... Irene Patton (the picture-taker's momma) of Athens will serve as stand-in at the Parker household on Palisade Drive while the story-like plan unfolds... 'Twill make for pleasant day dreamin' to contemplate this lovely wandering photographer against a background of Paris... Rome... the Riviera...

GETTING THE ROYAL red carpet treatment during their long weekend "back home" were Mary Moore of New Orleans and Estelle and Stewart Harrison of Montgomery... Inez Barwell's home on Riverview was the "gathering place" for a congenial group on Saturday afternoon (following the morning party hostessed by Martha Gilbert and Jean Ashcraft) and Flo and Jewell Archer and Genevieve and Fannal Beau-champ were Sunday soir supper hosts... AND lovely old "Sweetwater"... home of Jessie and John Weeden... took on an especially festive air for the arrival on Friday of (their chile) Elizabeth (Weeden) Minton and (her hubby) Jim from their home in Hannibal, Mo... Their all-too-short visit ended Tuesday...

THE BASSINET SET... Recent additions include Deborah Ann (Debbie) Maxwell... who arrived on Tuesday, February ninth, to take up residence with (her mom and dad) Betty Ann and (Lt. USAF) Thomas Maxwell... now stationed in Stanton, Cal... AND James Wood Gerber... who has been at home with (momma and daddy) Margaret Lee (McCullough) and Jesse Gerber since February fifteenth in New Hartford, New York...

AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodby... until more news comes through The Spillway...

FATHER OF H. L. McMURRY DIES IN MICHIGAN HOSPITAL Services for H. L. McMurry, of Swartz Creek, Mich., and father of H. G. McMurry, plant manager of Ford Motor Company's aluminum foundry at Listerhill, who died Monday at a hospital at Flint, Mich., were conducted at Swartz Creek with burial following in Union City, Tenn.

Surviving in addition to his son are his wife of Skartz Creek, and a grandson, Victor McMurry, of Florence.

Oregon is now the twentieth state to become Modified Certified Brucellosis-free.

The month of February has been a month of EVENTS, with large letters, on the Florence State campus.

Several hundred college students along with numerous local citizens gathered at the brand-new Florence Coliseum last Thursday night to enjoy the danceable music of the Tommy Dorsey Orchestra, directed by Warren Covington. The dance was a glittering event that featured the crowning of Mr. and Miss Florence State, the presentation of the Royal Court, and the appearance of the college's top five beauties.

Ida Meeker Raney and Jerry White received the coveted crown from last year's Mr. FSC, Jimmy Moore.

The Court, each girl looking lovely in a frothy white gown and each man looking handsome in a sleek dinner jacket, included Ida Brown Terry, Herschel Moore, Myra Ashley, Ronnie Romine, Lula Dobbins, and Bill Nelms.

Pam Whit, a tall, willowy blond from Decatur, was chosen as the top DIORAMA beauty from a field of ten by judges last week.

Jean Tipton, Florence, Janelle Holley, Florence, Elizabeth Brown, Sheffield, and Betty Lois Jumper, Sulligent, were chosen as the other beauties. The Diorama beauties were presented after intermission of the Dorsey dance.

Vincent Price, star of stage, screen, and television, spoke to a full house last Wednesday night in Coffee Auditorium. His subject, quite naturally, was "Actor's Life For Me." The Florence State Convocation Committee sponsored the event.

Two other stars of the English-speaking stage, Katherine Cornell and Brian Aherne, will appear at Coffee Auditorium Monday night, February 29, in a delightful play "Dear Liar." Three hundred fifty tickets will be given in the halls at Florence State to the students on Monday morning. Miss Cornell and Mr. Aherne will appear under the auspices of the Muscote Shools Concert Association.

College is a place to learn in the classrooms; yet sometimes one can get on-the-job training, especially if the student is in education like forty Florence Staters who are in the training block.

During the first nine weeks of the spring semester the following students have been teaching in the local high schools and the campus training school:

Lexington High School—Hoyce Beck, physical education; Paul Foster, Patricia Leath, social science.

Rogers High School—Franklin Sparkman, Nelda Conwill, business.

Coffee High School—Jerry

White, biology. Colbert County High School—Madeline Bevis, Doris Warhurst, business; Paul Anderson, science. Sheffield High School—Walt Ball, Ken Gunter, physical education; Martha Hensley, Paul Parker, biology.

Deshler High School—Annette Gibbs, Joy Thompson, Glenda Richard, Shelby Crosswhite, business; Virginia White, biology and library science; Donald Hiedorn, physical education.

Russellville High School—Carolyn Klein, Mary Stovall, home economics. Lawrence County High School—

Polly Moore, Margaret Farris, business; Carolyn Crawford, Catherine Sherer, home economics. Kibby Training School—(elementary block) Myra Ashley, first grade; Maudine Smith, second grade; Mae White, Catherine Berry, third grade; Irene Crowe, fifth grade; Shirley Self, Martha Barton, sixth grade.

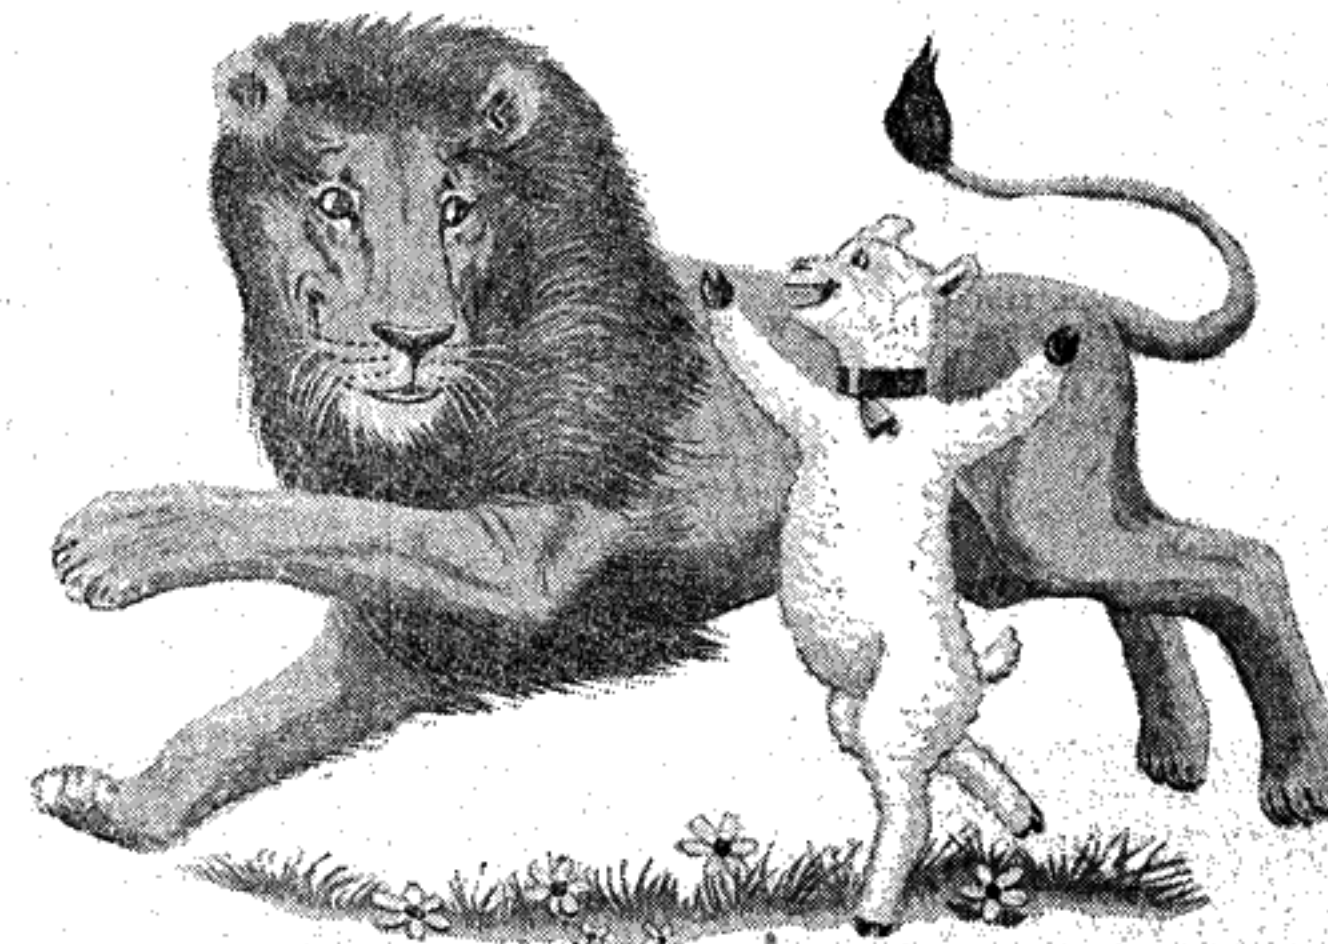

Friendship Week came to a climax with the crowning of Mr. and Miss Friendliness, Marcella Campbell and Bill Nelms.

Runnersup were Don Heiger-dorn, Tuffy Hudson, Ramona Burrow, and Nell Wade.

FSCites are looking forward to: Stunt Night, March 7... basketball tournament, Friday, Saturday night at the Florence Coliseum... WSGA "South Pacific" dance, March 11, when the girls ask the boys (for a change)...

If you plan to freeze rollers soon after purchasing, you do not need to remove the wrapping. However, you do need additional wrapping before freezing. At zero degrees or below, they may be kept from six months to a year.

CHANGE IS IN THE AIR

Whether It's The Seasons
OR—BETTER POSITIONS

As March prepares to make its entry and the Spring season brings new hope for the future, it is natural for us to take stock of ourselves in an effort to learn if we are getting all out of life that is our due.

Many progressive men and women have found that if they are not satisfied with their present position that through training as a Hair Stylist under the direction of RAY REED, director of this, the South's best known and highest accredited beauty culture school, they are able to become highly paid artists in this fastest growing profession.

May we discuss the possibilities with you... and give you details as to the expert training that is available to you at your very door.

"CORVAIR HANDLES BETTER, STEERS MORE EASILY, RESPONDS MUCH MORE QUICKLY AND HOLDS THE ROAD MORE SECURELY THAN ANY STOCK FOUR-DOOR SEDAN EVER MADE IN THE U.S."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

If you think we're enthusiastic about Corvair, leaf through the leading automotive, sports and science magazines and see what the experts are saying. Then, by all means, drive one yourself.

"Corvair's steering is so light that at parking speeds it feels power assisted; it is so precise as to be absolutely without play, and it is fast enough to allow complete control over every situation."

—Karl Ludvigsen, Sports Cars Illustrated

"Steers like a feather and is extremely quick... This is a beautifully designed automobile, engineered by real pros..."

—Tom McCahill, Mechanix Illustrated

"Most surprising thing to me outside of the excellent handling characteristics was the feeling of roominess inside... I didn't have the sensation of driving a small car and the headroom was greater in the Corvair than in some standard size cars..."

—L. H. Houck, Automotive News

"So far as shopping goes, the Corvair is a housewife's dream. It's small and easily maneuvered without any power steering, and so easily parked... it's a lot easier to unload a cart full of groceries into a front trunk at the supermarket than it is into a rear one."

—Rosemary Francis, Popular Science

"I want to state as firmly as I can that the Corvair handles as beautifully and is as safe as—if not safer than—any family car on the road today."

—Jim Whipple, Car Life

"There is none of the typical whine normally associated with rear-engined vehicles. Inside the car, the effect is quite unlike anything we have ever experienced. It almost seems that there is no engine, and the general effect is so quiet as to be almost unnoticeable."

—John R. Bond, Road & Track

"No written word can suffice for the genuine pleasure that you will receive behind the wheel of America's newest and most advanced contribution to transportation... It is a great car."

—Don Stewart, Motor Life

Friends Honor South's Memory

The Republican Executive Committee of Lauderdale County recently passed a resolution in memory of Arthur South, deceased chairman of the Committee, in which is stated that it will be impossible to replace him with a person who will do as much for the party as he did.

Mr. South, who died Feb. 4, was a former employee of the First National Bank of Florence and had held positions in various fraternal orders.

The resolution further states, "He was loved by his friends, respected by his enemies, and will be missed by all."

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

The High Places

Does the goal you're seeking seem as remote—as this snow-frosted mountain top? Does it seem, sometimes, as if you'll never get there? Are you on the verge of giving up?

Don't! Though your objective may seem light-years beyond your reach, if it's the right thing for you, God will help you to attain it, if you'll let Him. The teachings of His Church will help you find the patience and endurance you need to accept setbacks... and still keep trying.

Don't try to climb to the top all by yourself. It's a lonely ascent. Let the Church help you, as it helped those who were here before you... and as it will help those who come after you.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

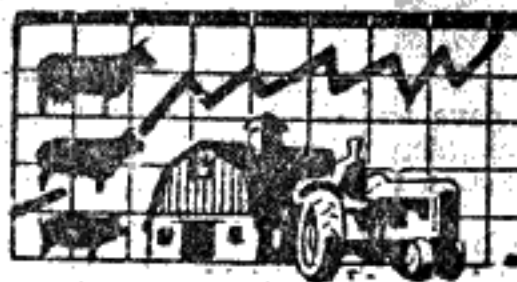

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

Most cattlemen in Alabama will probably continue to sell fat calves, but an increasing number are feeding steers, heifers, and other cattle to heavier weights, reports Auburn Extension Livestockmen Bob Farquhar.

Avoid Danger Of Electric Fences

The use of makeshift electric fences is not worth the chance you're taking.

Warnings about using only approved electric fence controls often go unheeded, says Bill Cox, engineer with the Auburn University Extension Service. And the result can be injury or loss of life.

You will not be risking such a penalty if you always use approved electric fence controls, urges Cox. He adds that warnings should be placed at gates, gaps, and other fence opening. Also, take every precaution to protect children as well as adults from electric fences. But most important, says the engineer, never make the mistake of connecting a fence directly to the electric line.

Foley Boy State's Future Farmer

Winner Of Many FFA Awards, Edward Bornho Proves Farming Pays

Alabama's Future Farmer of the Year for 1960 is Edward Bornho of Foley, Route 1.

A farming program that turned a low producing Baldwin County farm into a profitable enterprise, a record of winning FFA contests all the way to national levels, and leadership of the Foley chapter to first place in the State Chapter Contest have earned for the 19-year-old youth the honor of being called the "best" of Alabama's nearly 15,000 FFA'ers.

Edward will receive a $300 award from the Turner E. Smith Company and a loving cup from Alpha Gamma Rho fraternity, co-sponsors of the contest in cooperation with the Alabama FFA Association. The awards will be made at the State FFA Convention at Auburn in June.

His farming operation earned him the title of "State Star Farmer" last year which carried the award of a new Ford tractor with it. His electrical work brought him first place in the National FFA Farm Electrification contest in 1958. Remodeling his family's farm home won him first place in the Alabama FFA Home Improvement contest in 1959 and his work in farm mechanics earned a second place finish for him in that contest the same year.

His farming program during his first year of enrollment consisted of 23 market hogs that resulted from a pig chain gilt and 5 acres each of corn, soybeans and wheat which his father let him have for projects in return for his work on the remainder of the 160 acre farm.

With his hog program, the profits from his first years of farming and willingness to work, Edward started up the ladder to success in farming. He saw an opportunity also to use his mechanical skills in improving farm living and efficiency and to win FFA contests.

To win the home improvement contest, he put a new roof on the house, put on new siding, built a bathroom and installed plumbing in it, constructed new steps, and did much painting and minor repairs.

Most of the machinery maintenance and repair work on the farm is done by Edward. He has established and equipped a farm shop with power and hand tools for mechanical and wood work. His work in this area won him second place in the FFA Farm Mechanics contest last year.

Mr. Nix credits Edward's success in farming and FFA activities to his willingness to work, his natural skill, and the splendid cooperation of his parents.

"Edward is always willing to do more than his share in any activity and is well liked and respected by his fellow students and teachers," Mr. Nix said. "The cooperation of his parents is indicated by the grain bins which were Edward's idea."

Seed Treating Is Risky Business

The treatment of cottonseed with inadequate doses of fungicide is risky business.

Growers must understand the reason for maintaining an effective dosage on the seed, explains Jasper Jernigan, agronomist at Auburn University. Since it's impossible to know the degree of cottonseed deterioration due to moisture content and the weather or soil conditions following planting, it is extremely important to apply adequate dosages of seed treatment fungicides.

"The real value of good seed treatment is the protection it gives against diseases during periods of cold, wet weather right after planting," points out Jernigan. For this reason, reputable seed processors should always use the recommended dosage that will give the best disease control under adverse weather conditions, where the soil is badly infected, or when partially deteriorated seed may be highly susceptible to disease attack.

According to the Extension specialist, cotton growers should use certified seed with a germination of at least 80 percent. And be sure that the planting seed have been treated with Ceresan M, Dow 9B, or Panogen. Use Ceresan M and Dow 9B at the rate of three ounces to 100 pounds of seed.

—Serve—

"Bama's Best" Ham

Packed at Home

FLORENCE PACKING CO.

Three ounces of Panogen is needed for 100 pounds of reginned seed and two ounces for cold-delineated seed.

"No one today questions the value of cottonseed treatment as an economical way to insure a good, healthy stand," says Jernigan. For complete protection against seed and soil-borne diseases, he urges growers to treat their seed according to the above recommendations.

When buying carpet for the stairs, buy an extra foot and fold it under against one of two risers at the top of the stairs. When the sedges begin to look worn, shift the carpet downward an inch or two; fold under the excess carpet against the lower riser at the foot of the stairs.

3 3/4% INTEREST ON NEW U.S. SAVINGS BONDS NOW IN EFFECT

Congress makes the Bonds you buy and Bonds you already own better than ever!

Now U.S. Savings Bonds are a better buy than ever in three important ways:

- All Series E and H Bonds bought since June 1, 1959 now earn 3 3/4% interest when held to maturity.
- Older Bonds will also pay more—an extra 1/2%, from June 1 on, if you hold them to maturity.
- All Series E Bonds, old or new, now carry an automatic extension privilege; they'll keep paying liberal interest for 10 years beyond maturity.

Three big new dollar benefits that make it smart to buy new Bonds—and hang on to the ones you have!

40 million Americans now own Bonds

But a good return isn't the only reason so many people buy Bonds. They've discovered that there's no easier, safer, more American way to save.

You can buy Bonds automatically, through the Payroll Savings Plan where you work; you can buy them where you bank; your youngsters can even buy them at school, through the School Savings Plan for U.S. Savings Stamps.

The U.S. Government guarantees that the cash value of your Bonds cannot drop; it can only grow. And if your Bonds should be lost, stolen, or destroyed, the Treasury will replace them free.

Finally, every Bond you buy does a big job for America. Because today, peace costs money—money for military strength and for science; and money saved by individuals to keep our economy sound.

Your Bonds help provide this money—help America keep the peace. So, to build a brighter future for yourself and your family—and to protect it—save with U.S. Savings Bonds. They're better than ever.

Foods of the Future

KID CARROT KNOCKS OUT WILLIE WEED!

Alabama researchers found that using chemical weed-killers EARLY helps young plants get a head start on their enemies — weeds and tall grass — before summer rains make weeding difficult.

Scientists tried this early weed-killing on such widely varied crops as strawberries, peanuts, cotton and livestock pastures. Cotton hoeing was cut 80%!

Healthy young plants mature faster, making earlier crops to market! Result — plumper, firmer, tenderer and juicier vegetables, fruits and berries.

Social Security Facts For Readers

Social security for farmers is not a matter of choice. If a farmer nets at least $400 in a year from his farming operation, he must report this income for social security purposes.

Foy Helms, economist at Auburn University, points out that several thousand survivors of farmers who paid their social security taxes are now drawing insurance benefits. However, there are many more who would have qualified if their husbands had made the proper reports.

Farmers misunderstand four points about social security more than any others, says the Extension economist. To help correct these points, he explains the following:

1. A farmer cannot wait until he retires or becomes disabled to pay up his social security and receive benefits. If he waits, he will not have enough time in.

2. A farmer cannot choose for himself whether or not he wants to report his income for social security. If he nets at least $400, he must report it.

3. Social security is not just a program for old people. Payments are also made to survivors and to some disabled workers.

4. A farmer cannot wait until he retires and then qualify for benefits on the basis of two years of work. It takes more time than this except for farmers who are well past the age of 65.

Correct information about the social security program is important, stresses Helms. He adds that anyone may obtain free booklets from social security district offices throughout the state.

TV CABLE TOPICS

We are happy to announce that concrete progress has been made since our last CABLE Topics.

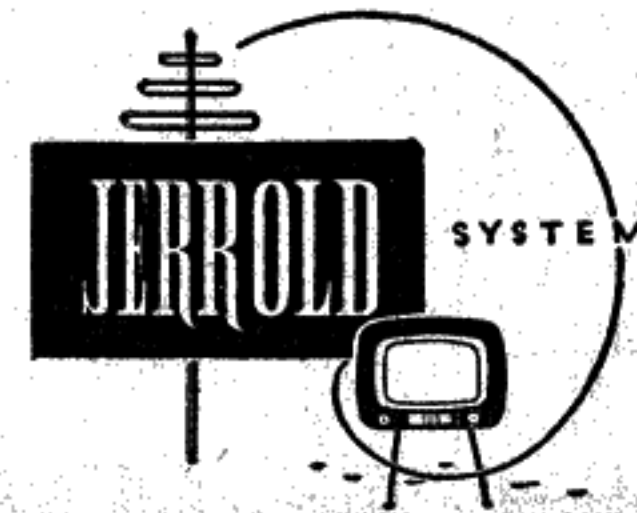

1. Micro wave transmitters and receivers completely "scanned and swept." All other receiving equipment thoroughly reworked.
2. Main trunk checked and approximately 1600 feet of cable replaced from antenna receivers to the river bridge.
3. Main trunk south of the bridge through Sheffield and Tusculumbia being checked and replacement of cable to be done whenever the checking shows the need of this new cable.
4. Our crews are working "around the clock" to accomplish these improvements and will continue to do so until completed.

We know you are interested in these facts and we will keep you informed as to the progress being made.

These are actual projects — not promises.

Your cooperation and patience will materially assist us in this work. Delays in making new connections will occur but we will make them as quickly as possible.

We hope you will join with us in best wishes for a speedy recovery to Tee Hubbard, one of our technicians who received a fractured heel from a fall while working on this project.

Sincerely,
