

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

• We can't understand why practically every time we have a pair of trousers cleaned that it is returned with the waistband shrunk a fraction of an inch. Cleaners should be more careful.

• The second in the series of "Great Debates" has come and gone—and, really, it left us cold. Both Kennedy and Nixon were able to answer the more important questions with a lot of words with little meaning and, although each took definite pokes at the other, there were few scars left. We might add, however, that Mr. Nixon's health (?) seems to have improved—or so his appearance would indicate.

• We find ourselves in a most disconcerting position. For instance, we are very fond of people who agree with us—and of food that does not.

• At a recent press conference granted by the Republican presidential nominee, the questioning was based on the plight of the farmers. In an attempted answer, Mr. Nixon, with a slip of the tongue, suggested that the way to cure the distressing situation was to get rid of the farmer. Although the Vice-President quickly corrected his error, there were some present who later admitted that this would really solve the farm problem although the method would be a bit drastic.

• The woman who constantly interrupts a man's conversation either is already married or never will be. We could cite a recent example as Exhibit "A".

• We have always believed—and said publicly—that political platforms mean little or nothing to us. They allow delegates to spout off at conventions and candidates to expound on the stump but actually all they are good for is for one party to stand on and the other to jump on—and vice versa.

• Production would probably skyrocket if every man worked as hard as he tells his wife he does.

• In a heated conversation the other evening—about politics, of course—we listened to two good citizens cut each other to pieces on their stands on the coming presidential election. Both shouted their principles and their feelings as both grew angrier by the minute. We could not keep from questioning their behavior as we knew, for certain, that neither took the time nor cared enough to cast a ballot in the recent municipal election. Failure to vote in every election is just one of our pet peeves.

• A football upset actually describes what's wrong with the stomach of the losing coach.

• We can't prove it but are told that a few days ago a gentleman walked up to a certain desk in a certain bank and inquired politely: "Are you the Loan Arranger?" The man behind the desk replied, just as politely: "No. Me Tonto."

• We don't like to think about it but death is nature's way of telling you to slow down.

• Jewell Archer, owner of the old N. C. Elting property which is being leveled to make way for a new business structure, advises that the Hood Tire Exchange, for whom the new building will be erected, will operate strictly an auto tire business and no provision is being made for a filling station. We are assured by Mr. Archer that the structure will be a most attractive one and this we are glad to hear.

• Most stuck-up people are content to keep their thoughts glued on themselves.

• Charged, with public drunkenness, the prisoner was brought before Judge Beverly Boushe, of Memphis, recently. "How do you plead?" asked Judge Boushe. "I only want to plead half guilty," was the defendant's brilliant answer. "I was only half drunk," he added. "Okay," replied the judge. "Then I'll make it half a fine. That'll be $25 instead of $50."

• The trouble with political jokes is that sometimes they get elected.

• We have all types of wonder drugs that, although rather costly, have saved the lives of millions. But, the government has just announced a new element that may surpass all wonder drugs. This discovery, known as an anti-flea element, when mixed with food permeates a dog's body causing fleas to die when they bite the dog. This new element may soon replace the scratch that now takes up so much of pooch's time.

Downtown Location Desired

New Courthouse Site Favored By Authority

At a meeting held on Tuesday morning the Lauderdale County Public Bldg. Authority indicated that it favored a new site for the courthouse. While no particular site was proposed it was stated that the group favored a downtown location but not the present one.

"We feel that the present site is not large enough for the new courthouse," a spokesman for the Authority stated, adding that finding adequate space for the courthouse offices while the new one was being constructed on the same site would also be a problem.

With respect to title to the property on which the present courthouse was built, Chairman Doyle Young, explained that a suit to acquire title was underway and would be continued so the property could be sold for commercial purposes in the future.

Members of the Authority who favored a new site were Mr. Young, Howard Killen, Vernon Cash and W. H. Alexander. Authority member James Koonce was not present when the body issued the statement, but said, later he too favored a change.

Thus far the Authority has been unable to take definite action on the courthouse site since it has been entangled in legal proceedings to quiet title but the body expressed confidence that a title to the site will be cleared and it can then go ahead as planned. Mr. Young said a courthouse could be built on the present site and insured with out a suit but the Authority favors clearing title so it can sell the property for commercial purposes. As it is, without a court decision, there is no deed showing the status of the tract, he explained. The site was given to the county by the Cypress Land Company, the original owners.

A suit on the descendants of the original trustees of the old Cypress Land Company who set aside the site when Florence was founded in 1818, was filed July 14 of this year and is pending in the Circuit Court.

It is understood that demurrers to the complaint have been filed by certain respondents and this is responsible for holding up court action.

No action was taken on the possibility of holding an election on Nov. 8 on a site preference though it was stated the matter was discussed.

Mrs. Mabel Anderson is visiting her son, Clyde C. Anderson and family in Pensacola, Florida.

Truman To Appear At Big Democrat Rally In Decatur

Many Notables Expected As Plans Made To Care For Crowd Of 20,000

Former President Harry S. Truman will be the guest of honor and speaker at a huge Democratic rally planned for Friday, October 21 in Decatur.

Tennessee Governor Buford Ellington will join other notables in the North Alabama city to hear Mr. Truman, according to an announcement by Governor John Patterson.

Governor Patterson said other Southern governors also are expected to attend along with Alabama Senators Lister Hill and John Sparkman and Representative Bob Jones.

Decatur is said to be a beehive of activity preparing for the expected crowd of 20,000 people who will come to hear the former president speak on behalf of the Kennedy-Johnson ticket.

At Delano Park, site of the outdoor rally and barbecue, workers are busily constructing a platform for the Truman Rally which begins at 1 p.m. The former president will speak at 3 p.m. He is expected to arrive in Decatur around noon and be met with bands, motorcades and officials. Shortly after this official reception, a mass parade, with many bands from the area, will proceed through Decatur and out to Delano Park.

Sponsored by the Alabama Eighth Congressional District, tickets for the Truman Rally and barbecue are $5.00 each. Tickets are available at Democrat Headquarters, Decatur, according to A. B. Hollis, Truman Rally general chairman.

A large number of Tri-Citizens are expected to attend the rally.

This interruption will also affect all lines off of Lee Highway within this area, including Sky Park Rd., Brush Creek Rd., Lock 6 Rd., and Bridge Road for one mile North of Lee Highway. This interruption is for connection of lines to the new Killen substation.

Mrs. Charles W. Brystrom, Maple Ave., is in Sheridan, Wyoming for a visit with her mother and family friends.

With 9.4 Proration

County Board Education Adopts Budget

Faced with its fourth straight proration of school funds and handicapped with an accumulated debt over the past three years of $171,349.78 as the result of cutbacks in school funds after a workable budget had been adopted and placed into service, the Lauderdale County Board of Education Tuesday afternoon adopted a proposed budget for the operation of the county schools for the 1960-1961 term of $1,469,537. The total budget adopted—which includes $910,034 for the Florence city schools and $32,000 for Kilby Training school—is $2,411,571.

It was made clear that the $942,034 was merely handled and distributed to these two schools systems by the county's Custodian or Funds as required by the State Department of Education. It was also pointed out by Allen Thornton, county superintendent and secretary of the board, that the 9.4 proration as announced by Gov. John Patterson for the current school term was not figured in the budget but that this cut-back will have to be made up in the year's operations.

The Board of Education, reviewing the seriousness of the school situation resulting from the proration of the past three years, noted that the county school ended the 1957-58 term with a balance of $30,000 in the treasury, however, with the proration for the 1958-59 term, the year ended with a deficit of $29,608.26. Had no further proration been made, it was felt that at that time certain economies might be practiced to eliminate this debt. However, with the continued proration the County School Board finds itself entering the present term with a total debt, caused by the failure of the state to meet its educational obligation, of the mentioned $171,349.78.

"Whether the Board of Education can, in some manner, absorb the present 9.4 proration and retire some of the accumulated debt,

Drive Launched For 2000 Soil Samples From County Farms

THE NAME'S NOT THE SAME—Think you know your candidates? Look again before picking out Sen. Lyndon Johnson. The Democratic vice presidential nominee is on the left. At right is Fred Burney, his look-alike, from Ft. Worth, Tex.

An announcement of importance to every farmer in Lauderdale County was made this week by County Agent L. T. Wagon, who heads a new drive for soil test samples from this county's farms and other lands in various types of cultivation.

Urging the importance of soil testing to increase productivity of the land through the use of the right kinds and quantities of fertilizers, Mr. Wagon said, "We are putting on a drive to get 2000 samples of soil delivered to the county agent's office in Florence, on or before 5 p.m. October 31, so that a truck furnished by Farm Service Supply Company may deliver the samples to the testing laboratory at Auburn free of charge soon thereafter."

Mr. Wagon pointed out that samples may be taken after October 31 but in that case they will have to be mailed to the laboratory at a cost of 25 to 50 cents per sample postage. He urged everyone who can get in on the free delivery by October 31. Those who do so will receive recommendations for the amount and type fertilizer to use within three weeks after that date.

Sample boxes, shipping cartons, and instructions on how to take and package the samples are available at the county agent's office and at all five vocational agriculture schools in Lauderdale County. The containers and instructions are free.

Samples may be taken from fields to be planted in corn, cotton, feed and hay crops, from pastures and perennial crops, from gardens, flower beds or any place plants are grown, and the testing service is available to city dwellers as well as farmers. Mr. Wagon urged city dwellers to take advantage of the service for better lawns, shrubs and flowers, pointing out that the service is extremely low cost, only $1.00 per sample, and that those unfamiliar with taking such samples to visit his office and receive the proper instructions and containers to do the job right.

Those who find it inconvenient to visit the county agent's office may see their nearby vocational agriculture teachers or contact any of the following farmers assisting in the program:

Education's Hope Lies In Industry, Business Growth

Haltom Blames Lack Of Funds On Failure To Get Reapportionment

State Senator E. B. (Burt) Haltom, Jr., stated in a talk to the Alabama Avenue Elementary School PTA in Sheffield Tuesday night that "the great hope for education in this state is in the growth of industry and business."

Speaking of the great crisis the people of Alabama are facing in education, Senator Haltom linked the lack of funds for education with the failure of efforts for reapportionment.

"Should reapportionment ever come," he said, "there would be a substantial increase in tax funds for public education in the first Alabama legislature session following." He also predicted that the 1961 legislature meeting in May 1961 would not impose a tax for educational purposes.

Pointing to the unfair situation with respect to North Alabama in the present representation set-up, he said his section had grown steadily population-wise but that several senators represent two counties and nine represent three counties. He mentioned that Colbert shares a senator with Marion and Franklin counties and has one representative.

He pointed to the fact that in not obtaining reapportionment North Alabama is placed in the position of "taxation without representation." In this connection he mentioned that South Alabama does not have the school problems faced in North Alabama.

Mr. and Mrs. George A. Porter, Natchez Trace, left today for a two-weeks visit to Panama City, Tarpon Springs and Fort Lauderdale in Florida and to Nassau in the Bahamas.

TV And The Printed Word

Competition for shares of the advertising dollar get tougher all the time. Television has seen to that and the television people have, on occasion, attempted to sell the idea that their media is a far more effective way of interesting people (the potential consumer) than any other... including newspapers. So a survey made in Richmond, Va., is of unusual interest.

Editor and Publisher reports: "An independent research organization found that of more than 41,000 telephone calls only about one-fifth had the TV set turned on. Of that number 81 per cent were able to identify the program turned on but 71 per cent could not name any sponsor or product, or type of product, being advertised on that program. And even if the respondent said 'soap' instead of giving a brand name it was counted as sponsor identification, which seems to us like leaning over backward to be fair."

No—the printed word isn't obsolete yet!

We Need The Best We Can Get

With treacherous world conditions and domestic issues shaping up which could set off fundamental changes in the traditional political and economic relationships we have known in the past, the next few years promise to be a critical time in America.

It could be of life or death importance that the most talented people presently running for office are brought to positions of national leadership during this period.

People are going to be hired (by the taxpayers) to do the job. This being election year every citizen has the opportunity and the obligation to make his beliefs felt in deciding who those people shall be by casting his vote on election day. Studying the issues that face the nation and the world, whether it is what to do about the Russians or the question of farm surpluses, is the first prerequisite to making the choices between the various solutions offered. We must make those choices and vote for the candidates who seem most likely to serve the common good.

This year your vote may be more important than ever before.

Don't throw it away.

Fires Can Be Prevented

Most fires can be prevented since most fires are caused by human carelessness so each year public attention is called to the need for fire prevention measures through the observance of Fire Prevention Week.

Almost everyday we read of disastrous fires that take an annual toll of hundreds of millions of dollars, destroying homes, businesses, factories, farm buildings and woodlands, to say nothing of snuffing out the lives of many innocent persons... lives and property that could have been saved.

Each year at this time through newspapers, magazines, radio and television, the public is asked to cooperate in preventing fires and the time-worn "do's and don'ts" are again in the public eye. To repeat those do's and don'ts would be to repeat what most of us know by heart and yet unless we are constantly reminded some if not most of us forget the very things we should be alert to all year long.

We get careless with matches, leaving them in reach of small children. We put too many appliances on one outlet or we allow appliances or heaters to operate without carefully checking them for defects. We light our furnaces or space heaters without checking the flues to see if they are open or not. We let trash and litter accumulate in basement and attic telling ourselves that we'll "clean it up tomorrow." We get in a hurry and light a brush fire near the house, barn or woodlot with the wind blowing and without help to control it.

Why not make every week fire prevention week and help stop one of the nation's greatest economic losses? Remember when fire strikes the loss is not only in what burns but in the loss of time, many times even jobs are lost. Items burn that even insurance cannot replace.

So use common sense. Stop fires before they occur.

Personality Sketches

LEONARD CLARENCE JOHNSON

Reviewing the great progress that has been made in Florence and Lauderdale County in the past decade, Leonard C. Johnson, vice-president and manager of the State National Bank said that he saw nothing but continued prosperity for this immediate area because of its varied industries, its splendid leadership and fine cultural background which stems from the splendid college we have in our midst. He pointed to the steady growth of the area as an index to what may be expected in the future.

In summing up his opinion of the agricultural situation in the county, Mr. Johnson said: "I think that farming will lean more toward the raising of cattle, hogs and other livestock and that we may expect Lauderdale County to continue improving its position as a leading livestock county." "Our farmers have more and more modern conveniences that make rural living equal, if not better, to urban living. Our county schools are among the best in the state and are continually improved. Nothing is lacking and the possibilities are unlimited to make rural living the happy life," he added.

Leonard Clarence Johnson was born in Smithfield, Johnston County, North Carolina on February 4, 1901, the son of Marion and Coral Holland Johnson. He attended elementary school in Smithfield and finished high school in Clayton, North Carolina, after which he attended North Carolina State College.

Mr. Johnson later attended and was graduated from Oak Ridge Military Academy in Oak Ridge, North Carolina. There he was a member of the Athenian Literary Society and also the "A" Club, an athletic organization. He played the position of, outfield on the baseball team on which also played Raymond Hayworth and Wes Farrell, famous big league players. Mr. Johnson later played semi-pro baseball at Tuskegee in South Alabama.

In the fall of 1926, Mr. Johnson accepted a position with the Bank of Tuskegee, continuing there through the fall of 1929. He was then appointed as a bank examiner with the Controller of the Currency with headquarters in Atlanta. He held this position for 13 years. During the summers of 1942-1943, he attended Rutgers University Graduate School of Banking for added training for his position as bank examiner. He was examiner for banks in the Sixth Federal Reserve District with headquarters in Atlanta and the First Federal District with headquarters in New York City.

On November 11, 1933, Mr. Johnson was married to Emily Dennard Crenshaw of Greenville. They have three daughters, Mrs. Harold Wesley (Marion), Greenville, Emily Dianne, a freshman at Southern Methodist University, Dallas, and Mary Holland, a junior at Coffee High School. There are three grandchildren.

Mr. Johnson first came to Florence in 1944 when he accepted a position as assistant vice-president of the First National Bank. In 1946, he joined the staff of the State National Bank of Decatur and six months later was named vice-president and manager of the Florence branch, the position he has held since. During this time, the beautiful new building now housing the State National Bank was constructed.

Active in various organizations, Mr. Johnson is a member of the Alabama and American Bankers Association and is also on the Alabama Educational Committee of the Alabama Association, in 1952, Mr. Johnson was a director and chairman of the Chamber of Commerce committee that organized the United Fund, and was also on the budget and publicity committee of this worthwhile organization, which succeeded the Community Chest.

Mr. Johnson has long been active in the Boy Scouts movement and was scoutmaster of a troop in Tuskegee for three years. He has been closely associated with once, serving on the board and the executive council. He is past president of the Florence Kiwanis Club, past Lieutenant Governor of the First Division of Alabama Kiwanis and has served as a member of the board of the Florence Housing Authority. He is a member and past president of the Florence Golf and Country Club, a member of the Elks Lodge, and a member of the Tri-Cities Quarterback Club. He was recently appointed a Lieutenant Colonel on Governor John Patterson's staff.

Mr. Johnson is an active member of the Methodist Church and has been a member of the board of stewards for fourteen years.

His hobbies are golf and baseball and one of his greatest joys is traveling with his wife and daughters, having been in Canada and all states except Alaska and Hawaii.

Looking back over his fourteen years in Florence, Mr. Johnson said that he had long ago learned that there was no finer place in which to live and raise a family. "We have everything it takes to provide happy living—a prosperous community, congenial citizens, a progressive outlook and splendid schools and churches—what more can any person desire!"

Government Rules Against State

The Federal Government won the right today to hold the State of Alabama accountable for any discrimination against prospective Negro voters in Macon County. U.S. District Frank M. Johnson, Jr., granted a motion to make the state a defendant in a year-old injunction suit, and the same time allowed the Justice Dept. to substitute the names of two recently appointed registration officers for two who resigned. But the question of an injunction itself was left for later determination. Johnson's ruling applied only to the Justice Dept.'s request to bring the new defendants into the suit.

If tried as an adult, the maximum penalty on conviction would be death in the electric chair.

Highland Baptist Church Scene Of Sharp-Berry Nuptials

Miss Nancy Gail Berry and Jerry Bramt Sharp were united in marriage in the Highland Baptist Church on Saturday, October 8, at seven o'clock in the evening. The Reverend Lewis E. Kelley officiated with the traditional music presented by Mrs. Ralph Trent, organist and Mrs. Betty Lynne Miller, vocalist.

Mr. Raymond W. Berry accompanied his daughter to the altar, which was banked in greenery by woodwardia ferns and ivy with baskets of white gladioli and tuberoses interspersed with branched candelabrum. The bride was gownned in delustered satin and hand clipped Chantilly lace. The Empire effect of the bodice, which was etched in a pearl design, fell in soft folds to a chapel length train. Her veil was a Princess Margaret crown of pearls and iridescent stones. White orchids on a white Bible complimented her bridal attire.

Miss Mary Fran Fago was maid of honor and the bridesmaids included the Misses Janet Hale, cousin of the bride, Barbara Williams, Martha Lee Whitley, Martha Koger and Little Miss Cindy Whitley, flower girl. They wore white, length gowns of pink peau de soie, designed with portrait necklines and wide deeper-pink cummerbunds. The headresses were velvet bows and each carried a cascade of pink roses.

The groomsmen were Charles Atkins, Oren Babbs, Larry Shots, all from Birmingham, Myron Berry, brother of the bride, and William C. Sharp, Jr. was his son's best man.

Mrs. Berry chose a blue lace sheath and feathered hat while Mrs. Sharp, the mother of the groom, wore royal blue silk brocade with matching accessories. White gamellas corsages were selected for both mothers.

The reception was held at the home of the bride's aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Brandon O. Hale, 2219 Maple Ave. Those assisting were Mrs. James Foster, Miss Hollis Bower, Miss Jibby Roberson, Miss Sandra Frye, Mrs. L. E. Kelley, Mrs. N. A. Downing, Mrs. Lee Murphy, Mrs. Lawson Beasley, Mrs. E. E. Eberhardt of Albany, Ga., and Mrs. Robert E. Whitten of Birmingham. Mrs. W. H. Hill was in charge of the bride's book.

For the wedding trip the bride wore a brown suit with matching accessories and her orchid from her bouquet.

The couple will make their home in Birmingham where the bride is employed and Mr. Sharp will commute to the University of Alabama.

Joan Holland Jackson And Gerald Emmons Engaged

Dr. and Mrs. John Milton Jackson of Florence announce the engagement of their daughter, Joan Holland, to Gerald Thomas Emmons, son of Mrs. Marshall Floyd Emmons of Sheffield, and the late Mr. Emmons.

The bride-to-be is the granddaughter of Mrs. William L. Holland of Florence and the late Mr. Holland; and of the late Mr. and Mrs. John M. Jackson of Gadsden. Mr. Emmons is the grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. T. C. Browder and of the late Mr. and Mrs. W. W. Emmons of Selmer, Tenn.

November is the month chosen for the wedding.

Miss Sherrod King Tells Wedding Plans
Miss Sherrod King, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Madding King of Florence, announces her plans for her forthcoming marriage to William Joseph Allen of Petersburg, Virginia.

The marriage ceremony will be performed by the Reverend Edward G. Mullen at half after four on October the twenty-ninth at the Trinity Episcopal Church with family and close friends in attendance. Alan Flowers will present the nuptial music. At five thirty the wedding reception will be at the King home, Irving Place, on Court Street.

Miss King will be given in marriage by her father and her maid of honor will be her sister, Harriet Susan King, with Mrs. Barry Kenneth Hibbett, her matron. Bridesmaids will include Gracey Luckett Bethel, Winston Salem; Mary Katherine Rich, Huntington, West Virginia; Mary Eliza Southall, cousin of the bride, Florence; Barbara Maury Bowen, Augusta, Ga.; Margaret T. Kohn, Montgomery; and Mrs. John W. McIntosh, Auburn. Ellen Irving King will be a junior attendant for her sister as will Kimbrough Epps Johnson of Petersburg.

The bridegroom's father, Mr. Allen will be his best man. Groomsmen will include Lloyd T. Smith, Jr., and Spotswood Connolly, both from Charlottesville, Va.; Edward G. Willis, Jr., Richmond; Marshall Johnson, Petersburg; and the bride-elect's two brothers, Madding King, Jr., and Benjamin Rogers King.

Friendship With Author Highlights Mrs. Brock's Review.

THE CURRENT EVENTS CLUB of Florence had a personalized review by Mrs. Hoyt Brock on the book entitled, "To Kill a Mocking Bird," by Miss Harper Lee. The personal association between these two ladies developed back at Monroe High School, of which Mr. Brock was principal. On their recent trip to New York, the Brooks were guests of Miss Lee and at the time she was completing her novel.

Miss Lee, an individualist, intelligent yet shy, chose this media to portray most effectively her father's life in a small Southern town with its share of local color.

Mrs. Leo King, hostess for the meeting, welcomed two visitors, Mrs. Louis Gottschalk, who is here for a visit with her daughter, Mrs. M. M. Jackson, and Mrs. Gladys Shepard.

Mrs. Joe Redd, president, held a brief business session.

THE SPILLWAY

One thing for which EVERYWOMAN
Would work very hard:
The Fountain of Youth
In her own back yard!

IT WAS NICE FOR MANY... getting back into the "swing" of our concert season. One remark heard in practically every discussion of last week's play has been "How does Joan Bennett look so young and pretty?" Just shows that the idea of the Fountain of Youth still intrigues us... incidentally, the aforementioned play as a whole seems to have gone over "Big."

LOCAL LAD MAKES GOOD... been hearing fine things about David Darby for a long time... the latest is that he is Assistant Editor of The Insignia, the official school paper at Indian Springs School, where he is a senior this year. Know that Margaret and Wilbur are proud of their handsome son, as are we.

FANCY IN EVERY RESPECT... was the party for one-year-old Cara Campbell, daughter of Peggy and (Dr.) Henry... sponsored by Cara Slaton, whose name the honoree bears, the party carried out a carnival theme, even to the point of having a carousel... And one of the nicest things about it all, aside from the lovely picture little Cara made in the dress Aunt Cara had brought from Paris for the occasion, was the guest list, which was made up of not only one-year-olds, but of mamas AND grandmamas. A real three generation affair!

WE WERE EXCITED TO RECEIVE our invitation to the wedding reception of Sherrod King and William Joseph Allen of Petersburg, Virginia... And had you heard this? That the altar in the Episcopal Church in Florence (where the marriage is to take place) bears the name of the groom's grandfather... Gen. William Wirt Allen, who was on Gen. Joe Wheeler's staff... Seems this is a small world!

GAY GOINGS-ON have been the order-of-the-day at (Dean) Turner Allen's home this week, because of two charming house guests... Betty's mother, Mrs. Brewer, and her friend, Mrs. Martin are here for a few days from Betty's hometown, Frankfort, Kentucky.

IT WAS SO NICE TO SEE Tiny and Jim McGarry, who were here last week to visit their daughter Lorena (Frith), Tom, and their three children on Mattie Lou Street. We hear that Tiny and Jim are moving back to our "neck-of-the-woods," which is very good news.

SEEN OUT THE WINDOW at the country club the other day was a very attractive twosome who seemed to be enjoying a game of golf, probably even more so because they realize there aren't many more golf days left before cold weather. When they came closer it turned out to be Kathy Cox and Lollie Reeder, who've gotten ahead of us... didn't know they were golf enthusiasts.

MISS POPULARITY OF THE WEEK is Harriet Price, youngest daughter of Bee and (Dr.) Lance. Since her recent appendectomy, the pre-teen crowd, particularly the male contingent, has given her every attention. What d'ya bet, there'll be many fourth graders "trying" for operations?

RAIN, RAIN GO AWAY... was glad to see "Mr. Mac" McClure gather up his band and leave the Coffee-Deshler game early last Friday night... The appearance they gave made us Coffee fans mighty proud, but the downpour we were having could have done a lot of damage to those new white uniforms. Just, hope nobody had on his or her best outfit that night!

IF YOU WANT TO SEE the work of a real master decorator, go by and see what Lois Pless has done to the two story house on North Court Street formerly occupied by the Girl Scout office... Lois has made a most attractive place of the Pless's living quarters on the second floor, and the downstairs, for Marshall's business, shows real promise. Hope they hold open-house so we can all see it.

WE'RE PLEASED TOO over the secret... heard very hush-hush that there's to be an exciting new addition to the industrial life of our community... the product being something we all use lots of, especially at Christmas time.

Congratulations to Milton and Shirley (Israel) Teks... proud parents of Rhonda Helene, whose birthday celebrations will take place from now on on October ninth.

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY... Goodbye for now!

MR. FARMER—The soil test program means greater productivity on the farms of Lauderdale County and everyone engaged in farming should participate. For a very small cost—$1.00 per sample—each farmer will receive the proper fertilizer recommendations for his fields. Soil testing takes the guesswork out of using fertilizer incorrectly. It increases production and profits from all of your farm operations.

"I think that if you have time to make a crop you certainly should take time to take a soil test and fertilize your crops right. Fertilizing without a soil test is just like doctoring on a sick person and not knowing anything about medicine."

HENRY ABRAMSON

HENRY ABRAMSON
Rt. 1, Cloverdale

"Soil testing is the only way to be sure of what kind of fertilizer to use to get the best yield. When a plant gets the right amount of what it needs, all the extra isn't going to do anything. We had fields that we saved money on by testing the soil."

A. W. WYLIE

"Everyone should have their soil tested and follow recommendations. A great number of farmers may be using what they need. If so this is a good cheap way to know it."

Officers and teachers of the P.T.A. wish to express their appreciation to the many parents for coming and showing so much interest in the school. Your attendance in P.T.A. not only shows interest in the school but to attend means you are backing your individual child and if mothers and fathers do not show interest, how can you expect your child to be as interested in their school work? Parents, come to the P.T.A., work and I believe you will find your child working a little harder to make better grades and to become better citizens.

Addition Planned For FSC Library

Final plans for an addition to Collier Library on the Florence State College campus are now being made by the architectural firm of Northington, Smith and Krantz.

As planned, the air-conditioned new structure will accommodate approximately 158,000 volumes in its three floors. This will help alleviate the need for space for stacks and seating which is now a problem in the structure which was built in 1939.

The 60,000-volume library had 94,109 visitors last year, who checked out 32,143 materials for home use. Mrs. Viola Sheats was employed this year as circulation manager on the library staff to help accommodate the large number of visitors.

Evergreens with long, slender shoots may be pruned now by cutting off about three-fourths of the new growth.

To guarantee the same amount of batter for each muffin or cupcake, use an ice-cream scoop for filling them.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

We see only wires! But at this very moment a woman in San Francisco may be speaking to her husband in Tokyo. . . . a boy at Princeton may be inviting a girl in Albuquerque to a football game. . . . and Mrs. Green of R. D. No. 1 may be placing her order with Mr. Brown of the Crossroads Store.

Here — where sixty wires cling to the cross-arms of a weathered pole — the ends of the earth meet!

It's like that in our local churches on Communion Sunday. Whether fifty or five hundred receive the Holy Sacrament . . . the ends of the earth meet. For the Lord's Supper is not a rite of one church or one denomination. It is the common sacramental feast of millions of Christians all over the world.

Are you availing yourself of this blessed privilege, and are you attending your church regularly? As you receive this Sacrament in your church, your life is linked to the lives of Christians everywhere. And you and they are united in a common communion with God!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

Always store lemons in the refrigerator, but keep them in a plastic bag away from other foods that might absorb some of the strong lemon flavor.

Use Legumes To Attract Nitrogen

There's free nitrogen above every acre in Alabama — about 150,000 tons of it.

And the best way to get nitrogen — so necessary for plant growth — from this unlimited supply is to plant legumes, says J. C. Lowery, Auburn University Extension agronomist.

Legumes can take nitrogen from the air only if they are inoculated with the right bacteria. So Lowery says that every precaution should be used to insure good inoculation at the time of planting.

Well-fertilized legumes will store enough nitrogen in tops and roots to add as much as 80 to 100 pounds or more of nitrogen per acre when turned under.

Winter legumes do not add lime, phosphorus, or potassium to the soil. And most Alabama farmers are finding that at least one of these must be added to insure successful crops.

Debris Makes Good Compost

Since Jack Frost is lurking around the corner, it's time to get ready for the season by building a compost area.

Hobbyists with flower or vegetable gardens will be making their compost areas from piled hedge trimmings, dead flowers, leaves, lawn trimmings, and cotton husks.

Since dead leaves will be plentiful, they will provide one of the largest sources of compost. John Bagby, Auburn University Extension horticulturist, says that smart planters looking forward to spring will pack leaves and sprinkle them with water and fertilizer to hasten decay.

In the spring the compost will be used as mulch in gardens or around flowers or shrubbery. Applied two or three inches deep, Bagby says compost will conserve moisture, help control weeds and grass, lower soil temperature in hot weather, and condition the soil.

Nutrient Value Vs. Improper Cooking

The nutritional value of vegetables is often lost after they leave the store. And the principle reason for this is improper cooking, says Fariss Prickett, Extension nutrition specialist.

Homemakers who are interested in the nutritional value of food handle vegetables by storing them in the refrigerator, using them as soon as possible after buying, and cooking them in the smallest amount of water and the shortest time possible.

Salad greens hold nutrients best when they are wrapped in a wet cloth and kept very cold.

Exposure to air often removes food value. And this is especially true with vegetables, Miss Prickett says.

SELECT BREEDING STOCK THROUGH DHIA RECORDS

Alabama dairymen find that keeping records is a valuable tool for breeding purposes.

Dairy Herd Improvement Association records help the dairyman decide which cows he should raise his replacements from, states Sam Jones, Extension dairyman. And the availability of the outstanding sires used in artificial breeding should encourage every dairyman to use records. If he is breeding his own bull, the dairyman probably has done the best job possible in selecting him, but he can't be sure how good he is until he has some records on his daughters.

Bulls can improve the herd more if calves are raised from above average cows rather than below average ones. He adds that the proof of a bull is in his daughters and DHIA records furnish this proof.

CLUTTERED BARN CAN BE RATHER RISKY BUSINESS

Cluttered barns can cause expensive, time consuming injuries and even death, warns Bill Cox, Auburn Extension farm buildings specialist.

Now's a good time to do some housekeeping in the barn. And be sure to check the lights and electrical equipment, too. Poor lighting is a common cause of costly falls. And faulty electrical equipment is a real fire hazard.

BROILER PRICES TO STAY NEAR LAST YEAR'S LEVEL

Poultrymen can expect broiler prices for the next three months to average slightly under last year's.

Allen Brown, Auburn Extension poultry marketing specialist, believes broiler prices will decrease each month until a low is reached in December. Prices should start coming up again in January but will probably be a little lower than they were at the same time a year ago.

MORE INCOME FROM MUTTON THAN WOOL

Bob Farquhar, Auburn University Extension livestock specialist, says the gross income from the sheep enterprise throughout the U.S. totaled $340 million last year. This was a little less than in 1958, but more than any year before 1952.

About two-thirds of the income from sheep during 1950-54 came from the sale of animals. Since then government payments to encourage wool production have raised the income from wool.

Precision Care Saves Dinnerware

To insure lasting quality in your fine china, it must be properly stored, says Alice Peavy, Extension home furnishings specialist.

Here are a few suggestions for the best results. Each cup should be placed individually. In fact, overcrowding or stacking any pieces should be avoided as much as possible. And be sure that only items of the same shape and size are stacked together.

Putting a paper napkin between stacked plates will help to avoid nicks. And wrapping clear plastic around stacks will help keep china clean.

COFFEE DRINKERS OFFER MARKET FOR FLUID MILK

Coffee drinkers offer a market for dairy products.

Every day 100 million Americans drink 377 million cups of coffee, according to a report of the Pan-American Coffee Bureau. And Extension Dairyman John Parrish reports that two out of every three coffee drinkers use cream, evaporated milk, condensed milk, or dry whole milk.

Seventeen per cent of all fluid milk products are used in coffee. However, the percentage of folks using milk in coffee went down from 68 to 63 per cent from 1956 to 1959.

STOP RAT THIEVES FROM CARRYING OFF PROPERTY

A rat is a thief that bears filth, diseases, and destruction.

According to Earl Kenamer, Extension fish and wildlife specialist, a pair of rats breed from six to 10 times a year, and each litter averages eight babies. On the average, each rat can cost a farmer $22 a year.

These pests contaminate stored grain and exposed feed, kill poultry and young livestock, start fires, and destroy property. They also spread diseases that endanger the health of people as well as livestock.

The Auburn University specialist says a farmer can have up to 100 rats around his place and never see them. But signs of their presence tell him he'd better find out pretty soon how to get rid of them. Consult your county agent for poisons and how to use them, Kenamer advises.

To remove rough and sticky spots from your iron, sprinkle a little salt on a piece of paper or cloth and run the hot iron over it.

DECREASE IN '59 EGG AND POULTRY INCOME

Usually, poultry and eggs account for 20 per cent of Alabama's gross farm income.

But last year, income from these products slipped to nine per cent of the U.S. gross income, according to Auburn Extension Marketing Specialist A. W. Jones. The figure in 1958 was 10 per cent. Jones says this decrease was caused by declining prices for eggs and poultry meat last year. Prices so far this year are averaging higher and are likely to continue in that direction. Here in the Southeast, Alabama's percentage of income from poultry products is exceeded only by that of Georgia.

The sale of food by wholesalers, retail stores, and restaurants now adds up to $70 billion each year, making it the biggest industry in the U.S. today.

The yarns made from today's leading varieties of cotton are 20 to 30 per cent stronger than the ones made from leading varieties of 15 years ago.
