

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

• The first thing a prize fighter learns, after getting into physical condition, is how to keep his opponent off balance. It seems that Khrushchev is following this pattern without swinging a left or a right. Whenever the West slows down from one of his punches, he comes right back with another from a little different angle and so has the United States and other Western powers ducking from a faint from one hand or a wild swing from another. The next thing a fighter learns is that if he leads the fight he has his opponent covering up and attempting to block his punches. It's as simple as that.

• It's when you think you've made your mark in the world that someone comes along with an eraser.

• They are still trying to settle on the best and most sensible name for that series of battles that took place in this general area during the years 1861 to 1865. The UDC insists that it be called the War Between the States; the National Archives has it listed on its records as the War of the Rebellion; railroad men call it the First Railroad War; but according to one well-known Alabama orator, when speaking at a memorial dedication recently, it was "the War of Northern Aggression." Somewhere along the line we have heard it referred to as the Civil War—but maybe we are wrong.

• Most women like nothing better than name dropping—maiden name, that is.

• When the supreme court says pay off, that's it. The Arkansas Supreme Court has just ruled that Mrs. Delena Hanna, an employee of a canning factory, is entitled to workman's compensation benefits because she pulled a shoulder muscle while putting on a sweater at the plant. Now, we remember the other day while walking through the back-shop that we strained a muscle when . . . oh, well, just let it pass.

• The older one gets, the harder it is to keep those chins up. Ask the man who owns (an extra) one, as Packard once said.

• Announcement was made last week by Stout Motors, Inc., of Kalamazoo, Mich., that their new electric passenger car will be on the market by January 1st. Now we may expect an announcement by some old-time buggy manufacturer that their special HMT model runabout will soon be available and everyone is urged to purchase a spirited horse immediately for motive power. (Now, youngsters, if you don't know what the letters H.M.T. stand for—ask your grandmother.)

• Vacation—A change of routine that makes you feel good enough to go back to work and poor enough to have to.

• In California, they do things in a big way. Officials in Burbank, with a flare for publicity, refused to open a new $2,000,000 highway in the time-honored fashion of cutting a ribbon but, instead, cast aside the scissors and drove a Model "T" Ford car through the ribbon.

• A man has a very good memory when he can remember what he worried about last week.

• We understand that the one person in the entire Yankee organization that was completely worn out when the series was over was the bat boy, who had to shake hands every time a Yankee hit a four-bagger.

• Men want to be the kind of person that people look up to. Girls want to be the kind of person that people look around at.

• We read where a woman reported the disappearance of her husband to the police. After giving a detailed description of him, the officer asked if there was any message she would like them to give him if he was located. "Yes," she replied, "tell him that Mother didn't come after all."

• The applause for an expensive and daring cocktail dress modeled at a recent fashion show was deafening. It was later discovered that the dress had been put on backwards.

• Sam and Bill, expectant fathers both, nervously paced the floor in the waiting room of a certain hospital. "What tough luck," grumbled Sam. "This had to happen during my vacation." "You think you've got troubles?" said Bill. "I'm here on my honeymoon."

Judge Flynt Replies To Republican Accusations

In response to the expressed dissatisfaction of a group of Lauderdale County Republicans and others with the present county fee system, and recommendations by these groups that county officials be placed on a salary basis, Probate Judge Estes R. Flynt today issued a full statement clarifying his position in the matter and calling attention to an advertisement elsewhere in this issue, in which he has published at his own expense, a financial statement of the annual cost of operating the Probate office.

Judge Flynt's statement follows: "During the past several months a small group of Republicans in Lauderdale County have seen fit to publicly make highly exaggerated statements and reckless charges as to the amount of money your Probate Judge was making each year under the fee system. These politically inspired accusations made through the medium of letters to the editor and television programs have presented a grossly inaccurate picture to the people of this county concerning the compensation received each year by your elected Judge of Probate who also serves as Juvenile Judge and Ex-officio chairman of the court of County Commissioners.

"In their determination to create discord and dissatisfaction among the Democrats of Lauderdale County respecting our fee system of compensating our elected county officials, these few citizens claimed that our present financial school crises could be solved by putting our elected county officers on a salary basis. THERE IS NOT ONE iota of truth or fact in such a statement.

"When a political falsehood is told often enough, some are bound to believe it. And there is now little doubt but that some few of our citizens have been misled by this 'committee' into believing that our school situation calls not for increased local support but for a changeover from the fee system to a flat salary for each elected county official. While such a changeover is a matter for the citizens of this county to decide on through their legislative delegation, after thorough study and investigation such a proposal should not be suggested or acted upon under the wholly false premise that we would be effecting a financial cure for the local financial crisis in our school system.

"The books and records of your local Probate office have always been open for inspection and examination by any citizen of Lauderdale County. They always will be.

Sheffield Beauty Named Queen Of FSC Homecoming

A dark-haired beauty from Sheffield will reign as Homecoming Queen of Florence State College. Mary Settle Wright, 19 year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Wright of 1107 Nashville Avenue, Sheffield, was elected from a field of five finalists, all brunettes, by vote of the FSC student body.

Twenty-four cords had been nominated for the honor by various campus organizations. The field was narrowed to five by a panel of judges who met with each nominee individually, judging them on appearance, personality, and service to the college. The newly-elected Queen will be First Lady of the Florence State student body at all festivities during the gala Homecoming week end. She will have the place of honor in the traditional parade Homecoming Day, Nov. 4, riding atop the Queen's Float. Between halves of the Florence State-Jacksonville State football game that afternoon, Mary Settle will officially be crowned as Queen, and the entire half-time show by the new Florence State Lions Band will be designed to honor the Queen. And after the game at the Homecoming dance in the Great Hall of the Student Union, Mary Settle will be belle of the ball.

Mary Settle, a sophomore, has been active as a student at Florence State. As a freshman, she was secretary of her class, an ROTC sponsor, and runner-up to Miss Charming. This summer, she was sophomore class Student Government Association representative. At present, Mary Settle is sophomore class president, ROTC Cadet Officer Corps sponsor, social chairman of her dormitory, and a Diorama beauty nominee.

Newspaper Week Now Being Observed In U.S.

This week—National Newspaper Week—is set apart by your hometown newspapers so that you might learn of the efforts made by thousands upon thousands of dedicated persons charged with the responsibility of bringing to you, their readers, full information of what is going on around you and throughout the world.

This newspaper, a leader in its recognition year after year through various awards, is more interested in what takes place in the neighborhoods and communities we serve than what occurs in foreign lands or even far-off places in our own country. Interested first in local happenings, next in state news and this followed by news that might affect all of us directly or indirectly, we attempt to bring you in one package all of the week's events, both major and minor.

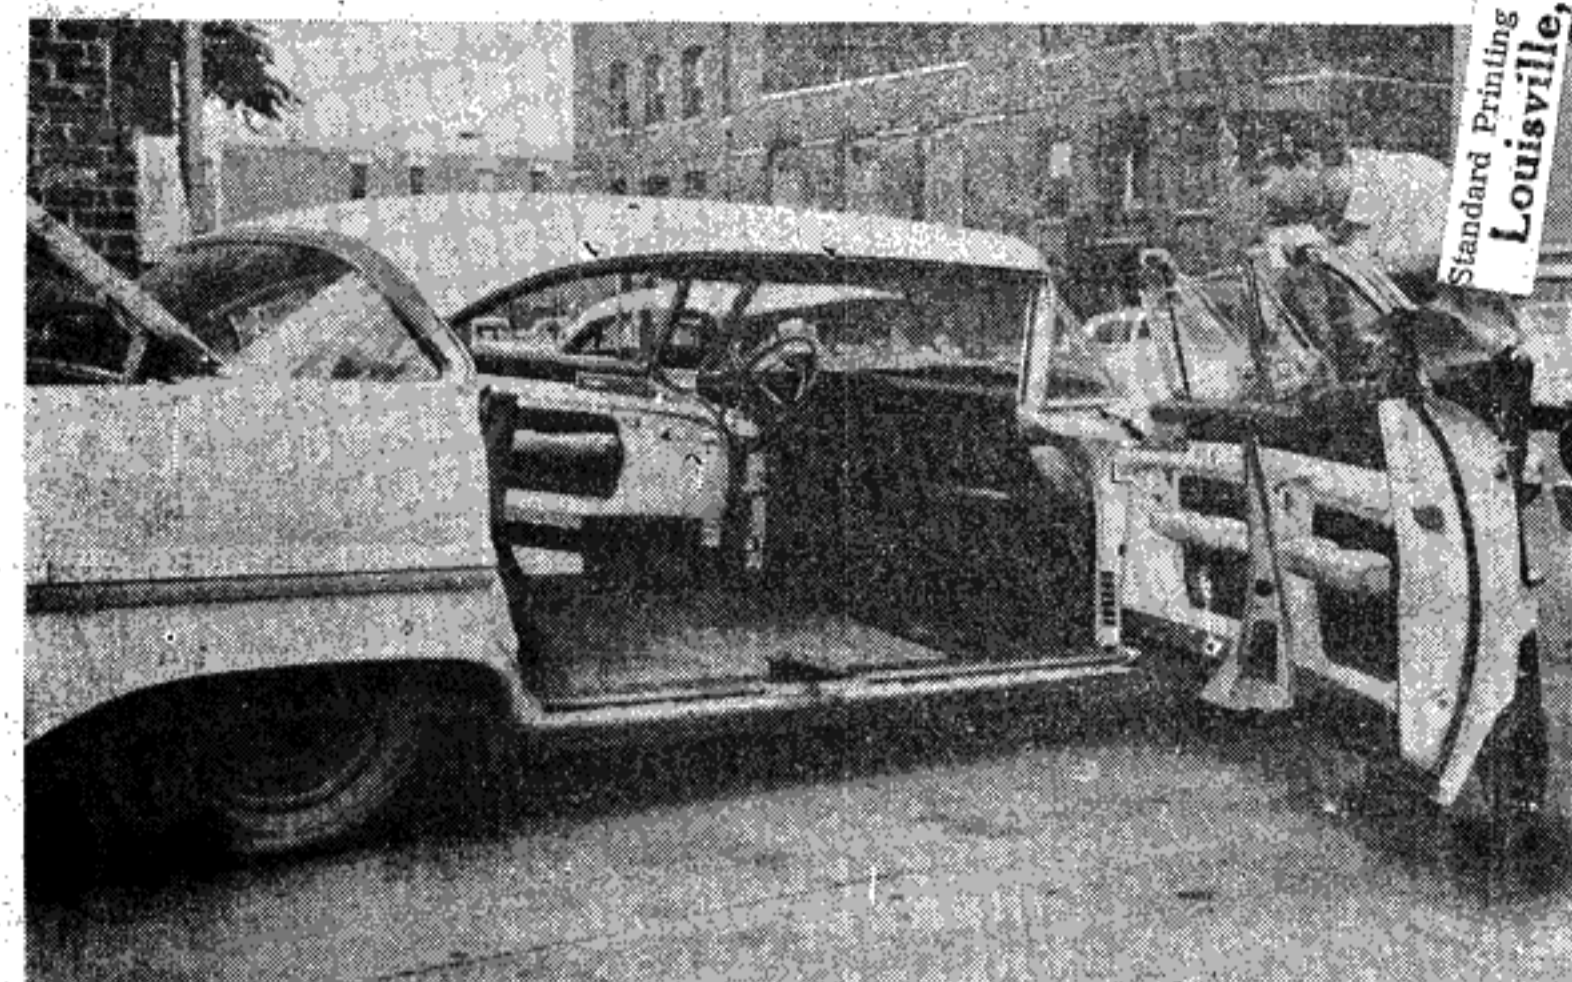

It is YOUR RIGHT TO KNOW—and we try to live up to our obligation to keep you informed through a free press, the prime requisite of a free and independent nation.

We believe you would like to know more about "your newspaper" and those whose privilege it is to bring you the news, usually boiled down to its bare essentials with all the "fat" cut out, as well as the features that each week prove of interest to you.

Let's start with Oscar Lewis, longtime newsman who supervises the gathering of local news and produces many of our most pertinent editorials. It is his job to

COLBERT VOTERS APPROVE 5-MILL TAX FOR SCHOOLS

Colbert County voters Tuesday approved a five mill ad valorem tax increase in both Colbert Districts, effective with the 1961-1962 tax year, insuring nine full months of school.

The over-all margin was 1,297 to 915 in the two districts as 2,212 voters turned out to cast ballots. Based on last year's revenues, it was estimated that the five mill ad valorem tax increase would bring in around $126,000 per year, however, there now appears considerable hope that the revenue will be some 40 per cent greater by the time the tax is collected beginning October 1, 1962.

Colbert County teachers are now virtually assured of getting their full pay. Without the taxes, however, the teachers faced a considerable cutback in their salaries due to proration of state funds.

Guidance Importance Stressed

Florence State Host To High School Counselors

C. C. Earnest To Succeed Brice As Bell Manager

C. C. Earnest, a native of Bessemer, succeeded Forrest W. Brice, as manager of the Florence Exchange of the Southern Bell Telephone Company, Wednesday.

Mr. Brice, who has been in Florence approximately three years, will report to a new position with the company as unit manager of the Birmingham west district, Monday. He was transferred here in January, 1959, after serving as supervisor of the Birmingham downtown office.

Mr. Brice is affiliated with the Rotary International, is secretary-treasurer of the Lauderdale chapter of the University of Alabama Alumni, has served with the Lauderdale chapter of the American Red Cross and with the general division of the United Fund. He is a member of the First Methodist Church and on the Board of Stewards.

Mr. Earnest has held a number of positions in both the Bessemer and Birmingham offices of Southern Bell, and is a former manager of the exchange in Talladega. He began his career with Southern Bell in 1950 as central office repairman in the Birmingham area, and has always been active in civic and community activities.

His wife and four children are expected to join him in Florence as soon as housing arrangements are completed.

Florence State College is host today to a District Conference of Alabama high school counselors sponsored by the State Department of Education.

Guidance counselors of area high schools, and personnel from Florence State College and the State Department of Education will participate in conference sessions beginning at 3:30 p.m. Conference will have dinner in the Great Hall of the new Student Union building and attend further sessions in the evening.

The field of guidance is increasingly important as colleges tighten entrance requirements and career fields become more complex. It is the task of the guidance counselor in the high school to help the student to know his own abilities and help him properly channel and develop them.

Recent studies have shown counselors can help students acquire a keen understanding of careers and relate this knowledge to the need for superior academic achievement.

By collecting and using the latest career information, counselors help students learn to think intelligently about various careers and what is needed to enter these fields.

Through counseling, students can better plan their school work to achieve their goals.

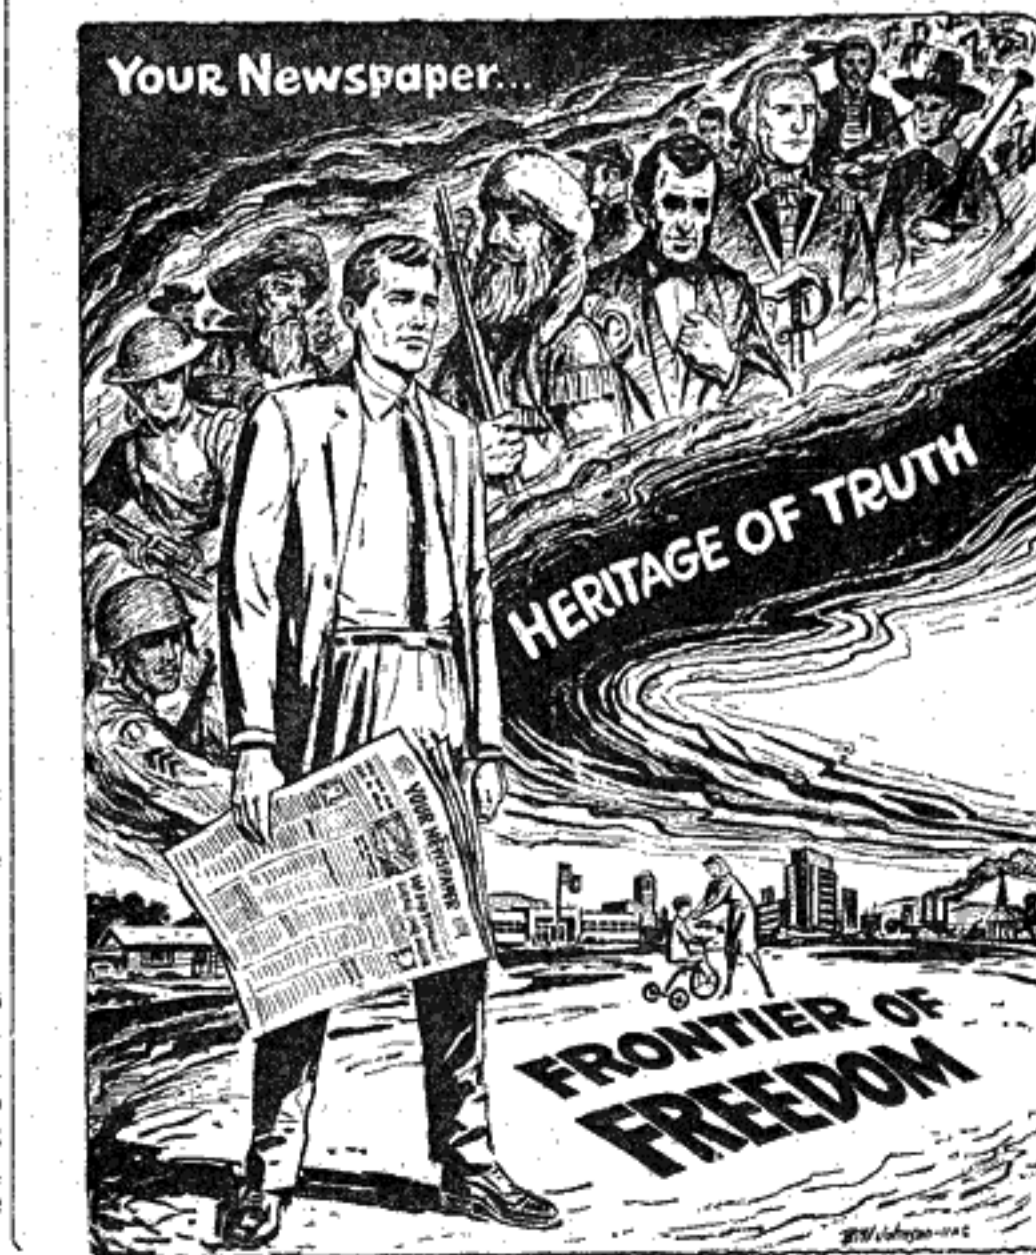

Counseling with parents, helps them become aware of the abilities and needs of their children.

The conference at Florence will provide guidance personnel with an opportunity for exchange of ideas and information along these lines.

ELECTED TO CHURCH POST

The Rev. Edward G. Mullen, rector of Trinity Episcopal Church was elected to the National Council of the Protestant Episcopal Church of America at the general convention in Detroit ending Sept. 30.

Airman Orlan L. Cox, son of Mrs. Olivia M. Cox of 528 E. Tombigbee, Florence, has been selected to attend the United States Air Force technical training course for supply specialists at Amarillo AFB, Texas.

With the last piece of property in the site for the new Lauderdale County Courthouse condemned by action in the Lauderdale County Probate Court, that of the Eady property on Alabama Street, the way is at last cleared legally for the Lauderdale County Building Authority, Doyle Young chairman, and the County Court of Commissioners to turn their attention to the actual planning of the new building to house the county's numerous offices and courtrooms and the badly needed county jail.

On October 3 it was announced that authorization of the issuance and sale of courthouse warrants had been initiated and last week members of the authority and members of the staff of the architectural firm of Northington, Smith and Kranert, architects for the new courthouse, had made an inspection of courthouse facilities in both Montgomery and Gadsden.

As was previously pointed out the building of the new courthouse and jail for Lauderdale County will entail no additional taxes, the financing being drawn entirely from taxes long earmarked for such public buildings in the county. The earmarked 2½ mill tax will continue to be collected and transferred to a "sinking fund" set up to provide funds for the Lauderdale courthouse building program.

Cost of the new Courthouse and jail will be approximately $1,250,000. The old site may be sold under the title recently acquired by the County, and the money applied on the purchase price of the new site, the block immediately south of the present courthouse.

Included in the group of property owners of the new courthouse site all of which has now been cleared, were: The Florence City municipal government, Gulf Oil Company, the Crowe estate property on which the bus station is located, the Hibbert Sporting Goods Company and the Kachan property on the north corner of the block.

The property occupied by the Pine Street Church on the southwest corner of the block was not involved since its acquisition was not deemed necessary by county officials.

Homecoming At Coffee Friday

Annual Homecoming at Coffee High School will be Friday night when the Jackets play the formidable Walker County Vikings and pretty Pam Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Anthony J. Smith of 710 Prospect Street, will be crowned "Homecoming Queen" at halftime.

A Way Out committee of these graduates of 1942 and 1943, (teams of '41 and '42), has been busy rounding up their old classmates as well as teachers of those years who will be guests of the classes at dinner in the school cafeteria. Films of the school activities of those years will be shown.

The committee is composed of Karl Tyree, Jr., Sam Esslinger, Jr., Mrs. Phillip Corrigan, Mrs. Leland Romine, Catherine Glenn Miller, William Yielding (1941 captain), Doug Palmer and George Brink captains of 1942; Don Holt (class president of 1941), and Bud O'Steen (president of 1942), John E. Amendment Number One

The Number One amendment on the ballot with forty-four others to face the decision of the state's voters December 5 will be that of a $10 million Prison Reform bond issue. In this newspaper's opinion it is of utmost importance that this amendment be passed since it not only requires no additional taxation but will provide a vitally needed modernization and enlargement of the state's prison system.

Confident of voters' approval, Commissioner A. Frank Lee of the Department of Corrections and Institutions is working on final plans to launch the rebuilding program, which will not require additional taxation. The plan would provide:

1. Removal of outmoded Kilby Prison from its present site near Montgomery and the subsequent sale of 2,244 acres of valuable prison property.

2. Relocation of Kilby at an isolated area of Montgomery County, where four separate facilities would be built—maximum security and minimum security prisons and a receiving and classification center.

3. Construction of a new women's prison at Whitman's Field in Elmore County several miles from the present Julia Tutwiler Prison for Women at Wetumpka.

4. Conversion of Julia Tutwiler Prison into an institution for first-time male offenders 20 years of age or less.

5. Construction of a new receiving and classification center about five miles from Speigner where all first-time offenders would be processed.

This building program, to be undertaken in steps during a five-year period, would allow complete segregation of the young first-termers from the older inmates. "If we can keep the young men away from the influence of the hardened criminals, we can prevent a lot of them from ever returning to prison," Commissioner Lee said.

Youthful offenders would be given full opportunity for rehabilitation and training that would include high school and vocational training and work assignments in state parks, wearing khaki instead of prison whites.

A "YES" vote on amendment No. 1 should provide the way for a brighter day for those unfortunates who have a chance for rehabilitation and more humane treatment for the incorrigibles.

The Welcome Mat Is Out

Florence is rapidly becoming popular as a convention city, with more modern facilities for feeding and lodging delegates and guests than many larger places.

Moreover there are other advantages, too. In and around Florence there is more to see. Many historical attractions such as the Forks of Cypress, the famous Wesleyan Hall at Florence State College, the Old Pope's Tavern where Andrew Jackson lodged on his way to battle the British at New Orleans, a number of fine ante bellum homes, and the Helen Keller shrine in nearby Tusculum, all bring to the visitor a link with history and a touch of the Old South.

The stamp of progress is much in evidence also as local citizens point with pride to the great TVA lakes and dams, the largest in the system, Wilson Dam, with the highest single lift lock in the entire world, being only three miles upriver.

Florence is easily accessible by land and air, being the junction of two splendid highways, the Lee and the Jackson. The Muscle Shoals airport serves the Tri-Cities with both Southern and Eastern airlines available to visitors.

In Florence the "welcome mat" is always out.

Is Human Dignity Wearing Out?

Sometimes we wonder if human dignity is not wearing out. Certainly that rugged American of yesteryear who made a living, cared for his family and provided for their future without asking help from a living soul, much less the government, is gone forever. Taking his place is a great horde of individuals with their hands in the public till and their minds in the gutter.

The government has become a huge grab bag and the inequities that are developing rapidly as a result of public handouts are forcing political action to underwrite perpetual inflation and even greater government control over our lives through increasing taxation. Under this system the taxpayer is dreaming if he thinks there will ever be a tax cut.

And the disease has invaded private industry which is rapidly, and possibly unwittingly becoming controlled industry. We are told that "fringe benefits" now account for employer costs of about 25 per cent of payrolls, averaging $1,100 per employee each year. So-called "fringe benefits" have tripled in less than 15 years and while this is not to decry all fringe benefits, some are important . . . it is symbolic of a dangerous trend.

It is said that many of our leaders take the position that, whereas nationalization of industry is the front door to State Socialism or State Capitalism, Welfareism is the back door and just as direct, maintaining that private property can be confiscated as effectively by taxation as by expropriation. By divesting the individual of the means for caring for his own needs, he is actually at the mercy of the State from the cradle to the grave.

Quoting from Barry Goldwater in, "The Conscience of a Conservative," hope lies in a better informed public and politicians with integrity:

"The Welfare State is not inevitable . . . our future like our past will be what we make it. And we can defeat the Collectivists' designs on our individual freedom if we will impress upon the men who conduct our affairs this one truth: that the material and spiritual sides of man are intertwined; that it is impossible for the State to assume responsibility for one without intruding on the essential nature of the other; that if we take from a man the personal responsibility of caring for his material needs, we take from him also the will and the opportunity to be free."

When you open a new bottle of ketchup, insert a straw, pushing it to the bottom of the bottle. Remove the straw and you will find that the air that was admitted to the bottom will make the ketchup flow easily.

Saturn Launching Postponed

Scientists postponed the launching this week of the first Saturn superrocket which would have started the United States on the long road to manned landings on the moon. It is more powerful than any other U.S. rocket.

Two and possibly more men were believed dead and five firemen injured. Damage was estimated at a quarter-million dollars.

"Our local financial crisis respecting the schools of Lauderdale County is deserving of better treatment and more serious study than this so called Republican committee has been willing to give it. The people of this county are entitled to see the full clear financial picture instead of a distorted political view. Therefore, in an effort to furnish every citizen of this county with a full and detailed account of the total fees received each year by your Probate Judge and of the actual annual personal cost of operation of this office, I am today publishing in this newspaper at my own expense a complete breakdown of the gross and net fees actually received by me during the calendar year 1960 and of the clerk's salaries and other operating expense necessarily paid from such gross receipts. It is their job, along with their other duties, to contact those who would bring profit to their businesses through their messages in the columns of your newspaper.

To take your messages and see that the office runs smoothly, to see that each person on the entire staff is kept informed and to see that our valued customers receive their statements and proper credit for their payments each month, is Beulah Sutton, our efficient secretary, whose long experience in dealing with the public is most helpful.

But the backbone of this or any hometown weekly newspaper is the news supplied by our county correspondents, numbering 15 at present, who bring you interesting items of social events, church and school programs and the comings and goings of your friends and neighbors. To these dedicated writers of local news all of us are deeply indebted. (See their names in the headings of their news columns.)

But, what good would all this news gathering do if there were not those involved who take the typed word or advertising layout and prepare them for the printed page, and then give the aggregate to you in black and white? There would be little use for all the painstaking time and effort in news gathering if it were not for the men in our mechanical division.

Personality Sketches

By ANN SULLIVAN

WILLIAM FRANK BAKER

Few men of his age now living in Florence have had as colorful a career as has William F. Baker. His war record is exciting; his political career is of exceptional value to his state and county; his civic contributions are of lasting importance and his legal career has stamped him as an attorney of astute proportions.

William Frank Baker was born June 16, 1918, in Vaiden, Miss., the son of William Albert and Annie Carithers Baker. When he was a year old, the family moved to Memphis where he later attended elementary school. He was graduated from Whitehaven High School in 1935.

While in high school, Mr. Baker was a member of the Future Farmers of America and represented his chapter several times in competitive judging of livestock. He also was a member of the Dramatic Society, the Glee Club, and competed in several extemporaneous speaking contests. He was a member of the basketball and baseball teams during these years.

Immediately following his graduation, the family moved to Florence. Mr. Baker attended Miss Howell's Business College for a year. In 1937, he entered Florence State College, remaining there a year, when he was employed as assistant to the late S. B. Howard, City Clerk at that time. Mr. Baker remained in that position until 1940, when he resigned to take an office position with the Public Roads Administration. During the year he was employed by the P.R.A., the Natchez Trace was in its formative years.

In 1943, he entered the Air Force as a cadet, being first stationed at Kessler Field, Biloxi, Miss., for basic training. One month later, he was transferred to San Antonio, Tex., where he received pre-flight training for the next two months.

Mr. Baker was then ordered to Springfield, Mo., and assigned to the college training detachment at Southeastern Missouri State Teachers College, which he attended for three months. From there, he was transferred to Ft. Stockton, Tex., for primary flight training, remaining there two months after which he was ordered to San Angelo, Tex., for basic flight training. Mr. Baker received his advance flight training at Pampa, Tex., where he received his wings as a pilot on May 23, 1944.

After receiving his wings, he was transferred to the Port of Debarkation, Greensboro, N. C., from where he was sent overseas as a replacement pilot in the 434th Troop Carrier Command. He landed in England in July, 1944, and was assigned to the Air Force base at Aldermaston, Eng. Flying two missions a day, furnishing supplies behind the front lines to General George S. Patton's army, became his routine job.

On September 17, 1944, after flying paratroopers behind enemy lines in Holland, Mr. Baker's plane was shot down, the co-pilot and intelligence officer being killed. He parachuted to safety, landing just outside Bostel, a small town in Holland. For forty-two days he was behind enemy lines.

Alone for two weeks, Mr. Baker finally made contact with some farmers who put him in touch with a Catholic monastery. He was later asked to leave the monastery since he was endangering the lives of 100 priests. A farmer, J. H. Hamacher, who knew where other allied troops were in hiding, put Mr. Baker in touch with them.

After an unsuccessful attempt to get through the front lines, Mr. Baker and several others decided to move on Bostel and wait there for the allies. The men held the town under Mr. Baker's command for three days when they were retrieved by a Tank Corps of Canadians on October 29, 1944.

After turning his men over to the English, Mr. Baker and a companion went by jeep to view the front lines, going from Bostel to Brussels where he later boarded a plane for London. There he was questioned by intelligence for several days after which he was ordered back to the States.

Mr. Baker was hospitalized for three months at Miami Beach, Fla., with combat fatigue. He was then assigned to Troop Carrier Command Headquarters, Stout Field, Indianapolis, Ind., flying hospital ships until his discharge October 27, 1945, from Baer Field, Ft. Wayne, Ind., with the rank of 1st Lieutenant.

On September 15, 1945, Mr. Baker was married to Virginia Lee Pinkos of Taunton, Mass., whom he met while stationed at Miami. They have one son, William F. Baker, Jr., 2½ years old.

In January, 1946, Mr. Baker entered the University of Alabama Law School and was graduated with an L.L.B. degree in 1948. While in law school, he was elected to Farrah Order of Jurisprudence "in recognition of his high scholastic achievement while pursuing the study of law."

After receiving his degree, Mr. Baker returned to Florence and began his practice of law in which he is now engaged.

In 1949, Mr. Baker helped organize the Florence Housing Authority and served as its first executive director, continuing for six years, when he resigned to devote his full time to his law practice.

In November, 1950, he was elected to the State Legislature, representing Lauderdale County and began serving his four year term in 1951. As a freshman legislator, he was honored with his selection to serve on the Interim Finance and Taxation Committee. Mr. Baker also was appointed by the Governor to serve with Senator Jimmy Faulkner, Baldwin County, and Rep. Jimmy Morgan, Jefferson County, in making a study of plans for the improvement of the University Medical Center, Birmingham. All three were in-

Introducing the style of the year is getting to be a habit with Pontiac!

One right after another, the Wide-Tracks have introduced the style that's been the year's most looked at and longed for. And along comes the '62 with the kind of freshness and fineness that only Pontiac comes up with. New length. New twin-scoop grille. A crisp, low silhouette. Cleanly curving taillights. You don't have to look twice to tell a '62 Pontiac! And you only have to drive it once to know that nothing else will do for you. Why not take the wheel and go Wide-Tracking soon!

The '62 Wide-Tracks are here!

Miss Darby, Mr. Frazier
Say Vows In Home Ceremony

Mr. and Mrs. J. Clifford Darby have announced the marriage of their daughter, JoAnn, to Joseph E. Frazier, son of Mr. and Mrs. Clay Frazier of Mobile.

Only family members were present for the morning ceremony which was solemnized in the home of the bride's parents, 1025 Olive Street, Florence, on Saturday, October seventh.

Following their honeymoon at coastal resorts in Florida, Mr. and Mrs. Frazier have returned and are at home in Florence.

Afternoon Ceremony Unites
Miss Balentine, Mr. Jones

Banked with greenery and lighted by an arch of tapers, the altar of Pampin Avenue Church of Christ was detailed with arrangements of yellow and bronze chrysanthemums on Sunday afternoon October eighth, when Nancy Carolyn Balentine became the bride of Robert Percy Jones.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. John Wayland Balentine and Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Jones, all of Florence.

Following a choral prelude, Marshall Flowers, minister of the church, read the four o'clock vows.

Mr. Balentine gave his daughter in marriage. Her gown of net and lace over satin was designed with a basque bodice featuring a Sabrina neckline and long, tapering sleeves, and the skirt, full and floor-length, extended to form a small train. Her fingertip veil of silk illusion fell from a crown of pearls and she carried a bride's Bible, gift of the bridegroom, and a bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a yellow-throated white orchid.

Miss Jacqueline Balentine was her sister's honor attendant; bridesmaids were Miss Rachel Ann Canerdy, Miss Linda Wright and Miss Teresa Allen of Washington, D. C.; Jeanne Rebecca Balentine, younger sister of the bride, and Carolyn Wright, cousin of the bridegroom, were junior maids. They wore velveteen frocks in blending shades of green with touches of gold, complimented by matching velveteen bows as head-dresses and nosegays of chrysanthemums as their bouquets.

Lisa Shackelford of Savannah, Tennessee, and Stephen Wayland Balentine, brother of the bride, were flower girl and ringbearer, respectively.

Mr. Jones served his son as best man; ushers were Jerry Bevis, John Hardaman, Louis McAdams, and James Yarbrough. Isaac Long and Gary Jones were candlelighters.

Mrs. Balentine wore brocade satin in an autumnal shade; Mrs. Jones chose a blue ensemble.

Immediately after the ceremony, the bride's parents were reception hosts in the church parlors. Assisting with the courtesies were Mrs. John Sharp, Miss Dorcia Dowdy, Mrs. Tom Hudson and Miss Linda Lane Cox.

Before leaving for their honeymoon, the bride changed to a mint green suit with which she wore black accessories and the orchid from her bouquet.

Mr. Jones and his bride will be at home on Simpson Street, Florence.

THE SPILLWAY

You're safe for a while; the die is cast. Friday-the-thirteenth now is past.

REALLY DURING THE SUPERSTITION about Friday-the-thirteenth was Susan Tauber's mother, Jeanna, who — since it was Susan's thirteenth birthday — planned a slumber party as a complete surprise to Susan. There were all kinds of danger points placed around the house . . . if you believe in black cats, ladders and the like . . . and the girls must've decided that it would be bad luck to sleep, because we hear that not a single girl in the large group slept for a single minute! And there must have been some mighty droopy eyes around on Saturday the fourteenth!

A NEW MEMBER has been added to a already large family, which means more fun for a already fun-loving family also . . . Now "Bobby" (the Shetland pony that gave so many happy hours to Ellen King) belongs to Landis Craig and her five little sisters . . . Reports of Much Fun being had by all . . . and this probably includes a large number of friends and neighbors, and maybe even the little-over-a-year Craig twins.

THE PARTY OF THE SEASON to date is undisputedly the one given (in two installments and on two days) last week by Julia O'Neal, Mae Irvine, Nan Collier, and Emma Craig . . . where the MANY ladies (judging from the stylish fall clothes and gay spirits) seemed to be saying "Let's start off the fall social season with a Bang!" (But start-it-off was all two of the hostesses did since, we learned, Emma has left for a fall visit with daughter — Frances (Wiggins) in Louisville, Kentucky, and Mae is in Boonton, New Jersey for a stay with daughter-Mae Erskine (Fowler) and her family.) Said party was grand in every respect, and especially so since the guest list included friends from neighboring cities whom we never see often enough and many old-time Florentines like Lottie Patton Shaw and Louise Carr Hall, both now living in Decatur.

YOU WOULD BE TOLD BY Genevieve Beauchamp that Kansas City is like Mopsy, only more so — it has grown 'n' grown. She and Fannon have just returned from a "wonderful vacation" out that way, and Genevieve's expressing amazement at the amount her "home-town" has changed . . . which is what we've heard so often from former Florentines who return here on visits.

THE FLORENCE DISCUSSION CLUB, one of our oldest literary clubs, has recently received a "shot in the arm." This step in rejuvenation has long been discussed by the members, but has now taken place . . . thirteen new members are now added to the roll . . . all daughters or daughters-in-law of members . . . or as is the case of a few like Louise Paxton, daughters AND daughters-in-law (Jean (Rogers) and "Jeannie Paxton") The meeting, at the home of Jean Ashcraft was most enjoyable, according to all present, and especially so since Mary Wallace Kirk gave such an excellent discussion of contemporary poetry.

TO BE OR NOT TO BE has been the question for Forrest Brice (Mr. Southern Bell) recently, but we understand it's all been cleared now, that is, through the Third Army. Seems that Forrest received his orders to come and help his Uncle out (on full-time basis), but before it was all settled, he'd been replaced by another Quartermaster Captain . . . to which change, we understand, Forrest was MOST agreeable!

THE VICTORY PARTY turned out to be a we're-still-proud party last Saturday night when Turner (Dr. n Dean) and Betty Allen entertained after-the-game for Florence State faculty members. And the consensus of opinion must've been that if we had to be beaten, Southeastern Louisiana's strong team was not a bad team to fall to, since it's known to be one of the best.

Credit Union Day Will Be Observed

Governor John Patterson of Alabama has officially proclaimed Today, October 19, as Credit Union Day in Alabama. In doing so, the state's chief executive joins with national, state, local, and international officials on this International Credit Union Day in urging all citizens "to give fitting recognition at this time to the many benefits brought to them by credit unions."

Present at the proclamation signing were Joel Brown, President of the Montgomery Chapter of Credit Unions; Marlin Dean, Treasurer of the Maxwell-Gunter Federal Credit Union; Robert R. Fuller, Tuscaloosa, President of the Alabama Credit Union League; E. L. Fitzgerald, Birmingham, League Treasurer; and William Scogin, Sheffield, a League Director.

Safety belts in your car can mean the difference between being slightly jarred and being tragically scarred—or worse. With seat belts, properly installed and consistently used, the severity of injuries in traffic collisions can be reduced as much as 60 per cent.

Dr. Amos Christie Guest Speaker Of Vanderbilt Club

Dr. Amos Christie, head of the Pediatrics Department of the Vanderbilt University Medical School, was the guest of honor, along with Mrs. Christie, of the Muscle Shoals Vanderbilt Club at its October dinner meeting at the Florence Country Club Tuesday night. Dr. Howard Johnson, newly elected club president, presided.

Dr. Christie, who was introduced by Dr. James Middleton who had charge of program arrangements, gave a most interesting address, which was illustrated by color slides, showing the growth of the University in recent years and the plans for the $24,000,000 expansion program now in progress or on the planning boards. He discussed the requirements for entry in the various schools and announced that the current student body numbered 3,900.

The speaker, who has been head of his department for the past 18 years, was a former star football player at Washington State on the Pacific coast. He took part in two Rose Bowl games, one of which was against Alabama when Johnny Mack Brown and Pooley Hubert engineered the victory parade.

The distinguished physician, who has had a big part in the development of the Vanderbilt hospital and making it one of the nation's outstanding medical institutions, delighted the 48 club members with his comments ranging from football through high finance and medical contributions to the welfare of the people.

Installed into office Tuesday night in addition to Dr. Johnson were Dr. Middleton, vice-president; Mrs. Ann Smith, Secretary; and James Lovelace, treasurer.

LOCAL FORD PLANT RESUMES OPERATION

The Ford Motor Company's Sheffield plant was back to normal Monday as members of the United Auto Workers returned to work. Six hundred and fifty hourly employees had been on strike ten days as the UAW and Ford officials negotiated at 21 company plants. In 1960 approximately 165,000 U.S. farmers raised over 800,000 tons of peanuts, worth almost $175,000,000. This crop, plus milling, financing, shipping and other revenues, makes the peanut a potent economic factor in the South.

Haltom Tells Jaycees Of Legislative Quality

State Senator Bert Haltom, speaking before the convention of the Alabama Jaycees, Saturday night, at Sky Park Theatre Restaurant, said there is too much apathy and lethargy in the concern over the quality of representation which the Legislature gives to the people. He went on to point out that one of the biggest political problems in Alabama is that of apportionment, or representation by the citizens of the state in the Alabama Legislature.

Pointing out that any one vote is precious and should mean just as much as another, Haltom went on to say that in some areas, votes of the people are worth 10, 12, or even 14 times as much as the votes of people in other areas and justified this charge by saying that we are living under a charter set up through a constitutional convention in 1901.

This convention of 1901, he said, was called for the express purpose of combating conditions set up as a result of the chaos of "reconstruction" of the South following the Civil War when a representation by sectional areas alone was set up with a marked disregard for population representation.

As a result of this old reapportionment, Haltom commented, we now have the same representation in the legislature for 85,000 people in Jefferson County as we do from 6,000 population in Bullock County, whereas some counties, with as little as 12,000 population, have full representation by a state senator.

Lauderdale county must join with Limestone County for the same representation and Colbert County, with 50,000, must join with two other counties.

"It is a problem which the entire state should recognize," he said. "If we don't do something about it the Federal Government will."

Jesse Keller, president of the Florence Chamber of Commerce, spoke to the Jaycees earlier Saturday at a Dutch Luncheon. He welcomed them to the area and pointed out that the Tennessee Valley is fulfilling the dreams of such men as Senator Norris, Henry Ford and others who long ago envisioned the valley as an industrial complex.

Before ending their three day session in Florence with a devotional service, Sunday morning, the Jaycees adopted resolutions expressing appreciation and gratitude for the conduct of the event. One resolution was directed to the Florence Junior Chamber of Commerce, wherein gratitude was expressed "for a conference which left absolutely nothing to be desired."

Another was to the management and staff of the Holiday Inn, "for its contribution to the pleasures and accomplishments of the 1961 fall conference."

Out of state guests included Chuck Landry, president, Louisiana Jaycees; Fred Waggoner, Tennessee president; Wayne Marks, Arkansas president; Billy Hargiss, national membership chairman, Louisiana; Carley Thompson, past national director, Missouri; Frank Trammel, national director, Arkansas; and Bo Hollingsworth, national cotton picking chairman of Arkansas.

Property Owners Seek Annexation

James E. Wilson, City Clerk, presented to the Florence City Board of Commissioners Tuesday the signatures of 33 property owners in Lakeside Highland subdivision requesting that the area be annexed into the city limits. It was the consensus of the commission that the legal aspects of such annexation be clarified since the subdivision lies across the Wilson Dam Road which is under the supervision of federal authorities.

W. A. White was instructed to work up a description of the property and present a plat of the boundary lines involved. Arnold Teks, city attorney is to check with proper authorities to see if annexation of the Wilson Dam Road might be possible in order to include those areas beyond. The matter would then be turned over to the Probate Judge to be presented to the public in an annexation election.

Huddleston To Be Guest Speaker At Pilot Club Meet

George Huddleston, Jr., representative from the Ninth Congressional District of Alabama, will be the speaker at the annual banquet and civic night of the Tusculum Pilot Club on Thursday night, 7 p.m., Oct. 26 at the Tusculum Community Center. It was announced by Mrs. Edgar Craig, program chairman. Mrs. Omar Reed is Pilot president.

Congressman Huddleston's subject will be, "America's Role Today and Tomorrow." A member of the Armed Services Committee and a former officer in the Navy, serving 32 months overseas during World War II, he is eminently qualified to speak on such a subject.

Congressman Huddleston, the son of a Congressman, has served in the United States Congress since 1954.

Newspaper Week Observed By Elks

A. Stewart O'Bannon, exalted ruler of Florence Elks Lodge No. 820, announces the local lodge's participation in National Newspaper Week, (Oct. 15-21), joining with nearly 2,000 other Elks lodges in the nation in a tribute to America's free press. This 21st annual observance has as its theme for 1961, "Your Newspaper, Heritage of Truth, Frontier of Freedom."

Mr. O'Bannon, in pointing out the vital importance of a free press as an essential part of our freedom, said, "Today, more than ever every American should realize that our very survival depends upon our preserving these institutions that guarantee freedom of expression as well as freedom of worship, freedom of choice and freedom of assembly."

As the Communists move into any country one of their first acts is to stifle the free press, thus cutting the people off from their most important source of information and truth.

The Elks, emblematic of such freedom, stand with others of a free society to protect and preserve the institutions of democracy

Leroy Simms To Address Kiwanis Club On Friday

Members of the downtown Florence Kiwanis Club will join the nation in paying tribute to the newspapers of America during National Newspaper Week, October 15-21, it was announced by club president John W. Whittleman.

The local service club will participate in this year's observance of National Newspaper Week at its regular meeting on Friday noon. Members of the press will be guests of honor and The Florence Times and The Florence Herald will be presented certificates of appreciation for valuable and continuing assistance to Kiwanis in furthering their common goals... service to man and service to the community.

Other guests will include editors of local school and college publications and others identified with the newspaper industry.

Highlight of the meeting will be an address by Leroy A. Simms, noted Alabama newspaper man and editor of The Huntsville Times, Huntsville.

The purpose of National Newspaper Week is to set aside a time to focus a spotlight on the role of the newspaper in protecting three great freedoms—Freedom of the Press—Freedom of Speech—and Freedom of Religion. The slogan for this year's observance is: "Your newspaper—Heritage of Truth—Frontier of Freedom." Over 260,000 Kiwanians, members of 4900 clubs in U.S. and Canadian communities will take part in paying tribute to the press in a similar manner.

Max Levinson is program chairman.

so that men everywhere may be free and remain free, knowing that as long as any are enslaved, no man is entirely free.

The local observance by the Elks Lodge is under the direction of the Newspaper Week committee: Adin Batson, past grand tiler, chairman; T. O. Callahan, trustee; and John Marshall, secretary.

Review Of Area Football Games

Coffee 33 Athens 14

The Athens Golden Eagles held an unbelievable 7-6 lead until the final minute of the first half before the Coffee Yellow Jackets went ahead to hold the lead for the rest of the game.

Coffee's defense was stifling in the second half and Athens did not get a first down, however, an offensive lapse permitted the second Athens score.

Coffee coach, Joe Grant, said he was well pleased with the passing of quarterbacks Barry Wood and Jimmy Smith and cited Dick Jordan for his defensive work.

Rogersville 7 — Rogers 6

The Lauderdale County High School Tigers from Rogersville fought their way past penalties, hard luck, and a determined crew of Rogers High School Pirates to win a 7-6 victory at Rogersville, Friday night.

The game was rugged, with incomplete passes, fumbles, and penalties spaced out about right to prevent any scoring spree by either team.

The brightest spot in the game was the ball-carrying by Bubba Haraway, who scored the lone touchdown for the Tigers and then made his own conversion try on a running play.

Lexington 26 — Central 0
Lexington, led by halfbacks Jerry Howard and Lloyd Newton, downed a hometown Central eleven 26-0 Friday night for its fifth victory in six starts.

Newton, who became the leading scorer of the area, accounted for two touchdowns and two extra points to bring his season total to 98. He clearly showed why he was one of the backs of the week by playing a superb game on both offense and defense.

Wayne Mitchell of Central, also played a good game and was the top ground gainer of the night with 152 yards with Newton pressing him with 124.

Southeastern 33 — FSC 6
Southeastern Louisiana scored in all four quarters, Saturday night at Coffee Stadium, to hand Florence State its second loss.

Florence State's tally came when Tailback Steve Logan capped an 81-yard drive with a two-yard burst, in the third quarter.

Fullback Kirk Alexander, Wingback Joe Morrow and Tailback Carl Barton were the offense threats. Barton had punt returns of 91 and 39 yards but neither led to a score.

As cattle prices dropped in the U.S. during 1960, cattle imports fell. The same thing was true of grain.

Local Center An Aid

Avenues Being Opened With Mental Research

This is the LAST of a series of articles dealing with the functions and activities of the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center.

The National Association for Retarded Children has been a leader in what is considered to be one of the most progressive and enlightening endeavors in research and has combined with other health and disease associations for a united front in the battle against handicapping conditions.

The Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center is one of the hundreds of mental health centers operating across the country, which aid the National Association with latest research findings.

In addition to maintaining its interest and support in its own Research Fund for direct experimentation on mental retardation, the National Association has recognized that many other handicapping conditions may have a common origin, and important discoveries for mental retardation may result from research being undertaken in another condition. The fund operates in four major areas, which are:

Etiology, prevention and treatment of mental retardation; Research in the accurate evaluation in the social, mental, emotional, and physiological areas; in the learning and developmental areas, especially how the retarded learn and more efficient methods for teaching them; and research dealing with the interaction effects of retarded children with the environment.

Behavioral Sciences
Some studies have been done on the motivation, learning, and performance aspects of the retarded child when he has a history of either success or failure. Generally, the mentally retarded have experienced failures in academic, social and physical situations.

Recent research indicates that establishing a schedule of successful experiences with retarded children can change their performance levels remarkably upward. Further, there are suggestions that the mentally retarded can learn at the same rate of increase on certain tasks as the average child even though their initial level of performance necessarily begins much lower than the average child's.

Mongolism
Humans possess 46 chromosomes and recently, it has been discovered that in some persons' cells, an extra chromosome may be attached to one pair of the usual 23 pairs. From this extra chromosome, it has been found that Mongolism results or may well lead to a prediction of the probability of having a Mongoloid child.

It has long been known that Mongolism occurs in women of later child bearing years more frequently than younger women, and this appears to be related to increased production of egg cells in later life which more frequently possess this extra chromosome. It is also noted that when a younger woman has a Mongoloid child, she is much more likely to have another Mongoloid child than even an older woman.

However, it is now possible to examine the cells of both parents to determine if the extra chromosome is possessed by them in order that the possibility of having a Mongoloid child can be better predicted.

Avenues Opened
Step by step, avenues are being opened by research and results with expanded hopes for prevention and treatment based on this solid research. Although "critical"

ELECTRIC HEAT

CONVENIENCE. Electric heat is completely automatic. Thermostatic controls maintain just the temperature you want with the mere setting of a dial. There's no fuel storage, no waste products to clean up, no fall preparation. And electric heat is as clean as your electric lights.

COMFORT. Automatic controls let you maintain different temperatures in separate rooms. Overheating on mild days is completely eliminated. And electric heat gives natural humidity; air is not dried out.

ECONOMY. Installation cost is low. Maintenance is virtually nonexistent. Operating cost is amazingly low because electric rates here are among the nation's lowest. And operating cost will remain low because electric rates haven't increased in 25 years. What about the cost of your present electric heating fuel? Isn't the price higher than it was 10 years ago? Processed Food Healthful

Q. To what extent does processing of food cause a loss in nutritive value?

A. Cornell University scientists studied the problem and came to this conclusion. Food processors make a real effort to preserve food quality. Because of the wide variety of foods made available by modern methods of freezing, canning, fermentation, and dehydration, the American diet is rich in all essential nutrients. Nutritional deficiencies caused by certain processes (such as cereal milling, etc.) are made up for by fortifying the processed food so as to restore its original nutritional characteristics. There seems to be no reason to believe that we are being nutritionally short-changed by modern methods of processing food.

Vitamins

Q. Is it possible to take too many vitamins? If so, which ones?

A. It's possible to take certain vitamins in excessive amounts, but under ordinary circumstances there is no cause for concern. All food factors necessary to health (including vitamins) are supplied by an adequate diet. There are times, however, when the vitamin intake needs a boost. Your doctor will then prescribe or suggest the use of a vitamin preparation of proper potency which, when taken in the recommended dosage, is not at all likely to cause difficulty. Note: The next time you are in our store raise the question of vitamins. We will be glad to discuss this subject in detail.

FOOTBALL INJURIES

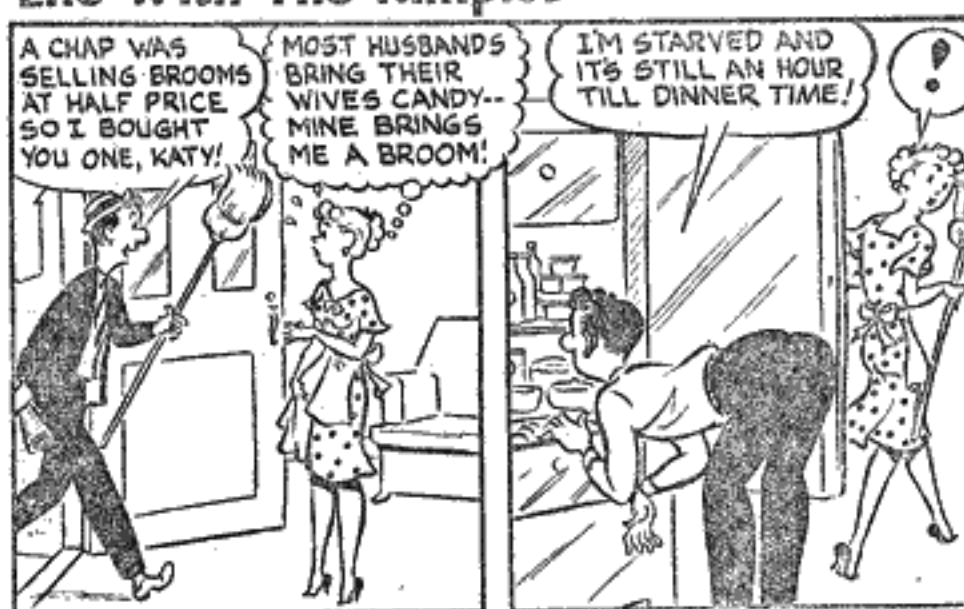

When two 200-pound men come together at a speed of 40 miles per hour, somebody's going to get hurt. That's football. Football is unquestionably a rough sport, and injuries are bound to occur. The medical director of one of the Big Ten Football Teams has reviewed the more than 2,000 injuries suffered by his players during the past ten years. While a series of 2,000 injuries seems impressively large, only one out of three was severe enough to cause the player to miss practice; and only one out of 80 required surgical correction.

The surgical correction procedures consisted primarily of suturing lacerations, care of simple fractures, and splinting and casting of injured ligaments. From the standpoint of disability due to an injury, it was reported that no player has had measurable permanent disability. It was found also that the time the members of the football squad lost from school because of injury was approximately equal to the time lost because of other illnesses. Similarly, the number of days spent in the hospital because of football injury was even less than the number of days spent in the hospital because of illness.

In the ten-year period of football injury research at this college, 20 men were declared unfit to participate in football because of injuries; and ten men were considered unfit for football because of medical reasons unrelated to injuries. Knee injuries were found

College Hosts Area School Counselors

Florence State College is host today to a District Conference of Alabama high school counselors sponsored by the State Department of Education.

Guidance counselors or area high schools, and personnel from Florence State College and the State Department of Education are participating in conference sessions beginning at 3:30 p.m. Conferees will have dinner in the Great Hall of the new Student Union Building and attend further sessions in the evening.

The field of guidance is increasingly important as colleges tighten entrance requirements and career fields become more complex. It is the task of the guidance counselor in the high school to help the student to know his own abilities and help him properly channel and develop them.

Recent studies have shown counselors can help students acquire a keen understanding of careers and relate this knowledge to the need for superior academic achievement. By collecting and using the latest career information, counselors help students learn to think intelligently about various careers and what is needed to enter these fields. Through counseling, students can better plan their school work to achieve their goals. Counseling with parents, helps them become aware of the abilities and needs of their children. The conference at Florence will provide guidance personnel with an opportunity for exchange of ideas and information along these lines.

PICKWICK DAM CLOSED FOR BRIDGE CONSTRUCTION

The action applied to visitors facilities at both the lock and powerhouse and to pedestrian traffic over the dam. The closure will remain in effect until the bridge is completed in the spring of 1963.

ZERO

The countdown has been completed. At the word "zero," electronic miracles happen. The rocket zooms skyward, and seems to penetrate the infinite.

But it hasn't. Man's greatest efforts fall far short of solving the mystery that is life itself. The answer is known only unto God. And man's greatest troubles still concern not the universe but man himself, and his fellowmen.

The greatest scientists today realize even more acutely than most of us the limitations of mankind. From deep, personal experience they know how desperately man needs God's love and His guidance. And they know, too, that no matter how "invincible" their rockets may become, in the end, true peace can be achieved only by God's own workings within the hearts and minds of men.

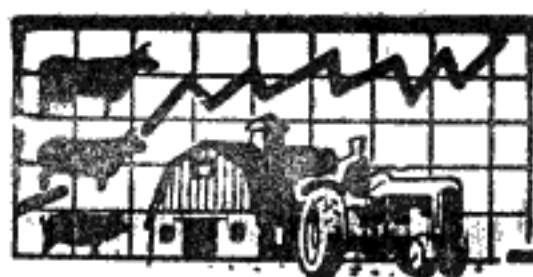

Pray for this kind of peace in church next Sunday.

Farm Facts

American farmers last year set a new production record. The total for crops and livestock in 1960 was 29% above the country's 1947-49 average.

This report comes from Rex Daly, chief of the Farm Income Branch, Agricultural Economics Division, Agricultural Marketing Service.

Output was equal to that of Mainland China and almost 60% higher than that of the Soviet Union—the world's two other largest agricultural producers.

On a per capita basis, our production was double that of the Soviet Union. It was four times that of Mainland China. Record output in the United States was accomplished with 30% fewer workers and about 5% fewer acres of crop land than in 1947-49. There was a 43% increase in yields per acre for field crops.

Production during the 1950's increased faster than population—27% compared to 19%. This resulted in big accumulations of wheat, feed grains, and cotton.

Farm output will continue to raise to meet the expanded requirements of the coming decade, Daly predicts. Farmers can be expected to further increase the size of their holdings. Farms will become more mechanized. Fewer workers will be needed to produce the larger output.

the ABC's of good meal planning. Fariss Prickett, Auburn University Extension foods and nutrition specialist, states that many homemakers have neither menu ideas nor day-to-day plans.

She says that being a good cook does not mean that your meals will be a success. Good cooking plus a well-balanced variety of foods is the winning combination.

One way to break the habit of preparing the same meals, week after week, is to make a list of all the different cuts you can recall serving your family. Then when you're at the meat department see how many more cuts you can add to your list. Buy each cut before you repeat, adds Miss Prickett.

acre this year and asked how it could be done.

I told Mr. Bradley that the first important step would be to have his soil tested so he would know what kind and how much fertilizer would be required.

He took the sample and his recommendations were two tons of lime to the acre, 250 pounds of 4-12-4 fertilizer, and 50 to 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre unless he had a good cover crop.

Mr. Bradley had a good crop of crimson clover on the land but as in all fields he had a few thin spots. On these small plots he applied barnyard manure.

After first liming the land, in April Mr. Bradley turned under the clover and manure and disced the land two or three times to get it in good shape.

Shortly after the middle of April he applied 300 pounds of 15-15-15 fertilizer and planted his corn in 37 inch rows with a tractor. He then plowed the corn one time with a mule and a few days later plowed out the middles. This was the only cultivating the corn received other than weeding with a hoe which took two-and-a-half hours on the three-acre block planted to the Pioneer 309A hybrid corn. He said he accomplished getting out the weeds and grasses by working four or five rows at a time.

Last Friday I went out to help Mr. Bradley determine his yield of corn and according to a method of pulling down three 100-foot rows, weighing each row separately and then applying the proper factor for a 37 inch row, I found his yield to be 134.52 bushels to the acre. I actually double checked this by pulling down another three rows 100 feet long each.

Mr. Bradley says that if he can raise over 100 bushels of corn to the acre anybody can because "my land is no better than anybody else's." He credited the yield to a good corn year plus the soil test and not over-plowing it.

I would suggest that other farmers interested in a good corn or any other crop, get the soil tested, use the kind and amount of fertilizer recommended, prepare a good seed bed and use good cultivation practices. And incidentally it is not too early to get those samples in to the laboratory and be ready to go next year.

News of GRASSY

By Mrs. Agnes Williams

The third Sunday night singing at the USA Presbyterian Church was very good and a quartet, The Melody Quartet of Florence, was there.

Bro. Bill Kaylor will preach at the USA Presbyterian Church the fifth Sunday morning at 11:00 o'clock. All visitors are welcome.

Miss Carroll Shelton, the daughter of Mrs. Margie Miller and the late Vaulton Shelton was honored with a miscellaneous shower Saturday night at the Grassy School lunch room. Miss Shelton is to be the bride of David Thigpen in November. There were about 45 ladies to attend the occasion and many nice and useful gifts were received. Refreshments were served by the hostess.

Franklin Hayes, the son of Mrs.

Inez Hayes was carried to the ECM Hospital Sunday afternoon. He apparently ran in the path of a car going north on the Betty Ann highway near where he, his mother, sisters, Brenda and Faye and grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Braswell live. He and his sisters were walking along side of the road going north when the accident happened, he sustained a broken leg and bruises about his head.

Kay, daughter of Mrs. Eleanor Thigpen celebrated her 10th birthday with a party at her home. Several of her little friends enjoyed the party with her. They were: Paty and Jason Hammond, Margie Lee Craig, Belinda, Gary, and Ricky Corum, Juwanda Hammond, Mickie and Dwight Newton, Sharlett and Jeff Weigart and Dianne Littrell.

Mr. and Mrs. Steward Hammond had most of their children October 8 for a dinner in honor of his 79th birthday. Those who enjoyed the day with them were: Mr. and Mrs. Grady Hammond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hammond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Green and family all of Ethridge, Tenn., Mr. and Mrs. Lester Wallace and family of Florence, Mrs. Della Mae McConnell and Betty of Powell, Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hammond and family, Mr. and Mrs. Neal Hammond and family, and Miss Stella Hammond of here. Last Tuesday Mrs. Hammonds sister, Mrs. Lillie Chapman and daughters, Kate and Annie of Mt. Pleasant, Tenn. visited them.

Miss Edna Earl Hammond, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Hammond was home last week end from college at Henderson, Tenn.

We extend sympathy to the relatives of Mrs. Lillie Bedingfield of near Rogersville, who passed away last Wednesday. She was an aunt of Mrs. Earl Hammond.

We extend sympathy to the relatives of John Wisdom of Killen, who passed away Saturday. He was an uncle of Mrs. Steward Hammond.

Friends of this community extend sympathy to the family of Mrs. Johnie Thornton of Lexington, who passed away last Wednesday.

We are sorry to hear Will Beasley of Anderson is very ill and in the ECM Hospital. Friends of this community wish for him to be well very soon.

James, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Milton Shelton fell off the porch last Sunday and fractured a leg. They were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Johnie Owens of Ethridge, Tenn. when the accident happened.

Mrs. Simmon Hammond visited her aunt, Mrs. Fannie Butler of Florence last Sunday. She was home from the ECM Hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Choats and Carla of Birmingham, Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy White and family and Miss Sarah Sutton of Sheffield, Mr. and Mrs. Grant Roberson and daughters of Nebo, Raleigh Harris and Donna of Lexington, Monty Steadman of Lawrenceburg, Tenn. were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Osborne White.

Mr. and Mrs. Berl Harrison of Waterloo, Mrs. Delores Stokes and children, Mrs. Johnie Cottrell and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Spencer White were dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. White Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Davis and children of Nashville, Tenn. were in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jack White during the week end.

J. W. Balch of Rogersville spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Almon Williams.

In just one year, accidents of all types kill about 11,700 rural residents and injure about a million. Every 32 seconds a farm resident suffers an injury which disables him beyond that day. Nearly half of the deaths are caused by traffic mishaps.

Hill Would Halt Reduction In '62 Cotton Acreage

Senator Lister Hill has urged that the cotton acreage allotment for 1962 not be reduced. A proposal to reduce cotton acreage for next year is under consideration.

In an official expression to Secretary of Agriculture Freeman, the Senior Alabama Senator pointed out that cotton farmers of Alabama for many years have been hard pressed and to reduce cotton acreage in 1962 would make their situation all the more critical.

Hill stated that the problem of cotton surplus which heretofore has plagued the cotton program and the farm situation no longer exists. Hill cited that the cotton surplus carry-over has been reduced from almost 14 million bales in 1956 to about 6.8 million bales at the beginning of the current marketing year and it has been estimated that the carry-over will be further reduced at the end of this marketing year.

Hill emphasized that in addition to the reduction in the carry-over, there is also an anticipated increase in demand for cotton next year in view of the mobilization effort and the general recovery in our economy.

Foods of the Future

Planting On the Dark Side of the Moon!

Searching for foods which might be cultivated by space explorers and colonists of the future, lab men find that crops grown on the moon would have to meet unusual standards. Seed should germinate easily and not be sensitive to light, gravity or cosmic rays.

The ideal moon vegetable would require no oxygen, very little growing area, and the entire plant should be edible, raw or cooked. Best prospects tested so far as moon crops are corn, peanuts, soybean sprouts and lettuce!

It may be a few years until you explore the moon, so you won't be limited to this unique diet soon! But the future will bring many new and interesting foods, to be enjoyed with two "old favorites"—BEER and ALE. Changing styles in foods won't change America's preference for these two wholesome beverages!
