

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● We understand that last Saturday two men were working on the Capitol lawn in Montgomery. Each had a small trash can on rollers, and was walking about picking up bits of paper with a pointed stick. As one spied a piece and was about to stab it, a sudden gust of wind (from Carla, no doubt) came up and blew the paper into the Governor's office through an open window. Frantically, the man rushed into the building. He returned shortly afterwards, and said to his companion: "I was too late. He had already signed it along with those bills rushed through by the special session of the Legislature."

● The British Medical Journal reports that rats prefer white bread. And then adds: But it is not good for them.

● We liked the story we heard of the little three-year-old girl who was just given a cute little shaggy puppy. And when we say "shaggy" we really mean just that. A few days later her father suggested that the puppy needed a bath and he would attend to it at that moment. The little lady merely urged: "Take off his rug first, Daddy."

● The ideal marriage is one where the wife is a treasure and the husband - a treasury.

● The old mountaineer from the East Kentucky hills was up in arms. "I knew them danged scientists would keep foolin' around until they did something they hadn't oughter," stormed the old boy. "Now look what they've done did. 'What's that, Pa?' asked his wife. 'You mean these atom bombs?' 'Heck, no,' exploded the old man. 'They're ruining my business. They've discovered something beside liquor to cure a cold.'"

● There are two opinions as to a secret - either it's not worth keeping or it's too good to keep.

● There was a big fight in one of the cells in the state penitentiary and a guard rushed in to stop what could have been a killing. Swinging open the cell door, he found the huskier of the two cellmates astride the other beating him about the head with a shoe. Pulling the two apart, the guard demanded: "What goes on here! You and Spike have been the best of friends for years. Why did you suddenly turn on him?" "Well," he began his explanation, "he tore a leaf off the calendar - and it was my turn."

● Every time you lose an argument - you gain a friend. Remember that!

● A visitor to Atlanta may have a hard time in finding an address if it is on Peachtree because there are 14 streets with Peachtree as part of the name. Count them: Peachtree Avenue, Peachtree Battle Avenue, Peachtree Circle, Peachtree Drive, Peachtree-Dunwoody Road, Peachtree Hills Avenue, Peachtree Memorial Drive, Peachtree Place, Peachtree Place West, Peachtree Road, Peachtree Street East, Peachtree Street West and Peachtree Way. Atlanta has made the name Peachtree rather famous but isn't this overdoing it a bit?

● If at first you don't succeed - start looking for another job.

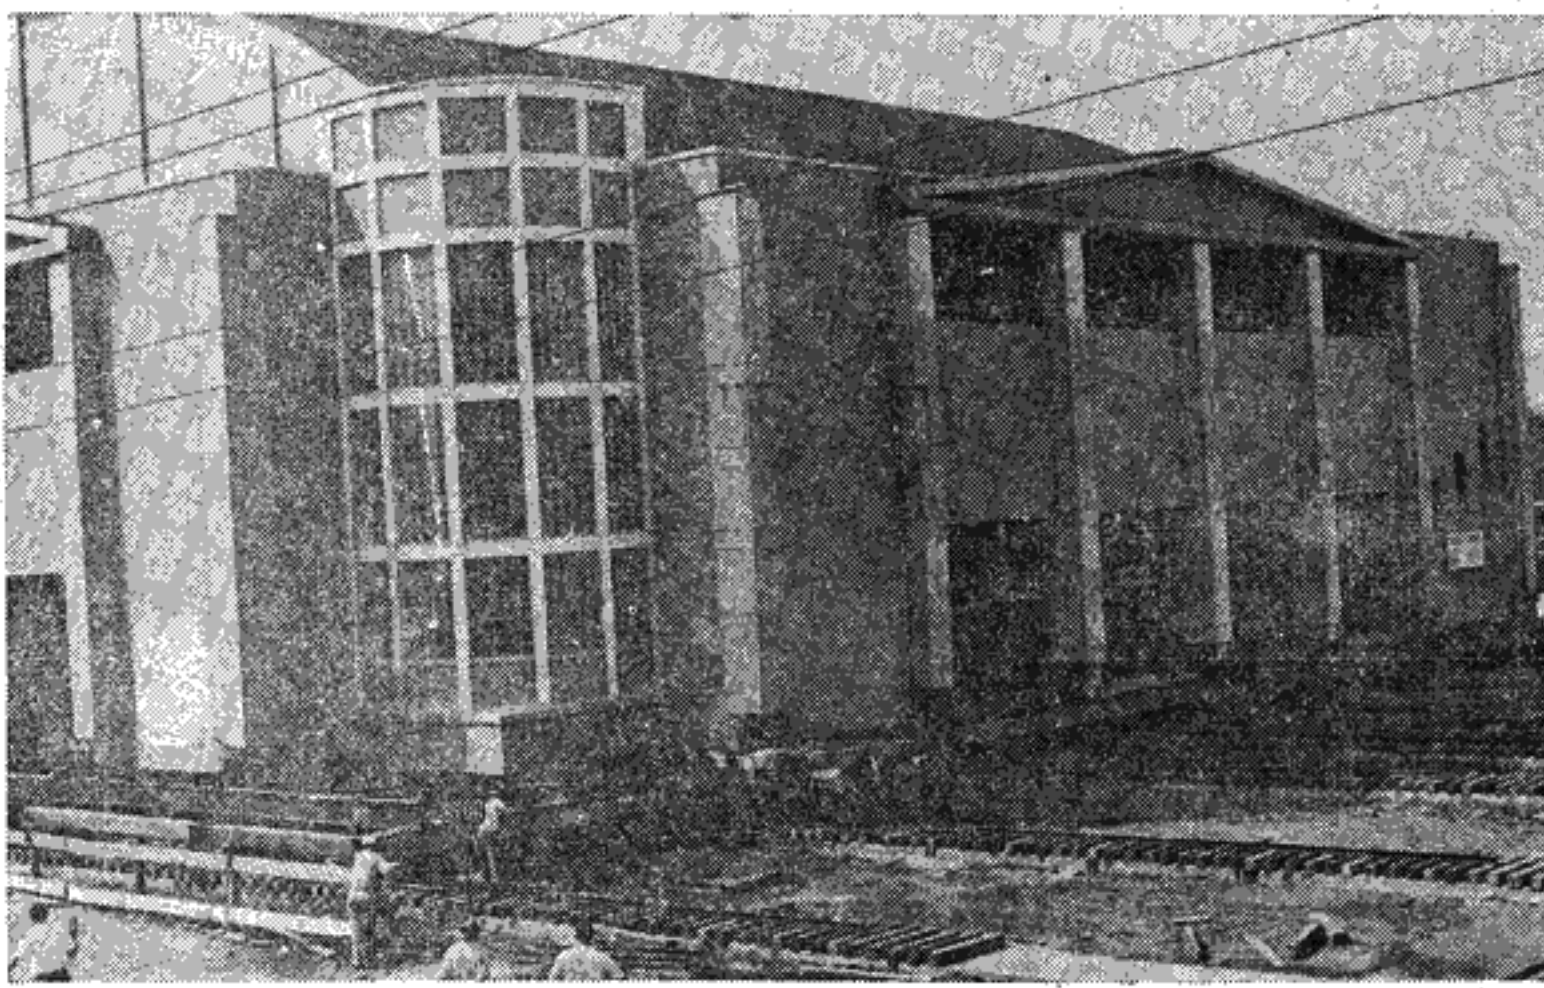

● The prisoner at the bar was appearing before the judge for the umpteenth time on a drunk charge. After pleading guilty and receiving the usual sentence, the judge, wanting to be helpful, asked: "Have you ever tried AA?" The poor devil replied: "No, Your Honor, I've never tried any of that brand."

● Mother to child who won't eat his spinach: "Eat it, Dear, pretend it's mud."

● Fallout shelters may be safe during attacks, but... Thieves broke into a fallout shelter display in the Alexandria, La., city hall the other day and stole the canned goods stocked inside.

● What a catastrophe it would be for the poor if all charity had to be carried out anonymously!

● When you start to rave about the little woman taking off a part of the garage door when she attempted to house the car, stop and think about your efforts to thread a needle.

Roden To Become Second Judge Of Circuit Court

Law And Equity To Be Abolished; Number Other Changes Made

Emmett N. Roden will become Lauderdale County's second Circuit Judge and will serve by appointment until the general election in November, 1962, when he would have to run for re-election if he desires. His salary, to be paid by the state, will be $10,000 annually.

Senator Bert Haltom, Representative Charles Long and Robert H. Broadfoot who passed a series of court bills, announced his appointment Saturday. A native of Florence, Roden is a graduate of Coffee High School, Florence State College and the University of Alabama Law School. He was elected to his post of Judge of the Law and Equity Court in 1959 and has practiced law in Florence since 1950. He is married to the former Margaret Graves and they have three children.

Other changes made under the court bills were:

Abolition of the Law and Equity Court and creation of a county inferior court. The judge of the new court is to be appointed by the Court of County Commissioners and will have to run in the May primary to retain his job. Salary of the new judge will be not more than $4,800 and not less than $4,200. The appointee will also be allowed to practice law.

Eliminated criminal jurisdiction of the justices of the peace. They will retain their authority in civil matters.

Created a deputy circuit solicitor at $7,200 a year to be appointed by Circuit Solicitor William L. (Continued on Page Two)

Three Elections Necessary

Nine-Eight Redistricting Bill Gets Green Light

Below is the box score on major legislation passed during the five-day special session of the Legislature that ended Friday night:

The "Nine-Eight" bill to let the voters decide the congressional redistricting problem and determine which of the state's nine congressmen will be eliminated.

A $43.5 million general appropriations bill.

A bill to create a state board of voter registrars to qualify voters on the basis of written questionnaires.

An amendment to the state constitution to permit counties to borrow money to buy voting machines.

To allow bed-ridden voters to cast absentee ballots.

To permit city and county school boards to divert local school funds to teacher salaries, if there is no other claim against the money.

To empower school boards to close integration - threatened schools "in the public interest."

To grant state income and property tax deductions to families who build fallout shelters.

A bill to authorize cattlemen to make beef promotion campaigns, financed with assessments on the sale of cattle at markets.

To authorize courts to order hospitalization of persons with tuberculosis who refuse treatment.

The Alabama Legislature adjourned its special session Friday after passing the appropriations bill, the redistricting bill and local measures, and killing a number of tax-raising measures for schools.

"NINE-EIGHT" BILL PASSES
The modified "nine-eight" congressional redistricting bill was passed Friday 102-0, over the opposition of those who wanted unrestricted state-wide races for congressional candidates.

The bill, sponsored by Sen. John Gaither of Heflin, will set up three primaries for congressional candidates, May 1, May 15 and May 29. The candidates would run in the district run-offs. Then the nine winners would meet each other in a state-wide race on May 29 with one being eliminated.

PAPER BALLOTS
Gaither's bill stipulates the use of paper ballots in the May 29 election even in counties where voting machines are used. The bill also stipulates that voters must vote for eight candidates or the vote will be thrown out. The "nine-eight" bill that failed to pass during the regular session had been proposed by Governor Patterson as a substitute for the "carve-up" Jefferson bill. The fight which resulted in the unanimous passage of the "nine-eight" bill was led in the House by Reps. Sim Thomas and McDowell Lee, both of Barbour county.

Haltom Praised For Services To Proposed Canal

$75,000 Appropriation To Be Used In Promoting Tenn-Tombigbee Project

State Senator Bert Haltom received a telegram Saturday from The Tennessee-Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority thanking him for outstanding services rendered the Authority during the just-closed special session of the Alabama Legislature. It was signed by W. H. Drinkard, Secretary-Administrator of the Authority.

The telegram read as follows:

"The Tennessee - Tombigbee Waterway Development Authority greatly appreciates your efforts in securing a $75,000 appropriation in the Alabama State Senate, Friday, Sept. 15. We understand a majority of the members thought this bill was passed in the previous regular session. We want to personally thank you for being alert and securing this much-needed money in the closing minutes of this special session."

Neil Metcalf of Hartford, a member of the Authority from Alabama and a former member of the Legislature helped obtain the appropriation with which to help Tennessee and Mississippi promote the proposed waterway that is estimated to cost about $265,000,000.

New Automobile Tax Regulations Are Announced

All automobile owners who will purchase license tags for their vehicles during the regular licensing period from Oct. 1 through November 15 are cautioned as to the new regulations pertaining to the payment of automobile taxes.

Enacted by the 1959 Legislature to become effective on October 1, 1961, is Law No. 654 which exempts the ad valorem tax on all new and used automobiles purchased from Alabama dealers during the period of October 1, 1960 through September 30, 1961, provided a bona fide bill of sale is presented to the tax assessor at the time of assessing.

All automobiles purchased outside the state of Alabama during the above mentioned period will be taxable for the entire year, according to tax assessor-elect, B. P. Lovelace, Jr.

All automobiles brought into Alabama after October 1, 1961 will be taxable for the entire year unless the taxpayer can produce a certificate showing that the car has been registered and the tax paid in another state after October 1, 1961.

Airport Program Can Go Forward

Alabama's Airport Construction Program for small cities and towns can now continue without interruption, retardation or reduction, it is stated by Asa Rountree, Jr., State Director of Aeronautics.

For the 6th time since 1951, the airlines have failed in their efforts to reduce the Alabama aviation gas tax to 1c. This reduction was opposed by the Alabama Department of Aeronautics, for it would have wrecked the construction program for the small cities and towns; and would have deprived most of them from securing airport projects, now so important for plant locations and business development.

Final action in killing the bill was taken by the Legislature late Wednesday night, August 30.

Term Completed By Grand Jury

The Lauderdale County Grand Jury completed its term Tuesday after seven days of deliberations, returning 49 indictments and continuing five cases to the next term.

Robert M. Hill, Circuit Judge, announced that arraignment proceedings for cases growing out of the Grand Jury investigations will be tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. All persons having cases will have them called at that time and trial dates will be set, that being very important, all persons charged with these cases must either be at or be represented at the arraignment proceedings.

Seventy cases have been docketed, one hundred sixty witnesses have been examined and forty-nine true bills have been reported and returned. Six cases on the docket were combined with other cases and joint indictments returned.

Examination of the bonds of the county officers were reported to be in proper form and amounts required by law as did the books of the various county offices including those of the sheriff, the county superintendent of education, and the probate judge.

The building of a new courthouse and jail were also recommended and the county governing body and courthouse committee were commended for the progress made in this direction.

The report was signed by James H. Hall, foreman and David W. Underwood, clerk.

Mr. and Mrs. George Hester of Florence are spending several days in Denver and on the return trip will visit relatives in Little Rock and Abilene.

Hickman Decides On Run-Off

Whitten Has Impressive Lead In City Election

L. L. Whitten, Florence insurance man, emerged high man in a six-way race for city commissioner in Florence Monday, receiving 1,092 votes to his nearest opponent, Howard Hickman's 492. However the latter indicated that he would run it off with Whitten on next Monday. This was Hickman's third attempt to win a city commission post.

Other vote totals in the race saw Sam Crabtree, number three in the race, with 449 votes; H. F. Koonce, 231; Walter Littleton, 177; and Robert Richardson with 37.

Hickman said he felt that he could win in a run-off election and that when he was in a run-off the last time he was a candidate he had picked up a substantial number of votes. He expressed appreciation for the support he received.

Whitten in commenting on the impressive vote he received said, "I desire to express my gratitude to everyone who voted for me and hope they will continue to support me on next Monday and during the next three years."

Other Elections

Re-elected without run-offs in municipalities in Colbert County, were: B. T. Gardner, Sheffield; Mayor E. J. Henninger of Tusculum, and B. D. Kimbrough of Muscle Shoals. It was Gardner's and Kimbrough's second terms and Henninger's sixth.

Florence turned out a total vote of 2,478; or about 20 per cent of voting strength; Sheffield, 1,554 or approximately one-third; Tusculum, 1,147, a little less than half, and Muscle Shoals City, 955 out of a possible 1,400.

WALTER ROSS IS SPEAKER AT PLANNING CONFERENCE

A shock rocked the entire world when the body of UN Secretary-General Dag Hammarskjold, was recovered in the wreckage of his plane, a DC6B, in the bush country at the Congo-Rhodesian border, Monday. There were 15 others aboard the plane in which the UN official was flying on a peace mission to the Congo.

Hammarskjold was to have met with Moise Tshombe, president of war-torn Katanga in an effort to discuss a cease-fire between UN and Katanga forces. However, a cease-fire agreement was reported to have been signed Wednesday between Katanga and the United Nations.

The lone survivor of the crash, Harry Julian, an American UN security guard, said a series of explosions shook the plane before it plunged into a forest reserve north of the town of Ndola, in Northern Rhodesia. However, investigators said Tuesday sabotage or gunfire could now be ruled out.

Loss Felt Keenly

President Kennedy said, Hammarskjold's name "will be treasured high among the peace makers of history." Adlai Stevenson, ambassador to the UN, said, "I have lost an esteemed friend and the world a great servant."

Although the French were bitter at UN interference in Algeria they were shocked at the tragedy and expressed "deepest emotion." Prime Minister Harold Macmillan of Britain, called Hammarskjold "a world servant who has pursued his duty with courage and single-minded devotion."

Prime Minister Nehru of India called Hammarskjold's death a "special tragedy."

Many other nations expressed regret and a moment of silent prayer was observed at the United Nations on Tuesday and the Assembly adjourned until Wednesday in honor of the dead UN leader. The flag on the UN building flew at half mast after the news reached the organization headquarters.

Fear For UN

Fear was expressed in many quarters of the non-communist world as to the fate of the United Nations now that Hammarskjold was out of the picture. Even those who had challenged his policies respected his integrity and hailed him as a man of peace.

A year ago Soviet Premier Khrushchev worked to promote the appointment of a three-man board to govern the UN policy and it was freely admitted that now the Soviets were in a position to block a successor to Hammarskjold by the veto route. Secretary of State Dean Rusk and others are said to view the situation with pessimism.

Kennedy To Speak

Both Democrats and Republicans applauded President Kennedy's decision to address the United Nations General Assembly on Friday or Monday. This had been announced before Hammarskjold's tragic death and is now considered vital in the light of the UN's loss. Kennedy, before a White House spokesman said that "now at a time of crisis for the UN, would be a good time to go there and affirm support of the UN and its principles."

FAIR ATTENDANCE OFF BUT RECORD IS EXPECTED

The North Alabama State Fair reported an all time record for second day attendance on Tuesday, an estimated 7,300 persons attending both matinee and evening.

Fair manager C. H. Jackson reported however that due to the low attendance on Monday there was still an approximate 26 per cent decrease for the two days. With fair weather prevailing it was expected that former records might be topped when receipts for the entire week are tabulated.

Hogs, small grain, hay, school exhibits, flowers, art and all women's exhibits were judged on Tuesday and cattle judging was held on Wednesday.

Food In Our National Defense

Some publicity has been given the President's National Defense Food Policy but possibly not enough for a general understanding. It appears to this writer to be extremely important and should be explained.

War always precipitates a crisis in our economic life since all phases of domestic activity are disrupted and the production of food is no exception. A nuclear war could be disastrous unless some preparation were made well in advance for enough food for survival and this, in a nutshell is what the program is all about.

The first step in the new food for defense program is to locate supplies of wheat in 191 metropolitan areas which could be target areas in case of war. Secretary of Agriculture Orville Freeman states that a program has already been worked out by which a four-month supply of wheat for each person is to be stored in strategic reserve sites; one fourth within the city and three-fourths in storage 25 miles from the city. It is estimated that this reserve program will provide over 95,000,000 Americans with an easily stored food source in an emergency. This program will demand approximately 160,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Because of this nation's substitution of gasoline, electricity and chemicals for muscle power on the farms, the average American farmer produces enough to feed 25 people. In Russia on the collective and state farms it takes one farmer to feed five persons. This nation produces a surplus and Russia still produces too little for an adequate national diet.

Russia can send men into orbit but food shortage is the byproduct of communism. To overcome this Russia, in her first five-year plan erected huge grain storage elevators throughout the country. This undoubtedly has helped but Russia today still has an unbalanced diet as evidenced by the fact she has fewer cows than under the last Czar.

Under previous administrations our food surpluses have been looked upon as something to feel bad about but there is now a new belief. Secretary Freeman believes that food is a source of national strength, and he, by direction of President Kennedy, has started the development of a national food policy to enable the American farmer to feed the people in case of a nuclear war.

This is a definite change in thinking in high places compared with that of a few years back when wheat rotted in the fields or spoiled from lack of storage, when crops were being plowed under or burned to bolster prices. The role of the farmer in our national life, and very possibly our national survival, has been given a new importance.

A Leader Is Dead

Fate stepped in with a heavy hand in the tragic death of UN Secretary General Dag Hammarskjold because the removal of this avowed enemy of Communism from the world scene at this time is certain to bring about new, graver troubles. The United Nations, freedom's one hope in a strife-torn world may be jeopardized, indeed its very future hangs in the balance.

Hammarskjold had never hesitated when duty called. When he met death he was on the way to stop further bloodshed if he could by forcing the Katanga Province into the central Congolese government even though it met opposition from a part of the West. Fearlessly he was determined to end the civil strife and this country sympathized with his efforts. Few people understood the muddled Congo situation as did Hammarskjold who was not easily shaken when the going was rough. This situation, he knew, called for heroic measures but he was willing to try once again.

The death of the UN Secretary-General comes on the eve of another effort to force admission of Red China into the UN membership. His absence could very conceivably bring defeat to this nation's and the free world's efforts to bar Red China. There is hardly any doubt but that the neutral bloc, now a small but very potent factor, would vote in favor of admission despite this nation's efforts to stall. Red China, many feel, will be admitted even if we succeed in postponing it for another year.

With Hammarskjold's death the Soviets have a trump card they have long desired to play . . . the replacement of a single title with a "troika," or three-man secretariat. This would mean giving each bloc a voice AND A VETO.

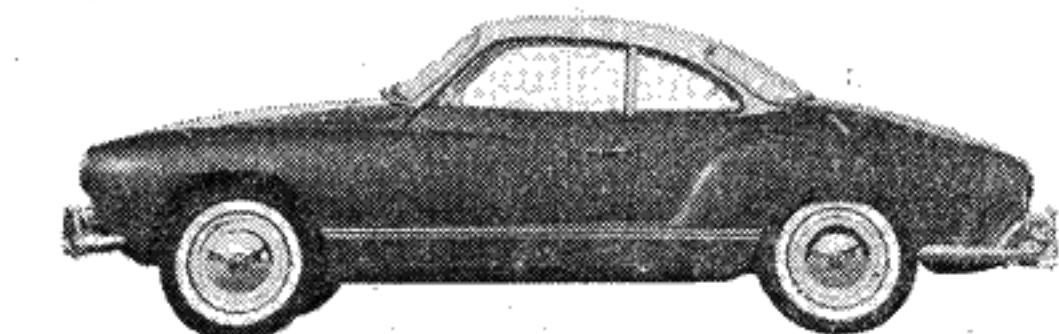

Once this is accomplished the most conservative opinions are that it would spell the end of the United Nations as an effective force for peace.

The Importance Of Negotiating

This writer has long admired the clear, concise editorial policy of the Wall Street Journal but once in a while it is hard to reconcile the approach of this great newspaper to problems that concern the little people.

The case in point is this. The Wall Street Journal says with reference to Khrushchev, "it is not befitting the strength of the Western position, it is not befitting the dignity of the defenders of civilization to appeal to the outlaw to be good." In other words why have any further dealings with the Reds?

Just what would the great Wall Street Journal substitute for negotiations with the Reds? The United Nations, now greatly imperiled by the death of Dag Hammarskjold, was created for the very purpose of negotiating the world's differences wherever and whenever they arise. There is not one sane person in the world who would not deplore the end of this great agency's effectiveness as a place to negotiate, even we venture to say, The Wall Street Journal.

Adenauer To Continue Fight

Konrad Adenauer, despite his 85 years and the setback his Christian Democratic party suffered in the parliamentary election, showed iron determination to try and hold onto the chancellorship of West Germany. His party's loss has put him at the mercy of his political enemies, who are bent on bringing about his downfall, but he made it clear he would not give up without a fight.

The delegation felt a second circuit judge would speed the administration of justice and be an economy measure. Under the present set up, 40 men are called for jury duty, but only 12 are drawn for a trial. However the rest are still paid. Now, 24 of the 40 can be drawn and two trials can be handled at the same time.

Also passed were bills permitting the county governing body to hire five new sheriff's deputies, a secretary for the sheriff, a cook at the jail and to set the chief deputy's salary at $6,000.

A general bill on switching school funds also passed. The measure would allow counties to use sales and use taxes now dedicated only for school construction to be used for teacher salaries and other educational purposes, if there is no claim on the income. Local voters would have to approve before it would take effect in any county.

Long's bills on putting court-house officials on a salary system, subject to approval of voters, and to cut the pay of members of the county governing body did not pass.

Elector Split Out

In the windup the $43.5 million general appropriations bill passed 33-0 in the Senate, the House concurring without delay.

However, there was an unsuccessful bid to require political parties to place presidential nominees names on the state ballot and ruling out an elector split such as occurred within Democratic ranks in the state last fall. The bill was successfully blocked by black Belters and States Righters even though they were outnumbered.

Rep. Albert Brewer of Morgan, fighting for the bill, said the proposal would allow the people of Alabama the right to make their choice of a presidential candidate and not allow a small self-appointed group the privilege of making the choice for them. In other words proponents of the measure said it would have amounted to "majority rule" and would not be handing to unpledged voters a "blank check" to throw his "vote down the drain." While proponents mustered 52 votes to their opponents 44 it was not enough for the two-thirds majority called for in a special session.

VOTER REGISTRATION

Two other bills, to create a state-wide voter registration board passed 68-24 and 74-16 after a House fight though both had previously passed as separate bills. Rep. Roscoe Roberts said the bill would set up a state board empowered to distribute questionnaires for new voters to answer and to grade them without regard to race. Memorizing of answers could be knocked out by changing them from time to time, he said. Some feared the bill would open the door for the appointment of a Federal voting referee for the entire state.

The ASCS community committee chairman and vice chairman automatically become the delegate and alternate delegate respectively, to the county convention where the county ASCS committee will be elected. The county convention will be held in the Coop building in Florence, Alabama, September 15 at 10:00 a.m.

The county and community ASCS farmer-committees are in charge of local administration of such national farm programs as the Agricultural Conservation Program, the feed grain Program, the Conservation Reserve Program, the National Wool Program, the Sugar Program, acreage allotments and marketing quotas, commodity loans, and storage facility loans.

DR. WALKER TERRELL McELHENY

"As a converted mid-Westerner and with full intentions to return to that section of the country to make my home, I have found my thinking completely reversed since being made to feel so much at home in Florence and being so happily connected with Florence State since our arrival here," was Dr. McElheny's answer to one of our questions. "We didn't intend to stay more than two years when we came to Florence but now it would take a 20-mule team to drag us away," Dr. McElheny added.

Dr. McElheny's contributions to the development of the Mental Health Clinic and allied services have had a telling effect on the progress of these undertakings all of which claim much of his time. In 1951, he was promoted from Associate Professor to Professor of Psychology and did some teaching in that field as well as in mental hygiene and introduction to college in addition to his principal work. In August of this year, he was named Dean of Student Affairs.

Dr. McElheny is a member of the American Personnel and Guidance Association; American Psychological Association; National Vocational Guidance Association; Southern College Personnel Association; Southeastern Psychological Association; Alabama Psychological Association and Southern College Placement Offices Association.

Interested in getting a mental health clinic started in this area, Dr. McElheny gave of his time freely as a Psychologist to the local Mental Health clinic and served as president of the Mental Health Association for two years. Concerned with the welfare of the family, he also served as general chairman of the Second Family Life Conference and has been active in the promotion of this program.

Dr. McElheny is an active member of the First Presbyterian Church and now serves as an Elder. He was formerly a Deacon of the church. For several years, he has played the piano for his Sunday School class.

Family picnics, music and bridge are Dr. McElheny's hobbies and when he has the time, he enjoys immensely working in his flower garden where he has approximately two hundred varieties of prize Iris.

A towel rack, fastened to the inside of a bedroom closet door, will hold several pairs of men's slacks.

Dress up consomme with a scoop of whipping cream, a thin slice of lemon, or a topping of chives and parsley.

Dr. McElheny went to Meadville, Pa., after his discharge from the Air Force, and accepted a position at Allegheny College as Vocational Counselor for the Veterans Administration. He remained there until September, 1946, when he enrolled at State University of Iowa, Iowa City, Iowa, to begin his graduate work.

He received his Masters degree in Psychology in 1948, and in 1950 received his Ph. D. degree. While studying toward his Masters degree, Dr. McElheny worked on the campus with the Student Council and as Personnel Counselor in the office of the Dean of Student Affairs. After receiving his Doctor's degree, he remained at the University as a full time instructor of remedial reading.

While attending the University, Dr. McElheny met Joan Hoehner of Topeka, Kansas, and on December 19, 1948, they were married. They have two children; one son, Terry, 8, a third grader at Kilby Training School, and a daughter, Janet, 4, who attends the Florence State College nursery school.

In August, 1950, Dr. McElheny and his wife came to Florence when he accepted the position of Director of Student Personnel and Associate Professor of Psychology at Florence State.

While serving in that capacity, Dr. McElheny helped establish the student personnel service to which later was added a placement service. The placement service, at first, was only for graduating teachers, however, it was later changed to include all graduates, who are

Fifteen-Acre Exemption Out

ASC Cautions Wheat Growers Of Lauderdale

Some small wheat producers who have grown less than 15 acres of wheat in the past 3 years may be subject to marketing quotas and penalties under provisions of the wheat stabilization program for 1962, according to Joe J. Rasch, Chairman, Lauderdale County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Under previous programs, farms that had less than 15 acres of wheat, or farms that did not produce more than 200 bushels of wheat annually, were not subject to marketing quotas even though they had allotments of 15 acres or less. The 200-bushel exemption has been repealed, and the 15-acre exemption is no longer applicable under the new program.

For 1962, the marketing quota exemption for those who planted 15 acres of wheat during any one of the 3 years 1959, 1960, 1961, and whose allotment is less than 13.5 acres, will be reduced to 13.5 acres. Exemption for growers who planted less than 13.5 acres of wheat will be the highest planted acreage in any one of these 3 years if the 1962 allotment is less than such highest acreage.

In addition to these quota requirements, some small producers may also be subject to marketing quota penalties under certain conditions, Rasch pointed out. For example, farmers who have not grown wheat in any one of the past 3 years and who grow wheat for harvest without an allotment in 1962 will be subject to marketing quota penalties on the entire production.

Another group of producers who will also be subject to wheat marketing quota penalties are those who have grown 13.5 acres or more in one of the 3 years, 1959, 1960, or 1961 and whose 1962 allotments are 13.5 acres or less and who grow for harvest more than 13.5 acres in 1962.

Penalties may also apply to small producers who exceed their 1962 allotment when that allotment is greater than the acreage planted for harvest in any one of the years 1959, 1960, or 1961.

On farms where there is excess wheat acreage, the amount of wheat subject to a marketing quota penalty would be twice the normal yield of the excess acres multiplied by 65 per cent of the May, 1962 parity price for wheat. Downward adjustment in this determination may be made if the producer furnishes evidence of his actual production. In those cases where a producer exceeds the exemption, the penalty is figured from the allotment rather than the exemption.

Approximately two-thirds of the wheat producers in the United States grow less than 15 acres of wheat, yet these small producers raise about one-sixth of all the wheat grown in this county, Rasch explained. By reducing the wheat marketing quota exemption, these growers now have a opportunity to make a greater contribution in the national effort to bring wheat supplies more nearly in line with demand.

Journalists from six states will be featured speakers at the Alabama Press Association Fall Workshop to be held in Tuscaloosa Sept. 22-23. Harold May, association president, announced today.

They are Ted Serrill, Executive Vice-President of National Editorial Association, Washington, D.C.; Joe Cook, publisher of Winston County Journal, Louisville, Miss.; Ed Arnold, consultant for Mergenthaler Linotype Company and journalism professor at Syracuse University, Syracuse, N. Y.; John Luskin, journalism professor at University of Alabama; Harvey Walters, Manager, Georgia Press Association, Atlanta, Ga.; and Dean Howard R. Long, Director of School of Journalism, Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Illinois.

These men will lead discussions on the subject, "Your Newspaper—A Business, A Product, A Public Servant," theme of the workshop. The University of Alabama is co-sponsor of the two-day meeting which will be held in the Union building on the campus.

Serving at the Naval Air Station, Corpus Christi, Texas, is Navy Lt. Owen E. Farley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Farley, Sr. of 209 Crown St., Florence.

The station, headquarters of the Naval Air Advanced Training Command, is the largest naval air training station in the world and is unique in that it possesses facilities to train advanced student pilots in both landplanes and sea-planes.

The specialist says this fact was evident at the Sand Mountain Substation last spring when many cotton stands were being damaged by diseases.

In an experiment, cotton was planted in adjoining plots. Some plots were lined according to soil test and others were unlined. Very little damage was done by seedling diseases on the lined plots, but the cotton stand on the unlined plots was practically destroyed, adds Sowell.

FREE HOSPITAL CARE APPROVED—Governor John Patterson, seated, is shown as he signed legislation setting up the state's first medical care plan which will benefit persons over 65 who cannot pay their own hospital bills. Standing from left, are Rubin M. Hanan, Montgomery, state president of the Alabama League of Aging Citizens; Alvin T. Prestwood, commissioner of the State Department of Pensions and Security; State Rep. Wiley P. Gordon of Oneonta and State Rep. W. Wallace Gross of Scottsboro, leaders in legislation for elder citizens.

When a car is this beautiful, you know Pontiac built it!

Who else but the builder of those front-running Wide-Track Pontiacs could bring out a car so freshly and finely styled! It's longer, with a crisp, low silhouette. It's distinctly Pontiac, with a new twin-scoop grille you can recognize a block away. Powered by the potent Trophy V-8, with 215 to 348 h.p. Beautifully poised on Pontiac's famous Wide-Track stance. We've even cut the turning radius as much as 3½ feet to make handling easier. The result is a pride-pleasing new version of America's Number One Road Car. Come on in—and let a Pontiac show you its stuff while it's showing you off!

THE SPILLWAY

The calendars have told us so...
But now the shivers make us KNOW!

(WHICH PROVES... If you can't think of any other remark, fall back on the weather!)

AN AMAZING STORY has just reached our ears. Recently, a Pan American jet liner was high over the Atlantic, and the steward remarked to the cute blonde stewardess that she possessed a charming southern accent. Which, she replied, was normal since she hailed from Alabama. Said steward, though he was a native of Germany, inquired as to the place in Alabama, and she said, "Oh, you probably wouldn't know the town, it's Florence." Which happened to be the very spot he did know. The stewardess was Adrienne Arnett, and the steward was the roommate in New York City of Allen Bolton (we remember him as "sonny"), and has visited here with Allen (who is in the big city with IBM machine corporation). Needless to say, much fun followed as they found they had many friends in common here in Florence.

IT'S STARTING YOUNG, we'd say, when the birthday party for a four year old lad is a hayride, but then this is a precocious lad, and the guests were probably precocious too. And who had a better set-up for such a party than Bennett Peritt? Hear that many enjoyed the celebration and that the small-fry crowds are still talking about it all, over their block houses.

CONGRATULATIONS to our newest baby, which had its first meeting last week. More than a hundred attended the press conference for Women's Organizations in the Tri-Cities at Rogers Hall... and we'd say that one of the secrets of its success was the informality from the moment the coffee cups were brought out... PLUS the beauty of the fall flowers all about, many of which had been nurtured by Nell Cheney's own green thumb. And we understand that next year's meeting is already looked forward to.

ALREADY WITH A REPUTATION for being at least ONE (of several hereabout) hostess-with-the-mostest is Mytella Nelson... And we hear that she had a delightful coffee-party last week at her new home on Courtney Avenue... the guest list including the large group who've come here with their husbands up on transfer from Knoxville by the TVA. Mytella seems to be a specialist in informal coffees, luncheons, and the like. And all this plus being active in League of Women Voters and the Episcopal Ladies' Guild, and studying Russian with Bertha Klenova, AND having three high school-age young Nelsons!

ANOTHER of our smart matrons whose ambition and energy qualify her for mention is Eva Belle Darby, who, we understand, is returning to college to complete work for her degree. Now that daughter Ann is about to graduate from college, and son Lynn is about to enter college, Eva Belle must've decided she'd use the spare moments she's finding, since leaving the "chicken business" to join them in higher education. Labels some of us pretty lazy!

WE WERE DISAPPOINTED not to see Elizabeth (Gregory) Lee during her recent visit here, and hope she gets our message, that she MUST hurry back, and give us a chance to see her this time. Now that she and hubby-Lamar are living in Atlanta, this should be easy, and we're hoping we'll be seeing more of them than we did while they were living in Washington.

CONGRATULATIONS to Bill Calhoun (and to Annie and Billy) on all the honors that he's been receiving at West Point Military Academy (which have such complicated titles that they're well-nigh impossible to repeat). We know that no one is prouder than grandma Hallie Harlan, so we'll congratulate her too. And speaking of congratulating grandmas, we'll send a BIG ONE to Mae Irbine, now that "Kaki" (Rice) Kriebel and Don, have presented her with a great-grandson, on Friday the 15th, up in Philadelphia, whose name (we think we heard) is John Rice... Grandparents are Polly (Irbine) and Turner Rice of B'ham.

ON THE AVENUE, on Sunday afternoon, we spied William Lile Harris and Lillie Mitchell, who appeared very intent on important business, and we later learned that they were... delivering this season's tickets for the Muscle Shoals Concert Association... for, to quote them "the brightest season in its history." Right upon us is the first presentation which is "A Thurbur Carnival" with Imogene Coco and (we've just learned, her husband) King Donovan. Understand there're twenty rooms reserved for the cast at a local motel, which must mean a large one. Makes us glad that we rushed down and engaged our tickets early last spring!

GOURMET-ERS... TAKE NOTE... Cooking classes are again on the Florence agenda... beginning with a Planning Session Morning Coffee at The Town Club on Wednesday, the 27th at 10 a.m. Gourmet-er par excellence Margaret Brown will instruct and The Gals' kitchens will occasionally be the meeting places of the twice-monthly events... those interested may chat in advance (if so inclined) with Bay Lindstrom at EM 3-3265.

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THOUGH THE SPILLWAY, IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW!

Fresh Produce Spoilage Costly

Handle produce carefully — it's alive.

Fresh produce is wasted each week, says Dorothy Overbey, Auburn Extension Service consumer education specialist. When quality drops, the price is lowered.

And if it still doesn't sell, says the specialist, it is thrown away, so a price increase results on the rest of the fresh fruits and vegetables.

What has this to do with the shopper? Miss Overbey advises homemakers to handle fresh fruits and vegetables carefully. Whether the produce keeps its quality depends a lot on its staying alive until it is served. The best head of lettuce is not always on the bottom. And squeezing pears is no sure indication of ripeness.

"Even when you test for firmness, you don't need pressure," she says.

With the homemaker's help, much of the spoilage at fresh produce counters can be avoided, she says. Spoilage costs money. The store cannot absorb the costs. They must raise their prices and the consumer winds up paying the bill. Some spoilage losses are unavoidable, she adds, but a lot of it is caused by careless handling.

Shirt buttons sometimes become slightly discolored when laundered. This can usually be removed by rubbing the buttons with an ink eraser.

Sears Net Sales Set Record For First Six Months

Sears Roebuck and Co. today reported that its net income was the second highest in its 75 year history for the six months ended July 31. Net sales established an all time record for the period. Net income for the first half of Sears fiscal year was $75,575,715 or $1.00 per share, an increase of 3.8 per cent over earnings of $72,784,815 or 97 cents per share in the first half of 1960. The record for the period was $76,511,128 or $1.02 per share, established in 1959.

In their mid year report which is now being mailed to shareowners Charles H. Kellstadt, chairman of the board, and Crowds Baker, President, explained that income in the 1961 fiscal period includes a non-recurring before tax gain of $7,929,000 on the sales of equities, and non-recurring discount expense of $8,230,000 in connection with the sale of substantially all installment accounts receivable, a step preliminary to adoption of the installment method of tax accounting.

Net sales for the six months were $1,929,960,817 an increase of 1.4 per cent over the previous record of $1,904,179,152 in the same period of 1960.

In their letter to shareowners, Mr. Kellstadt and Mr. Baker said, earlier this year the company advised its shareowners that results during the first half of 1961 would be affected by the Economic Adjustment. This was particularly evident during the first quarter.

However, they said, stronger sales trends in May, June, and July gave indications of improving economic conditions in most sections of the country.

Looking to the Fall Season, Mr. Kellstadt and Baker said, "while competition for sales should continue to be rigorous Sears expect to benefit from increase and spending for consumer goods in the coming months."

ASC ELECTION IS COMPLETED FRIDAY
Election of the Lauderdale County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committeeman was completed Friday as local representatives met in caucus and cast their votes. All three Lauderdale County committeemen were re-elected to their posts. This retains the team of A. J. Darby, Jr., chairman; Joe J. Rasch, vice-chairman and New-ton Haraway, third member.

All offices carry a tenure of one year. Put the yolk of a hard-cooked egg through a sieve for an appetizing appealing garnish for asparagus, broccoli, and salads.

Football Season Well Underway In Shoals Area

Sheffield 33, Moulton 0
The Sheffield Bulldogs jumped into a two touchdown lead in the hello canto of Thursday night's football game with Moulton and then added single markers in each of the following quarters. The victory belonged to Sheffield all the way.

The Bulldogs had the Red Devils completely outmanned and Moulton Quarterback Billy Suggs, the spark in last week's 20-0 win over Central, found purple shirted defenders surrounding him on every play.

The triumph gives Sheffield a 1-0 mark for TVC play and the Bulldogs will go in quest of victory number two Friday night against the Crimson Panthers of Huntsville in the Rocket City.

W. Limestone 6, Rogersville 0
The Lauderdale County High Tigers from Rogersville, unable to muster any real offensive threat, fell from the unbeaten ranks in a 6-0 loss to the West Limestone Wildcats, Thursday night.

Rogersville tried desperately to gain a last-moment touchdown, but five out of six passes failed to connect, giving the Wildcats a chance to successfully freeze the ball.

However, it must be said that Coach Max Burleson's team played a good ball game and had several tough breaks in their quest for a second win.

Deshler 27, Huntsville 6
Coach Buddy Moore's Deshler Tigers made it two in a row Friday night in their debut before home fans in Tusculumbia with a crushing 27-6 triumph over the Huntsville Crimson Panthers. The win was number two of the year and the same for Tennessee Valley Conference action.

Deshler defense jumped into the spotlight with two intercepted passes and a blocked punt, all being good for Tiger touchdowns.

Halfback John Gamble tallied twice, while Halfback Charley Manner and Guard John Robinson got the other scores and Tommy Christopher hit on three of four PAT kick attempts.

The Tigers catch the second Huntsville entry, Butler, Friday night in a quest of victory number three at Tusculumbia.

Lexington 31, Rogers 7
The Lexington Golden Bears emerged one of the strongest teams in the Wheeler Basin Conference by soundly whipping a never give up team from Rogers by the score of 31-7 in a contest that never was in doubt after the first quarter.

With the two Newtons, Lloyd and Troy, the Golden Bears have one of the best backfields in the area. Ably assisted by Danny Cottrell and quarterbacks Howard Richardson and Bobby Hughes, they have massed together a total of 73 points against their opponents 20.

Thursday night the Bears take on undefeated Ardmore in a game that should prove to be one of the best in the area.

Central 26, Red Bay 25
The Central Wildcats turned back a 25-0 Red Bay lead and won their home debut over the Tigers 26-25 Friday night.

Coach James Guyton's Wildcats down by 25 points late in the second quarter and 25-6 at half-time outmanned Red Bay completely in the second half, taking the lead which Red Bay had held throughout the game with 8:58 left in the contest, on a Rick Murphy to Garland Parker pass play covering 40 yards.

Central travels to Lexington Friday night for their third game of the season.

E. Limestone 26, Muscle Shoals 12
Muscle Shoals City's young Trojans started off with a bang before falling 28-12 to the host East Limestone Indians Saturday night. The loss to the Indians, also a first-year team, evened Coach Durrell Mock's record at 1-1 with rugged Cherokee coming up Friday night.

Muscle Shoals drew first blood in the game on a dazzling 91-yard punt return in the first quarter. Greg Chandler and Tommy Crow collaborated on a 17-yard pass play to give the Trojans their second and last touchdown, after which East Limestone broke the ball game open.

FSC 9, Delta State 6
Fullback Bob Jackson of Sheffield fired the field goal that paved the way to a 9-6 Florence State victory over the invading Delta Statesmen in the season's opener Saturday night.

Jackson, a junior, kicked a 31-yard killing field goal at the invaders with 7:20 left in the final quarter. This coupled with a second period TD, and a lionhearted defense proved enough for the victorious eleven of Coaches Hal Self and George Weeks.

The field goal gave FSC a 9-0 lead, but the invaders fought back in the waning minutes to push home a TD.

Consultation Service Important

Schools Benefit From Mental Health Center

This is the SECOND of a series of articles dealing with the functions and activities of the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center.

The Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center's staff make themselves available to the schools for mental health aspects of education. This may be in the form of consultation with teachers about children who are not seen at the center, of assistance in service training at teachers' meetings, and working in institutes for teachers.

In this way, teachers recognize and help to alleviate the mental health problems of their students without the need of referring them to the center.

When a teacher recognizes that one of her students needs help, other than what she can give the student, she has a conference with the principal or school attendance supervisor. After an agreement that the child needs help, the parents of the child are contacted and they in turn get in touch with the Mental Health Center.

On the appointed day, the child is given psychological testing and the parents are seen by the psychiatric social worker for a thorough history of the child's background.

After testing is completed, the psychologist and social worker have a conference to discuss the results and decide on further treatment and recommendation to the school. In some cases, the child may be seen by the psychiatric consultant if a severe emotional problem is present. An oral report is first given to the parents and then a written report to the school officials.

Reasons For Referral

One of the major reasons schools refer children to the Mental Health Center is difficulty with learning. Other reasons are emotional disturbance, behavior disorders such as fighting, stealing, lying, or the fact that the child is gifted.

Gifted Children

In the case of the gifted children, parents need help in understanding why their child is not like others and knowing how to help him make use of his potential, not only intellectually, but socially.

Because of the knowledge gained through psychological testing, the center may offer recommendations for enriching the child's curriculum. This is a joint endeavor of the school and home and in this way the center contributes to the development of the gifted youngster's leadership for the community of the future.

Mrs. Ruth Arnett, Director of the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center, gave an example, "A gifted child's parents wanted him promoted from the 1st grade to the third grade because he could read on the sixth grade level. However, in arithmetic and social situations, he was correctly placed in the first grade."

with moderate retardation. There is one school, Hope Haven, which includes three classes for severely retarded children.

Many children with mild retardation, sometimes termed as slow learners, continue in regular classes in school. There is a class for physically handicapped children at Florence State and also a class for children with speech and hearing disorders at the college.

One of the unmet needs of the area is for classes in remedial reading, as many children who appear retarded are in reality of normal intelligence, but for some reason have failed to learn to read. Another unmet need is for classes or a residential center for emotionally disturbed children.

"During the fiscal year, July, 1960, to June, 1961, of a total of 446 cases terminated, 271 were children under the age of eighteen. At the time these statistics were compiled, a total of 234 cases were being seen by the center. Of these cases 132 were under the age of eighteen," Hugh Sherer, Psychiatric Case Worker, advised.

"The schools were the primary source of referral for 114 of these children, and are indirectly responsible for many more children finding their way to the center," he added.

DOCTORS TO MEET

Ford Executive To Be Guest Speaker

Members from all civic clubs in Lauderdale County will join together Monday night at seven-thirty at Coffee High School Auditorium for a dinner meeting, the highlight of "Civic Club Week."

James R. Golden, Manager of Ford Motor Company's Atlanta Regional Office of Civic and Governmental Affairs, will be the main speaker for "Civic Night." He is one of eight regional managers throughout the county who make up the field organization, which is believed to be the first of its kind in American industry.

As manager, his main responsibilities include counseling with company executives on government relations matters at the federal, state and local levels, working with the Company's community relations committees in the public affairs field and representing Ford's viewpoint on legislation affecting the company in the seven-state area, which includes North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee and Alabama.

Four Cities Imports To Open Saturday

Organization of Four Cities Imports, Inc., an authorized Volkswagen dealership was announced here today by E. Teel, Manager.

Mr. Teel said the new company will provide sales and service for the full line of Volkswagen cars, trucks, and station wagons. It is located on Mitchell Boulevard, just north of the O'Neal Bridge in Florence, and is expected to employ 18 persons when it opens for business this Saturday.

Mr. Teel said, "We are pleased we will soon be able to offer the nearly 400 people in this immediate area who now own and drive Volkswagens the skilled service of factory-trained employees."

"Establishment of Four Cities Imports, Inc.," Mr. Teel added, "is in line with Volkswagen of America's desire to extend the network of independent Volkswagen dealerships into every major area of the country, providing convenient service facilities for Volkswagen owners."

There are now nearly 650 authorized Volkswagen dealerships in the United States whose owners have invested about $110 million in sales and service facilities.

Nearly three-quarters of a million Volkswagen vehicles are in service in this country, Mr. Teel said. He added:

Porter Goodman, Richmond, Cal., Everett Goodman, Florence, Eugene Goodman, Florence; a sister, Mrs. Alice Myrick, Florence.

Mrs. Dora Rea

Funeral services for Mrs. Dora Rea, 83, a lifelong resident of Franklin County who died Sunday morning at the El Reposo Sanitarium, were conducted Monday afternoon at two o'clock at Vina Baptist Church with Joe Hughes officiating. Burial followed in Burleson Cemetery.

She is survived by three daughters, Mrs. Alfred McCroskey, Florence; Mrs. A. J. Summerlin, Ashland; and Mrs. Jess Jackson, Norman, Okla.; five stepdaughters, three sisters, two brothers, eight grandchildren and five great grandchildren.

Mrs. Margaret R. Holliman

Funeral services for Mrs. Margaret Richards Holliman, 68, 201 North Oak St., Florence, who died Thursday night of last week at Mitchell - Hollingsworth Annex, were held Saturday afternoon at Poplar Street Church of Christ with Curtis Platt, William Wardlaw and Melvin Campbell officiating. Burial followed in Tricities Memorial Gardens.

Dr. Roberts Is Exchange Speaker

Dr. Shaler Roberts, Jr., a member of the staff of the Florence Clinic was the guest speaker at the Tuesday noon meeting of the club at Hotel Reeder. Irving Bertell was in charge of program arrangements and Dr. W. S. Bradley presented the speaker.

Dr. Roberts have an interesting and informative illustrated talk on the eyes, the diseases and deformities that attack this important organ and the methods now being used to correct many of these ailments. He showed colored slides of a number of the corrective measures used, most of them through surgery, and gave some warning for the protection of the eyes, especially the banning of the use of B. B. guns by youngsters. He pointed out that these guns were not toys but destructive instruments.

H. Grady Richards Honored By Legion

H. Grady Richards, past commander and longtime active worker in Florence-Lauderdale Post No. 11, American Legion, Thursday night was voted a lifetime membership in the organization by the post executive committee. Formal

"Actually, they were part American even before they arrived here. This is because much of the steel plate used in the production of Volkswagen bodies comes from American mills as does a large percentage of the body presses and machine tools used in Volkswagen plants overseas."

presentation of his gold membership card will be made with proper ceremonies at a regular meeting shortly.

The attendance award at Thursday's meeting was won by Sgt. Billy C. Newton of the permanent staff of the local National Guard installation who, upon receiving the sum of $20 immediately donated the full amount to a needy family to which the post is contributing.

Commander Howard Bolling announced that the current membership of the post has passed the 750 mark several hundred ahead of last year at this period in the membership campaign.

One Of County's Oldest Houses Will Be Razed

By L. O. BRACEEN
Auburn

For years tourists have stopped to photograph this old two-story house 18 miles east of Florence on Highway 72. But soon it will be photographed no more. Dallas Butler, owner, says that is soon to give way for the expanded and improved 4-lane highway between Athens and Florence.

The original version of this house was built by Daniel White about 1818 shortly after he arrived in Alabama from North Carolina.

For several years, following the Civil War, it was used as a wayside inn. Just before his death a few months ago, Kit Butler, a 110 year old son of a former slave family, related this story:

At one time a "drummer" stopped at the wayside inn for the night. The next day he called for his horse and was ready to pay his bill. He presented a $100 bill to the innkeeper. When the innkeeper advised him that he could not change the bill, the "drummer" started to drive away. The innkeeper told Kit to unhitch the horse and carry it back to the barn. Immediately the "drummer" found that he had the change to pay the bill.

Too, he recalled hearing the people living in the old house talk about high prices of meats and groceries during and immediately following the war.

Bacon and ham prices from 65 to 75 cents per pound; flour $34 to $40 per bushel; molasses, $1.75 to $2 per gallon; meal, $1.50 per bushel, rice 7 to 8 cents per pound; sugar 35 to 50 cents a pound; salt $1 per sack; wheat seed, $7.50 per bushel; whiskey, $12 to $15 per gallon; lard, 40 cents per pound and tobacco, 75 cents to $1.50 per pound.

Alabama News Specialists Will Attend Workshop

Four Alabama news specialists will form a panel to discuss "Your Newspaper—A Civil Servant" during the Alabama Press Association Fall Workshop Sept. 22-23 at the University of Alabama.

They are Arthur Slaton, publisher of The Moulton Advertiser; Mrs. Karol Fleming, associate editor of Geneva County Reaper; Donald White, publisher of Daily Mountain Eagle, Jasper, and Professor John Luskin of the University of Alabama Journalism Department as moderator.

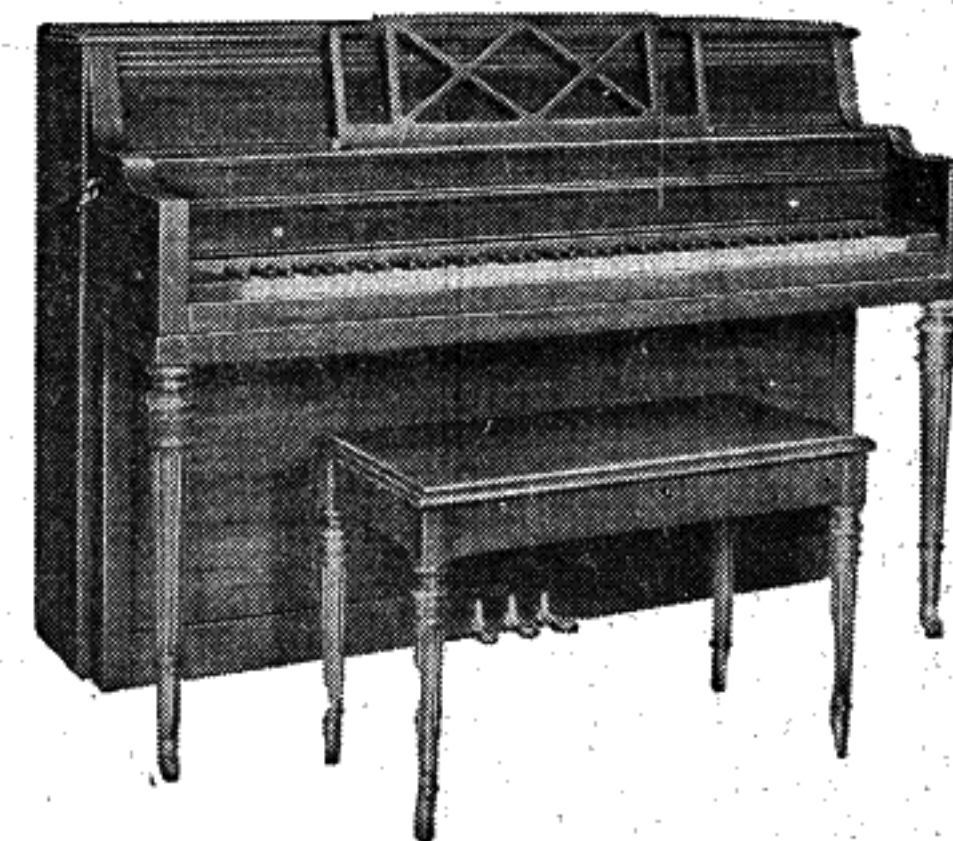

Theme of the two-day meeting is "Your Newspaper—A Business, A Product, A Public Servant." Six men recognized in the field of journalism will lead discussions related to the theme.

These speakers are Edmund C. Arnold, professor of journalism at Syracuse University and consultant for Mergenthaler Linotype Company; Joe T. Cook, publisher of Winston County Journal, Louisville, Miss.; Ted Serrill, executive vice-president of National Editorial Association, Washington, D. C.; Dean Howard R. Long, chairman of Journalism Department of Southern Illinois University, Carbondale, Ill.; Harvey Walters, manager of Georgia Press Association, Atlanta, Ga.; and Professor Luskin. The University of Alabama and Alabama Press Association are co-sponsors of the workshop.

The Waterloo Lions Club held its third annual carnival at the new Lions Park, Sept. 14, 15, 16. The proceeds will be used for park improvements.

The park is quite an addition to the town. Hundreds of people came here during the summer months to enjoy this beauty spot which is on the water edge of Pickwick Lake.

Jones Irions was winner of the Shetland pony and saddle. Members of the club wish to thank everyone who bought tickets on the pony and helped in many ways to make the carnival a success. The Lions Club invites the public to use and enjoy the facilities of this beautiful park. Thomas Glasgow, coach in the high school is president of the club.

When clearing the table, a big tray or a tea wagon will save a lot of steps.

The Waterloo Lions Club held its third annual carnival at the new Lions Park, Sept. 14, 15, 16. The proceeds will be used for park improvements.

The park is quite an addition to the town. Hundreds of people came here during the summer months to enjoy this beauty spot which is on the water edge of Pickwick Lake.

Jones Irions was winner of the Shetland pony bridle and saddle. Members of the club wish to thank everyone who bought tickets on the pony and helped in many ways to make the carnival a success. The Lions Club invites the public to use and enjoy the facilities of this beautiful park. Thomas Glasgow, coach in the high school is president of the club.

When clearing the table, a big tray or a tea wagon will save a lot of steps.

STATE OF ALABAMA
LAUDERDALE COUNTY
IN THE PROBATE COURT
IN THE MATTER OF THE ESTATE OF CHARLES WAYNE
HONEYCUTT, DECEASED

Notice of Hearing on Report of Administrator for Confirmation of Sale of Land, Title 61, Sec. 262, Code of Alabama, 1940.

TO: Nora Mae Morris, formerly known as Nora Mae Heminger, a non-resident of the State of Alabama, whose last known place of residence and post office address is Box 1502, Central Station, Toledo, Ohio, and to all other persons interested:

WHEREAS, A Hurchel Honeycutt, as administrator of Estate of Charles Wayne Honeycutt, deceased, on September 19, 1961 filed in this Court his written verified report of confirmation of his proceedings in connection with his authorized public sale of certain lands situated in Lauderdale County, Alabama owned by decedent at the time of his death for the payment of debts of said estate, which sale was conducted by said administrator on September 18, 1961 between the hours of 11:00 A. M. and 4:00 P. M. at 108 Burton Avenue in the City of Florence, Alabama, being the place where said tract of land lies; and WHEREAS, the report of said sale made by said administrator shows, among other things, that the land in question was bid off and purchased at said sale by the said administrator in his individual capacity for the sum of $5,-

840.40, and that said amount was the highest and best bid for the same, and that said land sold for a sum not greatly less or disproportionate to its real value; and

WHEREAS, the said report of said sale further shows that said administrator in his individual capacity has personal pecuniary interest in said sale adverse to the interest of the other heir at law of said decedent, namely, Nora Mae Morris formerly known as Nora Mae Heminger; and

WHEREAS, the Probate Court of Lauderdale County, Alabama has set the hearing of said report of said administrator for confirmation for October 7, 1961 at 10:00 A. M. in the Office of the Judge of Probate of Lauderdale County, Alabama in the City of Florence, Alabama.

Now, Therefore, Nora Mae Morris, formerly known as Nora Mae Heminger, and all other persons adversely interested, if any there be, are herewith notified of the day and time set by the Court for the hearing of said report for confirmation, at which time they can appear and contest or oppose the same if they think proper.

Witness my hand and official seal this 19th day of September, 1961.

THANK YOU, MY FRIENDS

FOR THE SUPPORT YOU GAVE ME IN

Monday's Election

THAT PLACED ME IN THE RUN-OFF

Next Monday

YOU VOTE AT THAT TIME

WILL BE DOUBLY APPRECIATED

Here's The Way I See It:

The City of Florence—and each of you—are facing one of the most important periods in the history of our community. We are facing uncertain times and the immediate future demands a seasoned businessman to handle your governmental affairs—and one whom you know will be able to serve you should we find ourselves in a shooting war.

The business affairs of our city demand mature judgment, judgment based on a knowledge of the needs and requirements of a growing city. My association in the operation of a part of our city's affairs has given me an insight to these requirements, requirements that I have been meeting throughout the years in the civic service it has been my pleasure to render.

In casting your vote next Monday, I urge you to think carefully of the needs of properly administered city government and place your confidence in the candidate best equipped to meet the challenge we now face. You have never cast a more important ballot in a city election. Let me ask that you give thought to your selection of the man to represent you for the next three years based solely on his ability to serve you best.

Although not a native born resident of Florence, I chose this community for my home and all my business investments because I believe it is the best place in the world to live — and I want to do my part in keeping it that way.

To those candidates not now in the race, I ask your support in the election Monday on my pledge to serve each and every citizen fairly and to the best of my ability.

Cordially yours,

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

CAN'T REACH HIM...

They call him a problem child. "Can't reach him," say some. "He won't respond," echo others. Young as he is, he's already been in trouble with the police.

Why? There are lots of words, lots of phrases, to describe youngsters like this. The papers are full of them every day. There are lots of excuses given—for him, and for society. Are they valid?

This boy has parents. Why can't they reach him? Is it, perhaps, because they can't really reach themselves? Because they've never found themselves?

Self-discovery takes courage. It doesn't come easily. It takes help. It demands faith. The starting point for a quest of this kind is in the Church. This boy needs the Church. So do his parents. So, for that matter, do we all!

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

FFA Members Nominated For Farmer Degree

The highest degree awarded by the Future Farmers of America has been recommended for 14 FFA members and one teacher of vocational agriculture in Alabama. T. L. Faulkner, state supervisor of vocational agriculture and FFA advisor, said all 14 youths nominated from Alabama are in line to receive the American Farmer Degree at the National FFA Convention. The boys have been approved by boards of student FFA officers and directors. These nominations still must be confirmed by a vote of delegates at the convention in Kansas City, Mo. next October. Faulkner said approval by the boards usually is tantamount to election by the delegates. J. R. Lindsey, teacher of vocational agriculture at Grove Hill high school in Clarke county, is nominated for the honorary American Farmer degree. The nomination is based on outstanding achievement in FFA work and vocational agriculture. The Grove Hill chapter also has one FFA member nominated for the high award, James Dewey Finley. Other youths nominated and their chapters are Albert Billings, Jr., Northport; Luther Clemons, Gurley; John Dean, Enterprise; Darrell Driskell, Grand Bay; Howard Fuller, Livingston; James H. Higgins, Isabella; George Hodge, Buckhorn; Phillip Holman, Fairhope; Neil Martin, Jr., Wetumpka; Tommy Roberts, Curry; Charles Whitaker, Ider; Douglas Wilcox, Liberty; and Kermit Wilks, Arab.

Buyers Look For Quality Produce

Quality is the watchword—just as it was all summer—for the Alabama truck crop industry during this fall marketing season.

Homemakers are looking for fall fruits and vegetables that will be easy to prepare, says Dr. Melvin Smith, Auburn Extension Service fruit and vegetable marketing specialist.

"The quality of locally grown vegetables now at the markets varies from poor to excellent," says Smith, "but the homemaker will naturally choose the higher qualities first because it takes less time and effort to prepare them than it does the poor non-uniform products."

This quest for quality has left its mark on the state's truck crop industry, says the specialist.

"Take tomatoes, for example," says Dr. Smith. "The producer who is aiming for quality—and better prices—keeps the homemaker in mind."

He sees that his tomatoes are picked at the proper maturity and handles them carefully to avoid spoilage and bruised spots that would reduce the market value. And here, too, says the specialist, he knows that the homemaker will usually pass up the bruised tomatoes because they take longer to prepare and because of the added waste.

Finally, the specialist points out, the grower grades his tomatoes according to uniform size and places them in clean packages to reduce loss in handling after they leave the farm.

"The good producer knows that his vegetables are grown to be sold to the consumer," says Dr. Smith, "and he knows the better he can satisfy the consumer, the better his produce will move on the market."

Leptospirosis In Cattle Is Serious

Cattlemen suffer losses of about $12 million dollars per year as a result of leptospirosis. This infectious disease also affects swine, and in some isolated cases, humans.

Dr. Worth Lanier, Auburn Extension Service veterinarian, reports that danger signs of "lepto" may resemble certain other diseases. For this reason, he says, consult a veterinarian when such symptoms as loss of appetite, breathing difficulty, a drop in milk production, abortions, scouring or jaundice appear.

The most satisfactory way of preventing losses is to have stock vaccinated against the disease. Other steps include protecting feed and water facilities so they cannot become contaminated by diseased stock, keeping animals away from low, wet pastures, ponds and slow-moving streams, and having replacement stock blood-tested and isolated to protect the home herd, reminds Lanier.

Control Of Grub Aim Of Cattlemen

Alabama cattlemen are set to declare war on cattle grubs and warbles.

Walter Grimes, Auburn Extension Service entomologist, says that controls applied from now through October kill the grub inside the cow before it reaches the

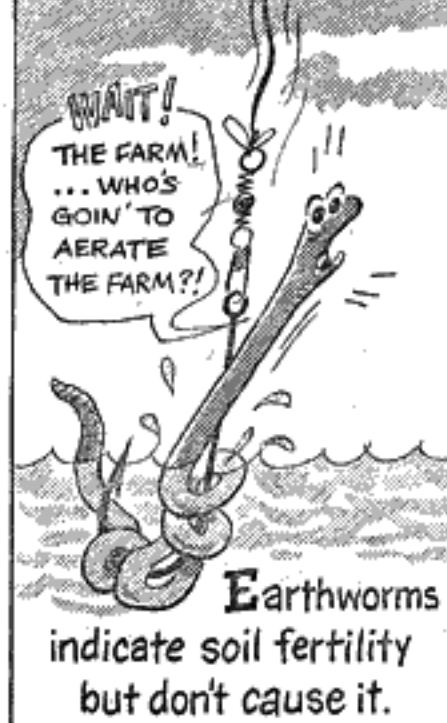

Farm Facts

According to Francis E. Clark, U. S. Department of Agriculture microbiologist, earthworms are to be considered an indication of good soil fertility rather than its cause.

Sharp differences of opinion exist, he says, concerning the relationship of earthworms to soil fertility. Some people insist that earthworms almost singlehandedly are responsible for good fertility. Clark notes in the USDA's Yearbook of Agriculture that such a viewpoint has little basis in fact. He says organic residues ejected by earthworms are poorer in nutrients than the original residues ingested.

The beneficial effects of earthworms on plant growth are largely those associated with improved aeration and improved tilth. They are important in mixing surface organic residues with the underlying soil.

Earthworms in an acre can bring 20 tons of soil a year to the surface. Their burrowing activity is most intense in the top 6 inches, although some tunnels extend to depths of 6 feet.

Earthworms flourish best in well drained soils that contain abundant organic matter and a continuous supply of available calcium. They may number millions per acre.

BETTER FARMING MEANS BETTER LIVING

L. T. WAGNON County Agent

TIMELY REMINDERS

We cannot stress too much the importance of getting your winter legumes planted as soon as possible. Most farmers realize the benefits of legumes in preventing erosion, improving the soil, and adding nitrogen to the soil. Several farmers in the county turned under an excellent growth of vetch last spring and they are now reporting very good yields where this was done.

Agronomists from Auburn report that yields are as high if not higher, on crops following a good growth of vetch. Another advantage is that winter legumes can be grazed until around February and then allowed to make a good growth before turning.

Good legumes and mixtures to plant in our area are vetch, crimson clover, small grain—vetch, or crimson clover—ryegrass. These should be planted if possible before we begin to get our fall rains and in order for the crop to make some growth before freezing weather. Inoculation of the seed is essential and be sure to buy the inoculant recommended for the specific crop you are growing and follow directions on the package.

Another thing to keep in mind is the fact that it is time to fertilize your established clover-grass permanent pastures. Follow soil test recommendations if a soil test was made, if not use 400-600 lbs. 0-16-8 per acre or its equivalent. This should be done as soon as possible before fall rains set in and so the plants can make some growth before cold weather. Annual applications of fertilizer is necessary to maintain a good stand and get maximum grazing.

Some farmers have already begun picking cotton and in a few days the cotton harvesting season will be in full swing. Let us urge you this year to be particularly careful in harvesting your cotton in order to obtain the best quality possible. If cotton is to be harvested by hand, be sure that pickers do not go to the field too early and pick wet cotton. Wet cotton slows down ginning and produces a bad sample. As a result, the value of your cotton may be reduced $5 to $30 per bale. Pick only dry, well opened bolls, free of leaves, stems and grass. Do not mix trashy cotton with clean cotton and do not get on top of your cotton and pack it down. If using machinery to harvest cotton, defoliate plants and clean the picker drum daily to eliminate trash. Pick cotton as dry as possible and use only enough water to get good picker operation.

Alabama Ranks Seventh In Nation FFA Membership

Alabama ranks seventh in the nation in the number of Future Farmers within its borders according to the latest figures from the national FFA office in Washington, D. C.

T. L. Faulkner, state supervisor of vocational agriculture, said Alabama has 14,416 FFA members on its rolls. Texas is tops with 36,271 members. Other states ahead of Alabama are Georgia, Illinois, North Carolina, Oklahoma, and Tennessee.

The Future Farmers is a rural youth organization for high school boys enrolled in vocational agriculture at one of the 262 schools with the program in Alabama. Future Farmers can retain their membership until the third anniversary of their graduation from high school or until reaching the age of 21, whichever ever comes last.

State Provides Help To Hope Haven School

The State of Alabama will for the first time participate in financing the training of non-educable children through the precedent-setting bill, passed Friday by the Senate. The measure provides $15,000 for the operation of the R. C. Barnes Hope Haven School.

The bill is due chiefly to the work of Senator E. B. Halton, and Representatives Kenneth Bishop of Colbert County and Bob Broadfoot of Lauderdale County. The money will come from the general fund.

Hope Haven was established by the Muscle Shoals Association for Retarded Children, with the purpose of training retardates who have IQ's lower than those acceptable in the special classes of the public school system.

It takes one acre of healthy forest 20 years to grow the lumber needed for a five-room frame house.

Insects are able to maintain themselves in many ways and to use more resource than any of the other animals.

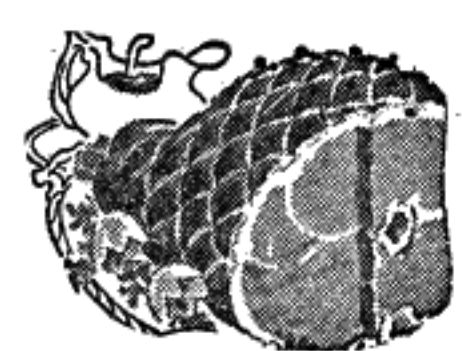

Pick Clean For Better Profits

September is the key marketing month for cotton growers who made plans in advance and followed them carefully.

A. W. Jones, Auburn Extension Service marketing specialist, says several factors are important if you want to make a clear profit. Picking cotton clean, picking it before damage sets in, picking it often and picking it dry has a lot to do with the profit the cotton grower makes from his year's work, he points out.

But remember, says Jones, what you get from each bale of cotton is not as important as what you have left after paying production costs.

Bride-Elect Honored

The W. L. Eastep home was attractively decorated with arrangements of multicolored summer blossoms in vase for the party on Thursday evening when Gail Eastep and Janie Baggett entertained with a lingerie shower for Miss Becky Comer, who was married to Owen Weaver Ezell on Saturday.

The honoree wore a red chiffon over taffeta which had a very bouffant skirt and a low cut neckline.

Doris Norton kept the guest register.

Lace over green covered the refreshment table with a handsome centerpiece of yellow gladioli with greenery. The table appointments were silver and crystal. Janie presided at the punch bowl, Gail served the cake.

The Tom Hurns Honored

On September 10th, 67 years ago Mr. and Mrs. Tom Hurn were married. Both being members of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church, and he an elder for some 55 years, this lovely couple was recognized in the services at the eleven o'clock hour at the Cumberland Presbyterian Church in Rogersville where they are members.

Rev. R. H. Myers was in charge of the service in which special recognition was given to them as they stood before the assemblage of friends and relatives. Among those present of their family were Mr. and Mrs. E. R. Roberts (Lucille Hurn), Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Snoddy and little daughter, Mr. and Mrs. John Cecil Hudson of Huntsville and Henry Hudson. Mrs. Hudson could not be present since she was a patient in Eliza Coffee Hospital.

Personals

Mrs. Henry Hudson is recuperating at her home on the Anderson

Road after undergoing surgery recently.

Also at home after several days in the Athens-Limestone Hospital is Ozell Thrasher.

Mrs. Ben Fuqua's mother, Mrs. J. W. Welch of Laurel, Miss., is a guest in the Fuqua home.

Mr. and Mrs. Aubrey Berryman (Jo Tipper) are the parents of a little boy whom they have named Mark Farrish. He was born on September 8. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Noble Tipper. The Berrymans live in Town Creek but are visiting in the Tipper home at present.

Dixie Lee Barnes returned on last Sunday with the Robert Clemmons family for a visit in Hartsville but due to the opening of school Mr. and Mrs. E. T. Barnes, her parents, drove down on Wednesday and brought her home.

Leaving last week and over the week end for college were, to Florence State: Linda Ezell, Jane Sharp, Anita Thrasher, Louis Fuqua and Jeannie Tanner; to Auburn, Lynn Greer, Steve Thornton, Robert Rex Roberson and Mary Lou Waddell; and to the University, Morris McKee and Hershell Rithmire.

Visiting in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Jim Rithmire last week was Miss Patricia Kates of Florence.

The Jim Rithmires were in St. Florian on Sunday for a visit with their oldest daughter, Mrs. Edward Jackson, and Mr. Jackson. Unaware that this was a planned surprise for the celebration of his birthday, Mr. Rithmire was having quite a day when at noon they were joined by other members of the family, namely, Mr. and Mrs. Dillard Rithmire of Florence, Mrs. Ivy Kates also of Florence, Mr. and Mrs. Arlen Rithmire of Athens, Misses Barbara Camp and Ann Marlow of Anderson and Edward Jackson, Jr., and Austen Martin of Atlanta.

Foods of the Future

Sound Turns Old Hens Into Young Chicks!

Ultrasonic energy treatments soon will be bringing you many better tasting foods at lower prices. "Silent sound" waves (so high pitched you can't hear them) not only tenderize meats, but also slow bacteria growth, helping to preserve meats.

After a brief sound wave treatment, the stewing chicken can pass for a broiler or fryer, while beef tenderized ultrasonically has none of the flabbiness often produced by chemical tenderizers. Silent sound also improves coffee, cheese, dried beans, and salad dressings.

New processing methods may mean more of many better foods for your table, to be enjoyed with tried-and-tested BEER and ALE. These wholesome beverages will go well with "Foods of the Future" just as they do with foods of today!

COME TO THE FAIR—The North Alabama State Fair is on! It lasts through Saturday night, September 23. From all appearances, it's the best one yet! Be sure to drop by our booth in the Science Building. We've arranged a most interesting display on National Defense. Also we have hooked up one of our newest services—the Farm Interphone. Ask our booth attendant for a demonstration.

ON THE SUBJECT OF EXTENSIONS, how about a Princess phone in the playroom for the teen-age-princess in your household? It'll put her in "teen-heaven," and it'll keep things quieter for grown-ups in other parts of the house! Just give us a call for your Princess in the color of your choice.

Now that colleges are gearing for an all-time record high enrollment this fall, here's a suggestion for you parents who have a son or daughter going off to school. You'll be doing them and yourself a favor if you'll keep in touch—at least once a week—by long distance.

WHAT'LL THEY THINK OF NEXT? In Switzerland, to tune a violin, you can dial a telephone number and get a perfect "A."

HUNTING SEASON IS ALMOST HERE—Mr. Hunter, please follow the rules of courtesy to land owners, and above all, do be careful! Loaded guns are lethal. Treat all yours as if they are loaded. And, please sir, watch out for our telephone wires. Several times last year some important calls couldn't be completed because someone had shot our lines. Thanks for remembering.

News of LEOMA

By Mrs. L. T. Roberts

Danny Richardson, the 10 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Fisher Richardson of Leoma, was seriously injured last Saturday afternoon near his home when an automobile struck the bike he was riding. He was rushed to the Lawrenceburg hospital where he is still reported to be in a very serious condition.

Covered Dish Supper

The Center Point community club were hosts to the Leoma club last Friday night, where a large crowd was present. A covered dish supper was served with hot coffee. Ralph P. Ring and Oliver Gowder of Lawrenceburg were special guests.

Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. Homer Newton were hosts last Sunday to a family reunion at their home, given in honor of all of the children while at home.

A delicious lunch was served at noon.

Burial At Leoma

Graveside services for James Harold Johnston, infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Johnston, were held last Tuesday afternoon with the Rev. Jesse Hunter officiating. Burial was in Leoma cemetery.

Personals

Special prayer services were held last Sunday night at the Leoma churches for the recovery of little Danny Richardson who is a pupil at Leoma school.

W. L. Embry has returned back to his home in Athens after a visit with his daughter, Mrs. Ben Luffman and children.

Mrs. Martha Flatt spent last week with Mr. and Mrs. J. C.
