There's no crime to spy on your enemy. The only crime is getting caught at it. Old Niki can raise all the stink he wants to—and it doesn't fool anyone, not even his own "subjects," who must applaud his every utterance—or else. The only tough part of the whole matter is that it brings into focus the fact that the United States must do the spying—and paying the bills—for all her allies. And as such gets both the blame and the praise—the latter, if any.

Who said that the air was free. It's nothing of the kind, now that there is a 10 per cent tax on air conditioners.

Not too many years ago, the Bible occupied the most prominent spot on the table in our grandparents' living room. Today, that spot is occupied by another publication called: "Your Rights Under Social Security."

We understand that since the primary a movement is on foot by a number of do-gooders to find some way of keeping politics out of politics.

Time marches on—we must say—when we recall that most of the great figures of our youth tried to look like George Arliss. Today, far too many try to look like Marlon Brando and Elvis Presley.

Do you appreciate the fact that the human body is the only machine that repairs itself—and that a statement no other manufacturer can make.

Robert A. Wilbur, of Grotton, Conn., was proud of the fact that he came from a rural area where he attended a one-room school. He talked of this school so often that it grew in importance to him. A few months ago, some thirty years since he attended the school, he returned to find it still in fair repair, bought it, moved it to a lot he owned, rebuilt it and now has it as his home. It sounds like he is planning to run for President.

It once was said that a job well done never needs doing over. But that statement had nothing to do with weeding gardens.

She was celebrating her 110th birthday and, of course, the entire community was most solicitous. In fact, a reporter from a nearby metropolitan newspaper called on her for her life's story. When questioned, she explained that her husband, who died just a few years previous, had lived to the ripe old age of 99 years after a married life that extended over 75 years. "In all those years you spent together, did you ever think of a divorce?" "No," she said. "But murder?" "Yes."

With the cost of a college education soaring higher and higher each year, it is possible that soon you can make a profit by remaining ignorant.

You fisherman should take note of the situation Elwood Davis, of Knoxville, found himself in when the game warden arrested him for fishing without a license. Davis hired himself a lawyer and appeared in court. But the prosecution was unable to effect a conviction and Davis was released. The arresting officer could not prove that the hook Davis was using was baited.

U.S. C. of C. Rapped for TVA Stand

The United States Chamber of Commerce again has revealed itself as the most relentless foe the Tennessee Valley Authority has, Congressman Robert E. Jones charged recently.

At the conclusion of its 48th Annual Conference here, the U.S. Chamber again passed resolutions by voice vote asking the breaking up of all non-power functions of the TVA and distribution of them to government agencies. It demanded Bureau of the Budget controls over TVA, Federal Power Commission supervision of TVA rates and new legislation to forbid expansion of the TVA from its present area.

"The opposition of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce to the TVA is blind and unreasoning," Congressman Jones commented. "Its stale, monotonous charges against the TVA do little credit to businessmen expected to make big decisions and come to right conclusions after weighing all the facts and evidence."

"The true story of what the TVA has accomplished in a huge segment of the country, in five states, is known and appreciated by scores of Chambers of Commerce in the Tennessee Valley. For years, these affiliates of the U.S. Chamber of Commerce have attempted gallantly to present the facts to the parent group. The stubborn attitude of the U.S. Chamber executives in refusing to give these eye-witness authorities on TVA operations a fair hearing has caused a schism in Chamber ranks. These Chambers of Commerce of Commerce were forced to form their own organization."

"It is no surprise that the U.S. Chamber reaffirms its opposition to the TVA this year. It was against TVA even before it was established," Jones said. It has never ceased in its efforts to cripple or dismantle it through the past quarter of a century.

Jones was most complimentary to the delegates of Chambers of Commerce in the Tennessee Valley who opposed the resolution at the National Convention.

Work On Natchez Trace Bridge To Be Started Soon

Total Cost Of Project Estimated $6,000,000; First Contract Awarded

Work on the Natchez Trace bridge west of the Tri-Cities, which will span Pickwick Lake, should get underway within the next month or two, according to C. H. Buchanan, division engineer, U. S. Bureau of Public Roads, Natchez Trace Parkway, whose offices are located in the First National Bank Building, Florence.

Total cost of the project is estimated at approximately $6,000,000. The $1,267,010 contract awarded to Traylor Bros., Inc., Evansville, Ind., at Washington, April 26 is for the first stage of construction stages, which include two abutments and 37 piers, with the main span being approximately 375 feet wide to accommodate navigation traffic.

The second contract will include the erection of the steel superstructure, with the third calling for the concrete deck and hand rails.

Resident engineer on this project will be Fred Jaeger, transferred here by the U. S. Bureau of Public Roads from bridge assignments in Virginia. He will be located principally in an office to be erected at the site of the work.

It was also revealed by Mr. Buchanan that, with completion of the bridge, the Bureau of Public Roads and the National Park Service are making plans for construction of approach roads to the bridge, extending from U.S. Highway 72 in Colbert County to join with completed sections of the Parkway at Alabama 20 in Lauderdale. Upon completion of the bridge, scheduled for 1963, usable length of Parkway in the Muscle Shoals area will be about 55 miles.

Shifts Moved Up One Hour Earlier At Union Carbide

All shifts are now operating on a one-hour earlier basis at the Sheffield plant of the Union Carbide Metals Company, according to C. E. Green, Plant Superintendent.

The move for earlier starting times means that all rotating shifts will be scheduled from 7-3, 3-11 and 11-8. The day shift employees will work 7-3:30. Although the time change was made for the convenience of employees during the summer, it is scheduled on a trial basis. The original decision by the Company was initiated after a survey of plant employees revealed a 2 to 1 majority in favor of the proposal. Careful consideration of all ramifications and a thorough discussion with the local Steelworkers Union were other factors that preceded the move.

Bobby Gene Risner, 20 and his 12-year-old brother, Jackie M. Risner, both of Collinswood, Tenn., were killed instantly at 10:25 a.m. Saturday morning when the automobile in which they were riding skidded head-on into a pickup truck being driven by William Berry, 37, of Iron City, Tennessee.

The accident occurred 22 miles north of Florence on Highway 13 just inside Tennessee and some eight miles south of Collinswood.

United States Admits Flyer Held By Soviet Russia Was Spying; Tension Heightened

Officials Express Concern Over Coming Talks

Bulletin

President Eisenhower said Wednesday he was still hopeful—despite the furor over the plane incident—that the Paris summit meeting starting Monday will accomplish some good and serve to ease international tensions. As to the plane incident he said there is "some reason to believe the plane was not shot down at high altitude. The Russians had claimed the American U2 was shot down from an altitude of more than 60,000 feet. A state dispatch from Moscow charged the U.S. Government and not the military alone—was responsible for the spy flights over Soviet territory."

The United States admitted that it had sent spy flights over Soviet Russia on President Eisenhower's orders. At the same time Russia's Premier Nikita Khrushchev warned that Soviet armed forces would strike at bases in countries which permit them to be used by the United States in carrying out spy flights over Russian territory.

Tension between the two nations came to a boil when a U-2 piloted by Francis G. Powers was reportedly shot down by Khrushchev's orders on May 1. Khrushchev said the Soviet Union had decided to strengthen its rocket and fighter plane strength after an American plane crossed into Russia and flew as far as Kiev, capital of the U.S.S.R., in 1956. At that time he said he decided against making a protest to the United States. He said another American spy plane had invaded Russian territory on April 9.

U. S. Admits Spying
With the approval of the President Secretary of State Christian Herter frankly admitted American planes have carried out "extensive aerial surveillance" of Communist territory under national security directives after the reported capture of the 30-year-old American flyer deep in Soviet territory, the State Department acknowledged an "intelligence flight over Soviet territory was probably undertaken. Herter's statements came in answer to congressional demands for more information though the department said "insofar as the authorities in Washington are concerned, there was no authorization for any such flight as described by Mr. Khrushchev."

Observers said the warning issued by Khrushchev was the minimum he could have issued under the circumstances, recalling the Soviet Premier's previous statement that such flights over the United States might have led to war.

Late News

Sen. John Kennedy of Massachusetts scored a smashing victory over Sen. Hubert H. Humphrey of Minnesota in the West Virginia primary Tuesday and headed closer to the Democratic presidential nomination.

His win knocked out claims that as a Roman Catholic, he could not win in a heavily Protestant state. Kennedy also got the highest number of votes in the Nebraska presidential primary but the listing of his possible victory was dimmed a bit by the withdrawal of Vice President Richard M. Nixon on the Republican ballot.

Sen. Lyndon Johnson of Texas has an edge over other presidential hopefuls for Alabama's votes at the Democratic National Convention as he is the number one choice among the 39 convention delegates elected in the May 3 primary election. Most of the delegates have made no public announcement of their preference, but of the 11 who have spoken, five picked Johnson with the remaining six being divided equally between Sen. Stuart Symington of Missouri and Sen. Richard B. Russell of Georgia.

The Triton, the huge gray submarine first to be powered by twin atomic reactors, showed Tuesday that it can circumnavigate the globe entirely underwater. When Triton surfaced off Delaware, it had completed a 41,500-mile submerged trip that began 83 days ago, and 10 hours and 45 minutes before. The Triton had retraced the course charted by Ferdinand Magellan 420 years ago. The commander, Capt. Edward L. Beach, was taken by helicopter from the Triton's deck and flown to the White House where President Eisenhower commended him and pinned on his tunic the Legion of Merit.

EAL Retains Only Two Daily Flights

Southern Now Has 11 Departures As CAB Makes Final Ruling

Local air travelers now are offered 13 departing flights with the deletion of two East-West Eastern Airlines flights effective last Tuesday at the Muscle Shoals Airport.

Passengers may choose from four flights daily to Atlanta, one of which originates at the local airport; three flights daily to Memphis; two to Nashville and two to New Orleans.

Leonard Layfield, Southern's local station manager, reported that passenger traffic and other phases of air travel picked up considerably during the second month of business for the Atlanta-based airway, as Southern boarded 442 passengers and de-planed 374 during the period, an increase of approximately 25 per cent.

Also increased was air mail handled during the period accounted for.

Southern began service locally February 26 after a tentative ruling in their favor by the CAB.

Senator Symington Speaks Out

Once again a prominent American has sounded off with respect to Republican waste and almost utter lack of economy in government. Senator Stuart Symington, whose criticism has always been accompanied with concrete suggestions for improvement, asks the question: "Can the United States maintain an adequate defense and at the same time the well-being of its own people without jeopardizing its economy?"

It is indeed a vital question and all Americans should ponder. It poses such a challenge to this maintaining of solvency in the face of such astronomical spending . . . that all of our skill in self-government and sound management is going to be taxed to the limit. Certainly all economies that are possible should be put in practice avers the Senator who adds, "From its beginning the Eisenhower administration has paid lip service to the concept of 'security with solvency' and as a businessman's administration, promised to conduct the affairs of government on an efficient, economical basis. Judged by its own criteria it has been a colossal and expensive failure."

We might point out without even pretending to be experts, that the Eisenhower Administration has made a big play to effect economies by slashing funds for essential programs in order not to interfere with its program of waste.

The Senator points out that "billions of dollars are being squandered that otherwise could be invested in the public facilities needed to keep abreast of our growing population. As a result, worthwhile programs from schools, dams, highways, medical research, etc., are dismissed by the administration as contributing to "budgetary imbalance (a high-sounding phrase)."

Referring to the government's colossal failure in its agricultural program Senator Symington has this to say: "Since assuming office in 1953 Ezra Taft Benson has spent more money than was spent by all previous Secretaries of Agriculture put together since the department was established in 1889. He has managed to do this without raising farm income or lowering food costs to the housewife. The farm problem has grown into what has been called 'the most critical, perilous, unresolved domestic problem facing the United States.'"

Benson, says Symington, does not understand the business operation of the typical family farmer who operates the great majority of farms in America. "The administration has followed the policy of lowering price supports on the theory this would reduce production. Any true understanding of the way farmers operate would show this has the opposite effect. Farmers have fixed costs—mortgage payments, farm machinery, installment payments and the like—most of which have increased with the cost of living and the cost of money. In order to meet these higher costs when price supports are reduced they must produce more."

"Why then did it happen?" Symington asks. "The unavoidable evidence is that the administration has stooped to play politics with the farm program time after time, has refused to impose meaningful production controls, and despite continuing criticisms by Congress, has never come up with a concrete program to correct the situation."

It is hard to disagree with Mr. Symington's reasoning.

It Could Be The End

This nation's survival is utterly dependent on the survival of the capitalist system. Unless our system of incentive and free enterprise is preserved we cannot escape eventually becoming an enslaved people in a police state. If this is an extreme statement we should look about us and reflect. Already there is a tremendous encroachment upon our economic as well as social liberties.

The Soviet Union plans a worldwide conquest of the free markets and her goods are now flowing into many corners of the globe while her money and technical experts are beginning to develop numbers of sub-standard countries as a means of bringing them into the Communist orbit. Red China likewise is making rapid strides economically by industrializing her enormous potential of both raw materials and labor.

But this is only part of the story. As this encroachment grows our world trade drops off and our factories cut production and even shut down for want of markets. World trade is one of the main arteries of the capitalist system and while it is true this nation is to all practical purposes self-sufficient, it cannot be cut off from the rest of the world and prosper.

Since 1945 the Communists have taken over half the world's area. This in itself is serious but more serious is our own lack of foresight. We have done far too little to promote capitalism. A Congressional committee recently reported that the Soviets have some five million agents working in 72 countries to destroy and undermine capitalism and establish Communism. In Cuba we see a Red regime taking over and in Uruguay we see the last vestiges of capitalism threatened by a Red-dominated government.

Instead of backing the Cuban people and seeing to it that they were protected we sat on the sidelines and allowed our next door neighbor to become a potential Red base . . . in case of war a place from which the enemy could operate with devastating effect. Our policy of non-intervention has lost us the goodwill of the nations "South of the border" where once we enjoyed their friendship. It is true we have a military pact of a sort to protect them in case of outside aggression but isn't it far more important to protect them from inside aggression?

How can we be so shortsighted? "Non-intervention has become the costliest word in the English language. It could spell the end to the capitalist system."

Veterans' Column State Dept. of Veterans' Affairs

Here is an important message for all veterans who are receiving compensation for a service connected disability of fifty percent or more, whether it be for wartime or peacetime service. If you're fifty percent or more disabled, you're entitled to additional allowances for your dependents—your wife, children or dependent parents. Whenever you have an addition or a loss in your family, you should notify the VA immediately. Even if you are receiving the full amount under the law for your dependents, if you should have another child, it certainly would not hurt a thing to notify the VA of this addition to your family by submitting a birth certificate and making it a permanent part of your records. By the same token, if there should be a death or divorce in your family, the VA should also be notified so that you may always receive the exact amount of compensation to which you are entitled. Sometimes, when a veteran fails to notify the VA of a change in his dependency status, it causes an overpayment—or an underpayment—either of which could prove to be quite bothersome.

EDWARD A. O'NEAL MEMORIAL FUND LAUNCHED—As a share in the proposed new Agriculture Hall of Fame building, the Edward A. O'Neal Memorial Fund has been established. The local committee is headed by Fred Moore and Harold May as co-chairmen. The first architect's drawing of the main shrine building of the Hall of Fame near Kansas City was submitted to the organization's Board of Governors at a recent meeting. Construction of the building, over 100 feet high, is expected to start this year at a total cost of $2,250,000. With more than 85,000 square feet of floor space, it will house the historical agricultural library, hundreds of exhibits and an auditorium to seat 350. Plans call for the administrative offices and a cafeteria to be included in this first building of the Hall which will be dedicated as a tribute to the agricultural industry. The local campaign for $500,000 in funds will be launched shortly, it was announced last week by the co-chairmen and L. T. Wagon, county agent.

Personality Sketches

W. H. CROMWELL

"Colonel Cromwell is the finest example of the civilian soldier that I know of," was the opinion expressed by a military man of long service. "As the organizer, trainer and leader of his National Guard units in two major wars, Colonel Cromwell gave inspiration to his men that few officers have exhibited," he added.

Recognized throughout North Alabama as "Mr. National Guard," Henry Cromwell has made a contribution to the military strength of the nation that has proven of inestimable value. The same integrity that he has shown in his long and illustrious military career is also found in his successful business career.

William Henry Cromwell, Jr., was born in Florence, in 1902, the son of William Henry and Mary Hewitt Cromwell. The elder Mr. Cromwell was in the drug business in Florence from 1898 until 1927. He attended the Model Training School of Florence State Normal College (FSC), later attending Coffee High. He attended Davidson College in North Carolina and was graduated in 1924 with a BA degree.

After graduation from college, Mr. Cromwell was employed for a year at The First National Bank of Florence, after which he took a course in pharmacy in Birmingham at a school which later became a part of Howard College.

Upon the completion of the course, he returned to Florence and was employed by Southall Drug Company for a short time before becoming connected with Gilbert Drug Company in Athens. He was married to the former Rebecca Gilbert, of Athens, in 1932. They have two daughters, Mrs. Brece (Joyce) Barley, of Albertville, and Ann Cromwell, who recently received a BS degree in home economics from Auburn University. There are four grandchildren.

In 1927, following the death of the elder Mr. Cromwell, Henry Cromwell returned to Florence to take over his father's business. In 1948 he purchased Milner Drug Company from Josie Milner and has operated this business since. This is the oldest business establishment in Lauderdale County, having been in operation continuously for 107 years.

Mr. Cromwell is a member of the Chamber of Commerce, member of the Florence Rotary Club and is a member of the Board of Directors of The First Federal Savings and Loan Association. He is a member of the American and Alabama Pharmaceutical Associations. He is a past commander of American Legion, Post No. 11, and during the time he held this position the Post reached its highest membership. He also is a member of Scabbard and Blade, honorary military fraternity.

While in college, Colonel Cromwell was very active in the ROTC and was commissioned a second lieutenant upon graduation, after which he was in the Army Reserve Officers Corp from 1924 to 1937.

In 1937, he was promoted to first lieutenant and later captain and at this time organized the local National Guard unit, known as the 106th Service Company, Medical Regiment, Alabama National Guard. (The unit was changed in 1940 to an engineering company.)

Colonel Cromwell was inducted into Federal service January 26, 1941, as a Major in the Corp of Engineers, Combat Regiment. The unit was first stationed at Camp Shelby, Miss., and then moved to Camp Claiborne, Louisiana. After Pearl Harbor, his regiment was ordered to service in Alaska and entrained for Seattle, Washington the day before Christmas. The regiment sailed for its station in Alaska on January 1, 1942, where Colonel Cromwell was stationed with his unit for two years being engaged in the construction of bases and air fields. He received his promotion to lieutenant colonel while there.

The unit returned to the United States in early 1944 and Colonel Cromwell was assigned to the training of a new battalion at Camp Pickett, Virginia, which was designated the 264th Engineering Battalion.

In November 1944, his unit sailed for England and then immediately proceeded to Luxembourg where he was assigned to Third Army headquarters. He served with the Third Army until the end of World War II and wound up in Munich with a unit maintaining roads, building bridges and prison camps.

He returned to the states in January 1945 and was released from active duty in January of the following year.

Colonel Cromwell then returned to his business and soon thereafter reorganized the local National Guard unit which was designated the 104th Anti-Aircraft Artillery Battalion, Alabama National Guard.

He was again called into Federal service in 1951 as part of the 31st Dixie Division and served with it throughout the Korean War, being stationed at Fort Jackson, South Carolina and Camp Atterburg, Indiana, during which time he also attended anti-aircraft school at Fort Bliss, Texas and took an atomic warfare course at Desert Rock, Nev.

Following this service and after the end of the Korean conflict, Colonel Cromwell returned to Florence and his business. At this time he became executive officer of the 142nd Anti-Aircraft Group, which controlled anti-aircraft units from Montgomery north.

Colonel Cromwell was promoted to a full Colonel in 1956 and will retire from the National Guard June 1 of this year, with a total of 33 active years of Army service to his credit.

He received the Alabama Distinguished Service medal in 1950, a well deserved recognition for his long, faithful and valuable contributions to the military service of the nation.

With retirement from military service so near, Mr. Cromwell plans to devote his full time to his business and place his extra energies in the service of his hometown.

Land Bank Will Give Scholarship

Applicant Must Be 4-H Or FFA Member And High Scholastic Ability

The Federal Land Bank of New Orleans is awarding a $1200 scholarship each year to an Alabama farm boy who enters the school of agriculture or the department of vocational agricultural education at Auburn University, announced L. N. Thompson, manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of Florence, Alabama.

To be eligible for a scholarship the applicant must be a member of the 4-H or FFA. He must rate in the upper 30 percent of his senior class and show leadership ability, Thompson says.

Thompson states that according to John L. Ryan, president of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans, the scholarship is being awarded to stimulate farm-trained youth to enter Auburn and to assist those boys, to obtain college degrees who might not otherwise be able to enter college.

The $1200 scholarship for the winner will be given at the rate of $300 per year for four years. Once a boy wins a scholarship he will continue to draw the yearly amount so long as he stays in the upper 30 percent of the school or department in which he is enrolled.

Thompson advises that interested boys should contact either the principal of the school, the county agent, vo-ag teacher, or the manager of the Federal Land Bank Association and request that an application blank be secured.

All applications are to be submitted to Auburn University, Auburn, Alabama.

WOULD YOU CHOOSE THE CEMETERY THAT DOES NOT ALLOW MONUMENTS?

The park plan cemetery permits only flush metal markers. Devoid of distinction, subject to corrosion, covered with leaves in the Fall and snow in the Winter, the family plot so marked is difficult to find, suffers from monotony. Moreover, for what it costs to mark the average non-monument cemetery plot with individual flat metal markers, you can purchase a beautiful monument of granite or marble.

SO WHY NOT THE BEST?

The Traditional Monument Cemetery

Most Americans select their family burial plots in traditional cemeteries that allow them the privilege of erecting a monument of marble or granite. Forever beautiful, always visible, it is not only an eternal tribute to the Dead, but an inspiration to the living.

THE SPILLWAY

WE DECK'D OUR fam'ly room with flowers
And we donn'd our Sunday best . . .
Then we sat thru lavish hours
Watchin' royal weddin' guests . . .

WE FELT A DISTINCT urge to spruce up for the nuptial event of Meg and Anthony on last Friday . . . but (truth to tell) we actually slouched in a family group . . . eyes glued to the Tee-Vee screen for two fascinating hours . . . thinking often of our readers and hoping that you . . . too . . . were viewing . . .

THE WORD 'ROYAL' (according to Webster) has a variety of meanings . . . and to us it means some of our own townfolk like . . . frinstance . . . Ann and Leo King . . . who departed our midst on Tuesday for New York . . . where they're presently mingling with the theatre-going throngs and from whence they'll sail come tomorrow (aboard the Independence) as upon their most recent European jaunt) for a two-months' travel spree on foreign soil . . . Their this-year's plans include a visit to the Holy Land . . . to Oberammergau where they'll see the Passion Play . . . and to many-MANY other dream-ed-of places . . . We eagerly await a detailed report . . .

OTHER FLORENCE 'ROYALTY' now travelin' afar includes Eula and Dave Coffey . . . who emplaned from New York on Tuesday for a ten-weeks' visit with the Dave Coffey, Jr., in Zevingdrecht, Holland . . . They'll return by boat . . . after glimpsing numerous beauty spots which have become common-place to both Muriel and Dave, Jr. . . .

NEXT-MONTH PLANS are in the making for Louise and "Simp" Johnson . . . who're foreseeing a Canada vacation . . . AND even farther-sighted are Cara and (Doctor) Bill Slaton . . . who have their eyes trained on the International Dental Association meeting in (we think) Stockholm, Sweden . . . They'll leave Florence in late Summer to be away for a two-months' period . . . touring the Grecian Isles . . . sojourning in Venice and ever-so-many-more places of Old World charm . . .

A HIGHLIGHT of the travel season . . . Melie and (the Reverend) Bing Summerell . . . will leave during the next few days for Scotland and a three-months' Exchange Ministry . . . They'll leave (that is) if the MUMPS (recently contracted by Paul) is not also contracted by (his poppa) Bing . . . who has so far escaped the swell-face disease . . . and who (as a precaution against exposure) is now registered at a down-town hotel . . . and there dinner dates each evening with (his wife) Melie . . . The best wishes of our entire community will attend this greatly-loved family on their interesting journey . . .

SEEN ON THE homefront . . . and looking distinctly regal in her foreign-built "miniature" . . . is teenager Ginger Turner whose new blond car is a delightful foil for her delightful blonde loveliness . . . Incidentally . . . (twas a Valentine gift from (the owner's mom and dad) Virginia and Alex . . . of 1111 Sorrento Road . . . and truly a hearts-and-flowers present . . .

ALSO OF HOMEFRONT interest is the garden of the Trousdale home at 501 North Walnut . . . where a rabbit's nest is attracting the young fry of the old home town . . . including Susan Mullins (daughter of Betty and Charles of 177 Sorrento Road) and Sam and Jim Pitts (sons of Lally and Newt, Jr.) of nearby 520 North Walnut . . . AND AT the home of Clarice and Clarence Batson on West Tuscaloosa . . . whole Garden Clubs are gathering to glimpse the beds of iris . . . They're really a MUST-SEE . . .

OUR REPORTER REPORTS . . . Evelyn and (Doctor) John Carter and (sons) Jeff and Tom and Mike are now domiciled in their sumptuous new home on Palisade Drive . . . lighting the countenances of (her mom and dad) Lucille and "Op" Oppenheim with a special glow . . . since they're all new residents of the same pretty section and not more than a half-block distant . . . THE DINNER CLUB is making plans for their Springtime soiree . . . a seated steak dinner at Florence G and C Club one week from tomorrow night . . . (Unhappy almost past a point are Jean Rogers and Mary Virginia Hardie and Audrey Northington . . . whose hubbies . . . Tom and Sammy and Al . . . will be on an out-of-town conspicuous making this six-some conspicuous by their absence . . .) OPERA lovers in Birmingham early this week included Julia Walker and Jo Penney and Louise Paxton . . . who were guests of (Julia-and-Jo's cousin) Carol Binford . . . AND WED like you to know that the fisher-geat photographed in the striking (please note our play on words) pose in the April issue of FIELD AND STREAM mag . . . illustrating a White River (Arkansas) article . . . is none other than our own townsman . . . A recent survey by a group of Federal agencies disclosed that hundreds of rural communities share the same problem as "depressed" urban areas. In each there was a surplus of labor for the jobs available.

The best market and price the woodland owner gets depends upon the size and type of tree, how far his woodland is from a mill or rail siding, the condition of the roads for trucking, an dthe ease or difficulty of logging the area.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

The Master's Touch

God must love beauty, to use it so lavishly. The Master Artist dapples the soft green leaves with golden sunshine, turns the brook to flowing crystal, and puts a song into Spring itself.

There is beauty in us, too . . . because He put it there. In His sight, none of us are ugly, none of us are forsaken, none of us are "lost."

But sometimes, in the busy process of day-to-day living, we turn blind eyes upon the world's loveliness, and take for granted the gifts which should brighten the hours and years. We need a faith that gives us vision to find again the inner beauty He gave us in the beginning . . . a gift which He never takes away. Let us go, then, to His Church. Let us "enter into His gates with thanksgiving . . . for the Lord is good; His mercy is everlasting; and His Truth endureth forever."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

Overgrazing Can Mean Lower Profit

The most serious pasture problem in Alabama is overgrazing. O. N. Andrews, Extension agronomist at Auburn University, says cattlemen should take a look at their management practices to see why their pastures are overgrazed. The specialist says that cows should not graze on a newly established pasture until winter grasses are from four to six inches high, and growing grasses have a well formed sod. Also, don't put too many cows on the pasture. One cow to the acre is a good number to work toward, but in most cases it is wise to allow more, adds Andrews.

Soil fertility is another key to overgrazed pastures. And if high yields are expected from pasture plants, annual fertilizers are necessary. Too, keep weeds down because they will take up the plant food.

Fat Sow Brings Small Litter Pigs

If mama pig eats too much, there won't be as many baby pigs in her litter, says Auburn Extension Pork Production Specialist G. B. Phillips.

In one test, gestating sows that were on good pasture and full-fed a well balanced ration farrowed only 7.6 pigs per litter. When one-third of the ration was withheld, a total of 8.8 pigs was farrowed. And when two-thirds of the feeding was withheld from another lot of sows, the litter size jumped to an average of nine pigs.

Of course, the right kind of feed is important for the mama and the unborn pigs, adds Phillips.

Tap Water Step To Modern Living

How much water does a family need?

Fifty gallons per adult per day is the average, says Extension Engineer Bill Cox. Explaining this statement, Cox says the 50 gallons will take care of laundry, kitchen, bath, and toilet for one adult. If there are babies under two years of age in the family, 100 gallons per baby per day will fill the need.

And since May has been proclaimed Water Systems Month, the wise homemaker would do well to check out the water system in her home. There are many added needs for water in the home of today, and your water system should take care of these in a modern, convenient way. If it doesn't see your county or home agent for new plans and information.

is spent every year on food by wholesalers, retail stores, and restaurants. And the U.S. Department of Agriculture says that each person in the country will consume an average of $400 worth of food this year.

In spite of the continuous rising cost of living and higher incomes, food prices have recently been stable. According to the USDA, these prices averaged only about two percent higher in January this year than in January, 1952. And other cost-of-living items have increased almost 15 percent during the same period. The average net income per person has increased 28 percent.

Accurate Records Mean More Profit

Alabama dairymen who keep accurate records make more profit.

According to Extension Dairyman Sam Jones, an average net profit of $100 per head was returned by Alabama dairy cows enrolled in the National Cooperative Dairy Herd Improvement Association last year. And the average Alabama dairy cow returned only $39. This $61 difference per cow shows that good management with record keeping is more profitable.

The Auburn University specialist says the DHIA record keeping systems help herd owners to cull low-producing cows, feed cows according to production, and select the best stock for breeding herd replacements.

CHOOSE RIGHT WALLPAPER FOR HOME, FURNITURE

Are you wallpapering your home this spring?

There is much to learn before choosing the right wallpaper for the right room, according to Extension Home Furnishings Specialist Alice Peavy. She says the type of paper should do as much as possible for the house, the furniture, and the family. And it should add to rather than detract from the room's appearance.

A room can be changed in more ways than one with new wallpaper. For example, light colors can brighten a drab room and small designs can make a small room look larger.

To be sure the family is going to enjoy a certain pattern of wallpaper, test it by hanging a strip on the wall for a few days, suggests the Auburn University specialist. This is especially important in the living room where the family spends so much time.

BOAT OWNERS MUST REPORT ALL ACCIDENTS

The Alabama Department of Conservation has issued a warning to boat owners of the state to submit boating accident reports as required by the State's new water safety law.

According to Tom G. Shackelford, Water Safety Chief, boatmen are not complying with the law that says all personal and property injuries involving boats be reported to the Conservation Department.

"Failure to comply with the regulation," says Shackelford, "carries a penalty on conviction of a fine up to $100 and costs."

Touring Farmers View TVA Works

Study Made Of Rural Communities, Facilities For Educational Activity

Agriculturists from 23 states outside the Tennessee Valley, about 150 persons, are participating this week in a farm tour sponsored by TVA and the Extension Service. The objectives of this tour are to introduce TVA experimental fertilizers and promote a more efficient use of fertilizer by farmers.

Being studied this year are farms, rural communities, and co-operative college-TVA educational activities in Alabama, Tennessee and Kentucky. The tour will cover Lauderdale and Limestone counties in Alabama; Hardin, Decatur, Henderson and Humphrey counties in Tennessee; and Graves and Calloway counties in Kentucky.

Opening the session Monday at the TVA fertilizer plant at Muscle Shoals was A. J. (Red) Wagner, TVA general manager, whose address dealt with the resource development phase of the TVA regional program.

To speak at the final session to be held at the Kentucky Dam Village State Park Friday will be C. M. Ferguson, Administrator, Federal Extension Service.
