The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● The manner in which the leading columnist of the country have treated the unfortunate happenings in Montgomery, Birmingham and Jackson recently is certainly in contrast with the early reports of the "flame throwers" who wrote from the scene where attempts to rub the South's nose in the dust was met by mobs of such low character that we are ashamed to call them citizens of our state. Unless the traditions of the Old South are understood, no person can paint a true picture of the situation as it exists and this fact is now being publicized by the better columnists. A vast portion of public opinion has swung behind the true Southerner who finds himself unable to defend himself from the pointed finger of those who can not or will not appreciate the predicament he finds himself in as the battle continues to rage. The many sided problems will never be fully solved although time will erase some of the barriers—some with ease, some reluctantly and some—never.

● No real citizen can make his personal contribution to his community by cash alone.

● We note that Gov. John Patterson's likeness appears on the cover of the current issue of Time magazine. Having been a subscriber to this periodical for a number of years we wonder if the editors meant this as a compliment or otherwise since a number of uncomplimentary remarks appear about Alabama's chief executive in the inside pages.

● There is no truth in the statement that free speech is dead in Russia; only the speakers are.

● A friend of ours, who owns one of these small foreign cars, told us that he was having trouble with the flooding of the carburetor on his little bus. We asked him what he had done about it. "Why, I just put the car on my shoulder and burped it," he replied. Ask a foolish question and you get a foolish answer, we always say.

● Men speak of their in-laws as if their wives didn't have any.

● Our son, after watching a ballet on TV, asked us a question we couldn't answer, which, of course, is nothing unusual. "Instead of dancing on their toes," he asked, "why don't they get taller girls?"

● She was bubbling over with excitement. The little girl ran to her grandmother holding a dry, pressed leaf which was evidently a relic of days long ago. "Look, Granny," she cried, "I found it in the Bible. Do you think it belonged to Eve?"

● We have learned that not long after a boy graduates as a Cub Scout he becomes a girl scout.

● We read where a 38-year-old London steelworker shaved off half of his beard because it tickled his wife. Since we have had such a deluge of beards in this area recently, the information about the Londoner has us puzzled as the item didn't say which half he shaved off nor why he was able to solve his problem by losing only half of his foliage.

● "Every time I'm down in the dumps," explained the wife, "I get a new hat." Friend husband glanced up at the monstrosity she was wearing and under his breath said: "I've been wondering where she gets 'em."

County Would Vote On Measure

Amendment Introduced To Hike Property Tax

State Senator Bert Haltom of Florence, has introduced a constitutional amendment to raise property taxes in Lauderdale County, subject to the approval of county voters, for additional school support.

Mr. Haltom said Saturday if the proposal passes the Legislature before county voters could ballot on raising ad valorem taxes from 7 to 12 mills, it would have to be ratified in a statewide vote. The amendment is co-sponsored by the county legislative delegation.

Allen Thornton, County Education Superintendent, said if the tax hike passes, the county would have the same millage for schools as the City of Florence. City residents would not vote in the election.

Mr. Thornton said county schools would receive an additional $60,000 to $70,000 a year at the present evaluation if the amendment was approved locally and would give relief from proportion.

In other legislative moves last week, Mr. Haltom introduced a general bill to amend the constitution to let other state colleges join Auburn University and the University of Alabama in using revenues from existing dormitories to retire bonds sold to build new dormitories. Senators in districts having state colleges are backing the proposal.

No further developments occurred last week on Mr. Haltom's reapportionment proposal to increase the Senate from 35 to 40 members and the House from 106 to 120 members. He said he didn't contemplate a move on his part to get the 40-120 bill out of the Constitutional Elections Committee during the next week or 10 days. His measure would give Lauderdale a full-time senator and Colbert another representative. Colbert and Franklin would become a two-county district.

Coffee Wraps Game Up In 7th

Jackets Rally To Take State Baseball Crown

The Coffee High School Yellow Jackets prevailed 3 to 2 to win the State High School baseball crown, Tuesday, at Tuscaloosa, from Valley of Fairfax after Valley mound ace Brown Smith pitched six innings of hitless ball, but let things get out of hand in the fateful seventh inning.

Coffee's tying run came on a single by shortstop Talmadge Wilson, a sacrifice by outfielder Jody Terrell and a single by Bobby Dolan. Outfielder Tom Watkins then won the game for the North Alabama champions on a 365-foot double to right center, scoring Dolan.

Coffee scored first in the game on a walk, an error, a wild pitch and a sacrifice fly by winning pitcher Bill Marks. The Valley team turned in some sharp defensive play until the seventh; Valley tied the game in the second on singles by third baseman William Smith and pitcher Smith, an error and a sacrifice fly by outfielder Hyland Irvin.

The second Valley run came in the third on a walk, a single by shortstop Jim Addison, a wild pitch and an error by Coffee catcher George Wilson. The error allowed Morris Henderson who had walked, to score. The game ended the season for Coffee; they were awarded a huge Alabama Athletic Association championship trophy at home plate on Thomas Field immediately following the game.

Watershed Board Directors Elected

Lauderdale county landowners elected five directors of the Cypress Creek watershed district in a special election, held Monday, when 487 landowners cast their votes. Those who were elected to serve four-year terms were Douglas C. Austin, Vernon L. Cash, Dr. A. L. Hershey, Edward F. Lovelace and Howard Whitten.

Howard Jones, chairman of the Lauderdale Soil Conservation board, said the directors are scheduled to meet today.

In March, 330 landowners signed petitions asking that a watershed program be created to promote flood control programs through a series of earthen dams and land treatment programs on 96,640 acres in Lauderdale County and 42,220 acres in Wayne County, Tenn.

Grain Producers Sign Contracts

Over seven hundred corn and grain sorghum producers in Lauderdale County have signed contracts to participate in the Department of Agriculture's feed-grain program. The feed-grain producers have agreed to divert around 7,232 acres of the normal 30,000 acres of corn and grain sorghum, to other crops, and in return receive acreage payments based on the normal crop yield history of their particular farm.

L. H. Rickard, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation office manager in Lauderdale county, explained that half payments are made to the farmers when they sign the intentions to participate with the final payments being made when the growers actually perform the action stated in their contracts. The feed-grain participation locally will curtail the area's corn crop considerably.

Another activity in Lauderdale county is the measurement of cotton acreage planted in the county, which began this week.

Plans Announced For Building Rail, Barge Facilities

L&N To Begin Delivery Coal To TVA Terminal On Patton Island July 11

O. B. Keister, Jr., president of Transportation Services, Inc., announced Sunday, plans for construction and operation of the rail-to-barge coal transfer facilities at Florence for handling coal going to the TVA's Colbert steam plant. Operations are scheduled to begin July 11 when the Louisville and Nashville Railroad will start delivering trainloads of coal to the facility located on Patton Island.

Keister resigned as assistant to the president of the L&N last February to become the head of his own company, which will design and sell automated facilities for rapid unloading of coal at rail-to-barge terminals and at steam plants. The modern push-button unloading facility at Florence will be capable of handling up to 3,000,000 tons of coal a year, and will have the first remote-controlled locomotive to be placed in service in the South.

The entire operation will be handled from a control tower, with push-buttons controlling the locomotive and also opening and closing doors on the coal cars; special equipment for the locomotive controls is being manufactured by the Union Switch and Signal Division of Westinghouse Air Brake Company.

L&N trains bringing coal from West Kentucky mines will be unloaded on arrival and rushed back to the mines for reloading the following day. Conventional 70-ton hopper cars will be used at the start of the operation, however, the L&N is experimenting with 100-ton cars that, if successful, may be used at a later date.

The coal will be dropped into an unloading hopper and then handled by conveyor belt to barges for further movement to the Colbert plant; the Link-Belt Company designed and engineered the conveyor equipment while the B. H. Craig Construction Company of Florence is the contractor.

BULLETIN

President Kennedy arrived in Paris Wednesday for talks with President Charles de Gaulle, which he described as important as his talks this week end with Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev. "Our common goals," the President stated, "are greater Western unity and strength, the preservation of freedom and the day when France will never again be a beachhead for war but a fountainhead for peace." Mr. Kennedy added, "I am here to pay tribute to France, not for her past glory but for her present greatness."

President John F. Kennedy left on Tuesday for Europe where he has scheduled conferences with President deGaulle of France and beginning on Saturday with Premier Nikita Khrushchev of the Soviet Union.

Kennedy declared on his 44th birthday, Monday, that "serious miscalculations, serious misapprehensions" on the part of the adversaries led to the three wars fought in his lifetime.

The President indicated he hoped to erase any such miscalculations at this time of dispute between great powers. Kennedy spoke amid cheers at a gala birthday celebration in his home town of Boston.

Americans, Mr. Kennedy said, believe in freedom and always intend to be associated with that cause. He spoke of his personal doctrine as that carved on a Boston statue of William Lloyd Garrison, famous New England abolitionist:

"I am in earnest, I will not equivocate, I will not excuse, I will not retreat a single inch, and I will be heard."

The birthday dinner in Boston Monday night was a combination personal-political affair at $100 a plate and was intended also to raise funds for the party. A Kennedy aide said the $500,000 added to the income from a similar party in Washington last Saturday had reached the Democratic party's debt to just under $1,000,000. Five thousand attended the dinner in Boston's Commonwealth Armory.

Prior to his taking off for Paris, Mr. Kennedy had a conference in New York with Israel's Prime Minister David Ben Gurion visiting in this country. He also addressed a dinner of the Eleanor Roosevelt Cancer Foundation at the Waldorf Astoria.

The President is accompanied on the trip to Paris by Mrs. Kennedy who joined the chief executive at Idlewild Airport prior to the 10 p.m. takeoff for Paris.

Let's Stop The "Freedom Rides"

Out of the confusion of the freedom rides and the subsequent action taken by various officials two things emerge with startling clarity. One is that mob violence could have been prevented and the other is the strange view of the Justice Department in insisting that there was interference with interstate bus travel . . . that is to say "normal interstate bus travel."

It is true the buses were in interstate travel but for a very definite purpose. They were hired by groups whose sole and only purpose was to break state laws, in short, breach the peace.

These crude extremists, the so-called "freedom riders," like their ancestors who waved the "bloody shirt" over the South after the War Between the States, should also be subject to restraint by law, since the government has already created a Civil Rights Commission to administer and enforce the various ramifications of integration. In effect these "freedom riders" are just as much in defiance of federal law as the Klan or any other organization that attempts to take the law into its own hands.

By not halting the "freedom rides" the federal government is not only doing nothing to encourage racial amity but is inviting further trouble from an element that does not and never has represented the true South.

Government Unlimited

We are beginning to see what we were warned we would see not too long ago and that is the power of government over the people.

Woodrow Wilson once said, "the history of liberty is the history of the limitations upon the powers of government."

Our great technology, our industrial productivity, our great schools and libraries, are all monuments to man's achievements and of his ability to cope with and conquer the forces of nature. Yet there is something he has failed to learn to control effectively and that is government.

Government is a force. Actually it is the most potent force known to us human beings because it determines the lives, the happiness and the destinies of every one of us. Within its control are life and death, failure and success, happiness and misery, freedom and servitude, for every man, woman and child.

Hitherto we in America have lived under a government that was placed under restraint. Today more than half the world lives under government that has no such restraint . . . government unlimited.

What are we doing to see to it that ours does not become such a government? Each day the state exercises more and more power over the people and by the same token the people lose more and more of the power to govern. "The state in America has assumed the role of an omniscient provider, for which there is no warrant in the American Constitution," says an editorial in NARD, which quotes recent utterances by William Henry Chamberlain in the Wall Street Journal.

He continues—"this role is radically at variance with American principles and practice during the Nineteenth Century, which witnessed the impressive pioneering of this continent."

Today there are millions completely dependent upon government. And yet government by its nature creates no wealth. It can acquire funds in only two ways, taxing and borrowing, either of which when extended too far can result in inflation, or in other words, the debasing of the currency.

Mr. Chamberlain, one of the keenest economic analysts in the country, concludes with this observation: "One of the best services government could render to the peace of mind and the real social security of the individual citizen is not to pile on new exactions, but to get off their backs to the extent of making it a little easier for them to save for retirement."

"A national population permitted and even encouraged to save for their own maintenance on a not too pinched standard of living would be happier and economically much healthier than one forced to depend on state handouts and state-provided services.

"The ideal society is one in which people are allowed to retain enough of what they earn to pay for their homes, medical services and other needs without government assistance. There was a time when we actually had such a society in the United States."

Explosions Destroy Relay Stations

A series of mysterious explosions, which officials called sabotage, shattered three unattended telephone microwave and cable relay stations in western Utah and extreme eastern Nevada, Sunday. National Guard troops were ordered to duty in three states to patrol other relay stations. The blasts caused a widespread disruption of many communications facilities, including the national defense circuit, however, the circuit had automatic controls which shift it to alternate routes when disrupted, and was quickly back in service.

Reds Accused Continuing War

The United States accused the Communist-led Pathet Laos rebels, Saturday, of continuing the civil war in Laos "in cynical disregard of the cease-fire agreement. The Americans urged the conference itself get busy at once hammering out a real truce in Laos to replace what many Western delegations regard as an ineffective paper cease-fire now in effect. There was no explicit threat of a U.S. threat of a U.S. withdrawal from the conference, but this implication was plain.

Crew May Reach Moon In '63

Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center, Huntsville, revealed Friday, a "radical departure" in big booster design which space experts said could put a crew of men around the moon some two years ahead of present schedules. He said, with further designs, it would be possible to land a locomotive on the moon if anyone wanted one there. The rocket could put three men on the moon and return to earth, at the same time leaving 20 tons of supplies and equipment to support a manned lunar station.

Personality Sketches

DANIEL TAYLOR WILCOXSON

Deprived of more than an elementary education because of the necessity of beginning work at a rather early age, D. T. Wilcoxson has been dedicated to the cause of education and has contributed freely of his time and means to the improvement of educational facilities in Lexington and the county as a whole. His interest in the establishment of the high school at Lexington went so far as to be one of those who made the brick with which the original building was constructed.

A leader in the development of Lexington, one of the more progressive rural communities in this area, Mr. Wilcoxson has served as a leader on most of the projects that have built it into the progressive community that it is. "I have tried to be a good citizen of Lexington," he said.

Daniel Taylor Wilcoxson was born in Greenhill, December 12, 1885, the son of John Minton and Rhoda Springer Wilcoxson. He received his education at Palestine and Ebenezer schools. Following his schooling, Mr. Wilcoxson worked in his father's and uncle's mercantile store in Greenhill where he remained for one year.

At that time, Mr. Wilcoxson went to Arkdeil community where he worked in his brother's mercantile store. He remained there for one year when his brother turned the operation of the store over to him. Mr. Wilcoxson remained in that capacity for three years.

Mr. Wilcoxson was married to Mary E. Crow of Greenhill, November 10, 1907. They have three daughters: Mrs. Mabel Thornton of Montevallo, Mrs. Olivia Alexander of Moulton, and Dr. Cornelia Wilcoxson of Mobile; two sons: William Carl, a textile engineer who resides in Greenville, S. C., and Neil, who is business manager of the Florence Clinic.

In 1916, Mr. Wilcoxson moved to Lexington where he established a mercantile business. He operated the business until 1939 when he sold out and came to Florence. At that time, he was one of the organizers of the Florence Implement Company.

In early 1946, Mr. Wilcoxson, although retaining his interest in Florence Implement Company, assumed the business management of Wilcoxson Motors. In 1956, he severed his connections with Wilcoxson Motors and established Wilcoxson - Spurgeon Hardware Company, which he operated until 1959. At that time, he sold the business to James and Doris Taylor who have since operated the

"Freedom-Riders" Jailed By Mississippi Officials

Ewbank Addresses Quarterback Club

Weeb Ewbank, coach of the Baltimore Colts who held the national professional football championship in 1959 and 1960, addressed the Tri-Cities Quarterback Club at the Florence Golf and Country Club Monday night. Coach Ewbank was introduced by Alternate Captain Buck Marsh and Captain Howell Heflin presided and presented the guests.

Coach Ewbank gave an interesting discussion of professional football in giving a run-down on many of the finer players in the game but with special emphasis on Johnny Unitas, Big Daddy Lipscomb and other stand-outs in the Colts aggregation. He told of many amusing incidents during training camp days as well as during the season but refused to predict how the Colts will come out in the coming season.

Giving special tribute to Harlan Hill, the famous coach discussed the merits of the several Auburn men on his team as well as a number of newcomers to the professional game.

A film showing highlights of the Colts games of the past season was shown after which Ewbanks answered numerous questions from the members.

store under the name, Taylor Hardware Company. Since that time, Mr. Wilcoxson has been active in the management of the Florence Implement Company.

Mr. Wilcoxson is chairman of the Board of Directors of the Bank of Lexington, the largest rural bank in Alabama, which he helped organize in 1919; past member of the Lauderdale County Board of Education; member of the Chamber of Commerce; member of the Exchange Club; Masonic Lodge of Lexington and Scottish Rite and Shrine. Mr. Wilcoxson is a member of the Alabama and Florence Farm Equipment Dealers Associations. He is an active member of the First Methodist Church.

When questioned as to his hobbies or recreational activities, Mr. Wilcoxson smiled and explained that he had never had time to develop hobbies. "In fact," he said, "I was a young man before I learned that other young men were 'taking Saturday afternoon off' for their pleasure. Why the first time I came to Florence I spent the night in Callahan's Livery Stable and got a real thrill out of it."

Freedom riders took a new way to "invade" the deep South Tuesday when they arrived in Jackson, Mississippi, by train and attempted to use the plainly marked "white" waiting rooms in the railway station. The five whites and three Negroes were arrested immediately bringing the total in Mississippi to 52, reports stated. Most of these have been fined and sentenced to work for the state.

A report that one prisoner had been beaten is being investigated by the FBI. However, since prisoners on one of the Mississippi penal farms refused to associate with the "freedom riders" the Sheriff of Hinds County has shifted 19 of the prisoners back to the county jail. The sheriff's action came on the heels of the report that one "freedom rider" had been beaten. Gov. Ross Barnett is also reported to be investigating the alleged beating.

Meanwhile Attorney General Robert F. Kennedy filed a formal petition with the Interstate Commerce Commission that conspicuous placards would be posted at all facilities maintained in connection with interstate bus travel, including buses, waiting rooms, rest rooms, eating and drinking facilities and windows for ticket sales. Placards aboard buses would state: "All seats aboard this vehicle are by law available at all times to any passenger without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

Kennedy indicated it was his aim to bring the full powers of the Interstate Commerce Commission's vast regulatory authority to bear on ending racial discrimination in the interstate passenger bus system.

Martial Law Lifted

In Alabama Governor John Patterson at midnight Monday lifted the Martial Law he had imposed on the city of Montgomery.

In returning the city to civil rule Governor Patterson said that while National Guardsmen are gone from the streets, state forces are still available in reinforced numbers to assist local police units when they require help.

Confirmation Of Two Is Scheduled

Linda Florman, Alvin Rosenbaum To Be Received Into Temple

Two confirmands will be introduced into the Jewish faith as fully responsible members at Temple B'nai Israel during Confirmation rites Friday. The two youths are Linda Sue, daughter, of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Florman, Sheffield, and Alvin Robert, son of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Rosenbaum, Florence. The Confirmation rites will conclude the season of the Pentecost which started with the Shavuot Festival May 21. This holy day marks for the followers of the Jewish faith, the commemoration of the Biblical event of the Revelation of the Ten Commandments at Mt. Sinai.

This 3500 year old tradition, unbroken throughout all these centuries, completes a twelve year period of training in the Temple's Religious school which begins with kindergarten for four year old beginners.

The families of the confirmands, as well as many friends, will join the members of the Tri-Cities Jewish Congregation in the Temple worship ritual which includes special prayers, music, a floral altar offering and a declaration of faith. The theme of the confirmation service expresses the confirmand's affirmation of the sacred ideals of Judaism. The high point of the ceremony occurs when the young people ascend the pulpit and are blessed by their Rabbi in front of the Holy Ark.

Dr. J. S. Gallinger, Rabbi of Temple B'nai Israel, assisted by Mrs. Louis Levi, Sisterhood president, and Max Levinson, congregational vice president, will officiate.

LET THE FLORENCE HERALD DO ALL YOUR PRINTING!

THE SPILLWAY

If you have any business you want to transact
With any friends around,
You'd better act quick, 'cause it's prob'ly a fact
They'll soon be vacation-bound.

NEVER HEARD OF SO MUCH TRAVELING... so soon... and it does seem to have begun before the summer gets started... Audrey and Al Northington have just spent a few tres-gai days in old New Orleans... Mac Irvine is back from Jackson, Mississippi and brings good reports from our cherished friends Grace and Margaret Rice... Mary Evelyn and Howard McClannahan are Florida-bound as this goes to press... Jean and Aaron Lynch have just returned from a CPA convention in Birmingham... Bob Osborn in 'way over Australia way... Lynn Johnson, with little Woody and Lisa spent last week in the Magic City as guests of her parents, the Chunn Parsons... Virginia and Ocie Curtis are vacationing in Virginia with relatives... Helen and Jim McIntosh are in Washington to see daughter Jean graduate from Mount Vernon Seminary... Melvin and Dorothy Korman are just before hiding themselves off for a western tour... Leonard and Emily Johnson, with Dianne (about to be Bride-Dianne) and Mary have just left for a rest and calm-before-the-rush (we won't say "storm") of the wedding... and we could even name more... sooooo you see, if we don't have many happenin's to report on the local front, it's 'cause nearly everybody is out of reach.

GOOD CONNECTIONS... must've been PART coincidence... when Martha and Jim Gilbert arrived in Dallas recently, for a stopover on their tour... they had no sooner decided on a motel and checked in than their phone rang... and they were greeted by Nell Deal who, having been informed (from home-base (Florence, Alabama) by sister Clyde Tyree, had "set" herself to locating them... we can all gather what a nice reunion must've followed... also like to recommend Nell for a responsible job with the F.B.I.

NOT SO GOOD CONNECTIONS are being made by Fred and Joyce Moore, here to visit Fred Sr. and Margaret... They had to leave Tuesday to return to their home in Cincinnati... while Bill and Marilyn, with little Susan and Enloe, will roll in this coming week-end from Jackson for a week's visit... But it's nice that Margaret and Fred have been-in on both visits.

PING... and the THREE HUNDREDTH ball was knocked into the water by paddle-wielder Ann Williams. Seems that the ping pong table out at Saddle-N-Spur has been so popular that the supply of 300 balls was down-to-the-last-man (ball, that is)... when Ann entered the game... But number 300 didn't have a chance either... Ann sent it right into the middle (reminds us of Epaminondas) of the swimming pool. The happy ending, however, is that the ball was recovered and the game continued.

IF MISERY LOVES COMPANY, then Isabel Williams and Lollie Reeder must put Damon and Pythias in the proverbial shade about now, since both have been in real misery after trips to Nashville... for the purpose of participating company with unbecoming oral appendages... We'll bet that their comparing of notes is full of superlatives, from the reports we've heard... and we hereby offer them our sympathy and wishes for speedy recoveries.

SORRY TO LOSE the John Cases, who, with teen-agers Punch and Judy, are leaving (too) soon to make their home near Knoxville... We hear that these two attractive daughters are leaving with a fist full of invitations to "return soon"... which we hope they'll all do.

A HOME WITH A VIEW... and a gorgeous home AND view... is soon to be completed and occupied by the Ed Colebeck's... drive out on the west edge of town and take a look-see for yourself... And recently finished and now occupied by its owners is the lovely split-level home out in Edgemont Number Two... by the Lewis Nelsons... with the popular young Nelsons, Marion, Susan and Warren. They arrived a few months ago from Washington to make their home here, and have already become active and enthusiastic Florentines. Now's a good time for us to mention our very plushiest red carpet which has been rolled out for them.

AND UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY, IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW.

Arrest Made In Shotgun Slaying

Luther Shanes, 40, Is Held For Shooting Of Leroy Reeder Saturday

Luther Shanes, 40, Negro resident of 1111 North Cedar, Florence, was arrested by Chief Noah Danley and Captain Robert Anderson, Saturday, for investigation of murder in the shotgun death of Leroy Reeder, 46, Negro resident of 607 Equator Street, Florence, shortly before noon, Saturday.

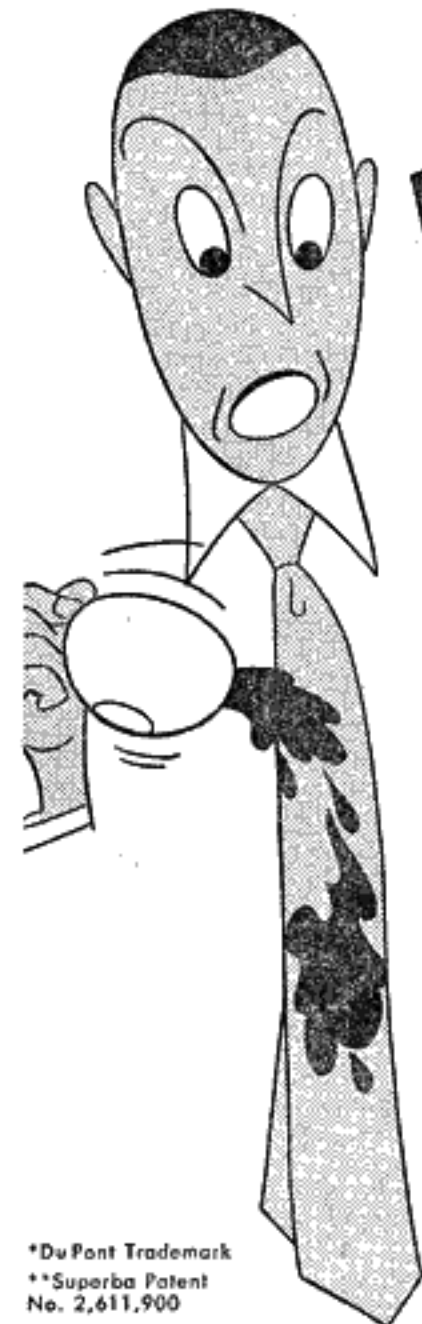

Reeder approached the Shanes' residence and fired a half dozen shots from a pistol into the house Friday night, scaring Shanes, his wife and seven children from the dwelling. Lauderdale county deputies went to Shanes' house looking for the victim, shortly before he appeared on the scene on Saturday, after Shanes' wife, Ethel Mae Shanes, went to the courthouse to get a warrant for Reeder's arrest.

When Reeder again came to the Shanes' residence, carrying the pistol he had fired on Friday night, Shanes told him not to come in and immediately got the shotgun which he fired at Reeder, killing him instantly.

Reeder had a record of 48 arrests with the Florence Police Department and recently served time for assault with intent to murder. Shanes has also served time on a conviction of transporting whisky in quantities of more than five gallons.

Florence Senior Two-Time Winner

Mrs. Joanne Hand Takes Top Honors For Poem In Creative Writing

For the second straight year, English students at Florence State College have topped the major honors among college students in the Creative Writing Contest sponsored by a Birmingham newspaper. Huntingdon College of Montgomery was second.

Dr. Jesse B. Reese, Professor of English and sponsor of the Creative Writing group at the college, was notified last week that Florence State had a total of six winners.

Mrs. Joanne Harvey Hand, Florence senior, was a two-time winner. Her entry, "The Alley Tree" was judged the best in the poetry division. She won second place in the essay division with "The Appearance-Reality Theme Seen Through the Clothing Imagery in King Lear." Last year Mrs. Hand won honorable mention for her essay.

A Decatur junior, Jon Hall, took second place honors in the short story division with, "The Ultimate Weapon." He won honorable mention in this category last year.

Third place awards were won by Joyce Hines, Panama City, Florida freshman for her poem, "I Cannot Light the Candles," and by Kenneth Minor, junior from Cherokee, for his essay, "The Web of Fear."

Honorable mention in the essay division went to Ken Reynolds, Florence senior. He submitted, "Extinguish or Establish."

In addition to Mrs. Hand and Hall, 1960 winners were George R. Sanderson, Tusculum, first place, and Catherine Robins, Iuka, Mississippi and David Harscheid, Orlando, Florida, second place.

Dr. Reese added that the publication of student writings, "Light and Shadows," will be released this week, and will feature the writings of the Birmingham winners, along with the manuscripts that won the local contest.

Power Of God Is Subject Address

Dr. E. B. Norton Speaker At Traditional Senior Breakfast On Sunday

Florence State College President E. B. Norton discussed the creative power and greatness of God in his message to the graduating seniors at their traditional "Senior Breakfast" at Holiday Inn on Sunday.

Using the Eighth Psalm as the basis for his presentation, he told how David, in nine short verses, gave expression to five basic ideas or concepts. "Any one of these," Dr. Norton said, "is worthy of a lifetime of meditation, thought and study."

The first was that of the majesty and the greatness of God—"O Lord, our Lord, how majestic is thy name in all the earth! Thou whose glory above the heavens is chanted by the mouth of babes and infants..."

The next idea dealt with the vastness and grandeur of the universe as created by the hand of God—"When I look at thy heavens, the work of thy fingers, the moon and the stars which thou hast established..."

Then, the material insignificance of man in the physical universe—"What is man that thou art mindful of him, and the son of man that thou dost care for him?"

The fourth idea dealt with the overwhelming importance of man morally, intellectually, and spiritually, as one created in the image of God—"Yet thou hast made him little less than God, and dost crown him with glory and honor..."

Last was the mandate given to mankind to conquer the earth and subdue it and have dominion over it and replenish it—"Thou hast given him dominion over the works of thy hands; thou hast put all things under his feet, all sheep and oxen, and also the beasts of the field, the birds of the air, and the fish of the sea, whatever passes along the paths of the sea."

Dr. Norton said that David, in closing his worshipful meditation, returned to the basic concept of the creative power and the greatness of God by repeating a portion of the first verse of the Psalm as also the closing verse—"O Lord, our Lord, how majestic is thy name in all the earth."

Class President James Gamble, Tusculum, presided.

Trampolines

Q. Our 14-year-old insists that trampolines are fun and perfectly safe. Your opinion?

A. Any unsupervised sport involves some danger. Gymnastics is no exception. Instruction in basic trampoline exercises is a must before more complicated maneuvers are attempted. With the sudden rise in trampoline popularity, reports of serious injuries resulting from the sport have appeared in the popular press and in medical journals. Properly supervised trampoline activity can be an excellent and safe means of getting healthful exercise. Without such supervision, the sport can be a menace to life and limb.

"900 Calorie Liquids"

Q. Do the new low-calorie liquids contain anything to dull the appetite?

A. The original "900 calorie" product contains no appetite-suppressing drug. It is a mixture of nonfat milk solids, soy flour, vegetable oils, starch, sugar, flavoring, vitamins, and minerals.

Morning Nausea

Q. Is "morning nausea" a sign that the baby will be lost?

A. No. In fact, some doctors say that expectant mothers who have morning nausea seldom abort. One physician divides pregnant patients into two groups: those who may lose their baby (non-vomitters) and those who may not (vomitters). This doesn't mean, of course, that all non-vomitters abort.

For Every Baby

Q. Is the saying, "For every baby a tooth" true?

A. Apparently not. The old notion that pregnancy robs the mother's teeth of calcium and thus causes cavities has been disproved by several medical investigators. But the expectant mother shouldn't neglect her teeth. The best time for extensive dental work is probably between the twentieth and twenty-eighth week of pregnancy. This is especially true if the dental work requires general anesthesia rather than use of just a local anesthetic. Minor tooth troubles can and should be attended to any time before the baby arrives.

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

Nothing quite compares with the exhilaration of that final day at high school.

The drudgery of note-taking, the monotony of assignments and recitation, the tedium of term papers, the nights of cramming, the toiling tension of exam week... it's all behind them.

And ahead... graduation... the prom... college... a job.

But as an earnest parent, pause to take stock of your son's spiritual maturity. Has the soul's growth kept pace with the mind's?

The firmness of the bond between the Home and the Church holds the answer. Strengthen that bond every Sunday. In a world that constantly tests the faith of men... the last exam is not over.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Review and Forecast

Artificially Bred Cows Increase

In 1960, more than seven billion dairy cows were bred artificially. "In other words," said Auburn Extension Service Dairyman John Parrish, "37 per cent of all the cows and heifers two years old and over that were kept for milk were bred that way."

"Wisconsin continued to lead in number of cows artificially bred—more than 50 per cent of all the dairy cows in that state," Parrish went on. "And in 19 other states, as many as 40 per cent of the dairy cows were artificially bred."

"Alabama bred more than 16 per cent of its cows two years or older. Service is now available in 59 of the 67 counties, and there are 72 technicians employed by four commercial groups," Parrish added.

Freight Rate On Cement Lowered

New bulk rates on cement have been filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission by Southern Railroads. The new rates on loads of 140,000 pounds per car became effective Monday, May 15 on interstate traffic, it was stated.

Interstate movements will not be affected until individual state commissions act to allow similar reductions, between three and three-and-a-half cents per hundred pounds, to go into effect. In the case of highway construction, it was pointed out, the new rates will mean great savings in tax dollars.

Southern Railway System has recently put into service a new fleet of aluminum hopper cars each carrying more than 100 tons of cement.

Homemade Jelly Peps Up Meals

"Jelly can really pep up an otherwise dull meal. It's great on biscuits, as a topping for warm cake, or just with bread and butter," says Belle Downey, Auburn Extension Service food preservation specialist.

With blackberries, dewberries, and other delicious fruit coming in, now's the time to start making jelly.

Here are some hints from the specialist for successful jelly making. Regardless of the fruit you choose, be sure it's not bruised or rotten. This will destroy the true flavor of the fruit.

For a different jelly flavor, choose two fruits that your family likes and combine them. Tart apples, grapes, wild plums and blackberries also make excellent jelly, says Miss Downey. "If you choose blackberries, pick some that are slightly red. The under ripe fruit supplies the acid and pectin while the ripe fruit supplies the color and taste," she adds.

In cooking apples, plums, and grapes, only a small amount of water is needed to extract their juice. But all jellies should be cooked at high speed. Miss Downey continues, "You will always have better jelly if only two or three cups of juice and sugar mixture are cooked in the saucepan at one time. And be sure to follow the recipe exactly," she reminds.

Pour the jelly into glasses and cover it to prevent mold from forming. Then when the jelly has set, pour about one-fourth inch of warm paraffin over it. Coat the top of the glass as well as the top of the jelly. You can do this by rolling the jelly glass around in your hand.

Miss Downey advises, "Store jelly in a cool, dark, dry place for best results."

Kitchen Work Can Be Easier

Kitchen work can be made easier if the homemaker plans for speed, safety, and convenience.

Elizabeth Bryan, Auburn Extension Service economist, advises, "Store frequently used supplies within easy reach. For most women that's a shelf no more than 72 inches from the floor."

"Foods, utensils, and cleaning supplies should be stored where they are first used. For example, items needing water first, such as potatoes, should be stored near the sink."

"Stack only those items which are the same size," suggests the economist. This does away with lifting and handling. And to prevent fatigue, plan for short, direct routes for hands and feet."

The specialist adds, "With good planning, accidents can be avoided. And if you have children, arrange a place for the play pen and high chair that is out of the way."

Lambs Are Now In Large Supply

There's a plentiful supply of excellent quality lamb available on markets this month. So it's a good time for homemakers to try out some of the interesting lamb recipes being featured in newspapers and magazines.

Both fall and spring lamb are good choices for quality, according to Bob Farquhar, Auburn Extension Service sheep specialist. And value-wise, he adds, the fall lamb still available is particularly attractive in price. As the supply increases, spring lamb will also come down some in price.

All sheep less than one year old are classified as lamb. Some of these lambs come to market in the spring, while others fattened on grains are marketed in the late fall and through the winter months.

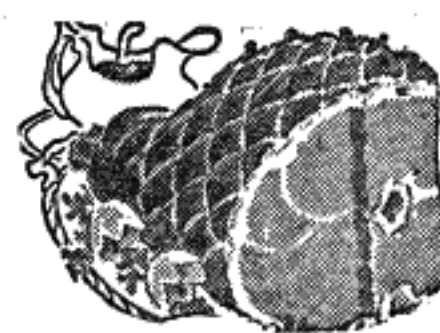

Farquhar says that the quality of the fall lamb is excellent and compares satisfactorily with the spring crop. One reason that this is true for the more mature lambs is that revised USDA standards went into effect last year which put the emphasis on leaner, meat-type animals in the top grades—Prime and Choice—to meet consumer preference for less fat on the meat.

In the new standards the basis for evaluating quality was changed in all grades by reducing the points given in grading for "feathering"—that is, the amount of fat intermingled with the lean between the ribs, explains the Auburn sheep specialist.

More importance is given now to the firmness of the meat as a quality factor. "Of course," Farquhar adds, "these revisions have limited effects on the very young lambs marketed in the spring which have only a minimum fat."

When shopping for lamb, the homemaker can select from several cuts. For delicious meals with ease, favorite choices are often lamb chops, steaks, and roasts. Require-
