The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● We had our complaint last week when we charged that too few pay close attention to what they read. Our peeve today is that too few cooperated with the poll conducted by Muscle Shoals TV Cable Co. in its efforts to learn the wishes of their 7,000 subscribers. Less than forty per cent took pains to check their ballots and mail in time to be counted. As a result—with more than half of those served by the cable apparently not interested in what they get as entertainment—the entire procedure was a flop. Now, the TV Cable Company will make their own decision with the hope that everyone will be happy with its selection of channels.

● When a wife buys things on a credit, she's really displaying confidence in her husband.

● What a mess this world is in! With the race for peace threatened by the race for space, little two-by-four dictators add trouble to the already unsteady conditions of this old globe. Our only fear is that someone might let his trigger finger slip and plunge the world into a slaughter that would make past history kindergarten stuff.

● Too many folks go through life running from something that isn't after them.

● Her husband returned home unexpectedly. A pair of shoes were on the floor. He went into a fury. Picking them up, he looked them over, compared them with his own shoes—and then his anger subsided. He put them down, greatly relieved. "For a moment I was going to tear the house down," he said. "I thought the maid had forgotten to put my shoes away, but I see they are not mine."

● We pay little attention to lies that are told about us; it's the truth that gives us cause for worry.

● Little Oswald, all of nine years, was awakened the other night at near midnight by the steady ringing of the telephone. When he answered, a voice said: "We are making a survey of delinquent youth. If you have any children, do you know where they are at this moment?" A bit puzzled, little Ozzie replied: "We have, and I know, but can you tell me where Mommie and Daddy are?"

● What most people want today is less to do, more time in which to do it and more money for getting it done.

● The fighter, after taking the full count in a late round of the brawl, finally came to as his handlers worked over him in the dressing room. As his head cleared and he realized what had happened, he said to his manager: "Boy, did I have him worried in the third round! He thought he'd killed me."

● Of course the meek shall inherit the earth—they probably haven't enough nerve to refuse it.

● The curvaceous teen-age blond was parading up and down the beach displaying a most daring bathing suit. An officer of the law, on beach patrol, collared the cute young thing and demanded: "What would your mother say if she saw you in this skimpy outfit?" "She'd say plenty," admitted the girl. "It's her suit."

Construction Bids Opening Set

Split Term Is Rejected By Board Of Education

A committee of 10 residents of the Anderson community appeared before the board requesting that the split-term, abolished several years ago, be re-established in order that their particular problem of picking their cotton be solved. They pointed out that cotton pickers were hard to get in the fall and they needed their children for the work.

Prior to the board session, Superintendent Thornton had explained the problem thus presented but invited them to present their request to the board.

The chairman of the board, Harold S. May, welcomed the delegation and advised that the board members were sympathetic to their problem but necessarily must give first consideration to the education of all the children in the county schools as well as special groups. He said that it has been proven that with a split term the first portion was a complete loss and that, actually, the children received only about six months schooling. This has proven a handicap to the children in their efforts to obtain an education. The period from July, when school would begin, to the vacation period might just as well not be held as far as results were concerned, he pointed out.

One member of the delegation posed the threat that the members of the board would come up for reelection and "we can get enough signatures on a petition to force our wishes." Chairman May called attention to the fact that no member of the board received his livelihood from his membership on the board and that all the board had been endeavoring to do throughout the years was to provide the best possible education for the children of the county and that threats of retaliation were of no concern to the members.

Split Term Impractical
Superintendent Thornton said the county school children had made more progress this year than in any previous year of his administration.

"Teachers," he said, "had moved their pupils at least six weeks ahead. If we start school in July we have to get substitutes for the teachers attending summer school." Thornton said the board had discussed permitting some of the schools to operate on a split term but had decided it was impractical. Under the split term classes opened in about mid-July and ran into mid-September. Classes were then resumed after a four to six-week break. Classes now open in August and run until May except for regular holidays.

Other Board Action
In other action the board set August 21 as registration day for school. Teachers' Workshop will be held August 22-24, with August 28 as the first day of classes. It also approved $150 a year for (Continued on Page 2)

Spectators Are Horror-Struck At Eichmann Trial

Former Nazi Gestapo Charged With Mass Execution Of Jews

Chief Prosecutor Gideon Hausner detailed a history of horror in the days when Adolf Eichmann served Hitler as the chief executioner of the Jews after which witnesses began giving their testimony which seemed dull and anticlimactic against the backdrop of Hausner's opening emotion-packed statement, Tuesday, as the horror trial in Israel continued.

At Hausner's conclusion, many spectators streamed from the courtroom out into the brilliant sunlight to try to shake off the dreadful memories revived by his recital.

The first prosecution witnesses told the court the former Gestapo colonel discussed his own role readily with Israeli authorities after he was seized in Argentina and brought to Jerusalem last year. Statements from 118 people have been recorded by Israeli consuls in the United States, Latin America, Canada and Germany.

Thirty-eight more witnesses are scheduled to testify, one-third of whom knew Eichmann personally. In his own words Eichmann said he expects the death penalty. This statement by the accused former Nazi Gestapo Colonel was recorded Wednesday from a tape recording. Eichmann said he had been told in January 1960 that "I would be brought to trial and that I would not live beyond my 56th birthday." Eichmann is 55.

The tape was one of several the prosecution began replaying at trial to support its charges against the director of the Nazi plan to exterminate Europe's Jews.

Eichmann said he was "in complete readiness and without any regard for my personality to tell everything that I know."

Six-Year Record Established At Union Carbide

More than six years without a lost-time accident is the enviable record established by the Packing, Shipping and Briquet Departments at the Sheffield Plant of the Union Carbide Metals Company, according to C. E. Green, Plant Manager. He said this period amounted to nearly one million man-hours worked in the department without a disabling injury.

The last previous lost-time accident in the department occurred on April 2, 1955. Under the direction of Department Head J. S. Thomas and his Assistant, B. R. Sockwell, the present work group consists of six shift foremen, two department clerks, and 66 hourly men—a total of 76 persons. However, over the years and dependent on operations, the force has varied from a low of 55 to a high point of 105 men.

The department, referred to in the plant as C2P, handles all the production from the plant's ferroalloy furnaces. This includes cleaning, crushing, sizing the metal and either shipping the final product or storing it in the metal yard.

Haltom Proposes Reapportionment Bill For Alabama

Lauderdale Senator's Measure To Be No. 1 In New Session May 1

State Senator E. B. Haltom, Jr. of Florence has proposed a legislative reapportionment measure similar to Governor John Patterson's but giving larger counties slightly more representation in the House of Representatives.

Both amendments are constitutional measures calling for a 120-member House and 40-member Senate, compared with the present 106 House members and 35 Senators, however, both are similar to the reapportionment bill drafted in the 1959 legislative session by Haltom's subcommittee of the committee on revision of laws.

Haltom's measure will be introduced as Senate Bill No. 1 on the first day of the new session starting May 1; under his bill, 19 counties would gain representation in the House while 13 would lose. He and Patterson differ on the number of representatives which would be allotted 10 counties.

Haltom proposed one representative each for Chilton, Clarke, Macon, Marengo and Pike counties, while the governor's bill provides two House members for those counties; he suggests 12 representatives for Jefferson, compared with 11 proposed by the governor. Seven now represent the county.

The bill proposed by Haltom would require the Legislature to reapportion itself within the new House and Senate membership starting in 1971, the reshuffling to be based on federal census figures. His proposed line-up, with the present representation in parentheses follows:

Autauga, 1 (1); Baldwin, 2 (1); Barbour, 1 (1); Bibb, 1 (1); Blount, 1 (1); Bullock, 1 (2); Butler, 1 (2); Calhoun, 3 (2); Chambers, 2 (2); Cherokee, 1 (1); Chilton, 1 (1); Choctaw, 1 (1); Clarke, 1 (2); Clay, 1 (1); Cleburne, 1 (1); Coffee, 2 (1); Colbert, 2 (1); Conecuh, 1 (1); Coosa, 1 (1); Covington, 1 (1); Crenshaw, 1 (1); Cullman, 2 (1); Dale, 2 (1); Dallas, 2 (3); DeKalb, 2 (1); Elmore, 2 (2); Escambia, 2 (1); Etowah, 3 (2); Fayette, 1 (1); Franklin 1 (1); Geneva, 1 (1); Greene, 1 (1); Hale, 1 (2); Henry, 1 (2); Houston, 2 (1); Jackson, 2 (2); Jefferson, 12 (7); Lamar, 1 (1); Lauderdale, 2 (2); Lawrence, 1 (1); Lee, 2 (2); Limestone, 2 (1); Lowndes, 1 (2); Macon, 1 (1); Madison, 4 (2); Marengo, 1 (2); Marion, 1 (1); Marshall, 2 (1); Mobile, 6 (3); Monroe, 1 (1); Montgomery, 5 (4); Morgan, 2 (2); Perry, 1 (2); Pickens, 1 (1); Pike, 1 (2); Shelby, 2 (1); St. Clair, 1 (1); Sumter, 1 (2); Talladega, 2 (2); Tallapoosa, 2 (2); Tuscaloosa, 4 (2); Walker, 2 (2); Washington, 1 (1); Wilcox, 1 (2); Winston, 1 (1).

Haltom's Senate provisions sets out 13 one-county districts and 27 two-county districts.

Brice, and officials of the towns of Lexington, Rogersville and Anderson on the subject of toll-free telephone service between these towns and Florence ended Monday without a solution. The discussion was held before the Traffic and Utilities Committee of the Florence Chamber of Commerce.

Charles P. McMeans said Lexington would like to have the same thing as Leighton, toll free service to the Tri-Cities, with Mayor H. B. Hudson of Rogersville making the same appeal for his town.

BULLETIN

A report late Wednesday stated that the invasion of Cuba had been smashed by Fidel Castro's government forces employing tanks, planes and artillery. It also said that the remainder of the rebels had fled into the Escambray mountains where they were carrying on guerilla warfare.

Cuban dictator Fidel Castro's troubles continued to mount this week as rebel air raiders continued to strike at Cuban air bases and the capital city of Havana. The radio reported a twin engine B-26 had dropped a bomb on air force headquarters at San Antonio de los Baños, 25 miles from Havana then wounded three persons in a strafing run over the city. Another radio station located on Swan Island off Guatemala said Havana was bombed twice by three planes.

There was little news on the uprising elsewhere in Cuba and the situation was quiet around this nation's big Naval base on Guantanamo Bay.

Earlier Soviet Premier Khrushchev had demanded that President Kennedy put a stop to the "invasion" of Cuba by forces seeking to overthrow his "old friend" Castro. The Soviet leader called the attack a menace to world peace and promised "all necessary assistance to Castro."

Without commenting on Khrushchev's thinly veiled threat, President Kennedy said the United States "will meet any intervention by outside forces in Cuba."

The Cuban government said four men were executed for transporting weapons and five others shot who landed in Pinar del Rio Province to join the rebel forces. In one group was August J. McNair of Miami, Florida and Howard F. Anderson, a Havana resident from Seattle.

A Cuban broadcast denied landings of new forces in two northern provinces and said an attack against the Isle of Pines had failed. Rebel leaders had asserted earlier that the prison island off the south coast had fallen and that 10,000 political prisoners had been liberated and had joined the revolt against Castro.

Another American identified as Leo Francis Bell was said to have been shot down over Cuba flying a U.S. military craft. Bell is said to have been from Boston.

The Cuban government radio did say however that fighting was continuing in Las Villas Province where the rebels are said to have launched their main invasion. A report stated that a force of some 5,000 men armed with tanks and guns and light arms of American make formed the spearhead of the revolt.

Farm Facts And Figures

The American farmer is the most efficient farmer in the world says the Lauderdale County Farm Bureau.

Thanks to this, we have the best food and cloths in the world at the lowest cost in proportion to the part of our incomes spent for these items.

Agricultural research and its adaption to farming have brought about a virtual agricultural revolution in this country during recent years.

A U.S. farmer now produces enough to feed himself and 25 others. Only a few years ago he produced only enough to feed himself and seven others.

In Russia today, a farmer produces only enough to feed himself and one other person.

In the past 18 years, U.S. farmers have improved their efficiency more than during the preceding one hundred and twenty. The per-acre yield of 18 leading field crops has been increased by 71 percent in less than 20 years and production per man-hour has nearly trebled since the thirties.

To feed a population of 230 million as predicted for 1975, farmers must produce 16.3 billion pounds more red meat, 47 billion pounds more milk, 20.7 million tons more fruits and vegetables, and 20 billion more eggs.

Farming by 1975 will doubtless be practiced entirely on a scientific basis. There will be little room and certainly no profit for the hit-or-miss farmer. FFA and 4-H members will be the farmers of that era and because they are being taught sound farming practices today they will make a success of farming.

The future of agriculture is in good hands.

Education Is On The March

Much criticism has been leveled at the Federal government in the matter of Federal aid to schools. Some of it is justified, some may not be. However, it is well to consider just what may be good for all concerned in the light of the problems faced by education in the nation, more particularly in the poorer states.

There is a national interest in good schools and for improving educational levels in elementary, high schools and colleges. The problems concern three main phases: larger and better teaching staffs, more classrooms and better buildings, and improved curriculums.

But all this takes money and calls for the assumption of an important but limited responsibility by the Federal government in situations that cannot be properly met by state or local financing. Certainly the latter is to be preferred wherever possible but Federal support is mandatory where such a deficiency is clear.

Where per capita income is lower than average inferior education usually prevails even though a higher percentage of income may go into the schools than in other sections. This is true in Alabama and a number of southern states that have found it difficult to bring their schools up to nationally accepted standards out of their own resources.

Possibly the greatest detriment that would be caused by a fixed Federal aid formula is the penalizing of states making the most effort and rewarding the states making the least effort. It would have a tendency to eliminate the incentive to increase local support of schools.

What has been done thus far has been done primarily by dedicated men and women, educators and others, working in their own communities, their school districts and their states. Because of this great advances have been made and a crisis averted. However, there is no time for complacency for there is still much work to be done.

We can be confident but not satisfied.

ALLEN ROBERT TOMLINSON

"Whenever I try to evaluate myself or to appraise by thoughts and ideas as to the best manner in which substantial progress for our community might be made, I come to the conclusion that it is up to us to accomplish this progress for ourselves and not be beholden to anyone. Maybe I could be called an individualist but in any event I feel that we must do those things ourselves that will eventually bring growth and prosperity for all of us. To depend solely on others, or our government, for this progress makes us soft and saps our strength," Mr. Tomlinson said in explaining his viewpoint.

"We have the making of a great team in this area and with the right perspective, an aggressive spirit of our own and the will to buckle down to the problems at hand we can assure the continuation of our splendid growth. We have the people, the resources and the will to do, and do not need to pin our hopes on anyone or any group other than our own ability to do the job," he added.

Allen Robert Tomlinson was born in Whittier, Calif., June 8, 1907, the son of Allen U. and Katherine Jenkins Tomlinson. He attended Whittier Elementary School and was graduated from Whittier High School in 1925.

Showing talent in the field of music, Mr. Tomlinson, at the age of six, began studying the violin and shortly thereafter began the study of the piano. When he was thirteen, he was first runner-up in piano competition at a music festival in Philharmonic Hall, Los Angeles.

While in high school, Mr. Tomlinson played Class "C" football for four years, his team winning the state championship in its class. He was a member of the school debating team, Dramatics Club and was vice-president of his senior class.

Following his graduation, Mr. Tomlinson entered Whittier College and was graduated in 1929 with an A.B. degree. He played quarterback on the football team while a freshman, but an injury cut short his playing career. In his sophomore and junior years, he was elected cheerleader during his senior year. Mr. Tomlinson lettered in track, tennis and won the Pacific Coast Inter-Collegiate basketball boxing championship. He was a member of the Franklin Literary Society, played the piano accompaniments for the Glee Club for four years and in his senior year, wrote the music, score and produced the senior play.

Mr. Tomlinson was married to Eloise Martin of Sheffield, August 28, 1930. They met while both were students at Whittier College. There he made by Armour set at an amount which will cover the principal and interest payments on the bonds.

Miss Price, Mr. Howard Wed In Evening Ceremony

Against the stained glass windows of First Methodist Church, Florence, white tapers shone in seven-branched candelabra and arrangements of all-white blossoms against a background of greenery marked the candlelight altar where Elizabeth Carol Price and Arthur Gholson Howard, Jr., pledged their troths on Saturday evening, April fifteenth. The Reverend R. Lambuth Archibald read the half past seven o'clock vows.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Henderson Price of Florence and the bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gholson Howard of Tusculum.

Wedding music was by Alan Flowers, organist, and Floyd C. McCullure, vocal soloist, and candlelighters were David Howard, youngest brother of the bridegroom, and John Severin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore white peau de soie fashioned along princess lines. A deep band of Alencon lace at the squared neckline was re-embroidered with pearls and appliques of the lace complemented the cloud-ful skirt. Long, tapering sleeves which came to points over the hands and a butterfly bustle at the skirt back were other distinguishing features. Her only ornament was a diamond pendant, gift of the bridegroom. Her fingertip veil of triple illusion was caught to a crown of pearls and she carried a cascade bouquet of Easter lilies.

Mr. Howard's father was his best man and ushers were Robert Bynum Howard and William Meckon Howard, his brothers; John Hammond Christopher, William Lux of Memphis, James Kilpatrick of Cullman and Robert Adams of Jackson, Mississippi.

Miss Janet Price was her sister's maid of honor and bridesmaids included Miss Patricia Ann Porter and Miss Barbara Rabold of Bowling Green, Kentucky; Miss Mary Orr of Hartselle; Miss Mary Norris, Mrs. Pete Hugh Smith, and Miss Pamela Bull of Florence. Linda Price and May Woodie Howard, sisters of the bride and bridegroom, were junior maids. They wore identical frocks of aqua blue silk organza with bouffant overskirts of matching re-embroidered lace, each detailed with a flat organza bow. Flat bows were also their headresses and baskets of white stock and pink champagne roses, their flowers. Little Mary Lynn Rabold, wearing full-skirted white silk organza, served as flower girl.

Mrs. Price, mother of the bride, chose for the wedding and the reception to which she and Mr. Price were hosts later at Florence Golf and Country Club a gown of rose-colored lace, matching accessories and a white orchid corsage; Mrs. Howard, mother of the bridegroom, wore lilac silk embroidered organza, lilac accessories and she, too, wore white orchids.

Assisting with the reception courtesies were Mrs. W. L. Rabold, Mrs. C. A. Porter, Mrs. T. T. Atkins, Jr., Mrs. John Wilks, Mrs. Norwood Boston, Mrs. Robert Walker, Mrs. Frank Palmer, Mrs. Ben Palmer, Mrs. Robert B. Howard, Mrs. Charles Matthews, Mrs. William Cammack, Mrs. Jack Bull, Mrs. A. I. Beadle, Mrs. Thomas F. Smith, Mrs. Robert P. Howard, Mrs. Earl Bradley, Mrs. L. E. Bayles, Mrs. Shrader Casey, Mrs. James Koonce, Mrs. Charles Peery, Mrs. Thomas McGough, Mrs. Charles Barr, Mrs. J. R. Severin, Mrs. Wyatt Simpson, Mrs. A. R. Tomlinson, Mrs. Tollie Sailors, Mrs. Green Alonzo Taylor, Jr., Mrs. Edwin Booker, Miss Mary Virginia Cammack, Miss Lois Lumpkins, Miss Jordan Hairston and Miss Dianne Perkins.

For travel, the bride wore a suit of green silk shantung, green straw pillbox hat, matching accessories and, at her shoulder, a white orchid.

Returning today from the North Carolina Mountains, Mr. and Mrs. Howard will be at home on the lake until they leave late next month for Fort Belvoir, Va., where he will serve with the United States Army.

Following the rehearsal of plans on Friday evening, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Gholson Howard honored their son and his bride-of-the-next-day at the family home in Tusculum, including in their invitations out-of-town guests and family members of the two families.

Mrs. David Rosenbaum Presented At Bridal Tea

Against an all-pink flowering background, Mrs. Louis Rosenbaum and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Stanley Rosenbaum, welcomed two hundred twenty-five guests to an afternoon tea at the senior Rosenbaums' residence, 426 North Wood Avenue, on Saturday and presented to their friends Dianne Pogue Rosenbaum whose marriage to David Rosenbaum, their son and grandson, took place a few weeks ago.

Pink stock and pink tulips, with small bouquets of sweetheart roses and candytuft on end tables, decorated the livingroom where the hostesses and honoree were joined in receiving by the latter's mother, Mrs. James F. Pogue, and her grandmother, Mrs. William Spurgeon, the bride wearing for the occasion pastel-flowered white chiffon and, at her shoulder, a white orchid.

Pink roses in the hall and a traditional arrangement of snapdragons and carnations on the silver-appointed teatable completed the decorative theme.

Mrs. Bower's Luncheon Honors Georgia Visitor

A courtesy to Mrs. Jack Bower, here from her home in Bainbridge, Ga., for a visit with her son, Byron Bower, and his family at their home on North Seminary St., was the luncheon of Saturday to which the honoree's daughter-in-law invited friends made by her guest on former visits.

Spring bouquets lent additional charm to the Williamsburg Room of The Town Club, the luncheon setting, and mixed arrangements centered the two tables around which guests were seated.

Among the pleasanties which have filled Mrs. Bower's calendar since her arrival a week ago is today's motor trip to Aberdeen, Miss., with Mrs. T. M. Rogers, Mrs. Leo King, Mrs. W. L. Foy and Mrs. Henry Bradshaw as travel companions. They are guests-for-the-day of Mrs. James Acker.

The visitor expects to return home this weekend.

Mrs. Moore Fetes "Back Home" Visitors

An antique milk glass bowl of iris and spirea fashioned the centerpiece for Mrs. Walter Moore's serving table last mid-week when she entertained with a morning coffee in compliment to two former Florentines, Mrs. Duncan Moore of New Orleans and Miss Elizabeth Norvell who is here from Saudi Arabia for a two months' visit with her mother, Mrs. Lester Norvell.

Spring flowers also graced the livingroom of the Moores' new home in Green Meadows where longtime friends of the honoree exchanged experiences and "caught up" on recent happenings as they chatted the morning away. Hours were from half past ten 'til twelve.

Miss Neal Presents Own Book At Firenze

Mrs. A. J. Darby, vice-president of Firenze Club, presided over last Thursday's meeting which took place at The Town Club with Mrs. Walter Brown serving as the day's hostess.

In presenting the program, Miss Julia Neal gave members of the group a preview of her hitherto unpublished diary of Eldress Nancy Moore, a member of the Shaker Colony whose historical background has been interestingly uncovered through the local author's research and resultant volumes. A religious group which came to America before the Revolution, Miss Neal told of its gradual migration west to Kentucky; of the difficulties withstood in order to remain pacifists during the War Between The States; and of its continuance in tact at South Union there.

Mrs. Paul Barr and Mrs. Henry Richeson presided at the teatable where Ghent azaleas, sent from Belgium by the hostess' brother, were the blossoming centerpiece.

Included with club members were Mrs. John Lord, Mrs. B. O. Chaney, and Mrs. Mary Newborn of Oklahoma City, Okla.

Judge Hill Guest Speaker At Discussion Club Meeting

Discussion Club members were welcomed for their April meeting by Mrs. W. W. Slaton and Mrs. Henry Bradshaw who entertained last Thursday afternoon at "Mapleton," home of the former.

Judge Robert M. Hill, present to give the program, talked on a subject to which he has given great consideration, "Youth In The Tolls."

Judge Hill elaborated on the thought that, in the handling of young people in trouble and delinquent, the important approach is toward treatment rather than punishment alone. "This is necessary," he said, "if we are to create good citizens of them . . . There is no substitute for the home and the family in molding good character in the young . . . The parents are first responsible and for those who fail we must provide, as far as is possible, a substitute . . . The Church and the School are helpful factors, but our courts must be adequately staffed to give treatment looking toward reformation of delinquent children who show possibilities of good citizenship . . ."

Guests Supplementing the membership were Mrs. Hill, Mrs. Warden Cook of Lake Orion, Mich., Mrs. J. V. Cosby Summerell and Mrs. Jack Bower of Bainbridge, Ga.

We at McCorkle's have just received a shipment of Maytag washers at Carload prices. Come in and trade that old washer in on a new Maytag or Hotpoint washer . . . we will allow you the most liberal allowance for your old washer.

Have you shopped our newly decorated store in East Florence lately? You will find all lamps in the store at 1/2 price . . . in fact every item is reduced from 20% to 50% in each store. Where else can you find a 9x12 Gold Seal Rug for $9.95 . . . a cotton felt Mattress for only $9.95 . . . a dozen on innerspring Mattress made by Perfection for $19.95 . . . a 144-In. Sectional Sofa for as little as $69.95 other than at McCorkle's?

WATCH THOSE CARRYING CHARGES!

You know there is a big difference in our carrying charges. Suppose you bought $1,000.00 worth of furniture from us on 24 months basis—you would pay $120.00 carrying charges at 6% per year. Suppose you bought the same amount from another dealer that financed his accounts with a finance company at 10%—you would pay $200.00 carrying charges for 24 months. Then if you bought from a dealer that charges 12% carrying charge, you would pay $240.00 for 24 months. So, you see that you would save $120.00 on financing charges alone plus what you would save on the furniture if you bought from us. How about that for a real saving?

Watch those discount and wholesale houses. They remind me of a wolf in sheeps clothing. There is not a reputable retail furniture store that can't buy or sell for less than any of them. The only way you can buy furniture wholesale is direct from the factory like all reputable retail dealers do. It seems like a good deal when a discount house advertises a Hotpoint range a $399.95 value for only $199.95 . . . we had the same range and have never offered it for more than $199.95. In fact, most all Hotpoint appliances carry from 20% to 25% profits. So you see folks, it will pay you to watch those big discounts.

Remember folks, McCorkle's finance their own accounts at only 6% carrying charges and never sell your accounts to a finance company. Believe us, this means something during a recession or during sickness. If you buy furniture from a dealer that finances his accounts with a finance company, it is out of his hands until it is paid off or you miss a payment, and the finance company orders him to pick up your furniture.

Remember folks, McCorkle's guarantee their prices. If you buy furniture from McCorkle's and find the same furniture for less, within 30 days, McCorkle's will refund the entire purchase price, whether you get prices from a so-called wholesale house or discount house. Come in today and shop with us and you will see why McCorkle's is known as "the store greater values built."

Why do you trust this man to feed your family?

HAVE you ever realized that the most precious thing you buy every day is food? Probably not. Yet your own family's health and well-being depend largely on the quality of food you buy. Your food store dealer never forgets this fact. That's why he's as careful of the food he offers you as he is with the food he takes home to his own family.

While experience has taught you to rely on him for the best—most wholesome—foods, you likely take for granted his constant check for quality...his investment in new and better foods...and that he brings all of this to you at a price you know is right.

And how rewarding for you if your favorite food store gives you S&H Green Stamps.

You know, of course, that half the families in America save them today.

Arrow Awarded Contract By TVA

Barging Service Rates On Coal Haul To Colbert Steam Plant Approved

TVA has awarded a 17½-year contract to Arrow Transportation Company of Sheffield to barge coal from the Louisville & Nashville Railroad's rail-barge terminal at Florence to Colbert Steam Plant, which is now under construction and expected to be completed by July 1.

During the period of the contract, about 2,250,000 tons of coal a year is expected to be handled. Rates for the barging range from 10½ cents a ton for a minimum of 14,000 tons a week to 6½ cents a ton for a maximum of 45,000 tons a week. If maximum use is made of this new service, the barging costs under the contract could reach $2,559,374.

The barging service ties in with rates on transportation of coal recently established by the L&N from west Kentucky mines to Florence with the use of those rates plus the rates involved in the barging contract just awarded permitting delivery of west Kentucky coal to the Colbert plant via a new route.

Weekly tonnages will range as follows under the plan: 14,000 to 23,000 tons a week; 23,001 to 31,000 tons a week; 31,001 to 45,000 tons a week. The ranges will vary with due notice to be given Arrow and probably all three ranges will be in effect during the 17½ years of life of the contract.

Arrow will utilize three barges in the operation, which are 195 feet long, 35 feet wide and 11 feet deep, each barge carrying 1,600 tons of coal at a time, the equivalent of 30 freight cars loaded with coal.

You can now deduct costs of fertilizer and lime—including application—as ordinary business expense on your income tax return.

THE SPILLWAY

"And may I always listen to The Anniversary Waltz with you!"

WE HAD TWO happy anniversary celebrations this past week, and join in with our warmest congratulations to both couples. Betty and Bill Hairston must've been very happy Sunday when they realized that their daughters, Lynn and Jordan, had planned a wonderful celebration for their twenty-fifth anniversary, with the help of Mary and Roy Doster, at whose home the reception was held. Mary and Roy had both been in the wedding, and even had the bride's book there to bring back memories. . . . And the eleventh anniversary of Marilyn and Bill Moore (who now live near Meridian, Mississippi) must've been made even happier when Margaret and Fred arrived from Florence to celebrate with them and their two cute small-fry. Bet Susan enjoyed "showing-off" her new baby brother to his doting grandparents, and we hope we'll be hearing all about it.

ANOTHER MISSING HOSTESS . . . second time in two weeks . . . and our missing hostess this week was Virginia Bower, who'd arranged such a nice luncheon for (her mother-in-law) Mrs. Bower who's here from her home in Georgia for a visit with Byron and Virginia, along with Hollis, Byron, and Eve. But the two dozen guests were received by Mamie Conner in Virginia's absence, and a very fine party was reported, sans hostess.

SMALL WORLD, isn't it? This is bound to have been the first remark made by Edna and Henry Lamar when they walked into a Montreal (Canada) hotel and met Joe Meade. You just can't get away from Florence, Alabama.

ON THE AVENUE . . . Don't think it was part of the Centennial Celebration, but it could've been. A charming sight it was . . . Ellen King, the third lovely daughter of Madding and Sue, driving up north Pine Street Sunday afternoon in a small open-buggy drawn by a happy looking pony. (And it was a happy looking Susan too!)

SPEAKING OF THE CENTENNIAL, we can't refrain from mentioning more of the beards, because they're all worthy of note . . . Hope you've seen Capt. Ashcraft, the popular Junior High School prof. (Must be a real topic of conversation in the classroom) . . . and then don't miss Henry Pittman's black beard, and Rollins Sevier's bright red one!

IT WAS NO SURPRISE to her many friends, but didn't Carol Price make the loveliest bride last Saturday night? In fact, many of the wedding guests have remarked at the loveliness of the bridal party as a whole.

AND WE HOPE you were there to enjoy the tea which Anna and Mildred Rosenbaum gave for their new daughter-in-law Dianne (Poague), bride of David Rosenbaum . . . a lovely tea table set on a Brussels lace cloth which drew many "oh's and ah's" from the guests . . . gorgeous flower arrangements in pink and white . . . Anna's attractive home . . . but most of all, the radiant and beautiful bride . . . just made us glad that we were included in the guest list!

HEAR THAT the Medical Auxiliary lived up to its reputation for clever parties to honor their doctor-husbands . . . with a square dance out at Deibert's barn . . . the "docs" in overalls and plaid shirts, and their "better-half-s" in fancy dresses, big hats, pig-tails, and what-have-you.

WE LEARN—WITH REGRETS—that Mary Bailes, who has had a bit of a stay out ECM hospital way is soon to move over to Atlanta to make her home with "her children" Mary Evans and Frank Malone. We're so happy for all of them . . . and especially for Mary who has just had about the most fun during the past week-end when Son-In-Law Colonel Tom Maxwell flew in from Honolulu for a visit followed by Grandson (Lt.) Jesse Maxwell and wife Joan enroute to his assignment at Fort Gordon, Ga. . . . and you should have seen the unusual Hawaiian flowers lugged by Tom from that far-away land.

GLAD TO KNOW that our young friend, Dale Jordan, is on the mend, with all "members" in tact, after his accident with the lawn-mower. We hear that the Coffee High students were concerned over next fall's foot-ball games, as well as over the health of this popular full-back.

IDLY WONDERING if the "responsibles" for naming our Edgemont sections (One and Two) haven't wished they'd named them "Dogwoods," because no one driving around out there could help but admire the hundreds of dogwood trees which are now in full bloom. And our "Yard of the week" is that of Lou and Zack Wakefield on Ingleside. If you haven't driven out that way, don't let another day go by . . . And speaking of yards, drive past the John Holmes home on Jackson Road ANY time of the year, and you'll be inspired to go home and start in on a home-improvement program, because even when there were three active boys living there, neatness and beauty were outstanding around this yard.

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY . . . IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW.

Alabama newspaper editors and publishers will hold conventions this summer at Dauphin Island and next winter at Birmingham, the Alabama Press Association decided at a recent meeting of the board of directors.

Winners in the annual better newspaper contest will be announced during the summer Dauphin Island meeting. According to APA President Harold S. May, co-publisher of The Florence Herald, the convention will be held sometime during the month of July.

May also announced that E. B. Charest was elected second vice president of the Press Association at its winter convention in Huntsville last February.

Other officers are Glenn Stanley, publisher of the Greenville Advocate, first vice president; James E. Mills, editor of the Birmingham Post-Herald, chairman of the board; and Jones Giles, secretary and manager of the state office at Tuscaloosa.

Money Saved On Highway Projects

Competitive Bidding Pays Off As State Buys On Open Market

In the last 15 months, low bids on Alabama's state highway projects have run almost $6 million under the official estimates. "This means the department has nearly $6 million more to spend on additional roads throughout Alabama," Highway Director Sam Engelhardt said.

"Here is dramatic proof of the fruits of competitive bidding," Governor Patterson said. "In a period when prices are steadily rising, we are able to build more roads and better roads at lower cost."

The governor pointed out that the state buys road-building materials in such quantity—for repairing and re-surfacing of highways—that contractors building new roads are also able to buy the materials much cheaper on the open market.

For the last 15 lettings, Highway Director Engelhardt said department estimates were $101,525,707.91 and low bids totaled $95,581,468.09—or $5,944,239.82 under the estimated costs. Low bids were less than the official estimates, in fact, on 14 of the 15 lettings.

On one bidding, the bids were $803,000 under the $8,600,000 estimate.

New Feed Grain Program To Help

In an effort to prevent the further buildup of the country's three-billion-bushel feed grain surplus, the U.S. Department of Agriculture recently announced a new program.

Auburn Extension Service Farm Management Specialist Sidney Bell says that the government will pay cooperative farmers for switching part of their corn acreage to soil conserving crops and will also support the price of corn grown on the rest of the farmer's acreage.

Bell says that the program should help increase farm income to some extent; help assure the consumer of fair and stable prices for meat, poultry, and dairy products; and reduce ultimate feed grain program costs to taxpayers by about $500 million. Full information will soon be available through local county agents and ASC offices, he adds.

Important Bills Passed By Senate

Measure To Combat Juvenile Crime; Nurse Training Approved

Within 24 hours, the Senate recently (April 12) passed two bills sponsored by Senator Lister Hill. These bills are:

1. A measure designed to make a major step forward in the battle against the serious problem of juvenile delinquency in America; and

2. A bill to extend for an additional four years the Practical Nurse Training Program which began under a Hill-sponsored measure in 1956.

Under the Hill plan, the Government will share with local and State authorities the responsibility for financing programs to develop and to demonstrate ways and means to identify, prevent and treat juvenile delinquency.

One provision of the Hill bill lays the groundwork for a training program to provide specialists in the field of juvenile delinquency. The training phase will be coordinated with the research and study programs.

"I certainly do not think this bill is a cure-all for our delinquency problem," said Senator Hill. "I am convinced, however, that the program—evolved from long and careful study by our Senate Committee—can provide the basis for a coordinated, nation-wide campaign to help us research, diagnose, treat — and above all, to prevent this most distressing and dangerous national problem," said Hill.

Commenting on the extension of the Hill Practical Nurse Training Program, the Alabama Senator emphasized that while there is a need for at least 300,000 practical nurses in hospitals, nursing homes and related institutions throughout the United States, there are today only slightly more than half this number of practical nurses available.

"Under the Practical Nurse Training Program, we have made splendid strides forward in our efforts to overcome the shortage of practical nurses in America," said Senator Hill, "but we have far to go."

"In Alabama alone," continued Hill, "we are training less than 500 practical nurses per year when our minimum need is at least double this number."

The Practical Nurse Training bill now goes to President Kennedy for his signature. The Juvenile Delinquency bill goes to the House for consideration.

Tomlinson Tells Of Forestry Work

Charles Tomlinson, local forester who manages one of the largest single tracts of forest lands in Colbert county, was the guest speaker before the Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon.

Dr. Henry W. Cheney was in charge of program arrangements and presented the speaker. Mr. Tomlinson gave a most interesting discussion of modern forestry and showed where its part in the present day conservation movement plays a most important part. He compared today's program with that of early days when all owners of timber land were interested in was "cut and get out" and gave no thought to future operations.

The speaker explained what took place in scientific production of timber and gave data on the financial return of tree farming. He told of the timber situation in Lauderdale and Colbert counties and pointed to the possible returns as the result of selling pulp wood to the nearby Tennessee River Pulp and Paper Co., now in operation.

Lexington Sets Spring Festival

The annual Spring Festival will be held at Lexington School on April 26 and April 27. The Festival will open ceremoniously with the processional and the crowning of Miss Lexington School, Mary Ann Mabe, and her escort, Clay Hammond, who represented the Eighth Grade in the contest.

A colorful program will follow the coronation. The theme of this year's program is "Remember When."

The performance will begin at 7:30 p.m. each evening. Admission will be by ticket only, advance sales having been made recently.

Speaker Tells Of Poverty In Iraq

Land Rich But People Have Little; No School And Very Few Skills

Sabah S. Kachachi of Baghdad, Iraq, was guest speaker for the annual luncheon meeting of the Florence League of Women Voters held April 18th at Holiday Inn. He was introduced by V. W. Mosteller, Administrative Officer in charge of Public Relations for TVA, where Mr. Kachachi is currently studying methods of production of chemical fertilizers, ammonia, nitric acid, ammonium sulfate and ammonium nitrate in connection with his work as Assistant to the Director for Planning and Development for Iraq.

Tracing the development of Iraq since it became an independent nation in 1921, Mr. Kachachi described it as a land of extremes with fabulously rich landowners living in luxury and farmers and laborers barely existing on incomes of $100.00 to $150.00 per year. There are no schools, no formal constitution, no rights or privileges for the women. The people are illiterate and uneducated and although they do not want or like Communism, the Communists have helped them to learn skills by living with them on their level. Mr. Kachachi made a strong plea for aid to his countrymen on a "person to person" level stating that this is the kind of help they need most and can best understand, and heartily endorsed President Kennedy's proposed "Peace Corps."

Mrs. Atherton Hastings, the retiring president, presided. Guests included Mr. Mosteller; Dr. E. B. Norton, who gave the invocation, and Mrs. Norton; Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ector; Mr. W. L. Foy; Charles Rasch; Mr. and Mrs. Henry Putman; Mrs. John G. Lord; Atherton Hastings; Chris Eckel and Mrs. Oscar Lewis.

Canadian Ballet Happily Received

Final Program Of 24th Concert Series Proves Most Delightful Event

The National Ballet of Canada, presented as the concluding program of the 24th annual series of the Muscle Shoals Concert Association, was delightfully received at Coffee High School auditorium Monday night by a capacity audience. The ballet "Coppelia" or "The Girl with Enamel Eyes" captured the fancy of the entire audience who lived with the story from the beginning number when Swanilda fools Doctor Coppélius, the toymaker into believing that she is a doll gradually coming to life.

Judie Colman, as Swanilda and the premiere danseuse of the beautifully staged ballet; Grant Strate as Coppélius and Earl Kraul, Swanilda's betrothed, were excellent in their roles and the audience lived with them the pretty little story that was the thread of the entire ballet.

Youth, attractiveness and perfection were the outstanding features of each performer and the charm of the story and its thrilling presentation captured the hearts of the delighted audience.

With the story of the ballet being concluded early in the third act, the closing numbers, "The Dance of Hours" proved as light and airy and left the pleased audience in the happiest frame of mind.

The consensus was that no finer presentation has been seen on the local stage.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER — STAYS TOGETHER"

MY WISH

Three is such a tender age. Sue isn't a baby any more, yet she's a long way from being a big girl.

When I watched her blowing out the candles on her cake, I felt a surge of that certain kind of love reserved for mothers. And, while she made her wish, I made mine.

I wished, first, that I might be given the gift of memory, so that I would never forget a child's point of view—the importance of even the littlest promises, the oldest dolls, the smallest nothings.

I wished that I might be given the wisdom to care for Sue's body, mind, and soul. And I was deeply grateful that I had the Church to help me teach her right from wrong, and to aid me in endowing her with a rich measure of faith, of love, and of tolerance toward her fellow man.

Thinking it over, I guess that my wish for Sue might be called a prayer. Each Sunday, in church, I find myself repeating it.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Soybean Increase Sought This Year

Good Profit Crop Used In Poultry And Stock Feeds Of All Kinds

By JOHN HENDERSON
Assistant County Agent

Soybeans offer farmers in Lauderdale County an opportunity to increase their farm income this year. It is about the only farm product without surplus problems. Alabama growers are favorably situated for both domestic markets and export. We use tremendous amounts of soybean meal in poultry and other livestock feeds. Alabama growers receive about 15c per bushel more than midwest growers.

The present acreage in Alabama now is approximately 146,000 acres. Average yield in the state is 24 bushels per acre which is the average in the big soybean producing states. A yield of 24 bushels per acre is equal in net returns to 50 bushels of corn. Farmers usually receive about $1.00 per bushel more for soybeans than for corn.

According to agricultural economists, it cost approximately $38.00 per acre to produce soybeans. This is about $5.00 per acre less than the estimated cost of producing an acre of corn. A yield of 17 bushels per acre is considered the break-even point in soybean production. A yield of 20 bushels should net $5.00 per acre and a yield of 25 bushels should net $15.00 per acre in a normal season. Following good recommended practices, farmers in our county should be able to make yields of thirty bushels or more per acre.

Soybeans fit well in rotation with winter grazing and small grain crops harvested for hay. Another advantage is that the crop can be handled entirely with machinery. Farmers who have released their cotton acreage or those who have reduced cotton acreage due to controls, should consider growing some soybeans. Growing soybeans now could help establish a base if restrictions or acreage allotments should come later.

EQUIPMENT: A farmer growing soybeans should have the usual equipment for soil preparation and cultivation. He should also have a combine or be able to obtain custom combine service.

SOILS: Plant soybeans only on good soil that will produce 40-50 bushels of corn or a bale of cotton per acre with good management. A farmer should never try to grow beans on land too poor to make good yields of other crops. It is also important that soybeans should not be attempted on soil badly infested with Johnson grass.

SOIL PREPARATION: Land should be turned, harrowed and a good seedbed established as for cotton or any other crop.

LIME AND FERTILIZER: The right use of lime and fertilizer is absolutely necessary for good bean yields. The only way to be sure of the right kind and amount of fertilizer and lime is to take a soil test. There is still plenty of time to get your recommendations back before planting. Cartons and instructions for taking soil samples can be obtained at the County Agent's Office. If soil is not tested use 300 to 400 pounds of 0-14-14 or 200 to 300 pounds of 20 percent superphosphate and 70 to 100 pounds of 60 percent muriate of potash or 500 to 800 pounds of basic slag and 70 to 100 pounds of muriate of potash. So that fertilizer will not come in contact with the seed and injure the stand, apply the fertilizer either to the side and below the seed or seven to ten days ahead of planting.

PLANTING: It is very impor-

Some Soils Take To Irrigation

Wondering whether or not the soil on your farm is desirable for irrigation?

Auburn Extension Irrigation Specialist Lawrence Ennis says that highly fertile soils of medium texture with a sub soil only slightly finer textured than the surface are ideal for irrigation. According to Ennis, some of these irrigation "desirables" include sandy loam, fine sandy loam, silt loam, and loam. Less desirable are clay loam, silty clay loam, and loamy sands. And extremely sandy soils and deep sands generally are poor risks, too, he adds.

Ennis advises farmers to plan irrigation for 1961 now since it will take some time to get equipment.

tant that beans be planted on time. For this area the recommended time is May 1st to May 30. Plant at the rate of one good seed per inch in 36-40 inch rows for early plantings or 18-28 inch rows for late plantings. This will take about 50-70 pounds of seed per acre. Inoculate seed with a regular commercial soybean inoculant. Lee and Hood are the recommended varieties for our area. Plant only when soil moisture is adequate for seed germination.

CULTIVATION: Soybeans usually require three or four cultivations, an early cultivation with rotary hoe or weeder and two or three with sweeps. Early cultivation is very important in order to control weeds and grass.

INSECTS: Mexican bean beetle, grasshoppers, blister beetles, stinkbugs and a few other insects may damage plants and cut yields. Plants should be checked every two or three days for signs of build up of infestations. Five per cent DDT dust applied at the rate of 20-25 pounds per acre will control all insects except the Mexican Bean Beetle and grasshoppers. These can be controlled with 20% toxaphene at the rate of 20-25 pounds per acre. For further recommendations on insect control, contact the County Agent's Office.

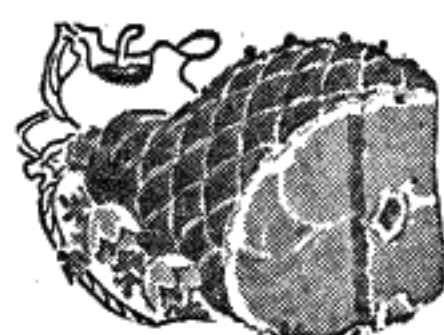

HARVESTING: Combine when the pods are dry and the beans are hard. A good indication is when the pods will crack open easily as they are pressed between the fingers. Usually after the first frost there will be less green material in with the combined beans and this reduces the chances of heating in storage. Some producers find it best to combine early in the morning to take advantage of dew and reduce shattering. Moisture content of beans should be 13% or less when harvested.

Bagging Rules For Seed Cited

"Some producers of certified seed are not obeying the bagging requirements set by the Alabama Crop Improvement Association," says Melvin Moor, Auburn Extension Service seed marketing specialist.

Moor points out that it is unlawful for growers to put seed that is not certified in bags carrying the AICA emblem. "Although certification is void on any bag unless it also carries the certification tag and seal, the use of the emblem on uncertified bags of seed is misleading and a violation of the state law," he adds.

"All growers should make arrangements now for new printed bags carrying the emblem of the AICA to put all their 1961 certified seed in," says Moor. And he adds that all bag manufacturers either have copies of the emblem or can get one from the AICA office.
