The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● Last night, with the threat of World War III hovering over us, we went to the storage closet to try on our World War I uniform in order to be ready when the call came. The only thing that fitted was a khaki handkerchief. So, then, we turned to our uniform that we wore as commanding officer of the local State Guard unit during World War II. The only things that were of our size were the captain's bars we wore during that conflict. We thought the thing over seriously and decided we just wouldn't go to war at all.

● And we don't think war is imminent, anyway. Even a fool like Khrushchev knows better than to go the limit although he had pushed his luck a bit too far as of now. He has a lot of explaining to do to his own "subjects" first, such as: Why were not other spy planes shot down? Why was it that the spy plane was almost in one piece, instead of scattered over a wide area, when it struck the ground after a fall of more than 60,000 feet, as phony photos show? Why were not all the equipment, watches and jewelry damaged from such a fall? And many other questions the Russians are not too blind to overlook. Our belief is that Old Khrush is on the down grade and is grasping at a straw.

● Small children rapidly alternate between being a lump in the throat and a pain in the neck.

● At a cocktail party the other night, we are told, the participants were partaking of vodka, the favorite Russian drink. One of the guests remarked: "I never I don't understand how the Russians can be so nasty. Just two sips of vodka and I like everybody."

● A guest towel is what her hands do not need washing after all.

● A local farmer is reported to have called for the veterinarian to come out to his farm and examine his sick cow. "This here cow," said the farmer, "has spells when she can't get up for a day or two. What should I do?" The veterinarian examined the animal and then advised: "Next time she's up, sell her."

● The nice thing about a dull party is that you get to bed at a decent hour.

● According to the Providence (R. I.) Bulletin, Sir Charles Darwin (grandson of Charles Darwin) in an address at a Brown University convocation recently said: "In 1000 years there will be just about standing room for us." Commenting on this statement by the distinguished Britisher, Dr. Lee A. DuBridge, president of California Institute of Technology, said: "If there is standing room only, maybe the birth rate will go down."

● If you can't say something nice, don't say anything; if you can't think of anything to say, say something nice.

● A friend tells us that he took a visitor fishing with him the other day. His guest was a novice fisherman but he wanted to get some real thrills from the sport and took him for the occasion just below Wilson Dam. Immediately the experienced fisherman began reeling in sizeable catches by his guest who was having no luck. Finally, after some additional coaching, the new fisherman snagged one and became excited. His host told him to reel the fish in carefully so as not to lose it. When the fish finally broke water, it was seen that it was a very small size, too little to string. The excited fellow reeled in until the little fish was jammed against the end of his rod. "What do I do now?" asked the novice. "Cast again—you've got a nice bait," was the advice.

● Coincident with the sixth anniversary of the U. S. Supreme Court's integration decision the city of New Orleans has been ordered to desegregate its public schools next September. The order was given by U. S. District Judge J. Skelly Wright. The judge advised the school board of the Orleans Parish, submit a desegregation plan or "I'll have one for you." Figures For 1960 Census Not Official

Following is a letter to the Herald from Robert L. McCaleb, Census District Supervisor, Huntsville, revealing the unofficial population census figures for Florence and Lauderdale County.

"I take pleasure in making preliminary announcement of the population of Lauderdale County. The census count to date is: Lauderdale County-total - 61,398 City of Florence - 31,518

"These figures are believed to be substantially correct but are subject to revision after the returns for nonresidents are credited to their proper locality and other routine checks have been made. Although a significant revision is unlikely, minor revision may occur after careful examination of the returns. The official announcement of population will be made at a later date by the Director of the Bureau of the Census."

If there are any persons in the Florence area who were completely missed, that is who did not receive the official census form, or who received the form and did not fill it out, they are urged to write Robert L. McCaleb, Census District Supervisor, Second Floor Times Bldg., Huntsville, Alabama. This should be done at once as the office will be closed after May 31, it was stated.

While the census-taking has been completed, it is important that everyone be counted in the 1960 Federal Census.

The 1950 Government census showed Florence with a population of 23,879 and the county population at 54,179. A comparison with the figures just released would indicate a gain for Florence of 7,639 with the over-all county gain of only 7,219. This represents a loss to the county of some 420.

Minor revisions may be made after an official count is revealed though significant changes are unlikely, it was pointed out.

Courthouse-Jail Site Is Discussed

Birmingham Law Firm Making Study Of City's Old Boundary Lines

The Lauderdale County Building Authority met last week to discuss further the building site for the proposed courthouse-jail project and at that time it was announced by Chairman Doyle Young that the legal firm of Dumas, O'Neal and Hayes, Birmingham, is now preparing proceedings to determine whether or not the present courthouse site can be sold and if sold, used as a commercial site by the buyer.

Young, in discussing the matter, said, "They are making a study as to the definite location of the city boundary lines at the time the courthouse was located in Florence. We definitely want to be sure."

"If we move the courthouse location, say as much as three blocks, we must be sure it was in the zone located in the original municipal area," he continued.

The Birmingham firm is attempting to determine the original boundaries of Florence at the time the courthouse was built by checking the original City Survey Land Company map of the city.

Russell Cautions U. S. To Be Alert For War Danger

Continuing his denunciation of President Eisenhower, Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev said Wednesday the West would lose the right to maintain troops in Berlin when the Soviet Union signs a separate peace treaty with East Germany.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev became incoherent with rage Wednesday when newsmen booed his denunciation of the Western powers, particularly the United States. The Russian dictator said any more spy flights would lead to war. He had previously demanded an apology from President Eisenhower for the spy flight and also withdrew Russian invitation for the President to visit that country. He also stated that he would talk about the problem of German unification at a time of his own choosing.

On his way back to the Soviet Union Wednesday following collapse of the Summit Meeting Khrushchev was to address an East German Communist meeting.

With respect to the Summit deadlock both President Eisenhower and his British and French allies were completely disgusted. The American President planned to stay through Wednesday, returning home after a final meeting with both French President General Charles de Gaulle and Britain's Prime Minister Harold Macmillan.

A brief final statement by the three leaders of the West Wednesday night said they had "noted with regret that discussion so important for world peace could not take place."

The final Soviet statement blamed the West and said Premier Khrushchev was dealing only in preliminary issues and not summit problems. To the last Khrushchev said he would not meet with the West unless President Eisenhower apologized for the U-2 spy-plane incident and promised to punish those responsible.

Khrushchev refused to appear with the Western leaders for any final word before his departure for East Germany. Finally at 10:30 p.m. Tuesday the West issued a statement to the effect that the Summit was off.

Commenting on the critical situation Senator Richard B. Russell of Georgia declared Wednesday that collapse of the Summit Conference makes it urgent that the United States look to its defenses. He cautioned that Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev's "erratic action" might precipitate the horrors of a nuclear war.

"This country should make every effort to get its defense establishment in order and on the alert in order to repel and annihilate any aggressor," Russell said. Russell is chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee and a key figure in this nation's defense.

Citizens Donate Time To Literacy

Since April of last year, some 3,000 volunteer man hours and $5,089.60 was donated by citizens and organizations in the first year's program of the Muscle Shoals Literacy movement.

Making the program a success have been various civic clubs, labor organizations, city officials, educators, radio and TV stations, newspapers, churches, libraries and other firms and individuals.

There are eight TV classes in the Tri-Cities attended by 110 students three times a week, in addition to several smaller classes being taught person to person.

Included in the report were the number of students enrolled. A total of 142 white students and 53 colored have been enrolled during the year.

What About Foreign Aid?

People have remarked that the Administration is finally learning to stand on its own two feet and make decisions... meaning that Mr. Dulles' death left much to be desired and that merely having the well-meaning Mr. Herter rubber stamp the late secretary's foreign policies was not enough. It isn't, of course, that Mr. Herter lacks intelligence, it is just that he couldn't fill Mr. Dulles' shoes, for however wrong Mr. Dulles may have been at times he did make decisions that Mr. Eisenhower usually accepted as final. Now it is the President who is making the final decisions, something he was elected to do in the first place.

To Mr. Dulles' eternal credit he was an arch foe of Communism and every decision he made reflected it. Nobody knows what he would have done in the case of Korea, Cuba or Indonesia, but if his pattern of consistency had been followed it is not likely they would have been the same as those that were made.

In our own amateurish way let us look at what has happened and see if it makes sense. In Cuba our non-intervention policy, which was not the Dulles way, has paid off in disaster. Our friendly Cuban neighbors find themselves in the grip of a Red dictatorship which obviously nothing short of bloodshed can possibly dislodge. We could have prevented Castro's purge with a little firmness... but we didn't and so our own safety is now definitely jeopardized.

In Korea, conditions came to light too late for intervention if any had been intended. However the situation was not one that would or could have escaped the vigilant Mr. Dulles and this country would certainly have been alerted to the crisis.

In Indonesia we hand over $750 million without apparent strings which is tantamount to sending the Communists an invitation to come in and "share the wealth." That's a lot of money for a country that never had anything like that amount in its treasury but like a lot of other fantastically conceived gifts of cash this nation has tossed into the hopper abroad, it was no harder to give away than the others. The American taxpayer no longer has a right to say what is done with his money—it's "come easy... go easy" with the big boys whose snouts are in the treasury's trough.

In the past both parties have been guilty of draining this nation's cash away but if the Democrats want a real issue in the coming campaign this foreign aid business looks like really big artillery... provided it stems from a sincere desire to do something.

Vote For The Loyal Democrats

Again we think it well to point out the importance of supporting and voting for the ten Loyal Democratic Candidates for Elector on May 31. As you know they are: C. G. Allen, Dave Archer, C. L. Beard, J. E. Brantley, W. L. (Bill) Chenault, Karl Harrison, Bill Jones, William D. Partlow, Ben F. Ray and D. Hardy Riddle.

This slate of Loyal Democrats is opposed by ten who have made plain their willingness to deliver Alabama's electoral votes to Richard Nixon if they so desire and to deny Alabama voters in the November election the opportunity to say whether or not they wish their votes to be cast for the Democratic candidate for president.

These are serious times. The party in power has certainly demonstrated its almost complete inability to cope with either domestic problems or the seriously mounting crises in our foreign relations. It has gotten this nation still further in debt without hope of relief in the foreseeable future.

We have seen the Republican Party conceive, introduce and enact into law the infamous civil rights and force legislation of 1957 and 1960. They have proven themselves arch foes of the South by their vicious attack against the constitutional rights of the people... only the modifying amendments obtained by Southern members of Congress against overwhelming odds prevented the most vicious anti-South provisions of the bill from becoming law. This is the party the States Rightists candidates would surrender this state to and it is inconceivable that thinking people could do other than repudiate them at the polls.

RUFUS G. HIBBETT

"Rufus Hibbett exemplifies the type of citizen that makes a town a better place in which to live. Dedicated to the education of our youth, he has also found the time and exhibited the desire to serve his community as a public servant," is the observation of a fellow citizen.

"A leader in sports activities, in which he has served as a successful football coach, he continues to show his interest as a supporter of all phases of this youth developing program," he added.

Rufus Gleason Hibbett was born on a farm near Nashville, January 21, 1901, the son of Mrs. Mattie Carver Hibbett and the late I. K. Hibbett.

He attended public schools in Wilson County, later enrolling in Cumberland University in Lebanon where he received his BA degree. He received his Masters degree from Columbia University in New York and did graduate work at Peabody College in Nashville and Florence State College. Mr. Hibbett was married to the former Annie Lee Lester, of Alexandria, Tenn., August 24, 1923. Seven sons were born to this union: Rufus Hibbett, Jr., of Arcadia, Calif.; Dr. Lester H. Hibbett, George R. Hibbett and Ira K. Hibbett, all of Florence; Eugene P. Hibbett, who is a teacher of chemistry at Freed-Hardeman College in Tennessee; Barry K. Hibbett, a student in the University of Alabama School of Dentistry, and James T. Hibbett, a sophomore at Coffee High School. There are nine grandchildren, six girls and three boys. Mrs. Hibbett died in 1954.

Mr. Hibbett was married to the former Imogene Longshore Hovater in September, 1956. Mrs. Hibbett has one son, Lt. David Hovater, who is doing graduate work at a Navy school in Monterey, California. In September of 1923, immediately following his graduation from Cumberland, Mr. Hibbett came to Coffee High School as a science teacher and coach of athletics. He remained in this capacity for 22 years after which he served as principal of Florence Junior High School and then Coffee High. He resigned from the field of education for a short time

While a successful football coach at Coffee, he served as president of the State High School Coaches Association and also as president of the Lauderdale County Baseball League from 1948-1956. Mr. Hibbett organized the Alabama Tennessee Semi-Pro Baseball League and served as its president. Mr. Hibbett is a member of Popular Street Church of Christ where he is song director and has been an elder for many years.

An adopted son of the City of Florence, he has been a father in his educational, cultural, civic and religious growth since his residence, and continues to contribute effectively to its growth in these fields.

First Twenty Million Of School Fund Allocated

It will soon be school-building time all over Alabama.

The sound of buzzing saws and busy hammers will be ringing out from almost every county and school district. Modern, streamlined school buildings should be ready for use within months.

Already some $20 million in state funds has been allocated 59 county systems and 23 city systems. In addition, all 67 counties have received an outright grant of $50,000 each for capital outlay.

This is the start of Alabama's record-setting $100 million school construction program, which was authorized last summer by the Special Education Session of the State Legislature. All areas and all educational systems—elementary and high schools, colleges, universities, and trade schools—will share in the program.

By law, state funds are allocated by the Alabama Education Authority, of which State Finance Director Charles M. Meriwether is chairman.

First priority in the allocation of funds was given school boards facing extreme emergencies and primary emphasis placed on classroom construction. The authority postponed requests by several school boards seeking new gymnasiums as their top priority. Funds however have already been allocated for three schools recently destroyed by fire.

In most cases, county and city funds will be used to augment the state construction money. Thus, the state is able to come to the aid of many localities unable to construct new school facilities alone.

A number of school systems have received sizeable state grants to pay debt service on buildings constructed within the last three years, as provided by law. Included are city systems at Fairfield, $88,406; Florence, $80,427, and Tusculumbia, $76,554.

Among the institutions of higher learning to share in the building program is Florence State College $392,040 for a new science building, representing less than half the total cost.

Rehab Facility Open House Set

Many Types Training Provided For Physically Handicapped In Area

The Muscle Shoals Rehabilitation Facility, located at 1509 Huntsville Road in East Florence, is having "Open House" Friday, May 20, 1960, from 2:30 to 4:30 p.m. On that date the Facility will be in operation and the public will have a chance to see handicapped people at work, it was announced by Herman R. Todd, manager.

The Facility provides vocational and personal adjustment training for each client. The client is then placed in training for a specific employment objective. Training is offered in upholstery, furniture repair and refinishing, small electrical appliance repair, small motor repair, and repair of wheel goods such as bicycles and lawn mowers. The Facility provides each client with the necessary tools so that he may do a good job in training. Items to be repaired are furnished by the general public. A nominal fee is placed on each item that is brought to the Facility for repair. It is necessary for the public to work with the Facility if it is to operate successfully. Thus by helping the handicapped the public benefits.

Subcontract work is also being done at the Facility in soft drink crate repair. Other subcontract work from industry would be welcomed. The Facility has a good set of power and hand tools and is in a good position to serve industry, as well as the general public. Subcontract jobs could serve a dual purpose in that they would be providing employment for handicapped clients so they may become taxpaying citizens instead of exhausting our tax dollars.

The Facility is answering a great need in the Muscle Shoals area—that of training the handicapped in this area for employment.

The Facility is sponsored by the Lauderdale and Colbert County Societies for Crippled Children and Adults, Inc. The Lauderdale and Colbert County Chapters of the United Fund are contributors to the Facility. The State Vocational Rehabilitation Service is placing clients in the Facility for training. Various individuals have also contributed in numerous ways.

The general public is invited to attend the Facility for this occasion.

The 1959 Alabama Legislature provided more pay for each classroom teacher for the current school year than any other Southern state except one, Louisiana.

While the many excellent classroom teachers in the Alabama public schools may not be paid as well as their training, experience and service and the dedication of their lives to improving our youth deserve, nevertheless Alabama school boards have done well in comparison with other Southern states in providing for Alabama classroom teachers an average annual salary of $3,745.00, according to a research report just completed by the Legislative Reference Service and released at the direction of the Legislative Council. This figure is higher than the total average classroom teacher pay in Georgia, Kentucky, Arkansas, South Carolina and Mississippi. It now appears that in spite of possible pro ration of appropriations from the Special Educational Trust Fund, all schools will operate a full term this year and all teachers in Alabama schools will be paid in full.

Alabama school teachers are not employed by the State nor by the State Board of Education, but by the local boards of education of the various cities and counties. The Legislature appropriates money out of the Special Educational Trust Fund which is distributed by the State Board of Education among the local boards to assist them in the operation of their schools and the payment of their teachers.

The Alabama Legislature provides most of the teacher pay with only "token" support from local funds in most instances. The research report shows that Alabama classroom teacher pay (averaging $3,745.00 per year) comes 88.36% from State funds, or a total state contribution of $3,309.08 per teacher. Only Louisiana exceeds the Alabama state contribution. It provides 75% of an average salary of $4,860 or $3,645 per teacher. The State of Florida provides only $2,783.82 per teacher.

The teachers who have already achieved status under Alabama's Teacher Tenure law and begun to build up an equity under Alabama's Teacher Retirement System, should think twice before considering glittering prospects in another state. Alabama's Teacher Retirement System is supported annually by contributions matched by legislative appropriations sufficient to make it actuarially sound. The teacher is assured that the money will be available to pay her when she retires. On the other hand, some states do not have actuarially sound systems. For example, Florida's teacher retirement system is not a funded system and cannot possibly pay the retirement benefits that will become due unless the Florida Legislature appropriates each year an increasingly large amount to cover the annual deficit predicted by the actuaries who have studied Florida's retirement.

Crime In Nation Seen On Increase

Remove Much Of Cause By More Stringent Enforcement Of Laws

By EDGAR J. HOOVER
Director, F.B.I.

Juvenile "rumblers," vengeful underworld slayers, and daily violence are a blight upon our Nation's morals.

Tragically, the fist fights of yesterday between young brawlers on the street corners have turned into shooting, knife-slashing, bloody battles which leave the bodies of youthful gang members crumpled in the gutters and alleys. It has become almost commonplace also to read in the newspapers of everyday citizens who have fallen victims to concealed weapons drawn by hoodlums in fits of anger, drunkenness, bravado, or greed. Many swagging racketeers consider a hidden gun to be part of their role as "tough guys," and too many hoodlums throughout every level of the underworld attempt to mimic their "big brothers" of crime by sneering at laws prohibiting the carrying of concealed weapons. These cowardly wielders of death-dealing instruments constitute a real menace to unsuspecting, law-abiding citizens.

The appalling number of murders, robberies, aggravated assaults and other crimes of violence committed daily in this country are an index to the number of deadly weapons which are carried by criminals and irresponsible, unauthorized individuals.

A typical case recently came to my attention. A man in a southwestern state was arrested for drunkenness and carrying a pistol. He was fined $100 and costs. Some time later he drew another concealed weapon, a knife, and stabbed to death a person with whom he was arguing. Convicted of murder, he was sentenced to a five-year prison term, but was released in 30 months. One week after being released, he drew a concealed .32 caliber automatic pistol and shot to death his second victim. In explaining why he was carrying a gun, he cold-bloodedly stated, "I don't like being pushed around."

"Powder-puff" treatment in the courts in two instances had done nothing to affect this killer's attitude toward law and the preciousness of human life.

If, in this day of violence and sudden death, we can remove at least one cause of such tragedies, we can take a giant stride forward in eliminating this menace from the American scene. Not until we have stringent enforcement of the laws relating to the unauthorized carrying of concealed weapons by persons with evil intent and realistic prison terms meted out by the courts will we see the terror in our streets diminish. The time for insignificant fines and the mere confiscation of weapons as punishment for carrying concealed instruments of death is past. Crimeinals and others who would live by the gun smirk at small fines as merely a token price for the "privilege" of carrying a concealed weapon.

It is time to decide whether we will surrender to wanton lawlessness or whether we will stand resolutely for law and order.

Continuing on the roster since its beginning are Alberta Rogers and Marguerite Hackworth and Mary Balles... and warmly welcomed on this occasion was another charter member and onetime Florentine... Adele Blackwell... who is presently a-visiting in our midst and was the inspiration of a backward look... A first year-book... now a keepsake of Alberta... was displayed... and nostalgic memories came thick and fast as contents were noted and the frontispiece (sketched by our town's artistic Corinne Tuthill) was glimpsed...

ALSO OF INTEREST was last week's meeting of another several-years-old literary organization... the Firenze Club... A more cosmopolitan group we think we've BUT NEVER hobnobbed in... with much-traveled Edithen Speake as the afternoon's hostess... Miriam Wood (native of Uruguay)... a recently-acquired member... Louise Delony there as a guest speaker... and delighting one and all with a recount of her last-summer's travels in EIGHT foreign countries... and other guests including Nina Barr... who comes to us straight from England... and Lula Massey... who spent a recent year in around-the-world travels and is even now making extremely interesting travel plans... plus longtime member Elizabeth Edwards... whose journeyings of a few years back are of continued interest to us all...

OPERA NOTES FROM last week's two exquisite days in Birmingham were highlighted for Florentines who recognized Mignon Dunn... beautiful mezzo-soprano of "Andrea Chénier"... as a sister of (Florence's) Sissy Benson of 2166 McBurney Drive... ANOTHER highlight was the lovely group picture of opera-lovers which we chanced upon in Wednesday (a week ago) morning's B'ham P-H... in which we glimpsed two familiar faces... those of our district's Mary Wallace Kirk and Nashville's Marguerite Martin (in whom we continue to claim part-ownership)... as they chatted with the Met's Norman Scott...

CONGRATS ARE IN order at 459 North Court Street... where Sue and Madding King marked their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary on Wednesday soir (the 11th)... A complete surprise to the bride and groom (of the mid-thirties) was the VERY complete party hosted in their honor under their very own roof by a thoughty group of friends... with flowers (sweetheart roses predominating) and simply sumptuous food (including a wedding cake decorated in the selfsame blossoms) brought in during the honorees' (lured-away) absence... "Conspirators" wore their best bib-and-tucker outfits of the 1935 era (brought from attic trunks... et cet) and a much-fun time was had by all...

OTHER LAST-WEEK festivities of note... Marguerite Jackson's invitation to luncheon and cards at the Florence Golf and Country Club on Friday... and the surprise housewarming which warmed both the house AND the HEARTS of Evelyn and (Doctor) John Carter on Saturday eve... Marguerite's courtesy was in honor of her delightful houseguest... Jerry Stewart... who with (hubby) Earl is returning to her home in the Windy City following a vacationing spree in the Sunshine State... AND Evelyn-and-John's "warming" was hosted by a dozen or more couples of good friends... and inspired (of course) by their new abode...

OUR REPORTER REPORTS that... "Twas off to Birmingham Saturday for Margaret and Wilbur Darby... who were among the thrills at the Indian Springs Glee Club Concert... OLIVIA Roulhac is being guested by (her son... Doctor) George Roulhac and Polly in St. Louis... where she was present on Tuesday for the confirmation in St. Peter's Episcopal Church of (her gran-chile) Dudley... NAN Collier will a-travelin' go to be in Knoxville next weekend for the Hi School graduation of (her granddaughter) Ginger Collier... ANY AND Dick Smith will hie themselves to Nashville on the 27th to be present at dear ole Vandy for the SIXTIETH reunion of the Class of 1900 (Dick's)... AND there's a buzz of activity at 716 Olive... where Mary and Oscar Lewis are readying for the late-this-month arrival from Summit, N. J., of Marie and (their son) Bo... who'll spend a fortnight in our midst...

A TIP OF THE Madam's bonnet goes to Burr Bassel Jr., teen-aged golf-playing son of Nita and Burr of 614 Riverview Drive... who reached the championship flight in competition in Birmingham recently... AND to Bill Brown... teen-aged tennis-playing son of Patti and (Doctor) Harry of 418 Riverview Circle... who has been made manager of the U of the South (Sewanee) tennis team...

AND NOW... CHEERIO and goodby... until more news comes through The Spillway...

C Of C Requests Reinstatement Eastern Flights

In a letter signed by C. Hewlett Jackson, manager of the Florence Chamber of Commerce, the Chamber asked the Civil Aeronautics Board to order Eastern Airlines to reinstate a morning North-South service to Birmingham and Montgomery, and emphasized that "the present two flights daily of Eastern, one North, one South, both in the afternoon, do not adequately serve our community's needs."

The Florence Chamber of Commerce has been an intervening party in the recent Southeastern Area Local Service case which resulted in Eastern Airline's East-West service at Muscle Shoals being suspended by the CAB.

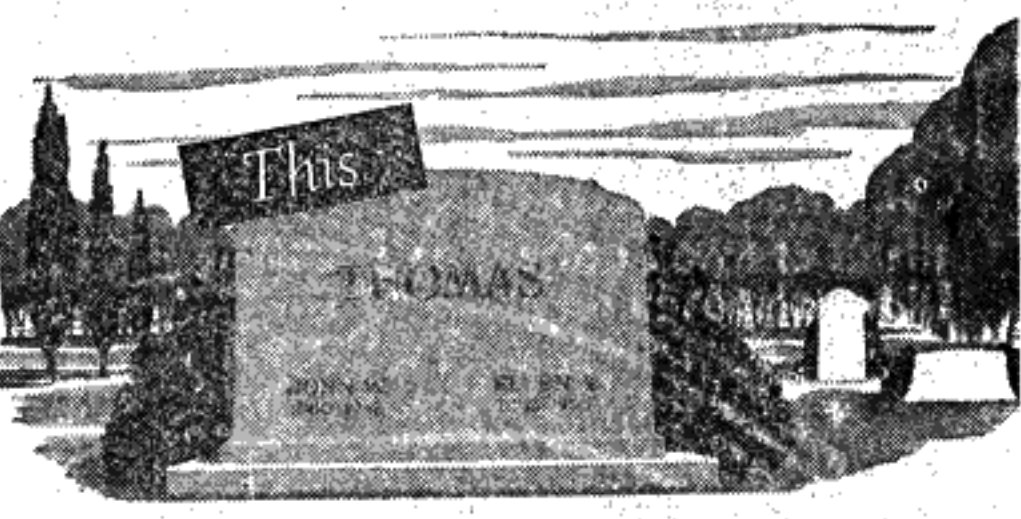

Southern Airways now has 11 daily departures from the local airport but no service to Birmingham.

WOULD YOU CHOOSE THE CEMETERY THAT DOES NOT ALLOW MONUMENTS?

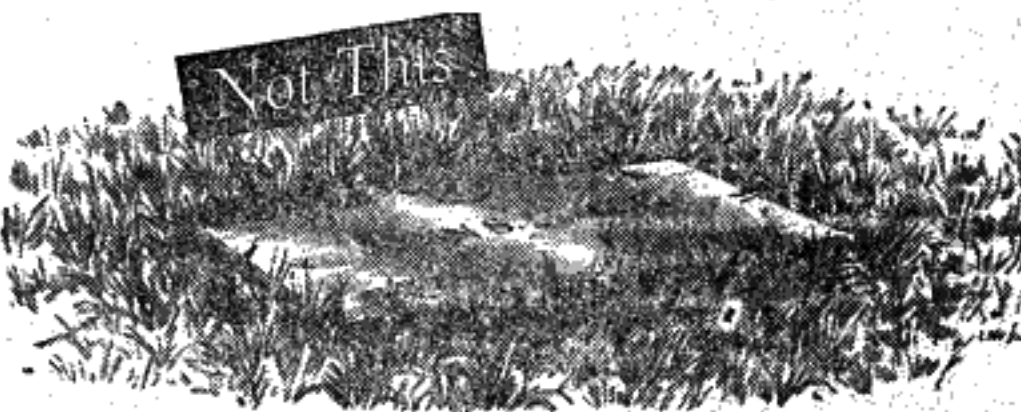

The park plan cemetery permits only flush metal markers. Devoid of distinction, subject to corrosion, covered with leaves in the Fall and snow in the Winter, the family plot so marked is difficult to find, suffers from monotony. Moreover, for what it costs to mark the average non-monument cemetery plot with individual flat metal markers, you can purchase a beautiful monument of granite or marble.

SO WHY NOT THE BEST?

The Traditional Monument Cemetery

Most Americans select their family burial plots in traditional cemeteries that allow them the privilege of erecting a monument of marble or granite. Forever beautiful, always visible, it is not only an eternal tribute to the Dead, but an inspiration to the living.

Judge Hill Talks To Exchange Club

"Children And Youth In Trouble" Subject Of Instructive Address

Judge Robert M. Hill of the Eleventh Judicial Circuit was the guest speaker before the Florence Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon. Frank Mosier had charge of program arrangements and presented Judge Hill.

The distinguished jurist, who has made a mark for himself and his home community in youth guidance, centered his remarks on "Children and Youth in Trouble" and cited the several White House Conferences and the subject matter discussed at each as the basis for his remarks.

Judge Hill said that the sum-total of the discussions at these important meetings point the finger of blame for juvenile delinquency to the "moral sickness of their elders" and the poor example set by parents for their children. He said that with only three per cent of our youth is there anything wrong and only with one per cent will there be serious trouble. With 97 per cent of our youth well behaved and certain to grow into useful citizens, it is necessary that we center our attention on the three per cent on the fringe area who cause the trouble," the speaker pointed out.

"With the parents of these three per centers leaving the training of their youth to the schools, churches and various agencies, it can be seen that the loss of guidance in the home is the trouble spot. This has been caused, to some extent, by prosperity and the rapid increase in population but more likely from the loss of the sense of responsibility of the parents," Judge Hill stressed. Poverty and broken homes contribute much to this problem, also, he said.

Judge Hill said that it appears that the trouble begins with the youngsters between the ages of five and 14 who find their inspiration and entertainment from the TV thrillers. The bad influence of many programs on TV is carried on into later years, it was shown. J. Edgar Hoover, Judge Hill said, recently said: "More juvenile criminals are being created today that jails can be built to house them and to check this trend better tools to meet the growing threat are needed." The tools needed, Judge Hill said, are more and better schools, additional playgrounds with proper direction and planned entertainment for all youngsters that will take their minds off of things not productive of good citizenship.

The courts, Judge Hill said, are accused of being too soft and this may be justified to some extent. However, the need for a Family Court and a proper youth correction act passed by the state legislature would be a good starting point to cure some of the ills, Judge Hill stressed.

Leadership in all phases of youth guidance is badly needed and without the development of such leadership the correction of our children and youth in trouble problem can not be solved," Judge Hill concluded.

Guest of the club was Robert Holloway.

Salvation Army "Good Samaritan"

Family Of Five Left Stranded By Motorist Provided With Bus Fare

Scarcely a day passes but some unfortunate soul is the recipient of aid from the Salvation Army and a few days ago was a family of five, left stranded and penniless by a motorist who had picked them up in Indiana after promising them transportation to Ft. Worth, Texas.

This was not a family of bums but really nice people down on their luck and when interviewed by Captain Wesley Mott they were getting mighty hungry, especially the kids. After ascertaining the facts, Captain Mott provided them with a night's lodging, a good meal and bus fare to Ft. Worth for the wife and three small children, notifying the wife's sister in Texas to meet them on arrival. The husband, grateful that his family was safely on their way preferred to hitch-hike in the hopes of finding employment.

Captain Mott, who is making an excellent record with the local Salvation Army Corps, says, "It's all in a day's work." Those who know the Captain and his small force know that it is more than that, that an understanding of people's needs and an ability to make quick decisions account for the efficient manner in which the work is conducted.

Every dollar of the Salvation Army, which is an agency of the United Fund, is closely budgeted and used for a specific purpose. Army personnel is especially trained to do this since it is dependent upon the generosity of the public for its existence as an agency exclusively devoted to helping the needy.

Salvation Army Week is May 22-29 and in conjunction with the observance of this event and the Salvation Army's 80th Anniversary, Captain Mott has announced that various luncheon clubs will be contacted and educational literature distributed pointing up the Salvation Army's importance to the community.

Bride-Elect Honored:
Two pretty social events of last week complimented a popular bride-elect, Miss Nancy Lou Elkins, in the homes of Mrs. Hudson Covington and Mrs. Helen Waddell.

Mrs. Covington entertained on Saturday evening at her home with a gift tea.

The honoree wore pastel blue with white and with her mother, Mrs. James Elkins, and Mrs. John Ritter, the bridegroom elect's mother, greeted the numerous guests who called during the evening.

Multicolored floral arrangements decorated the spacious Covington home for the event.

Miss Doris Norton kept the guest register.

Presiding at the beautifully appointed refreshment table were Barbara Ritter, Janet Crowe and Judy Fuqua.

Assisting with the party were Mesdames Helen Waddell, Ed Norton, Henry Johnson and Ernest Peck.

On Thursday evening Mrs. Helen Waddell entertained at her home with a lingerie shower for Miss Elkins.

Arrangements of spring flowers and specimen irises were used in the reception rooms.

Numerous games and contests were enjoyed before the gifts were opened.

Miss Cora Sue Waddell, Rebecca June Tucker and Mary Lou Waddell assisted the hostess in serving a delicious party plate.

Newcomer Welcomed:
On Wednesday afternoon and again in the evening friends of the George Blackburns called to see their new daughter, Annette, whom they have adopted. Annette is three months old and arrived in the Blackburn home on Tuesday.

Many gifts were brought by the callers from the Baptist Church, neighbors and friends from Wheel-er Dam.

The proud father and adopted brother, Tommie, who is five years old, were passing out cigars.

The callers enjoyed refreshments during their visit.

Garden Club:
Mrs. Bob Waddell was host to the Rogersville Garden Club when it met on Thursday evening.

The devotional was given by Mrs. Walter Ingle.

Mrs. Reynolds Thornton was in charge of a most interesting program on primroses in which she gave the history of their appearance in America and other fascinating facts which make one take a second look at the splashes of color on the roadsides and know that once it was to spill its beauty in royal places only.

The peasants came into the possession of plants and finally it got to America with the early settlers and indeed it was a necessary plant since its use includes its leaves being used in puddings for an unusual flavor, for medicinal purposes, an attar of primroses for miladies' toilettries and into a cream for keeping the skin soft.

Mrs. Thornton assisted Mrs. Waddell in serving a dessert course.

When it comes to SKIMMING OFF THE CREAM yourself, you just can't come to a better place than FIRST FEDERAL. No wonder over 10,000 people have accounts here. (Hope you're among them.)

Q. Why don't we have stockholders?

A. This association was founded only to encourage thrift and benefit savers. Having no stockholders, we give our savings account holders ALL its dividends.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

FOUR STRINGS

Only four strings! But these four strings offer endless possibilities of tone and harmony. They open to man new horizons of beauty and happiness.

And yet, improperly played, these four strings can bring forth unbelievable discord!

There are four strings in life — with similar possibilities. Mind . . . Character . . . Courage . . . Faith!

The truths that fill our minds, the ideals that mold our character, the purposes to which our courage is given, the realities in which we believe; these can fill our lives with rich beauty and happiness or drab ugliness and sorrow.

For centuries the Church has been the maestro of these strings of life — helping men to bring from their own souls the harmony and beauty God has put there.

You can find music in everyday living through participation in the work of the Church.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It's not what a 2-4-D costs—but what it controls that counts. More farmers buy and rely on Esteron 99—for they find it's too costly to experiment with less-known brands. Tests show it's extra effective and easy to apply... doesn't foam... mixes easily in hard water, and sprays evenly. A single gallon covers many acres—an extra bushel an acre more than pays the cost. Best Time To Harvest Seed

Alabama farmers will harvest seed this spring that they will plant next fall, says Auburn Extension Agronomist Melvin Moore. And the harvesting job they do will determine the quality seed for next year's crop, he adds.

Still, there are no cut-and-dried rules to follow in harvesting seed. Nevertheless, Moore offers the following advice: Crimson clover seed are ready for harvest when three-fourths of the seed heads have turned brown and the seed strip easily from the stem. And fescue can be harvested when most of the seed have passed into the hard dough stage and are purplish in color.

Moore says it is best to harvest rescue when it is in the medium dough stage and white clover when about 75 percent of the seed in the second set of blooms are in the hard dough stage. And small grains such as oats are not ready for harvest until most of the kernels have passed the hard dough stage.

Lice, Mites Retard Chick Production

Lice and mites can beat you out of your family's Sunday dinner. That is, they work day and night sucking the blood of chickens, and this tends to lower egg production and can possibly cause death for the birds.

According to Extension Poultryman J. R. Hubbard Jr., wise poultrymen check their chickens and chicken houses in order to get rid of the pests. First, they remove old pens out actually in use because these just make hiding places for mites. Then poultrymen clean their pens, spray them with a disinfectant, and screen openings to keep out wild birds.

The Auburn University specialist says lice and mites are controlled by treating chickens with five percent malathion or one percent rotenone dust. He says your county agent will give you details for applying the treatment.

WILD ONION PASTURES RESULT IN ONION BEEF

Beef for the freezer sometimes has a built-in onion flavor.

Extension Meats Marketing Specialist Ray Cavender says some farmers keep beef cattle in a pasture where wild onions grow. And when the calf is slaughtered for the home freezer, "onion beef" is the result.

To avoid this off-flavor, producers can take cows off the onion pastures and give them dry feed for about 10 days before they are processed, says Cavender.

Farm Bureau To Pick State Queen

Winner To Compete At November Convention; May Be Single Or Married

Farm Bureau "Queens" from many counties are expected to compete for the state title in a contest that is different from most in that the nominees may be either single or married.

John H. Dorrill, Jr., staff adviser of the Alabama Farm Bureau Young Peoples' Committee, said rules for the Farm Bureau Queen contest, Talent Find, and Talk Meet had been sent to all county organizations and that local Queens would be named at many county meetings this Summer.

State winners in each event will be selected during the annual Alabama Farm Bureau and Home Demonstration Club convention in Mobile Nov. 13-16. They will be awarded trips to the American Farm Bureau convention in Denver, Col., a month later.

"Our Farm Bureau Queen contest is more than a beauty contest," said Dorrill. "Contestants must be not less than 17 nor more than 30 years of age—the age brackets of our Young Peoples' organization—and may be married or single.

"Of course, beauty will be an important consideration, but not the only one. Contestants also will be judged on personality, poise, and Farm Bureau activities. They must be members of Farm Bureau families. Purposes of the contest are to promote and publicize the Farm Bureau program, encourage participation in FBYP activities, and give recognition to outstanding Farm Bureau girls and young women."

The Talent Find and Talk Meet are designed to recognize and develop special talents of rural young people, encourage leadership, self-expression, education and promote better business relations for agriculture. Individuals or groups of not more than five may enter the Talent Find.

A nut pick should have a place in every kitchen. It may be used to remove corks, to punch holes in sifting cans, to untie hard knots, and to clean seams in cooking utensils. Also, cherries or small pickles may be easily removed from their containers with a nut pick.

Avoid Accidents With Power Mower

Imagine what would happen if a person were struck by a steel blade traveling 150 miles per hour! And most power lawn mower blades travel that fast.

Extension Engineer J. T. Gaillard says carelessness in using the power mower can cause many accidents both in town and on the farm. Mowers can throw sticks, stones, or other objects at high speeds. And when these objects hit people, they can cause serious trouble.

Following the advice of the manual that comes with the mower is what the wise operator does, states Gaillard. It is better to mow a clean yard that is free of stones, wire, and other debris. And the operator must not lag behind or the machine will have control of him.

Gaillard also says it is dangerous for children or pets to play around a mower while it is in operation. Too, gasoline on a hot engine will cause a fire or an explosion, so it is wiser to put the fuel in before the motor runs.

Cotton Hurt By Prolonged Cold

Prolonged cold weather during the earlier weeks of this month has resulted in a situation where many Northeast Alabama farmers are forced to plant cotton over again.

Much of the cotton planted previously in Lauderdale, Colbert, Lawrence and Franklin counties must now be planted over, according to farm leaders who indicated that the normal planting time for this area is between April 1 and April 30, which means that for those who must replant, they will be a month late.

This means a shorter growing season and a later harvest which usually tends to lower grades, it was stated.

According to agricultural reports, the local situation is prevalent throughout much of the South.

The recommended time for planting cotton in Lauderdale is April 15 to May 1, but many farmers do not plant before May 10.

Edwin Abramson, who farms in the Cloverdale area, stated that the dry weather hadn't hurt row crops much, but had retarded grain and pastures to some extent. He further stated that due to the cold, neither cotton nor corn was germinating in the ground.

"FREEZE-DRY" METHOD OF PRESERVING MEATS

Someday homemakers will be able to keep their meat in a cabinet rather than in the refrigerator.

According to Extension Meats Marketing Specialist Ray Cavender, water is removed from the meat through a process called "freeze dry." The meat retains its original shape and is protected against spoilage bacteria. When water is added, the product again looks like frozen meats of today and has a comparable flavor.

Priced above the average homemaker's grocery budget, such processed products will not be available soon. Nevertheless, further research is being done to cut down the cost of "freeze drying" meats, and shoppers should be on the lookout for them, says Cavender.

ALABAMA SURGEONS TO MEET MAY 25-26

The Alabama Surgical Section of the United States Section of the International College of Surgeons will hold its annual meeting at the Hotel Stafford in Tuscaloosa on May 25-26, it was announced by Dr. T. V. Caldwell, Huntsville, state president.

LET THE HERALD PRINT IT!

Record Supply Of Meat Is Forecast

Americans will be eating 159 pounds of meat per person in 1960. This is 30 pounds more than the annual rate before World War II.

Auburn Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones says meat production this year is expected to equal or exceed the record breaking output of 28 billion pounds in 1956.

And there will be more people to consume the meat this year, declares the specialist. In fact, the nation's 180 millionth consumer will be born during 1960. This means the production record may be broken, but the per capita consumption peak of 166.7 pounds, established in 1956, will not be equaled.

The livestock and meat industry will strive to assure economic stability through a nation-wide program of meat research, education, information, and promotion.

Subscribers and Their Family Household Members

This outstanding policy will help to pay those unexpected expenses for bodily injury—whether simple or serious—when accidents strike without warning at work, on the farm, at home, at school, at play, or while traveling. Here is a modern, practical, essential and economical personal accident policy prepared to give the best possible protection at the lowest possible cost that will fit the pocketbook of every family.

Each member of the family—man, woman and child—regardless of age, residence, occupation or activity—is constantly exposed to accident hazards "around the clock" and "around the calendar" and should have this valuable and helpful protection which is now available through this newspaper because of the serious accident situation which exists everywhere today. Subject to the policy provisions, it includes indemnity for Loss of Life, Loss of Limb, Loss of Sight, Total Disability, First Aid, Ambulance, Hospital and X-Ray.

The policy is issued without medical examination. There are no age limits (specific loss and total disability indemnities are reduced fifty per cent (50%) when the insured is or becomes age 70 and over.) It costs only $5.00 per person per year, plus a first-year only registration fee of $1.00. This averages but slightly more than a penny a day for protection everyone needs and can afford to pay. It is issued by Old Republic Life Insurance Company, Chicago, Illinois.

Announcing GREENVIEW'S COMPANION FAMILY BURIAL ESTATES

GARDEN OF THE CROSS UNDER DEVELOPMENT

DEEDING a companion Burial ESTATE including a Beautiful companion Memorial with the family protection Certificate covering all Unmarried Children from age 1 thru 21. Family Life has changed in the last decade when most families were largely living in rural areas. Children married and continued life in a nearby Community. Cemetery plots were usually acquired in large family lots in church yard properties. Today, this property has become undesirable in most cases because the modern family has become scattered making it almost impossible to render the needed care for the property. We believe that this modern plan is the best solution to this very important family problem.
