The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● We have said repeatedly that there will be no shooting war over Berlin. Now, after hearing the President Tuesday night, we are not too sure. The picture he painted was not a pretty one but the strength of his words and the solid stand he has taken against giving any more ground in his attempts to stem the tide toward war as instigated by the roughneck in the Kremlin, deserves the praise—as well as the full support—of every true American. Possibly such a stand should have been taken many months ago but one thing is certain today—Khrushchey knows the chips are down.

● Be charitable—if you don't have money, give blood.

● We like the cutie about the little four-year-old girl who was alone in the nursery with the door closed and fastened when her little brother knocked on the door to enter. "I want to turn in, Sissy," announced the young gentleman. "But you can't turn in, Tommy, I'm in my nightgown and nurse says little boys mustn't see little girls in their nightgowns." There was a moment of silence as the little fellow tried to figure his predicament. Finally, Sissy spoke up again: "You can turn in now, Tommy—I took my nightie off."

● Warning—approach every school the way you did as a kid... slowly.

● Far be it from us to cause you any unhappiness but we must tell you that Income Tax Form 1040W, introduced in 1959 for use of taxpayers having income mainly from wages, is to vanish from the current tax scene. The IRS has announced that the better features of 1040W (what do they mean by better features?) will be combined with the old 1040 to make a new 1040 for 1961 returns. No major changes are planned for the punch card form 1040A. Taxes, however, remain as taxes have a habit of doing.

● It's a wise man who can distinguish between good, sound reasons and reasons that sound good.

● A friend of ours, who recently spent a day in Birmingham, tells us of an incident that took place while he was riding an early morning bus in the Magic City. Just a few blocks before he reached his destination, a man, some the worse for wear from an apparent all-night party, got on the bus and sat down beside him. As soon as he got himself comfortably seated, he took a map from his pocket, unfolded it and started looking it over. Finally, after turning it one way and then another, he turned to our friend and asked: "Are we on the right bus?" Our friend then took a look at the map. It was a map of Cuba.

● Who remembers way back when the TV screens were filled with quiz shows?

● A young man of your and our acquaintance tells us he is selling his small foreign car. When asked for more information, he said: "It takes so long for it to run out of gas, my love life is suffering."

● Are you troubled with pigeons? We understand that the pigeon population of this immediate area is growing by leaps and bounds. Or should we say flights? Should you be troubled with these birds, the suggestion is made that if you hang feather dusters from the eaves of your house, pigeons will find other places to roost. We don't know, however, what your neighbors might say about the decorations on your house.

Reapportionment Re-Introduced By Rep. Broadfoot

Governor John Patterson's forces have bounced back with a new reapportionment bill reintroduced in the House on Friday by Lauderdale Rep. Robert Broadfoot. The bill is virtually the same one that was turned down by the House however it was turned in to the legislative mill after the House refused to reconsider an earlier vote killing a pending reapportionment measure.

The state Senate experienced a wildcat filibuster Tuesday when after a brief stalling, it called up and passed a score or more of uncontested local bills. That body's number one controversial issue, the congressional redistricting bill, may come to a head next week, it was stated, with a meeting of the Senate Rules Committee.

Freedom Rides Hit
Across the Hall the House highlighted its short day by passing its measure to outlaw segregation-testing "freedom" rides. It sent the bill to the Senate.

In the Senate Senator Barnett held the floor for four and a half hours to block a constitutional amendment that would allow new residents to vote after one year instead of the present two years, and six months in a county instead of twelve.

The bill aimed at abolishing "freedom rides" passed the House on a roll call vote of 95-0. It provides a maximum penalty of $300 and six months in jail for anyone who announces in advance and then carries out a planned challenge of the state's segregation tradition.

Bill Hits Proration
Another bill tossed in the legislative hopper was by Perry County's Representative T. R. Long to keep proration of school funds from going any higher than the present level of 9.4 per cent. He said he believed the cutback would climb to 12 per cent in August or September unless more money is provided.

Would Abolish Schools
Rep. Walter Perry of Birmingham introduced a bill to abolish public primary and secondary schools and to distribute school taxes to parents of school-age children, possibly to establish private schools.

"There can be no question that the only choice remaining to our

Unreserved Approval Given

Coffee Hospital Receives 3-Years Accreditation

The coveted recognition of full and complete patient services has been received by Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital from the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals, Dr. Kenneth B. Babcock, Director.

Three-Year Accreditation
In a letter to R. C. Barnes, general manager, received Friday, Dr. Babcock said in part:

"The Board of Commissioners of the Joint Commission on Accreditation of Hospitals has approved the recommendation that the Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital be accredited for a period of three years or until a subsequent survey is conducted. This is the result of the evaluation of the hospital conducted on June 14th, 1961, by Earl F. Weir, M.D., a field representative of the Commission."

"The Commission wishes to commend you for maintaining standards deserving of accreditation and for your constant effort to improve the quality of patient care. Please be assured of our interest and our willingness to be of all possible help to you."

The Joint Commission on Accreditation is composed of the following organizations: The American College of Physicians, American College of Surgeons, American Hospital Association, American Medical Association.

Voluntary Program
The accreditation of hospitals is a voluntary program of hospitals that wish to maintain recognized standards and improve the quality of their patient care. The program was originally instigated by the American College of Surgeons in 1933 and was later brought to include the other agencies.

Hospitals are rated three ways by the Commission: One year accreditation, three years accreditation, and non-accreditation. The one year accreditation is in substance provisional accreditation and three year accreditation is full accreditation. If a hospital is given a one-year accreditation, it must gain full accreditation within a one-year period of time or be non-accredited.

The Eliza Coffee Memorial Hospital has been accredited since 1948. At the time this hospital first became accredited, it was one of only seventeen hospitals in the state of Alabama to have such accreditation. It was the first hospital in North Alabama to become accredited.

The program of the Commission deals with all aspects of the hospital to insure the highest quality of care for the patients which includes professional services, environmental sanitation, safety, protection against fire and other hazards.

Full Cooperation
The manner in which the hospital medical staff unites and works together in consultation in many cases to assure the patient the best of care is a most valuable and effective service for the welfare of the patients and often the family is not aware of nor realizes how much free care is given the patient.

The board of directors of the hospital is composed of Judge Estes R. Plynt, chairman; Mayor E. F. Martin, co-chairman; Dr. D. W. Hollingsworth, Judge O. B. Hill, Judge Grady R. Williams, U. O. Redd, Sr., Jewett T. Flagg, William H. Mitchell and Harold S. May.

The medical staff for 1961 is composed of Dr. W. S. Bradley, Jr., president of the Medical Staff; Dr. Harry V. Herndon, vice-president; Dr. Kirk R. Diebert, secretary; Dr. M. M. Jackson, Chief of Medicine; Dr. Preston S. Trousdale, Chief of Surgery; Dr. J. G. Middleton, Chief of Pediatrics; Dr. W. G. Butler, Jr., Chief of Obstetrics; and Dr. L. E. Bayles, Chief of General Practice Section.

Economy Sound

Mr. Kennedy recommended no immediate increase in taxes, that the country was economically sound and that its economy could easily stand the additional shock of the extra billions for defense spending. He did say a general tax boost would be forthcoming if general conditions did not continue to improve however.

Blames Russia

The President was uncompromising when he laid the blame for the Berlin crisis at Russia's door. Summing it up he said, "...we seek peace but we shall not surrender." "If war begins," he said, "it will have begun in Moscow and not in Berlin." He added that every effort would be made to find a peaceful solution and that while we "are ready to defend our interests" we shall also be ready to "search for peace."

He called on the Western allies to assume their share of the risks and burdens though what he expected was not definitely detailed in his speech.

Four Steps

Mr. Kennedy's four steps briefly were as follows:

1. To increase the authorized strength of the Army from 875,000 to 1,000,000 men in order to fill out present Army divisions and make more men available for the military forces. This would mean 29,000 more men for the Navy and increase the Air Force by 63,000.

2. The doubling and tripling of draft calls in the coming months and the authority to order certain reserves and individuals to active duty. This would include a number of Air Transport squadrons and Air National Guard tactical air squadrons "to give us additional airlift capacity and protection."

3. Increase in strategic air power by delaying the retirement of B-57 bombers and many ships and planes headed for retirement, increasing our seafleet and airlift capacity and anti-submarine warfare capability.

4. The last would be the spending of $1.8 billion for non-nuclear weapons, ammunition and equipment.

As to civil defense the President said that the $207 million he requested would be out to immediate use for the following purposes:

Marking spaces in existing structures for fall out shelters and stocking them with food, water and other essentials for survival in a nuclear war; increasing the capacity of such shelters; improving air raid warning and fall-out detection systems, including a new household warning system.

Satellites Will Provide Better Communications

A new era in communications will soon be a reality. The space age plan for communications might have appeared in a Buck Rogers sequence only a few years ago.

Who would have thought about fifty satellites in random polar orbits at a height of about 3,000 miles—these facilities could provide a communication network between the United States and all areas of the world. Continuous service to Europe could be provided with 20-25 active satellites that contain electronic repeaters to pick up signals from 26 transmitter-receiver ground stations, then amplify them for their return trip. What a dream—worldwide telephone and television!

Our nation's strength depends on its industry—its productive power. Industry today requires fast, dependable communications; and for that one reason, the Bell System's search for improvements moves forward at an unprecedented rate.

Southern Railway System said today that the lower freight rates which it has filed with the Southern Freight Association for the movement of grain will become effective on August 10 instead of August 15, as previously announced.

Southern said the new low rates are being put into effect in an effort to recapture for the rails the grain traffic which now moves mostly by unregulated carriers and, at the same time, to give to the users of grain and grain products the benefits of modern railroad technology.

Summer Meeting Witnesses Plan

Mid-summer convention plans are being finalized by the Florence congregation of Jehovah's Witnesses, it was announced today. Peter Avallone, local presiding minister, will head a delegation of about 10 to attend the United Worshipers District Assembly of Jehovah's Witnesses in Oklahoma City, Okla., August 8 to 13.

Mr. Avallone said the meeting will be held at the Oklahoma State Fairgrounds Grandstand and is expected to draw upwards of 10,000 delegates. It will be one in being held this summer by Jehovah's Witnesses in the United States, Canada and Europe. These conventions will have a uniform theme and program, consisting of morning, afternoon and evening sessions of Bible talks and practical demonstrations.

"The purpose of the Oklahoma City assembly," Avallone said, "is to provide advanced Bible instruction for Jehovah's Witnesses and others attending to enable them to apply Bible principles more fully to their everyday lives. These righteous principles are essential in the lives of Christians who are unitedly seeking and pursuing peace with God and with one another."

THE SPILLWAY

About this time of summer
You hear the term "dog days"
This year looks different "weather" you approve or not
So whenever you can... enjoy those few sun rays!"

RIDING UP AND DOWN THE LAKE, creeks and sloughs these days, we've seen many a person who anticipated our sentiments and are enjoying the activities offered those lucky enough to own or have access to a few feet of water-frontage... just recently we spied Annie Calhoun down on her pier, just relaxing and probably thinking of what she will do around the place when she and her husband, "General" Billy return when he retires from active service... When we rounded the bend we saw splashes of color on the lawn of Emory and Lois Morris' "Lookaway," and learned that Lois and Marie Callaway were having a party for out of town visitors... a very informal and gay gathering... Lois was glad for the shade trees on the spacious lawn, cause the sun's rays were merciless that day...

SPEAKING OF THE WATER-FRONT, plan to drive out and park your car... on the lake front this Sunday and watch the last of the regattas for the season planned by the members of the Sailing Club... you'll see twelve or fifteen of those beautiful sleek sails gliding on the lake (if they get a good wind)... the crews have to be alert, they don't want another boat capsizing like Bob Mullens' did a couple of weeks ago with 16-month-old Keith on board...

ONE OF THE NEWEST COUNTRY CLUBS around these parts, Saddle-N-Spur treated about 100 girls in the area to a big splash party last week... and you can imagine what a big "splash" one hundred gals made... The occasion was the visit of twenty girls from all over the world and the United States on a Heritage Trail which took them all over the United States, via the Muscle Shoals area... lucky hostesses to these twenty girls and their leaders were Senior Scouts in the area, who shared in the round of parties and activities for their two day stay... we heard several of the girls say that after the club rush parties and this gay round, they would be glad to have school start... imagine, admitting a thing like that!

HEARD OF A COUPLE of very gay parties given recently... Frank and Frances Mosier and Roz and Morris Klibanoff, just because, and Lyman and Betty Jean Mitchell because of Otho and Clara Perritt... Frances and Roz' hands and artistic eyes were evident in the profusion of yellow blossoms of many varieties in interesting arrangements all over the house... and Bet's eye for color caught just the right shades and tints of purple, pink and lavender to complement the new decor of her charming entrance hall and living room... even Clara's delicious shocking pink gown blended right in with the colors... we missed a couple of spouses, though, learning that Freddie Tyree left hubby Karl and children to go to a women's church conference in North Carolina... and Jess Gerber couldn't make it to escort Margaret Lee, in town for a short visit from Yankelend... and even though Bob wasn't here, it's always grand to see Mary Marshall and to enjoy her delightful presence on her not-frequent-enough visits from Mobile... SAY, YOU KNOW WHO WE'VE BEEN MISSING lately... and only just recently found out why... Fletcher Alexander isn't at his usual desk at the bank... he has a new one at the State National in Tusculumbia... we're glad to know anyway that he and his family haven't forsaken Florence completely and still live in their attractive home on Cypress Mill Road...

WHEN WE JUST HEARD ABOUT THE WHIRLWIND trip Margaret Penland just took north by northeast, leaving her family one jump behind her all the way... they just didn't know here in Florence where she would be next... all that, except Marguerite, who luckily went part of the way as far as Waynesboro, Virginia and a stop off for a couple of weeks with relatives... Margaret journeyed on into Richmond, Washington, Philly and New York where she was swamped by more relatives who took her on side trips to visit more friends and relatives out from New York, up into Massachusetts and the beautiful coast... Margaret's conscience must have started bothering her, so she finally decided to come home, picking up Marguerite on the way... Ralph and the boys don't look too bad for having had to eat their own cooking for a month!

LUCKY SARA ELIZABETH BOOREAM and daughters will get a vacation from the kitchen for a couple of weeks... Bud's mother will probably be glad to prepare all the meals for the five Florence Booreams while they are visiting her in New Jersey. Bud and Sara Elizabeth are especially anxious to see the elder Booream's new house on the ocean, modeled exactly like their attractive home on Old Jackson Road...

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY AGAIN? IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW.

Sale Of Property By City Scheduled

The Florence City Commission adopted a resolution Tuesday afternoon authorizing Jim Wilson, Florence city clerk, to sell a large amount of property in Florence on which public improvement assessments have not been paid.

The sale of the property will be conducted Thursday, Friday and Saturday, August 24, 25 and 26 with the list of parcels being published as required by law by July 31. A complete list of properties on which assessments are at least two years overdue, is now being tabulated and will be published by the 31st.

Anyone in doubt as to whether or not their properties are to be sold should contact the city clerk's office and check on the property.

Bonds have been sold on the public improvements and money must be collected to pay for the bonds. Property ordinarily is sold in Florence for back taxes after two installments are delinquent.

In other action, the commissioner authorized Mayor E. F. Martin to sign an agreement with Southern Railway Company authorizing the city gas department to install a natural gas line under Southern Railway tracks.

Mosteller, Irby Exchange Guests

W. B. Mosteller, administrative officer, TVA office of agricultural and chemical development, addressed the Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon on various activities of the Authority and this time, its record in the past and the 126 patents held that aid agriculture and every state and presented a film, "TVA and the Nation," that emphasized his remarks.

Bill Irby, of Sylacauga, state president of Exchange Clubs and Jack McGuire, of Tuscaloosa, a member of the state board of control, were guests also and addressed the club on the program being sponsored by the Affiliated Exchange Clubs of Alabama during the current year.

Mr. Mosteller, in addition to giving a run-down on the aid the TVA is giving to agriculture throughout the nation, said that visitors from 77 foreign nations have visited the chemical division this year to study the work being done. Thousands of others, Mr. Mosteller said, have visited the various installations of the Authority.

The beautiful film shown by E. W. Smithson, who assisted Mr. Mosteller was most enlightening. Madison Davis was a guest of Frank Mosier.

REA Chief Visits Shoals Projects On Wednesday

Norman Clapp, Rural Electrification Administration Administrator visited the Muscle Shoals area Wednesday, being accompanied by TVA Director, Aubrey J. Wagner; Knoxville TVA Power Manager, G. O. Wessener, Chattanooga, and other TVA staff members.

Mr. Clapp had met earlier with the TVA Board of Directors in Knoxville after arriving there Tuesday evening for a two-day visit and a tour of TVA installations in the Tennessee Valley area.

He was guest Wednesday noon at a luncheon at the Holiday Inn, Florence, after which he visited the Wilson Dam hydro plant, Wilson Lock, and Colbert Steam Plant. Mr. Clapp then took an aerial look at major industrial plants in the Shoals area before his scheduled departure that afternoon for Jackson, Tenn.

Mr. Clapp will be joined in Jackson this morning by Brigadier General Herbert D. Vogel, TVA Board Chairman; Arnold R. Jones, Associate TVA Board Member and L. J. Van Mol, TVA General Manager. There they will tour the Beech River Development Area, a joint TVA State of Tennessee project.

The REA administrator is the brother of Gordon R. Clapp, former TVA General Manager and Board chairman, now a partner with David E. Lilienthal, also a former TVA Board chairman, in a natural resources engineering firm that is carrying on TVA-type projects for governments and other groups in many parts of the world.

County Court To Sponsor Cypress Creek Watershed

The Lauderdale County Court of Commissioners agreed to sponsor the Cypress Creek Watershed Conservancy District after being requested to do so by the directors of the district at a meeting on Monday.

Douglas C. Austin, Chairman of the Conservancy District Directors served as spokesman for the district. Vernon Cash, treasurer, A. L. Hershey, secretary and Howard Whitten and Edward Lovelace petitioned the commissioners.

The action was necessary in order to get an official board to handle funds which may later be disbursed by the Federal Government. The Cypress Creek district is still in the advance promotional stage and is a long-range project, however, under terms of the project, if it is finally entered into, the Federal Government would pay expenses of any structures with funds turned over to the sponsoring agent, that being the County Commissioners.

The Cypress Creek Watershed Conservancy District includes 96,000 acres including the areas drained by Cox Creek, Little Cypress, Middle Cypress, Big Cypress, Three's Creek, Lindsey Creek and Burcham's Creek.

Census Shows Farm Changes

An early summary of the 1959 Census of Agriculture offers further evidence of the changing farm picture, says Charles Maddox, Auburn Extension Service specialist in farm management.

Census Bureau figures show a reduction of 23 per cent in the total number of farms since 1954. About two-thirds of the reduction included farms under 70 acres.

The summary showed the average size farm as 302 acres—up 25 per cent since 1954. The average value of land and farm buildings per farm—$33,242—is 2½ times the average in 1950 and six times the average in 1940.

Girl Scouts Visit Tennessee Valley

Senior Girl Scouts and eighth-grade intermediates in Florence met Girl Guides from six foreign countries and American Girl Scouts from eleven States at a "bring-a-dish" picnic supper Wednesday, July 19, at the new Saddle and Spur Club in Florence.

The visiting Girl Guides and Scouts are coming through the Tennessee Valley as a part of the Southeast "Heritage Trail" that began in New York on June 23 and will end in August at Lawrence, Kansas.

While in Florence, the visitors were taken on a tour of TVA, saw the Helen Keller Home in Tusculum, and had an international campfire ceremony at the new Girl Scout camp, Camp Anderel, on Elk River. They were the overnight guests in the private homes of local Scouts.

The "Heritage Trail" is an eight-week exploration across the United States by 72 teen-agers—48 American Senior Girl Scouts and 24 Girl Guide Rangers from 12 foreign countries—accompanied by 8 adult leaders. Traveling by chartered bus, a "20-girl" team left from each of four corners of the United States—each to explore a different quarter section of our country. They will meet in the geographical center (Lawrence, Kansas) for a 10-day evaluation of their experiences and the compiling of a teen-age travel guide to the United States.

This four-pronged project is one of the ways in which the Girl Scouts of the U.S.A. are celebrating the organization's 50th birthday in 1962 around the theme, "Honor the Past—Serve the Future."

Applications For Work At Armour Being Accepted

J. M. Clos, manager of Armour Agriculture Chemical Fertilizer Company, has announced that work applications for the new Cherokee Armour Plant are now available at the Alabama State Employment office, 305 Nashville Avenue, Sheffield.

Those interested may pick up the applications complete and return them to the employment office. No applications will be taken at either the plant site or the Armour Administrative office in Cherokee. Applicants are urged to take plenty of time and care in completing the application which must be in the applicant's own handwriting.

After the application is filed, the employment office will arrange any future test appointments or interview dates.

The huge new nitrogen fertilizer complex being built in the M. W. Kellogg Company for Armour, northeast of Cherokee, is part of a $60,000,000 expansion program currently being undertaken by Armour. The project is scheduled for completion during the first quarter of 1962.

The completed facility will provide jobs for some 250 persons and these are the jobs for which the Employment Service will take applications.

Four Shoals Men Enlist In Navy

The following young men from the Muscle Shoals area have enlisted in the United States Navy: William Stormont, son of Charles Stormont, 416 Gilbert Court, Florence; Thomas Stevenson, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Stevenson, Route 7, Florence; Leroy Styles, son of Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Styles, 510 N. Main St., Tusculum; and Norman Morris, son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Morris of Russellville.

Stormont and Stevenson chose to go to the U.S. Naval Training Center at San Diego, California for their recruit training. Styles and Morris enlisted under the Navy's High School Graduate Training Program and chose to take their training at Great Lakes, Illinois.

All young men enlisting in the Navy are granted 14 days leave, upon completion of recruit training, prior to reporting to their next duty station.

Number Added To Project Staff

Warren McMahan, project manager for construction activities in the Muscle Shoals area, has had his staff increased so that he may devote more time on urgent navigation problems that have arisen owing to the recent failure of a Wheeler Dam lock wall.

Added to the staff were G. U. Mason, construction engineer at Widows Creek Steam Plant, appointed assistant project manager for the Wilson Dam lock and hydro additions; and M. A. Hughes, assistant general construction superintendent at Colbert Steam Plant, transferred to the same position to supervise installation of new hydroelectric units at the Wheeler Dam.

The average man is rated at one-tenth horsepower, but when he drives a 20-hp tractor, he is able to do the work of 200 men. The average farmer can also multiply his own ability to solve his problems through organization with other farmers.

College Recipient Of Contribution For Student Loan

President E. B. Norton of Florence State College has announced the receipt of $1000 from Mrs. Morgan Loyd, of Hamilton, made in memory of Mrs. Loyd's husband. The contribution will be known as the Morgan Loyd Memorial Student Loan Fund.

The gift was designated for the National Defense Student Loan Fund. It will be used by the college on the current matching basis to bring to Florence State College an additional $9000 of federal funds which will be made available to eligible students on a loan basis at three per cent interest with ten years in which to repay the loan.

The late Morgan Loyd was a native of Hamilton, attending both the elementary and high school there. Although he never attended Florence State, he had three sisters, two nieces, and a nephew who took work at the Florence institution.

Loyd operated the Loyd Motor Company, in Hamilton, at the time of his death in May this year.

President Norton said, "Florence State College is most appreciative of Mrs. Loyd's generous expression of interest in the worthy students who need financial assistance in order to continue their education."

Religious Census To Be Conducted

The Florence Ministerial Association met Friday and voted to conduct an interdenominational and inter-faith religious census in Florence and contiguous suburbs during a four-day period beginning on Sunday, September 10. The Rev. Ed Phillips, pastor of the First Church of the Nazarene, and president of the association, presided.

Dr. R. Lambuth Archibald, pastor of the First Methodist Church, was named chairman of the Census Committee, and will work with the Rev. J. V. Cosby Summerell, minister of the First Presbyterian Church and the Rev. Earl Trent of the Colbert-Lauderdale Baptist Association.

An advisory committee which will work with the general committee, is composed of Mayor E. F. Martin, William H. Mitchell, C. Hewlett Jackson and Louis A. Eckel.

Every church is invited to participate in the census and each will be given certain streets for which they will be responsible. At the conclusion of the endeavor the cards will be distributed to the churches involved.

Negro ministers, who were present at the meeting, were given materials with which to conduct the census among their own people.

Vo-Ag Teachers To Take Course

Refresher courses in electricity for vocational agriculture teachers are scheduled next week at Leighton and New Hope. The annual workshops will be conducted by personnel from the electrical demonstration branch of the Tennessee Valley Authority with Fred Gramblin in charge.

Attending the workshop at Leighton from Lauderdale County will be N. G. Spillers, Central; J. R. Hankins, Lexington; A. A. Thorne, Rogers; C. J. Pennington, Rogersville and W. B. Hagood, Wat-look.

The electrical refresher opens Tuesday at New Hope. The following day it will be conducted at Leighton. Approximately 45 teachers will attend the two workshops.

Subject for the annual refresher class is electrical circuits and controls, according to T. L. Faulkner, state supervisor of vocational agriculture. Faulkner said the annual workshops are designed to give the vo-ag teacher information he needs to teach farm electricity to high school and adult farmer students.

Fall Workshop Is Planned For Press

Alabama newspaper publishers and editors will hold a two-day workshop in Tuscaloosa, September 22-23, using as a theme, "Your Newspaper—A Business, A Product, A Public Servant."

Outstanding journalists from several states are being secured to lead panel discussions on five subjects — "Your Newspaper—A Business," "Your Newspaper—A Product," "Your Newspaper—A Source of Revenue," "Your Newspaper—A Civil Servant," and "Your Newspaper—A Business, A Product, A Public Servant—Promote It." Members of the Alabama press will serve as members of the panel groups.

Norman Bassett, editor of The Tuscaloosa News, is heading the committee in charge of arrangements for the workshop. Final details are expected to be worked out during the annual Alabama Press Association summer convention to be held at Dauphin Island July 13-15.

He said the cotton mill area was leased for a period of several years in order to give the manufacturing plant adequate warehouse and shipping area space nearby, with special emphasis on the need for shipping space. To thaw frozen bread quickly, hold a hot steam iron about one-half inch above the cut slice. Turn the slice over, and follow the same procedure. This treatment also freshens stale bread.

To keep brown sugar soft, keep it in a jar with prunes. This makes a cooperative agreement. While the prunes absorb sweetness from the sugar, the sugar takes some of the moisture from the prunes.

Governors Laud Scout Program

Governor John Patterson joined the other 49 state governors at the just-concluded 53rd Annual Governors' Conference in Honolulu, Hawaii in unanimously adopting a resolution on Scouting.

The resolution read: "Whereas, sober reflections upon the conditions of the world today underline the need to build men of good character and high ideals for positions of leadership in the world of tomorrow; and endeavors to instill in the minds of youth the principle of good citizenship;

"Whereas, the Boy Scouts of America in its program of 'Strengthen America—Character Counts'

"Now, therefore, be it resolved that the Governors' Conference express its approval and support of the Boy Scouts of America 'To-gether Program' whose purpose is to make Scouting available to more boys in all our states."

In hearing of the resolution, Judge Emmett Roden, president of the Tennessee Valley Council, Boy Scouts of America, which serve the 7500 Scouts in the area, said, "We are especially pleased to have Governor Patterson's support at this time. The effective training of youth in good character and intelligent citizenship was truly never more important. His endorsement of our efforts to 'Strengthen America' is most welcome as we build character that counts."

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Monday	Psalms	103	14-18

Thursday	Proverbs	22	1-6
Friday	I Timothy	6	6-12
Saturday	II Timothy	1	1-7

Swing me, Mommy, she says. Swing me high! All the way up to the clouds, if you can!

I smile and say, "I can't; not that high, darling." But still I push the swing and watch her soar skyward. Then she comes back to earth again, giggling, "That time I nearly touched the clouds, didn't I, Mommy?" I laugh and say, "Well—nearly, perhaps."

I look down at her, and for a desperately tender moment I wish that I could always keep that smile on her face, this laugh in her voice, the happy conviction that she nearly touched the clouds. Like all parents, I yearn to spare my child sorrow, anger, hurt of every kind. I yearn to keep from her the knowledge that none of us ever quite touch the clouds. And I know I can't.

So I am thankful—more thankful than ever—for the Church, and the lessons it is teaching her. None of us can give our children perpetual sanctuary. But all of us can help them find Faith.

Total Acreage Is Below Last Year

Total acreage in crops this year is expected to be below last year despite a 5 percent increase in cotton acreage, according to the Alabama Crop and Livestock Reporting Service. More acres than a year ago are also indicated for soybeans and wheat. These increases are more than offset by a sharp reduction in corn acreage brought about largely through participation in the Feed Grain Program. Acreage planted to corn in 1961 is the lowest in Alabama since the period just after the Civil War. Cotton planted this year is expected to total 920,000 acres as compared with 878,000 last year.

Crops are generally late but production prospects for 1961 are mostly favorable except for cotton in much of north Alabama and a number of central areas. Much of the cotton trouble has been a reduction of stands from plants dying. The latter is attributed, at least indirectly, to the cool, wet weather. Ample rainfall has benefited corn and other crops. Delays in cultivation have resulted in many grassy fields.

Crop acreage and production estimates for 1961 are linked to the revised series of estimates for the period 1954-60. The 1959 Agricultural Census was the benchmark for these revisions. Revisions for 1960 are included in the statistical table of this release and 10-year average production totals also reflect needed revisions.

Production of corn for grain in Alabama is forecast at 41,035,000 bushels on the basis of July 1 condition. This compares with 44,330,000 bushels produced last year. Indicated yield at 29.0 bushels per acre is 3 bushels above last year but acreage was reduced by 17 percent. Participation in the Feed Grain Program accounts for much of this reduction in acreage. Acreage for grain this year is estimated at 1,415,000 acres. Growing conditions have remained favorable for corn since July 1.

Persons Employed By Householders Must Be Reported

Employers of household workers such as maids, cooks and others who perform services of a household nature in or about the private home of the employer are reminded that quarterly tax returns for household employees are due no later than July 31. Mr. George D. Patterson, District Director of Internal Revenue, said today.

Preparation of the return, "Employers Quarterly Tax Return for Household Employees," Form 942, is simple and requires little record keeping. The Internal Revenue Service furnishes a pamphlet, Circular-11, which outlines the requirements for filing the return and contains a section for record keeping. This publication and additional information, if required, may be secured from your local IRS office or by writing to the District Director, Internal Revenue Service at 1531 Third Avenue North, Birmingham 3, Alabama.

Farm Facts

According to the U. S. Department of Agriculture, the average American eats 9½ pounds of breakfast cereals a year.

Most of the cereals are made from oats. Some come from wheat, some from corn, and some from rice.

Oat cereals usually are served hot — oatmeal and rolled oats — and account for almost 75% of the per person consumption of all hot cereals. Consumption of to-be-cooked oat cereals rose from 415 million pounds to 455 million pounds between 1947 and 1958.

But it's the corn cereals that have captured the public's favor. Corn cereals are almost always in dry form and their consumption figures have kept ahead of population increases.

In ten years, consumption of corn cereals jumped from 185 million to 308 million pounds — an extra half-pound per person.

We also are eating more wheat cereals, consumption of which increased 21 million pounds in the past two decades. A drop in consumption of cooked wheat cereals was more than offset by a gain in ready-to-serve cereals. USDA nutritionists say we should have a fourth to a third of our food at breakfast and that the morning meal should include a good source of protein.

Choose Termite Service Carefully

If you learn or suspect that you have termites in your house, don't panic, and above all, don't be rushed in purchasing termite control, advises Auburn Extension Service Entomologist Walter Grimes.

Termite damage usually develops slowly, and you will have ample time to purchase termite services wisely and at your own convenience, the specialist says.

Buy termite control services with the same care and discrimination that you would use in the purchase of any other service, and always assure yourself that you are dealing with a reliable firm, Grimes suggests.

SILAGE CHANGE-OVER SHOULD BE GRADUAL

It is usually better to change gradually from feeding one type silage to another, suggests Sam Jones, Auburn Extension Service dairyman.

If the supply of corn silage is running low and a silo of grass silage is about to be opened, put some of the grass silage into the ration before the corn silage supply is used up. The gradual change-over from one type to another will help avoid any digestive upset.

Impure Water Is Common On Farms

Many otherwise sensible Alabama farm families drink contaminated water. Figures from the United States Public Health Service show that six of every 10 rural wells contain sewage contamination.

"One of the most alarming hazards that threaten farm families today," says Auburn Extension Farm Buildings Specialist Bill Cox, "lies in that basic necessity—water."

"Neither the clear appearance of water, nor the depth of wells can assure pure drinking water," declares Cox. "Of all wells less than 20 feet deep, three-fourths are polluted. Also, one-fourth of the wells over 75 feet deep are contaminated with human sewage."

With the immense growth of cities, industries, and road and construction work, the nation's water table has fallen. At the same time, the rate of water pollution is on the upswing, according to Cox, because industrial wastes, filth, septic tank poisons, and soil bacteria are swept into running water. Underground water has been known to carry contaminating materials for great distances.

Wells, ponds, and cisterns, which farm families depend upon for their water supply, are stop-offs for such polluted materials. Infected water supplies can be a source of typhoid fever, amoebic dysentery, cholera, hookworm, and infectious hepatitis. And livestock may be lost because of water-borne infections such as dysentery, tuberculosis, hog cholera, anthrax, and stomach and intestinal worms. Information on proper water disinfecting procedures can be obtained from the county agent's office or the county health department, states the Auburn specialist.

Farm Management Changes Needed

Changes in agriculture over the past 20 years have increased the need for better farm management, says Sidney Bell, Auburn Extension Service specialist in farm management.

Probably the greater and more

Treat Articles Against Mildew

Make sure your cotton articles such as shower curtains, awnings, tents, and sails have been treated to make them mildew resistant before using them, recommends Alice Peavy, Auburn Extension Service specialist in home furnishings.

Many such articles are treated before they are placed on the market, says the specialist, but if they aren't, you can apply a mildew-resistant finish yourself with one of several fungicide products available at drugstores, hardware stores, and boat supply houses.

Two copper treatments — copper naphthenate and copper-8 quinolinate — are especially recommended to give durable protection to canvas beach chairs, awnings, sails, and other heavy fabrics used outdoors. The treatment can be applied by dip, spray, or brush methods as directed on the package. They have a distinctive odor, tint the fabric green, and may stiffen it. Another copper treatment — copper cupferron — gives good protection with only slight odor and an off-white color.

Other fungicides such as zinc naphthenate, quaternary ammonium naphthenate, dichlorophenol, and salicylanilide, may be less durable to weathering, but they are odorless, and therefore, more satisfactory for shower curtains, draperies, blankets, and seat covers, she points out.

drastic changes have occurred in the financial structure of farming, he notes.

"Capital requirements for operating a successful farm business have increased many times. The size of the operation, the growing complexity of farm production, and the constant stream of new technology and developments have enlarged the need for better management," he states.

These changes, and the increased money requirements — from $3,000 per worker in 1940 to $21,300 in 1960 — have caused many farmers to leave the farm to seek employment in industry.

"In most cases," he adds, "those who have remained on the farm are doing a better job of looking after the 'business side' of their operations."

Church:

The vacation Bible School at the Lexington Church of Christ closed Friday with a record attendance of 231. The children enjoyed a watermelon cutting at the refreshment period. Pictures were made of the entire group.

The series of meetings which were held in the evenings of that week closed on Sunday. Bro. W. A. Bradford of Henderson, Tenn. was the speaker for the meeting.

A revival is now in progress at the Lexington Methodist church with afternoon and evening services being conducted by W. H. Smith, former minister for this congregation.
