

At Cost Of $16 Million

Construction Of New Wheeler Lock Scheduled For October

Engineer Named
Warren McMahon, TVA engineer, who served as project engineer on the recently dedicated Wilson Dam lock as well as a number of major TVA projects during the past several years, has been named project engineer for the new Wheeler Dam lock on which construction is scheduled to start Oct. 1.

(TVA News Release)
The new lock in Wheeler Dam for which congress provided initial construction funds in the TVA appropriation for the fiscal year 1961, is the second in a series of projects being built to speed freight traffic on the Tennessee waterway from the Ohio River to Chattanooga. Construction is expected to begin about October 1.

In November 1959 TVA placed in operation a new lock at Wilson Dam, 16 miles downstream from Wheeler, having dimensions of 110 by 600 feet. These are the same dimensions as the locks at TVA's other downstream dams, Pickwick Landing and Kentucky. Wilson Dam, completed following the first world war, had a system of three small locks which had become a bottleneck to the fast-growing volume of traffic on the waterway. Removal of this obstacle has brought new traffic pressures on locking facilities at Wheeler. The new Wheeler lock will be 110 by 600 feet and will have a maximum lift of 52 feet. It will be located between the present lock and the riverbank. The present lock, which is 60 by 360 feet, will remain in operation throughout the construction period and will thereafter be retained as an auxiliary facility. Employment at the project will be on a very small scale during the first three to six months, gradually building up there after to a peak of about 600 in the fall of 1961. Initial operation of the lock is scheduled for January 1963.

Total cost is estimated at $16 million. The project will include construction of a new two-story building between the new and old locks to house the central controls, offices, shops, and visitor facilities. New guide walls will be provided both upstream and downstream giving the combined structures a total length of 2,253 feet. Some excavation will be required to provide a safe and navigable approach channel.

Alabama State Highway 101 which crosses the Tennessee on top of Wheeler Dam will be open to traffic until the late stages of construction. At that time it will be necessary to close the road for about four months. It is planned to replace the three present spans with a single span over the new lock, and to adapt some other parts of the bridge to fit the new construction. The appropriation measure carrying the initial funds for the Wheeler lock also provides $200,000 for the design of a new lock at Guntersville Dam, 74 miles upstream from Wheeler. Guntersville's small lock, the same size as the present Wheeler lock, is inadequate for commercial freight traffic; and the new lock planned will be the third of the series now projected. Upon completion of the new Guntersville lock, it is expected that the fourth and final unit in the series will be installed in Hales Bar Dam, a structure completed in 1913 with a 60 by 265 foot lock. Hales Bar reservoir brings the Tennessee's navigable channel to the Chattanooga area.

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● We will all agree that there are many things, other than desire, that are necessary to attract a new industry, large or small, to an area. First, there must be proper, trained and able contacts, an adequate presentation of the advantages of the area for that particular industry—such as power, water supply, transportation facilities of all kinds, sufficient and cooperative labor and adequate and available plant sites for selection, among other things. At present, there are several small plant sites in and around Florence that can be shown industries seeking locations, however, too few large tracts with satisfactory facilities are on file with the Industrial Committee of the Chamber of Commerce—and this situation needs correction immediately. The committee has asked us to ask you that if you have—or know of—large acreage that might meet the requirements of large industries, which may be purchased at fair prices, that these be listed with the Chamber of Commerce as soon as possible. This will be a big help to the committee. All of us would welcome a new industry with open arms—it has been so long since we have had that pleasure.

● If some wives would cook up as much for dinner as they do over the telephone, the table couldn't hold it.

● What kind of a reception will Khrushchev receive when he visits the U.N. on September 20? Of course, the mighty one needs no invitation to pay this visit to American shores as the UN buildings are international territory, however, we must say that it required a lot of nerve to make this visit—which the Soviet leader has more than his share. As is his habit, Nikita, the self-invited guest of Finland at the past week-end observance of President Urho Kekkonen's 60th birthday, embarrassed his hosts by an attack on the United States, Denmark and Norway. The speech was denounced by the Finnish press as a "scandal." The Finns pride themselves on their neutrality and the act of their neighbor was frowned upon.

● It is interesting always to get the reaction of a visitor to our city. However, when a widely-traveled guest tells us that he has seldom seen a city of our size with as much trash and debris scattered about, it gives us a bit of bother. Mr. Charles Glett, president of Trans-Continental Communication Systems, Inc., recent purchaser of the Muscle Shoals TV Cable Corp., after a three-day inspection of his properties throughout the city, said: "In comparison with Decatur and Huntsville (which he also visited), Florence presents a very unkempt appearance." Gosh, we've got to do something about that. Maybe, instead of a Spring clean-up week we'd better make each week a clean-up week.

● A short time ago, Jayne Mansfield, the movie queen, visited Washington's Capitol Hill and paid calls on both the House and Senate. Needless to say, during her whirlwind slink through the seat of federal government she demonstrated why she had been termed an outstanding actress. Alternately big-eyed, sophisticated and cooing like a dove, the blonde charmer banded phrases with capitol bigwigs and sent them reeling into ecstasies of confusion and pounding pulses. The headline of the story telling of her visit exclaimed: "Capitol Hill Took Jayne Mansfield To Its Bosom—and Vice-Versa."

Late News

● Congo Premier Patrice Lumumba Tuesday called for an emergency session of Parliament to seek a vote of confidence in a showdown fight for power with President Joseph Kasavubu. Lumumba acted after a rush of events in which Kasavubu went on the air Monday night and announced the fiery premier's ouster. The latter countered by taking over the network and announced that he had fired Kasavubu as chief of state. The feud turned into violence Tuesday night when Congo troops backed Lumumba beat and clubbed Kasavubu supporters.

● Vice President Richard M. Nixon and Republican nominee for president may be able to leave Walter Reed Army Hospital Saturday instead of Sunday, as doctors reported he was making a fine recovery from a knee infection that hospitalized him a week ago. Nixon has been working on campaign plans from his hospital bed, and plans to leave next Monday on a 9,000-mile campaign swing.

● Traffic accidents over the nation Labor Day week end killed approximately one person every 10 minutes, with the toll, final figures yet to come, passing the 400 mark. The count of accidental deaths since 6 p.m. last Friday until midnight Monday showed 409 in traffic, 24 in boating, 81 drownings and 81 from miscellaneous causes. The over-all total was 595.

● Hurricane Donna turned toward the northwest Tuesday leaving at least 116 dead and hundreds missing on Puerto Rico and other Caribbean islands. The storm, packing 125 mile-an-hour winds, continued its westerly swing and warnings went out to the Bahamas and all points along the southeast coast of the US to watch hurricane advisories for the next few days.

● The nation's largest segregated school system at Houston, Texas opened Wednesday theoretically integrated, but the Negro students will not be notified if they have been accepted until Friday. The Board of Education Tuesday night voted to allow Negroes to enroll in first grades of previously all-white schools in the 170,000 pupil district, but instructed Supt. John McFarland to delay their admission until Friday.

Handicapped Get Help From Rehab Funds In County

Assistance To Disabled Proven To Be Excellent Economic Investment

More than 2,500 handicapped persons were rehabilitated in Alabama last year by the Vocational Rehabilitation Service of the State Department of Education. The total of 2,563 is a new record for Alabama and places our state in the top ten states in the nation in service to and the rehabilitation of our handicapped people.

Vocational Rehabilitation was actively working with 9,324 handicapped persons last year. At the same time 4,772 handicapped persons were known to the Rehabilitation workers and awaiting services. These figures do not include approximately 5,000 known to the program but not listed on the official or reporting list.

These figures were disclosed by O. F. Wise, Director of Vocational Rehabilitation in his annual report. Alabama has been recognized as a leader in Rehabilitation Service and consistently ranks high in comparison with other states. Director Wise indicates this is due mainly to the devotion of the Rehabilitation staff and to the co-operation of interested people and agencies.

Vocational Rehabilitation is operated as a joint State-Federal program with approximately 67% of the money coming from Federal funds and the remainder from State funds. All funds appropriated by the State are expended directly for services to the disabled. The state does not appropriate sufficient funds to match out all federal money available to Alabama.

Among those rehabilitated were 47 from Lauderdale County, according to Wilbur Wilson, Vocational Rehabilitation District Supervisor, who has charge of Rehabilitation work in Lauderdale County. Mr. Wilson further stated that the Rehabilitation Service is working with 115 handicapped persons in Lauderdale County at the present and that the Service knows of approximately 29 others in need of Rehabilitation Services. Mr. Wilson further stated that with the large number of people becoming disabled each year through congenital conditions, diseases and accidents, together with those now known it will take a decided increase in appropriations from the State and several years to "catch up." It is an established fact that for each dollar invested in the rehabilitation of a handicapped person they will repay ten-fold in Federal Income Tax alone, stated Mr. Wilson.

The rehabilitation of our handicapped adds millions to our annual income within the State. There is no way to measure the increased happiness and satisfaction that comes to our disabled people as a result of their ability to work and be productive.

FSC Registration Begins Monday

Registration at Florence State College has been set for September 12-15, with an anticipated 1,850 students to be enrolled during that period. A compulsory general assembly will be held in the amphitheater at 8 a.m. on Monday, Sept. 12. "It is extremely important that entering freshmen attend this first meeting," stated Dr. W. T. McElheny, director of student personnel.

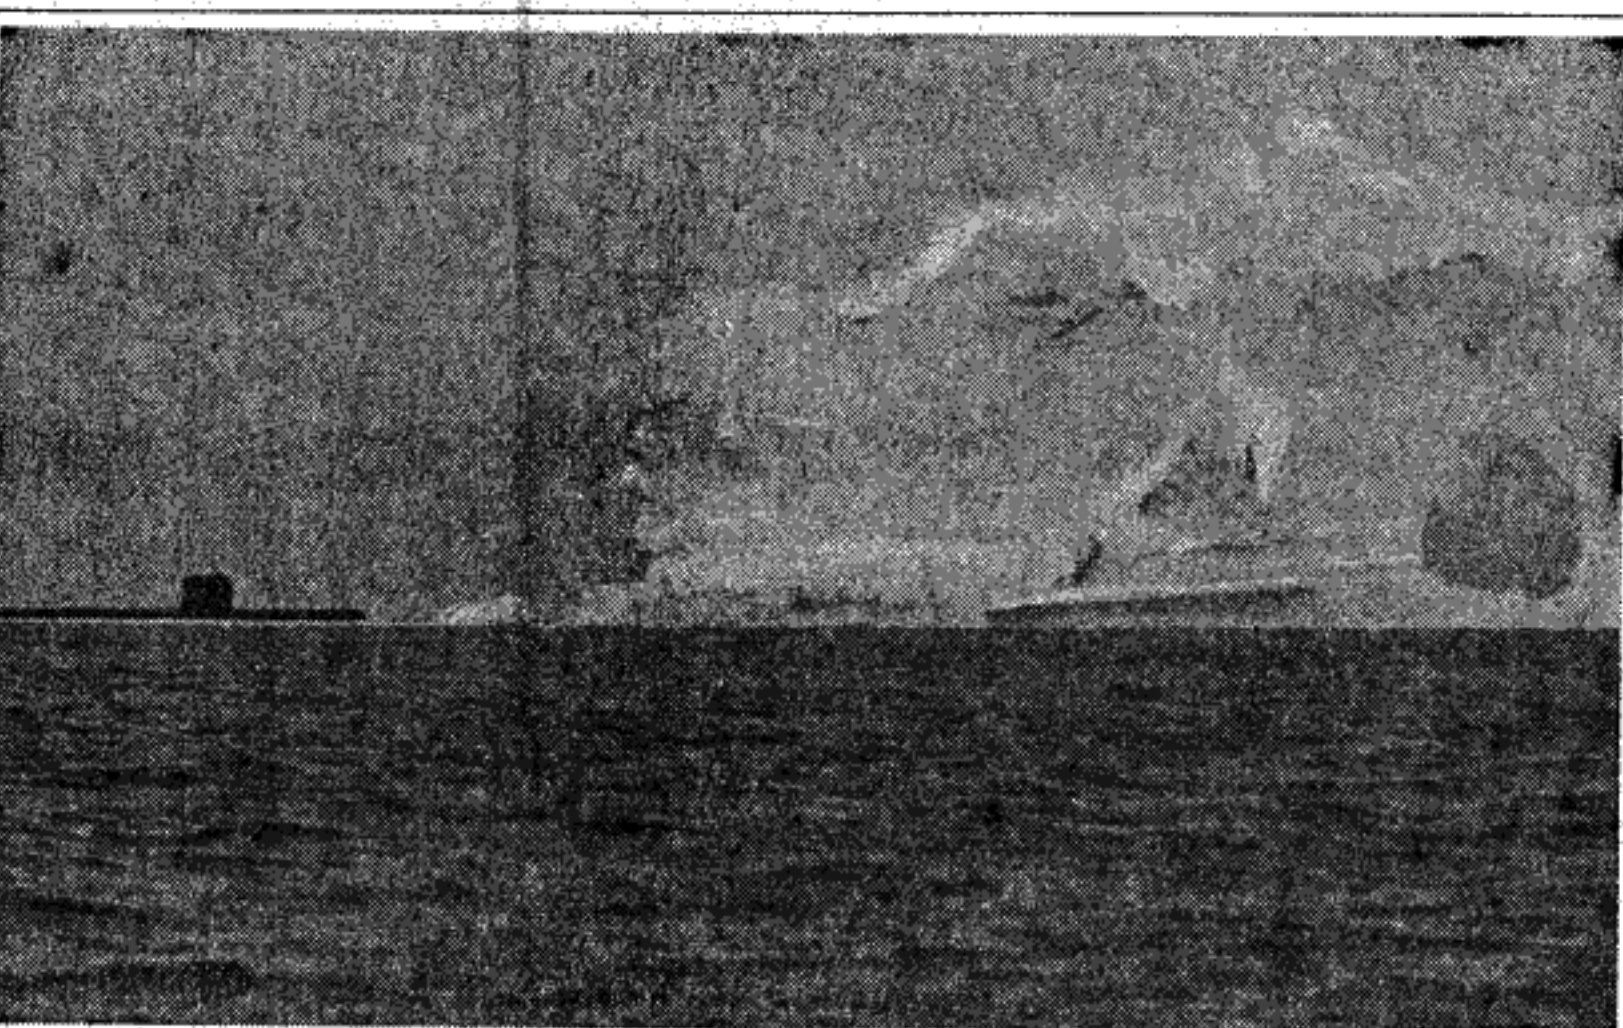

Upperclassmen will register Sept. 14 and 15, while freshmen will undergo a four-day registration and orientation program, beginning Sept. 12. A counseling program, to be held also on Monday, Sept. 12 at 2 p.m. and 2:45 p.m., will acquaint students with subject matter of different courses.

Attendance assemblies for all new men students will be held Sept. 14 at 3 p.m. and Sept. 15 at 10:30 a.m. in Wesleyan Auditorium, with all new women students required to attend an assembly in Kilby Auditorium on Sept. 15 at 10:30 a.m.

A pep rally, scheduled for Sept. 15 at 7 p.m. in Memorial Amphitheater, will end the four-day registration, with classes to begin on Friday, Sept. 16.

"Tennessean" On First Official Run

Travels Over Florence Scenic Railroad At Eight Miles Per Hour

The "Tennessean" made its first official run over the new Florence Scenic Railroad Monday, carrying its two coaches, "The Lister Hill" and the "Natchez Trace" along a route overlooking the Florence Recreation Center.

The small train, a pet project of Mayor E. F. Martin, of Florence, was purchased in June from B. V. Hargett, of Tusculum, at a cost of $7,000. Work was begun immediately preparing the track and building the depot, located off Royal Avenue, near the recreation center in Florence.

The entire project was done for about $30,000, with several firms contributing something to the effort.

The depot, though compact, is adequate for ticket sellers booth, food concession, with rest rooms and water cooler located outside. The area located between the tracks is to be developed for picnickers, complete with a small lake and waterfall in the center.

The highest point of the track is directly above the swimming pool. Farther along the route the train comes opposite Coffee High, rounds a curve, then comes back between the depot and recreation center and circles back to come out through a 365-foot tunnel out into the side of the hill.

This added attraction to the recreation department will be in operation for the amusement of children and adults of the area.

Southern Adds Eight More Flights At Local Station

Southern Airways, Inc., now operating 10 of their regularly scheduled flights, within their system at the Muscle Shoals Airport, bringing the total number of flights to 48 daily.

With the reinstatement of these flights, Southern now lacks only one round-trip schedule between Nashville and New Orleans of being back to their regular schedule at the local airport.

Southern, in restoring 82 per cent of its normal flights, also has announced that the remaining non-operating flights will be reinstated during the month, and additional flights into newly-certified cities would begin in the near future.

Service to 14 additional cities recently granted to Southern by the Federal Aviation Agency will begin approximately Nov. 1, according to Leonard Layfield, station manager for Southern at the Muscle Shoals Airport.

Branded By Eisenhower

'Self-Confessed Traitors' Tag Placed On Defectors

President Eisenhower Tuesday branded as "self-confessed traitors" the two defecting American code clerks, Bernon F. Mitchell, 31, of Eureka, Calif., and William H. Martin, 29, of Ellensburg, Wash., who have become turncoat tools of Soviet propaganda, according to the Defense Department.

The impact brought on by the defections was followed by an announcement by Chairman Francis E. Walter (D., Pa.) of the House Un-American Activities Committee that he will hold hearings beginning Sept. 16. These hearings could possibly blossom into the most startling of their kind since the Communists-in-government exposes of a decade ago.

The Defense Department continued to say that one of the defectors was mentally sick and both obviously confused.

Both Mitchell and Martin triggered a violent U.S. reaction when they appeared at a news conference in Moscow and accused the United States of following espionage policies that threatened world peace.

In a formal statement issued Tuesday night, the Pentagon said: "The Soviets are now making every effort to exploit the two turncoats, Martin and Mitchell, who have become tools of Soviet propaganda and to make the world believe the false statements which they have made in Moscow."

"Both the letters from which they read and statements made in Moscow about the U.S. government are directed at serving Communist purposes and are typically false. Their appearance in Moscow is final confirmation that these two young men—one mentally sick and both obviously confused—have sacrificed everything Americans and other free men hold dear."

A Defense Department spokesman, in releasing the statement, acknowledged the Pentagon had in its possession since early August a letter Mitchell and Martin said they left in a safety deposit box in the State Bank of Laurel, Md., before leaving the country, and which was seized under court order.

The defectors read copies of that letter at the news conference in Moscow, giving their reasons for abandoning their country, because, according to them, the United States is carrying out policies dangerous to world peace, among other things.

Although their defection had been suspected for some time, Washington was shocked by the news that the two had come out into the open in Russia with a blast at the United States.

Martin and Mitchell, who had joined the NSA staff together in 1957 and held posts as mathematical analysts, dropped from sight in June after leaving Ft. Meade on vacation. They are known to have made their way to Mexico City, then reportedly to Cuba and on to Russia.

FOOTBALL SCHEDULE

Thursday	Moulton at Central
Rogersville at Tanner
Friday	Ramsay at Coffee
Corinth at Sheffield
Rogers at Hazlewood
Elkton at Lexington
Saturday	Walker County at Dasher

Final approval by the Alabama Education Authority, in session at Montgomery last week, was given to six school projects for Lauderdale County rural school system with construction costs totaling $444,575.66, it was announced by Superintendent Allen Thornton following the meeting of the County Board of Education Saturday morning.

The six projects, approved out of Lauderdale County's share of the 70 per cent of the $100,000,000 school bond issue already sold, are:

UNDERWOOD—Three classrooms, a multi-purpose room designed for use as auditorium, gym and other uses; boiler room, storage room, corridors and central heating system. A total of 10,100 square feet.

CLOVERDALE—Three classrooms, library, science lab, kitchen, cafeteria, rest rooms, boiler room, storage rooms and covered walkway. A total of 10,479 square feet.

WEST END HIGH—Gymnasium and rest rooms. A total of 7,200 square feet.

KILLEN—Four classrooms, library, rest rooms and corridors. A total of 5,400 square feet.

CENTRAL HIGH—Five classrooms, two rest rooms, and boiler room. A total of 6,200 square feet.

GREENHILL—Four classrooms, rest rooms, and corridors. A total of 5,000 square feet.

Thirty per cent of the bond issue is yet to be sold and when these funds are made available, Mr. Thornton said, additional construction projects already filed by the Board of Education are expected to be approved for the local rural school system.

Construction of the six projects are expected to get underway within the next few months with the Underwood and Cloverdale project to be ready for bids within the next 60 days. The architectural firm of Northington, Smith & Kraner has been employed by the board to design the Underwood, Cloverdale, Central and Greenhill projects while the firm of Barr and Tune have been employed to plan the West End High and Killen projects.

The Board of Education advised that everything possible to rush the plans, which are to be submitted for bids, as fast as possible as the need for these added classrooms and other facilities are so badly needed with the enrollment this year considerable above that of last year.

The total allocation of funds made to the County Board of Education at last week's meeting of the Education Authority totaled $474,591.00 which shows that a sum of $30,015.34 was not pledged for construction but is allotted for equipment and furnishings for the new additions and to meet any contingency that might occur in the construction program, it was stated.

Construction Underway
At present, the Board of Education is rushing to complete the new elementary school building at Rogersville which replaces the building destroyed by fire recently. In addition, three classrooms being added to the high school building are nearing completion.

Construction of two additional classrooms at Wilson school are progressing satisfactorily, it was announced by Mr. Thornton. Other construction during the summer months were completed prior to the opening of school last Monday and the new central heating system at Greenhill will be ready before cold weather arrives.

Teachers Elected
Three teachers were elected by the board for the present term just underway and include Julia Ann Barnett at Central; James C. Weeks at Whitehead and Billy C. Burney at Wilson.

The 1960-1961 school year began class work last Monday with a record enrollment and observed Labor Day as a holiday. Classes were resumed Tuesday.

Mrs. Alan Tomlinson, of Whitfield, Calif., is the guest of her son, A. R. Tomlinson and Mrs. Tomlinson in Hickory Hills.

Liberalism - Are We Going Too Far?

Each of the major political parties is trying to outdo the other in Liberalism—a word that has come to mean, and have as its ultimate goal, the receiving of a lot for little or no effort on the part of the recipient of favors from a benevolent government.

Liberalism was the watchword of both parties at the recent political conventions and the word "Conservatism" was used with some degree of scorn by the leaders who promised everything for everyone.

There was the time—when the United States was a young nation and as such was brash and unrestrained—that liberal thought created a new concept of government. In those days there was an element that kept the nation going forward at a rate that, if not checked by sounder thinking, ruin might have descended on the infant nation. However, because the recognized leaders of those days had a more conservative outlook on the future, a firm foundation was built and a conservatism guided the nation over rough waters that the liberalism that arose at times, if left unleashed, might have destroyed in its beginning.

Adventurous nation we were, to be sure, yet the guiding forces, history tells us, attached themselves to the new constitution and fought progressively and conservatively with their goals set solidly on proven measures (far from the gambling spirit that now seems to control all political action) for a sound economy on which the future might be erected.

To evaluate our own thinking, we are certain we would find that we are liberal in our outlook. However, we feel that we would have to add that we are afraid that the liberalism that now controls our political parties has gone too far for safety's sake and unless a return to more conservative thinking and action is practiced soon we may find ourselves on the brink of no return. There are degrees of conservatism as well as liberalism. Ultra conservatism is stagnation; ultra liberalism is a downhill run with no turning back. Somewhere between these is a proper balance which our leaders would do well to seek out before it is too late. Let it not be said that we were taken for a joy ride that was good only while it lasted.

Castro ---UGH!

The flag of Red China now joins that of the Soviets on the staff above the flag of Cuba and Castro takes another step toward oblivion . . . for himself, that is, but toward heartbreak for those he is leading down a blind alley.

The Organization of American States, having taken a resounding slap at the newest dictator to raise his head, plans another session to fathom the answer to the cancer that is festering in the tight little island nation. Stronger measures are certain but no measure can be too strong if saving our neighbor from ruin is the goal.

It is hard for us to understand Fidel Castro's thinking and it is possible that he can't understand his actions himself, certainly a large portion of the residents of Cuba must sit back in wonderment as the bearded one leads them to inevitable ruin.

We believe that Castro is in for trouble and not for long can he ride the high road he is now traveling. The sooner his day arrives the better for the world. Even one dictator is too many.

Nixon's Visit South

Much has been written about the large and enthusiastic crowds that greeted Vice President Nixon upon his visits to Birmingham and Atlanta and the Republican bigwigs have pointed to these receptions as an indication that the South is in the mood for a switch in its political thinking.

The real truth of the situation is merely that we, here in the South, are a hospitable people. No visitor in our midst is turned away. We extend the glad hand of fellowship to all who cross our borders and because the Vice President of the United States happens to be the candidate for President of the Republican Party is no reason why we should turn our back on him. And, too, he has an attractive—and we might add, beautiful—wife, and no Southern gentleman would ever think of anything but extending a cordial (and maybe, affectionate) greeting to one so fair.

Then, too, Alabamians, as well as Georgians, have always loved to attend the circus, the fairs, parades and just any good show—especially when it is free of any admission cost—so why not attend Exhibit "A" of the Republican party. It was a good show, we are told. But what has that got to do with casting a good Democratic ballot in November's election?

In The Week's News

Ex-Louisiana Governor Long Dies

Former Governor Earl Kemp Long, 65, of Louisiana, died Monday, following a heart attack. Long was hospitalized 10 days prior to his death, the day he was nominated in a Democratic primary to the U. S. House of Representatives in Louisiana's 8th District. Fiery Long, brother of the late U.S. Senator "Kingfish" Huey P. Long and uncle of U.S. Senator Russell Long, came back into the political picture in the August congressional election after he failed in an attempt for another term as governor. Long amazed the nation and most of the world last year when he was sent to two mental hospitals, then went on a tour that included most of the Western U.S. and parts of Mexico.

Senator Johnson To Visit Alabama

Sen. Lyndon B. Johnson of Texas, the Democratic vice presidential nominee, has included Alabama in a campaign trip through the South. His schedule, which was announced in Washington Friday, called for him to be in Alabama on Oct. 13. It does not specify the city or cities to be visited.

Personality Sketches

By FRANCES HALL

JUDGE GRADY R. WILLIAMS

"When I look back on my two terms as Probate Judge of Lauderdale County, I find great satisfaction in the fact that it was my privilege and opportunity to establish the 'farm-to-market' road system that brought Lauderdale County out of the mud. This system, a good part of which was completed during the 12 years I was in office, is still in operation, giving the county splendid 'farm-to-market' roads," said Judge Grady Williams when asked what he thought was perhaps the "highlight" of his career.

"It is a real privilege to continue on the ECM hospital board and to watch with pleasure the near completion of a $2 million construction program now in progress at the hospital," continued Judge Williams. "I have taken much pride in seeing the great growth of the area in recent years and can predict, with a certain amount of assurance, even greater prospects for the future," he added.

Grady Roscoe Williams was born June 10, 1898 near Lexington, the son of Sam T. and Virginia Shelton Williams. He attended the public schools in and around Lauderdale County High school in Rogersville, after which he attended State Normal College (FSC). Following his college work, Judge Williams taught school at Sweet-gum and at Portertown for several terms.

On April 29, 1922, he was married to the former Nella Kay Ezell, of Rogersville. They have one son, Kenneth Williams, and a grandson, Ken, who is 12-years-old. Judge Williams became Chief Clerk in the Probate Office in 1923, a position he held for 11 years, or until 1934, at which time he was elected Probate Judge of Lauderdale County. Judge Williams took office in January of 1935 and served two six-year terms.

In 1945, Judge Williams became a partner in the Middleton-Williams Oil Company and later bought the interest of Mr. Middleton and organized, with his son, the Williams & Son Oil Co., distributors of City Service products. The business is now managed by his son.

Elected a member of the Board of Directors of First Federal Savings and Loan Association of Florence in 1943, he was elevated to the position of Chairman of the Board in 1949 and became active in the management of this growing financial institution in May, 1955. Judge Williams is a member of the Committee on the Federal Home Loan Bank System.

A member and past president of the Florence Civitan Club, Judge Williams is a member and past chairman of the Board of Governors of Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital; a director of the United Fund, the North Alabama State Fair Association, and of the Lauderdale County Red Cross Chapter. He is a member of the Board of Water and Sewer Commissioners of Florence, a member of the Advisory Committee of the

City Turns Down Annexation Bid

The Florence City Commission Tuesday turned down a bid by residents of Joy-Lan Heights and Norwood Hills subdivisions to be annexed to the City of Florence.

The Commission said it could not call an annexation election because a "no man's land" between the city limits and the two developments failed to meet requirements of the state law which requires two voters on each 40 acres plus signatures of 60 per cent of the property owners, according to City Attorney Arnold Teks.

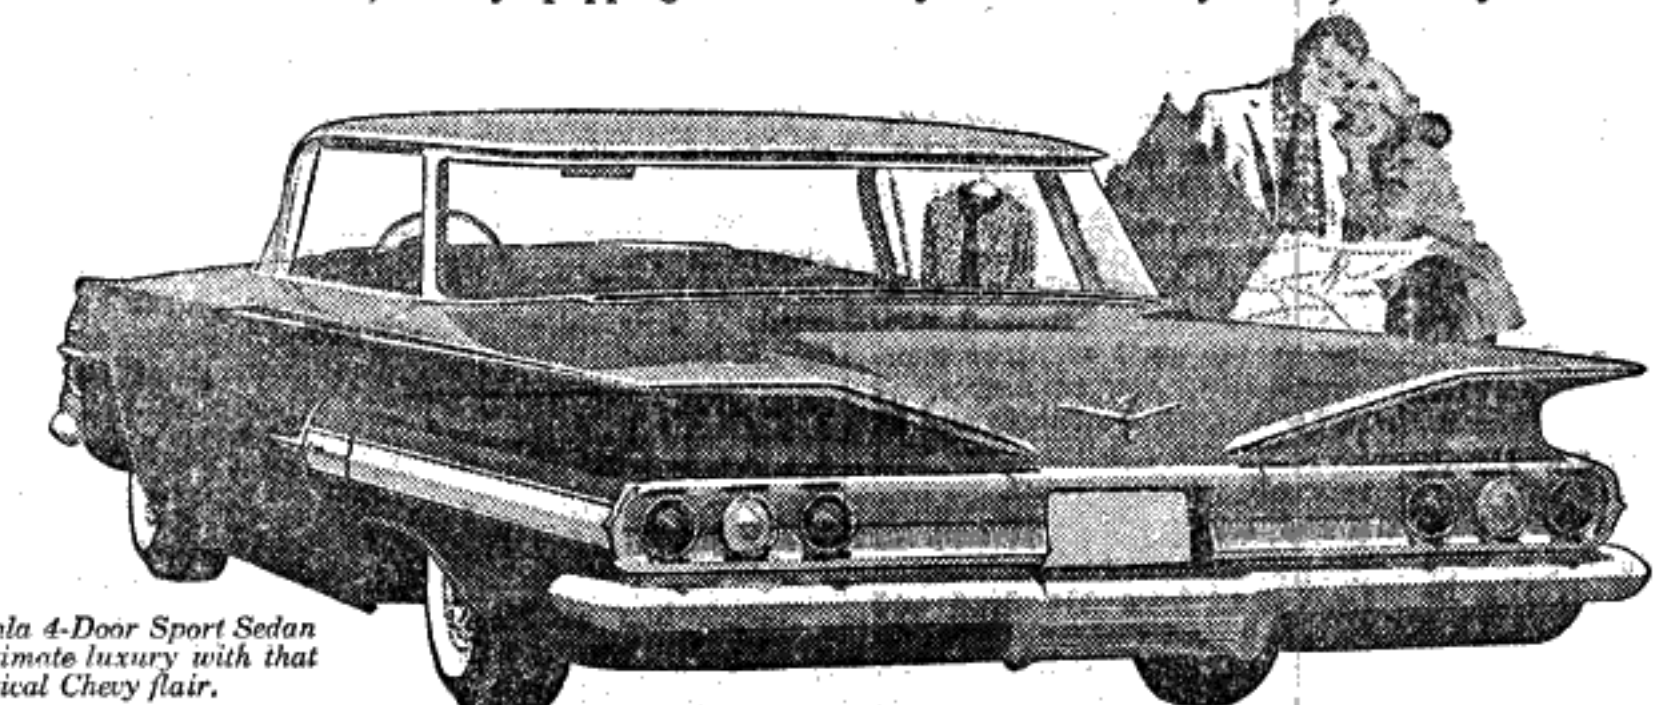

Robert W. Pardue, 146 Roberts St., who represented the property owners, was told the land would have to be annexed by legislative action. The Legislature does not meet again until May.

Immediately after the ceremony, Mrs. Jones will honor her daughter and her son-in-law with a bridal luncheon at The Town Club.

On Saturday morning, September third, the Wesley Patton home on Old Jackson Road was the setting for the first in a series of prenuptials which has been planned in honor of the bride-elect.

Mrs. Patton and Mrs. Burr Bassel, her co-hostess for the occasion, used an all-white flowering background in the party rooms and served Cokes from a frosted centerpiece on their party table. Delightful morning dainties were an accompanying feature.

An ivy-entwined arch, flanked by arrangements of white blossoms, spanned the candlelighted altar before which the Reverend Lewis E. Kelley, minister of the church, read the vows. Traditional music was presented by Mrs. Albert Heaslett, organist.

Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Lem Hollis of Iron City, the bride was given in marriage by her uncle, Clarence Hensley. Of bridal taffeta, her gown of antique white was distinguished by a Sabrina neckline and short, puffed sleeves of lace. Her veil of illusion fell from a lace headpiece and her purple-throated white orchid bouquet was encircled with fleurs d'amour.

Miss Barbara Gambrell of Iron City was the bride's only attendant. Her bouffant frock of yellow organdie was detailed with a rounded neckline, puffed sleeves and a wide, crushed cummerbund. A matching hairband was her headress and feathered carnations were her flowers.

Mrs. Hollis, mother of the bride, wore a violet gown with matching hat and a white glammelia corsage.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

where are they Going?

A familiar sight . . . men with briefcases daily throng airports all over the nation, winging their way from one place to another. But where, really, are they going?

In this busy age of appointments, rush hours, and summit meetings, we search for success, for more money, for a better future, for a variety of things. Yet, like so many mid-twentieth century Americans, the harder we seek the less we find.

We need a job, a purpose, a home, a family. But also, we need a church. We need to go into that church to reaffirm our faith both in God and in our fellow beings. Only then does our quest — and our ultimate destination — begin to make sense.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Conservation Dept. Issues Warning

A warning against violators of Alabama's dove hunting seasons went out last week from the Department of Conservation's Game and Fish Chief Charles Kelley. Kelley said his division was prepared for a rigid enforcement program to be carried out in the field under the supervision of Chief Conservation Officer G. K. Lightsey.

The Game and Fish Chief said the Department of Conservation had for some time sought the five additional half-day hunts and two more birds in the bag limit okayed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service this year.

"We feel that the hunting seasons and bag limits are fair," said Kelley, "and now it's up to the dove hunters to play fair."

He issued a special warning against pre-season hunting, shooting over baited areas, shooting an excessive bag limit, and shooting late around water holes.

Listing reasons for the strict enforcement program, Kelley said, for instance, pre-season shooting destroyed young doves still in the nest. "Many such birds killed are not fully developed. They're not edible, and consequently must be thrown away. This is a flagrant waste of our wildlife resources, and further, it depletes the supply of birds available for a legal bag limit."

A split dove hunting season opens this year from 12 noon until sunset Oct. 1 through Oct. 31, and from Dec. 1 through Jan. 8. A bag limit of 12 birds a day or 12 in possession is allowed.

Kelley said the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service this year for the first time had issued an interpretation of legal and illegal baiting. The U.S.F.W.S. regulatory authority over dove hunting in the state, said it would be illegal to hunt migratory game birds over bait, or by the use of bait, on or over any areas where grain, salt or other feed capable of luring such birds is placed except as the result of a normal agricultural planting or harvest.

It was also listed as illegal to hunt birds over feed lots, where grain is present as a result of feeding livestock, or over areas where grain crops have been cut down, dragged down, knocked down, burned over or otherwise manipulated and left on the ground.

If you want to control wild onions or other weeds spray with 2, 4-D when plants are about six inches tall. Do not spray after plants start jointing.

State Cattle Grub Costly To Farmer

Cattle grubs, heel flies—or whatever you choose to call them—probably cost beef and dairy cattlemen of this state one million dollars annually.

W. A. Ruffin, Extension entomologist, says the heftily attacks cattle in the early spring by laying their eggs near the foot of the animal. The grub feeds internally, causing damage over a period of about 10 months.

According to Ruffin, the best control for this pest is spraying infested animals with Co-Ral during August or early September. He says 16 pounds of 25 per cent wettable Co-Ral mixed in 100 gallons of water is sufficient material to treat 150 to 175 head of cattle. The specialist adds that this one spraying will control cattle grubs, lice, and horn flies.

CAUTION: Do not treat lactating dairy animals or calves that weigh under 200-300 pounds.

Well-Kept Lawn Essential To Home

Not having a good turf on the lawn is like not having paint on the house.

Extension Agronomist J. C. Lowery says that a beautiful well-kept turf is an essential part of any home—rural or urban. And a good turf grass adds color and comfort to the ground, beautifies the surroundings, and protects the soil by preventing erosion.

More and more folks look on these rewarding plants as a major necessity—not only for home grounds but also for school yards, recreation areas, church yards, cemeteries, and grounds around public buildings. Lowery says "yards of bare, muddy earth have truly gone out of style." And in their place are suitable grasses for all special areas and conditions in Alabama.

Pigeons Now Pest Rather Than Pet

Feeding the pigeons in the park has become as outdated as the horse and buggy.

The bird that has been a park pet for so long leaves obnoxious droppings everywhere and also carries diseases of humans and livestock, according to Extension Fish and Wildlife Specialist Earl Kennamer. The specialist says it is also believed that they are carriers of the dreeder dove disease that almost wiped out the mourning dove population a few years ago.

In order to get rid of pigeons, Kennamer says roosts and nests are removed; and no loose grain is scattered for the birds to feed on. Repellent devices such as glues or wires are not always effective, but poisons should be used only as a last resort.

Some people build a pigeon trap and put live decoys in it, states Kennamer. See your county agent for plans on buildings these traps.

PEANUT IS MAIN MEAL VELVETBEAN CATERPILLAR

Velvetbean caterpillars appear to some extent every year. And some years they come in large enough numbers to warrant control measures, states Extension Entomologist Walter Grimes.

The pests, usually making their appearance in August and early September, feed primarily on peanuts but they also eat soybeans, velvetbeans, and other crops. They not only destroy the peanut vines that are generally used for hay, but they also reduce the vigor of the plant and cause a reduction in total yield of the peanuts themselves.

When the insects are present in large numbers, DDT, toxaphene, and cryolite are recommended for their control. Cryolite can be used without restrictions but DDT and toxaphene should not be used 30 days prior to harvest if the vines are to be saved for hay. Grimes adds that DDT-treated peanut vines cannot be fed to dairy animals at any time.

Commercially canned foods will keep indefinitely if the container doesn't get a leak in it. Store them on shelves in a cool dry place.

Canada is the largest customer for corn grits and hominy, and Panama and Venezuela are other patrons.

Telephone Talk

Now that fall's knocking on everybody's door, there's a new hustle and bustle around home. Suitcases being dusted off for the trip back to school. Lists being scribbled about fall house cleaning. Talk of getting the furnace in order and other pre-winter repairs. Yes, indeed, life sure gets busier when fall rolls around!

Have you ever thought what a big help your phone is with all these things going on? Take Long Distance, for instance. If you've got a young one going off to college for the first time, nothing helps cure homesickness like a call from home that first week. Or, in the case of the left-behind gym shoes, what's the quickest way to notify the family? Long Distance, of course.

And, for those of you who have teenagers at home, here's a thought. Wouldn't an extension phone in his or her room be a great thing for you? Oh, I know your teenager would enjoy it—fall brings on a rash of dances, dates and school outings—but think of your peace if all those long and very important conversations could go on in the privacy of his or her room, without disturbing the rest of the family. (Just call our business office for all the details.)

I WAS TALKING to the Chief of Police the other day about school getting under way and how much more care drivers must take to avoid hurting our "little people." The Chief said his men try to cover the most hazardous school crossings, but it is impossible to have a man at every intersection. Well, folks, that means that it's up to us to be extra careful and watch out for the school children. In some neighborhoods the mothers have gotten together and take turns at the crossings to help the youngsters to safety. Sounds like a good idea to me.
