Serving Agriculture, Commerce, Industry And Education In The Muscle Shoals District

FINGER ON THE SITUATION—President Eisenhower, who says that we'll "not retreat one inch from our duty," and that we'll exercise our right of peaceful passage to and from West Berlin, points to that beleaguered city as shown on a map in the White House office. The President has stated further that, should developments justify a summit meeting this summer, "the United States would be ready to participate in that further effort."

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

● A fellow publisher tells us of a letter that he has just received from a valued subscriber in which she heaped praise on his newspaper. But, he is puzzled by one line with which she concluded her letter: "I personally enjoy your paper as much as my husband."

● He mumbled a few words in church—he was married. He mumbled a few words in his sleep—he was divorced.

● The wife was one of those rare persons who made every bit count. In fact, some of the bits were leftovers which she refused to throw away. One night the menu consisted entirely of leftovers which she had daintily prepared with many clever attempts at camouflage. The moment friend husband sat down he began filling his plate. "My dear," she remonstrated, "aren't you going to ask a blessing first?" "My love," he replied, "if you will show me one single item of food here which hasn't been blessed before, I'll see what a little praying can do for it."

● We understand a certain pastor in this area has had calling cards printed with this question on the back: "What on earth are you doing for heaven's sake?"

● It was at church services the other Sunday morning. As the collection plate was being passed, an old timer was agitated as he saw his wife with her hand rummaging around in the coins. "Mary, what in the world are you doing?" he whispered with as much emphasis as possible. "What do you think I'm doing, silly?" she asked. "I'm looking for a button to sew on your coat."

● Mama and little junior were seated before the TV as one of those old-fashioned TV-jerking movies were being shown. It was Dad's night out, so they were all alone. Suddenly, the hero slapped the heroine in the face and in the stunned silence that followed, junior was the first to speak: "Mommy," he asked, "why doesn't she throw something at him like you do?"

● The government statisticians, in a recent report, show concern over the fact that American families live beyond their income. Another case of the skillet calling the kettle black.

● We understand there is some complaint by some wives that too soon after the honeymoon is over there is a neglect in the planting of a husbandly kiss on the bride's lips as once was the custom. Anyway, the other day when a certain husband was deep in thoughts of the past, he remarked: "By the way, I wonder whatever became of the old-fashioned girls who fainted when a man kissed them? The wife, a bit amused, retorted: "What I'd like to know is what happened to the old-fashioned men who made them faint."

● They were sitting around the pot-bellied stove in the general store away back in the far-reaches of the county busily engaged in philosophizing about the Bible stories. "That fellow Solomon," said one, "he must have been a go-getter. With all them wives he had, beats me how he was able to keep them in vittles." "That don't bother me none," remarked another. "I don't care how he fed 'em. But, I'd give a pretty to know what he et himself."

● We were talking with a friend of ours who some months ago reached that sought-after financial condition, that of being able to retire. He bid his fellow workers a fond goodbye as each looked upon him with envy. Yesterday we asked him how he was enjoying his earned vacation. "Well, he wailed, doing nothing is the most tiresome job I've ever had. The biggest trouble is that you never get to quit and rest."

Pickwick Bridge Key To Waterloo Highway Program

Plans Being Held Up By TVA's Design Staff As Sufficient Funds Awaited

The new bridge over Pickwick Dam estimated to cost $2,500,000 is being delayed because the design of the new structure is being held up by the TVA's design staff pending an advance of funds from the Bureau of Public Roads. It was made known today. The cost of designing this important structure is estimated at 10 per cent of the total cost, or $250,000.

The Pickwick Bridge is the key to opening up the Alabama-Tennessee Scenic Highway from Waterloo to the north end of Pickwick Landing Dam. This highway, the goal of the new association of Lauderdale and Hardin County, Tenn., citizens is being enthusiastically pushed with considerable interest being shown throughout this area. The estimated cost of the highway in Lauderdale County is $2,400,000 and is already under consideration by the State Highway Department.

The bridge is sought especially at this time as it would connect the site of the new mill of the Tennessee River Pulp and Paper Company at Counce, Tenn., with the north side of the river and thus open up the territory from which much of their pulp wood would come in Hardin and Lauderdale counties.

"TVA has no funds to pay for the design job and cannot start work until the money comes through," the TVA official said. "But we will be ready to start when the money gets here."

H. D. Long, chief engineer for the state highway department, said at Nashville yesterday that "the bureau of public roads has been short of funds and congressional action may be necessary to get funds for beginning the design job."

"Tennessee's Highway Dept., while it has no responsibility in the design work or making funds available, is very eager to see the design started so construction can get going," Long said. "We have asked the bureau of public roads to do everything possible to speed the project."

Tennessee's two senators have introduced a special bill permitting the bureau to advance funds to TVA pending a new appropriation for such projects by the present congress.

The bureau stated earlier that all but $700,000 of its existing $10 million appropriation for constructing bridges over dams has been exhausted. Its officials also have stated that the $700,000 is in a special fund and is unusable for design phases.

Urban Renewal Project Studied

City Commission Passes Resolution Giving OK To Housing Authority

The Florence City Commission Tuesday signed a resolution permitting a study to be made by the Florence Housing Authority of the area immediately north of ECM Hospital with the object of making it an urban renewal project.

The Housing Authority hopes to sell the property to the board of education for a new Negro high school to replace Burrell-Slater which was destroyed by fire Dec. 11. Karl T. Tyree, Jr., executive director of the Housing Authority told commissioners Tuesday.

Mr. Tyree said signing of the resolution did not obligate the city to purchase the property for a school. If the study shows that erecting a school at that location is not feasible, or if for other reasons another site is selected, there would be no cost to the city, he said.

Survey and plans for the project are estimated to cost $24,000.

Weather Is Victor In F-Day Contest

White And Purple Units Battle To Scoreless Tie After One-Half Of Play

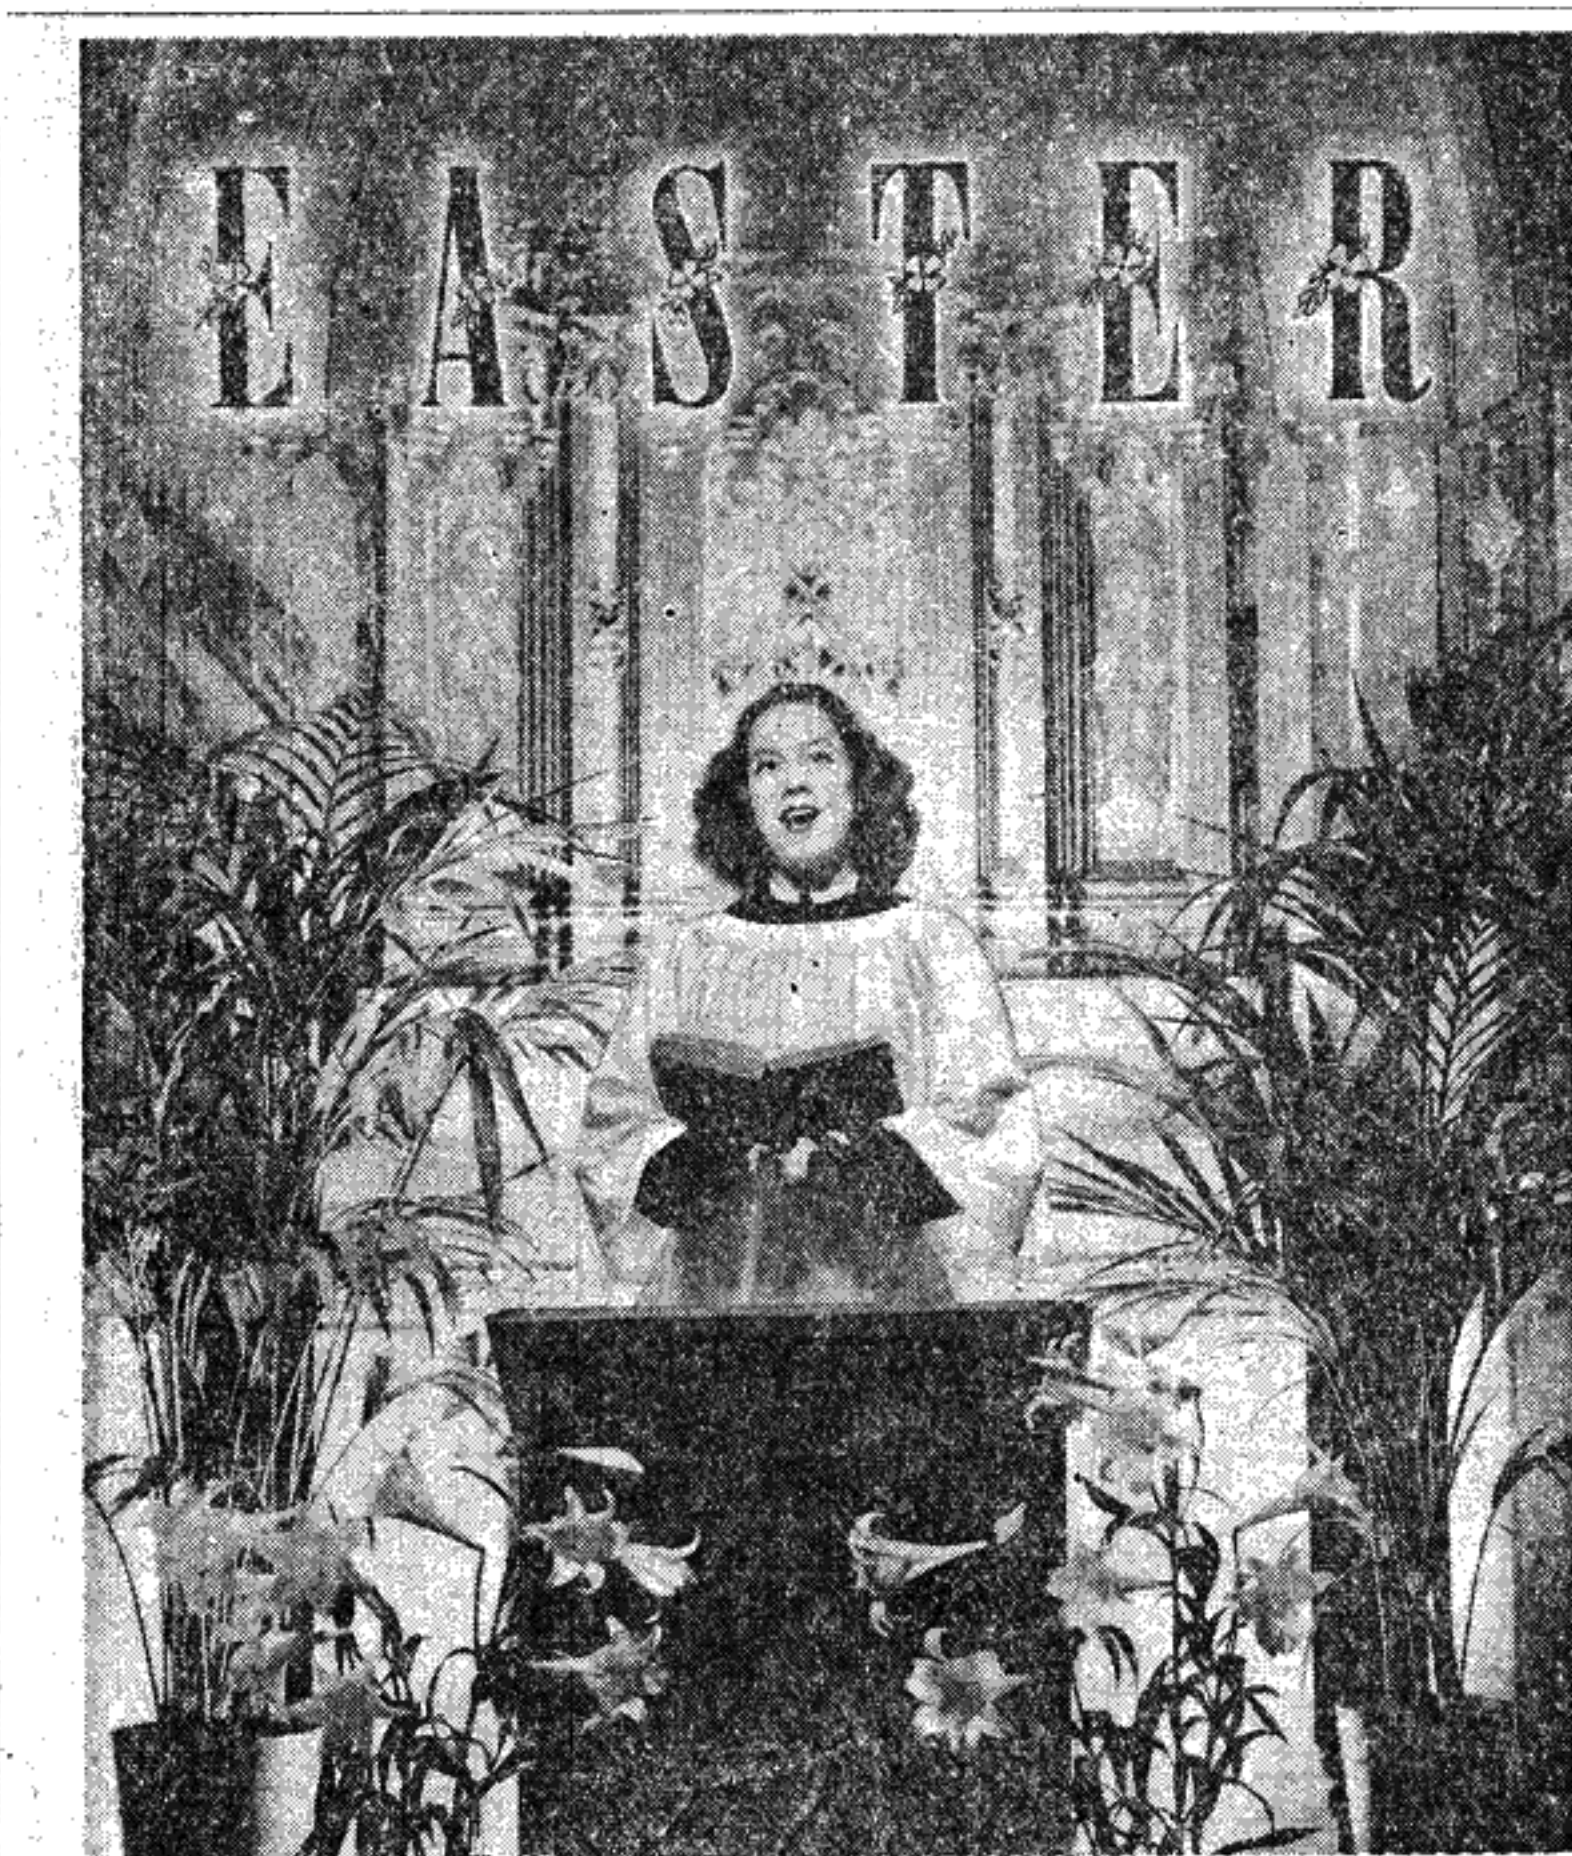

Rain proved to be the victor Saturday in the eighth annual F-Day football game between the White and Purple units of the Florence State College footballers.

What started out to be, according to head coach Hal Self as "one of the finest F-Day contests ever," ended at half-time with neither team able to push across a score.

Although, due to the adverse playing conditions, no team or player proved outstanding the prospects for a much better balanced team than a year ago does seem in the making.

Monday the team went back to the practice field to complete the final week of spring football practice. The squad will work out next in preparation for their opening contest with Tennessee Tech at Cookeville.

Eisenhower Scores Victory As Foreign Aid Partially Restored

Development Of Friendly Nations Held Important

House, despite charges of delay and payoffs in foreign aid, reversed its stand Tuesday and gave President Eisenhower half the extra funds he requested in foreign aid for his development program. A vote of 191-85 the House restored 100 million dollars to the 225 millions previously off the development loan by the House Appropriations Committee. It also voted to put back the $50,300,000 cut ordered by the Committee in funds for the new space-age-science education program for the rest of the fiscal year.

Fund Important

The development loan fund is held the most important of three U. S. programs for pumping economic aid into friendly foreign countries. The loan agency has committed all but $84,000 of its funds and wanted the extra money to carry it through the current fiscal year ending June 30. The amendment to provide the 100 millions for the development loan fund was offered by Rep. John Rooney (D-N.Y.) with the backing of leaders of both parties. GOP leader Charles Halleck warned that failure to support it would weaken the free world on the Berlin crisis. The funds were designed to keep the program going until Congress acts on the President's $3,930,000,000 foreign aid program to come up some time this summer. In this foreign aid program will be some $700,000,000 for the development loan program.

Leading the fight against restoration of the foreign aid funds was Rep. Otto Passman (D-La.) who had previously persuaded the House group to knock out the development loan fund. He said there was more "dishonesty and payoffs" in the aid program than in any program ever undertaken by the government.

Passman cited the admission by a former foreign aid official that he had accepted more than $12,000 in cash, stocks, and other gifts from contractors for public works projects in Laos.

The Appropriations Committee also granted the entire $25 million request for additional loans to college students but would not allow any more money for graduate fellowships, grants to schools for science equipment, loans for language centers and for student guidance and testing.

Bridge Spanning Wilson Dam Lock To Open Tuesday

Opening of the new scenic highway bridge spanning the new Wilson Dam Lock nearing completion, will take place on next Tuesday, March 31, it was announced this week. Last of the concrete on the structure was poured on last Thursday by TVA construction forces.

City and county officials of both Lauderdale and Colbert counties as well as the general public, have been invited to attend the opening. Ribbon cutting will be held on the north or lock-side of the Wilson Dam at 2 p. m. on the above date, it was announced.

The new bridge spans the largest single-lift lock in the entire world, lifting boats some 100 feet above lower lake level and is large enough to accommodate the largest cargo ships without their being divided as was formerly necessary with the old lock. The old lock will be operated for smaller boats.

Docks Director Plans Completion Inland Facilities

Florence And Huntsville To Be Ready For Use Within A Few Weeks

Plans are underway to get inland docks facilities at Florence and Huntsville in operation within a few weeks, according to State Docks Director Earl M. McGowan.

The docks director said $272,000 has been spent on the Florence docks and only about $8,000 more is needed to complete a concrete apron. This amount will get the docks at Florence operating although actually another $27,000 would be needed to finally complete the project so that they could operate under full efficiency during low water, according to Dan Davis who is a Florence member of the docks board. This amount would be mostly for dredging.

Mr. McGowan said the Huntsville facility is virtually complete, except there is a cloud on the title to the property and no utilities have been extended to the site. The facility there cost $517,000. He also said the situation at Decatur poses a greater problem because of a need for a considerable sum to complete the docks there. $1,776,000 has been spent on the Decatur facility and docks engineers estimate it will cost an additional $800,000 to complete it. He said this amount was not available.

The $27,000 to complete the Florence docks is not available and cannot be made so until the legislature reconvenes and releases the funds.

Mental Health For Children

Public interest in the wellbeing of our many retarded children is laudable and efforts to alleviate their suffering and improve their status should indeed have the complete support of the public.

However it might be well for us to consider some of the reasons we have retarded children and what preventive measures may be taken to lessen their number in the future. Let us deal therefore with the basic emotional needs of all children if they are to grow up mentally as well as physically healthy.

Love—Every child needs to feel that his parents love, want and enjoy him, and that he matters very much to them. Acceptance—Every child needs to believe that his parents like him for himself, just the way he is, and that they always accept him even though often they may not approve of the things he does.

Security—Every child needs to know that he belongs to a family and a group and that there is a place where he fits in.

Protection—Every child needs to feel that his parents will keep him safe from harm.

Independence—Every child needs to know that his parents want him to grow up and that they have confidence in him and his ability to do things for himself and by himself.

Faith—Every child needs to have a set of moral standards to live by.

Guidance—Every child needs to know that there are limits to what he is permitted to do and that his parents will hold him to these limits.

The above mental health needs for children are set forth by George S. Stevenson, M. D., medical consultant for the National Association for Mental Health. It is only a partial description of the needs published in a leaflet by the Association. However the ones quoted here are basic and all parents would do well to heed the advice given by Dr. Stevenson.

If we are to avoid crowding our hospitals with adults in need of mental treatment we should remember that many emotional disturbances start in childhood and at one time might have been corrected by the proper approach.

There should be no shame attached to sending a retarded child to a school specializing in their care and training. The parents' love for the child should certainly outweigh any false pride that they might have in this respect. Much progress has been made in recent years in the training and teaching of retarded children and those in need of this specialized training should have it without delay.

Parents can provide for a child's physical needs but they cannot always provide for his emotional needs. The guidance and training provided by people trained in dealing with mental problems can be of immeasurable help to both parents and children and may spell the difference between the child becoming a useful citizen or a burden on its parents throughout their lives.

Be Careful With Your Mower

A few more balmy days and the whirl of power mowers will begin to be heard around the neighborhood as well as the high-pitched whine of the outboard on the nearby river and creeks. Both are just as surely signs of spring as are the robins and milady's new Easter bonnet.

However it might be well to inject a word of caution about the power mower because it is something to be operated with caution and respect.

While no national figures are available on the power mower accident problem, the National Safety Council said a study in Georgia showed that:

1. One injury in seven results in some permanent disability.

2. Toes and feet are most often injured.

3. Seven out of 10 persons injured in mower mishaps come in direct contact with the mower. The other three are hurt by objects thrown by the mower.

But, according to the National Safety Council, power lawn mowers are no more dangerous than any other gadget used around the yard—if a few basic rules are observed. For example:

Unless you have good artificial light, mow only during daylight.

Don't use an electric mower when the grass is wet and slippery.

Never allow youngsters or pets near a power mower. Nor should youngsters be allowed to operate one.

When starting the engine, stand with your feet planted in a safe spot. Always be sure of your footing and balance—especially when mowing on an incline.

Don't refuel the mower while it's running or still hot from use. Always refuel out of doors. Don't forget, either, to store the gasoline in an approved container.

Make sure the area to be mowed is free of sticks, stones, wire or other obstacles.

Know how to stop the engine quickly.

"Power lawn mowers are a great time-saver—as any man of the house will tell you," the Council says. "But they brought with them new hazards users aren't fully equipped to guard against."

"Only if manufacturers and users cooperate can power lawn mower accidents be prevented."

Fund Campaign Of USO Is Launched

Hundreds From County In Armed Forces Need Aid Of This Agency

During the month of April, USO leaders across the nation will undertake a major educational campaign to arouse greater interest of the American people in the welfare needs of the more than 2½ million American service men and women now in the Armed Forces.

The continued world tension, the reorganization and redeployment of our military forces brought about in this age of missiles, rockets and technological developments have created new demands for USO service at home and abroad, calling for more volunteers and more dollars in the year ahead.

Congratulating USO on its 18th Anniversary, General Nathan F. Twining, Chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, recently stated: "For these 18 years the USO has performed a vital service for the men and women of our Armed Forces stationed throughout the world. The continuation of this service is perhaps even more important at the present time than during a period of actual war. During war time a visible incentive exists for the young soldier who is enduring hardships far from home. However, this incentive of actual conflict does not exist today and the constant waiting in a condition of readiness or alert creates a heavy strain on morale."

"The USO has been of tremendous help in maintaining good morale in our soldiers, sailors, marines and airmen. This in turn leads to the high state of combat readiness which is so necessary during this period of tension. We thank you for these many years of splendid assistance to us and sincerely hope that you will be with us for many more years to come."

The Fund Campaign in Lauderdale County is now under way in an effort to raise sufficient sums to aid the servicemen of this county and others in the great work done by the USO in the field. Already a considerable amount has been contributed by the few counties to meet the local goal considerably more must be forthcoming.

Everyone interested in providing a "bit of home away from home" are asked to mail contributions to Charles L. Peery, cashier, First National Bank Florence, and an official receipt will be mailed to you. Mr. Peery is fund treasurer and Harold May is fund chairman.

Young Addresses Freshman Classes

Value Of Commercial Banking To Everyday Business Life Stressed

Ralph E. Young, assistant Cashier of the First National Bank of Florence, recently addressed freshman classes in Introduction to Business at Florence State College emphasizing the importance of commercial banking to everyday business life.

The course is included in the Business Department of the school and is taught by Professors Roy Stevens and Orville F. Boes.

Mr. Young is a graduate of the School of Banking of the South at Louisiana State University. He has been associated with the Florence bank for twenty years and presently is head of its Regular Loan Department.

Choosing as his subject, "How Banking Serves the Entire Community," Mr. Young discussed the increasing importance of commercial banking in the economic life of the country with the increase in population, national production and overall growth in the economy.

Services performed today by modern banks were outlined by the speaker. He discussed not only the usually expected services of checking and savings accounts and loans, but also such specialized services as trust work, safekeeping, escrow and securities transactions.

Lutherans Set Easter Services

Holy Week will be observed at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church, North Poplar and Hermitage Drive, Florence, with services to-night, Maundy Thursday, and on Good Friday, March 27. Each of these services will begin at 7:30 p. m.

Maundy Thursday has been observed in the churches of Christendom since the 8th century.

Almost from the first days of the Christian Church, Good Friday was known as the Day of the Cross. At the Good Friday Service the pastor of Our Redeemer Lutheran Church will complete the special series of Lenten Services begun on Ash Wednesday.

Easter Sunday, the Festival of the Resurrection of Jesus Christ from the dead, services will be held at the regular hour of worship, 11 a. m. The pastor will preach on the subject: "Celebrate a Perpetual Easter." Sunday School and Bible Class for all ages begin at 9:45 a. m. The public is invited to attend all of these services at Our Redeemer Lutheran Church.

Planning Begins For '59 'Maid Of Cotton' Contest

Representatives Form Local Civic Clubs And Businesses Hold Meet

The 1959 "Maid of Cotton" contest in Lauderdale County got off to an early start last week as representatives from local civic clubs and business organizations met at the Reeder Hotel for a dinner program and made initial arrangements for this year's event.

Tentative plans were made for final judging to be during the week of June 8-12 with the public being invited, at a location to be named, for the finals of the contest at which time the local winner will be announced. A parade is also planned.

An agreement was reached by the represented group that each club or organization be invited to sponsor one or more girls as a contestant with a winner chosen to represent the county.

Great enthusiasm was shown within the meeting and it was generally felt that Lauderdale County could not only provide the state winner in the state finals held in Birmingham, but also the national winner.

The basic requirements for any contestant are that she must be born in a cotton producing state, a resident of Lauderdale County, be between the ages of 19 and 25, be at least five-foot five inches tall, be single and not plan to marry for at least one year if she is a winner in either the state or national contest, must be attractive and able to model and she must be able to tell the story of cotton. She will receive special schooling if she is placed as state winner. To fulfill this latter requirement she must have the potential to do so.

Committee chairmen were selected to co-ordinate this year's event as follows: Odom Richey, finance; Kenneth Morton, publicity; W. H. Watson, entertainment; and Miss Janice Gray, arrangements. These committee chairmen, along with L. T. Wagon, chairman of this year's event, and Walker Eubank of the Lauderdale County Farm Bureau, sponsor of the county "Maid of Cotton" contest, will act as the general committee.

Again this year, as last, applications will be received through the Chamber of Commerce with C. H. Jackson in charge.

Those present for the initial meeting were: Miss Janice Gray, Florence B. P. W. Club; Walker Brown, Farm Bureau; Mrs. Florence Hillingham, Farm Bureau; Howard Jones, Chamber of Commerce; Jerry Garner, Muscle Shoals Shrine Club; Fuzzy Peritt, Farm Service; Odom Richey, Florence Jaycees; C. H. Gooch, Wilson Dam Lions; A. J. Darby, Jr., Rotary; W. F. Hodge, Kiwanis Club; Kenneth Morton, Florence Herald; F. A. Lenfesty, North Florence Kiwanis; Mrs. Mary Price, Pilot Club; Bill Marlowe, Shoals Civic Club; H. C. Williams, Muscle Shoals Life Insurance Co.; W. H. Walker, Florence Civic Club; Tollie M. Sallors, North Florence Kiwanis; Bob Trousdale, North Florence Businessmen's Association; Bob Clingan, Lauderdale County Coop; L. T. Wagon and Miss Sara Frances Conner, Lauderdale County Extension Service.

William Johnson Suffers Loss Legs

Florence Businessman Victim Of Accident At Lakeside Residence

William Warren Johnson, 53, Florence business man and member of the Florence Housing Authority Board, suffered the amputation of both legs as the result of injuries received on Wednesday, March 18, when working at his lake home on Brush Creek Johnson's legs were amputated later by surgeons of ECM Hospital about midway between ankle and knee. First aid was rendered by his brother Harry Johnson, who applied improvised tourniquets after the accident occurred.

The two were said to have been working with a small garden type of tractor to which a power saw had been attached to chop down some trees. After starting the saw, William Johnson is said to have tripped on a piece of pipe causing him to fall into the blade. His brother used both their neckties to staunch the flow of blood while the injured man could be rushed to the hospital.

Harry had been living at William's home following the burning of his own lake home a few days earlier.

Johnson's condition is reported as fair by hospital attendants.

MISS MARIANNE SHARP

Heralding the engagement of their daughter, Mariapne, to James Elbert Robbins, son of Mrs. William J. Robbins and the late Dr. Robbins of Florence, is the announcement which has been made by Dr. and Mrs. M. K. Sharp of Lakeland, Florida.

The bride-elect is the granddaughter of Dr. and Mrs. C. K. Sharp of Arlington, Georgia, and of Mrs. O. Walter Tucker of Winter Haven, Florida. Presently a senior at Agnes Scott College in Decatur, Georgia, she was graduated from Miss Mitchell's School and from Lakeland High School, Lakeland.

Mr. Robbins is the maternal grandson of the late Mr. and Mrs. Robert Patton Williams of Waterloo and Florence and his paternal grandparents are the late Dr. and Mrs. Jesse Elbert Robbins of Birmingham. He was graduated from the University of Alabama in 1953 where he was affiliated with Delta Tau Delta social fraternity, and has since served a tour of duty in the United States Army with the rank of lieutenant. At Emory University where he is now a junior student in the School of Medicine, he is a member of Phi Chi medical fraternity.

A mid-summer wedding date will be announced.

Home Ceremony Marks McGregor-Coffield Vows

In a four o'clock ceremony on Sunday, March eighth, Doris Joan McGregor became the bride of David Leon Coffield, the Reverend Markie L. Butler, pastor of Central Baptist Church, officiating.

Parents of the couple are Mrs. V. V. Carter of Florence and Horace B. McGregor of Augusta, Georgia, and Mr. and Mrs. Veto Coffield, Florence.

An improvised altar in the livingroom of the Carter home was the nuptial setting. Against a background of ferns and English ivy, tall arrangements of white gladioli and pompons were flanked by candelabra of white wedding tapers.

Mr. McGregor gave his daughter in marriage. Her tea-length white lace over taffeta and net was designed with a close-fitting bodice which came to a point at the waistline and small scallops delineated the squared neckline, elbow-length sleeves and hemline. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a tiara of rhinestones and seed pearls and her white Bible was marked with white carnations.

Wearing a frock of white lace over mint green taffeta, Miss Rebecca Lindsey was the bride's only attendant. A hat fashioned of matching green flowers and a nosegay of white carnations completed her attire. Candelights were Miss Jeanette Coffield, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Evelyn Butler who were dressed in white with mint green cummerbunds and matching headresses. Their corsages were of white carnations.

Jerry Patrick was best man for the bridegroom.

Mr. and Mrs. Carter were reception hosts following the ceremony. The bride's table was veiled in white lace over green taffeta and presiding were Mrs. Charles Carter and Mrs. Lawrence McGregor, aunts of the bride, of Decatur.

Before leaving for their honeymoon, Mrs. Coffield changed to a melon-colored suit, small black straw hat and black patent accessories.

Returning, they are now at home at 1312 East Spring Street, Florence.

Prenuptials Continue For Betty Pickens

Another courtesy to bride-elect Betty Pickens was the dinner party of Thursday evening, March nineteenth.

A group of hostesses included Mrs. Effie Wood, Miss Martha Jean Hensley, Miss Marilyn Barr, Miss Madeline Hillman, Miss Mary Byrd and Miss Mary Tom Rickard. Guests were invited to Starkes Dining Room where white linen-covered tables were centered with bowls of Spring blossoms.

Hosted by members of the bride-elect's family, the surprise party at the H. L. Jones home, 421 Cleveland Avenue, was an enjoyed affair on Friday evening.

Mixed arrangements of Spring flowers with accents of fruit decorated the party rooms where more than fifteen guests gathered for an informal "family party."

Cloyd Beasley, Jr., is expected to arrive tomorrow from University of Wisconsin, Madison, to spend the holidays with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Beasley, Spanish Oaks Court.

Mrs. Morrison Paxton and Mrs. Duncan Moore will emplane tomorrow for New York from where they will sail for a tour of Europe.

Florence Program Has "Old South" Flavor

With a profusion of daffodils arrayed throughout the gardens of the Otto Speake home on Cypress Mill Road, no more appropriate setting could have been chosen for the program presented on Thursday afternoon by Mrs. Byron Bower.

Mrs. Speake welcomed her twenty guests at three o'clock, including with fourteen members the following: Mrs. Milo Long, Mrs. Carl Rossmasslet, Mrs. W. C. Scott, Mrs. George Hobbs, Mrs. Truman Aldrich and Mrs. E. L. Stickney, the latter of Sheffield.

Laura Hamner's "Somebody Might Come," reviewed by Mrs. Bower, is the true account of how Mr. and Mrs. Estis Hargis have recaptured the traditions of the Old South at "Daffodil Hill," their plantation home near Birmingham.

Mrs. Basil Horsfield and Mrs. J. W. Powell presided at the tea-table during the refreshment hour.

Thursday Study Club Hears W. W. II Story

The World War Two exploits of Eric Erickson, American - born Swede and secret agent of our allies' greatest espionage group, have been interestingly documented by Alexander Klein under the title, "The Counterfeit Trader," and was equally interestingly presented in review by Mrs. Merwin Koonce, program leader, of last week's meeting of Thursday Study Club.

With only one absence reported, Mrs. Ralph Smith was hostess to twenty-one members at her home on Malone Circle.

Miss Tera Hitchcock and Mrs. Donald White assisted the hostess during the tea hour.

Current Events Club

Amid a Springtime setting in Rogers Hall, Current Events Club members and additional guests were welcomed on Thursday afternoon, March nineteenth, by Mrs. C. Fulton Huff, hostess.

A new slate of officers was elected at Contemporary Study Club's March meeting as follows: Mrs. J. H. Fall, president; Mrs. J. D. Fleming, vice-president; Mrs. H. W. Miller, secretary.

Following the business period, Mrs. Fleming gave an interesting program on "The Life and Works of Emily Dickinson." Using for background material, the poet's autobiography and Millicent Todd Bingham's "Ancestor's Brocade" and "This Was A Poet," the oddly fascinating story of the talented recluse, who because of her father's dominance withdrew from the world, was retold. A group of the subject's poems were read in conclusion.

Mrs. Staats Burnet, hostess at her home, 627 Paxton, served delightful refreshments at teatime.

Mrs. Ross Hostess To Pierian Members

Mrs. Horace Willis, Mrs. Earl Bradley and Mrs. Wilbur Hodge were welcomed into Pierian Club membership at the March meeting which was hostessed by Mrs. Walter Ross at her home, 416 Beverly Avenue. Cohostesses were Mrs. Harry Nash and Mrs. J. A. Wilbanks.

Mrs. W. O. Whitten presided during a brief business period preceding the program.

With characteristic charm, Mrs. George Maness, a guest of the club, presented in review Charlie Mae Simon's "A Seed Shall Serve," a biographical study of Toyohiko Kagawa, the great Japanese Christian.

A bake sale followed the program, proceeds to be used for civic projects, and late afternoon refreshments were served to conclude the meeting.

After spending the winter months with Mr. and Mrs. Albert Erskine in Ormond Beach, Fla., Miss Janet Erskine arrived Sunday for a stay in the home of her niece, Mrs. Frank Irvine, Jackson Road.

SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze, I
Two years ago we were saddened by the loss of our daughter. She was a young woman, in her early thirties, and she left a wonderful husband (at least we thought so then) and two dear children. They have spent a great deal of time with me and I try to make up to them in every way possible for the void in their lives. Now, one of my neighbors tells me that she sees my son-in-law with another woman occasionally. And he doesn't deny it. He says the children need a mother and that he gets lonesome, too. It breaks my heart that he could forget in just two years' time. And my hands are tied as far as doing anything to stop him. What would you do if you were in my place? I don't want to lose my grandchildren, which I am afraid I will if he re-marries.
Frantic Grandmother

Dear Frantic,
The best thing for you to do is absolutely nothing. Just go right along with your life and try to adopt a happy frame of mind about the events that you believe to be ahead. Why not think of it as a compliment to your daughter's memory? secretary over Jane Tune of Winfield. An awful lot of work, several weeks of it, in fact, went into the "F-Day" game last Saturday. Unfortunately for the football team the vernal equinox chose to fall on game day and the first storm of spring was the winner. I'm not sure exactly what one does in a case like that—I suppose the game will be played over, from the beginning.

May Day plans are under way. Several years ago, the WSGA revived a long dead tradition at Florence State. Years ago May Day was an annual affair; now it's well on its way again to being an established tradition.

The first celebration of May Day after its re-introduction was rather damp. In fact, the rain forced the queen and her court indoors. I don't remember having heard of a rainy May Day since then, and last year's celebration was favored with beautiful weather.

The theme this year, according to Judy Tuck, assistant student chairman, is a Mexican fiesta. Mexican folk dances and fiesta games and even, I understand, a mock bull fight are being planned.

Florence State now has two sets of Student Government officers. In addition to the active officers, new officers for next year were elected last week. Jerry White, Brilliant, was elected over Robert Scogin, Sheffield, and Jimmy (Bug) Taylor of Tusculumbia.

Herschel Moore, Scottsboro, won over Charles Weathers, Loretto, Tenn.; the new treasurer, Dan Boone, Florence, defeated Sam Kaplan, Florence, Mary Helen Manning, Cullman, was elected

'59 Auto Tag Sales To Set New Record

Mrs. Helen Murphy, Lauderdale County tax assessor, reports the sale of 19,135 automobile tags from October 1, 1958 to November 15, 1958, the allotted period for purchase without penalty. This compares with 18,040 for the same period in 1957.

In addition, from November 15 to March 15, 1959, there were 2,800 tags sold and it is estimated that during the remainder of the tag-buying period there will be an additional 2,000 tags purchased. The total tag purchases for the 1957 period was 23,355 while to March 15 of this year a total of 21,935 has been recorded. This indicates, Mrs. Murphy pointed out, that the total sales for 1959 should reach approximately 24,000 tags.

College Students Secure Financial Assistance

Dr. E. B. Norton Announces Loan Program For Worthy Scholars

Worthy students of academic ability who need financial assistance for college work may now secure liberal loans at low interest rates, according to Dr. E. B. Norton, president of Florence State College. This college is participating in the Student Loan Program of the National Defense Education Act. Otis L. Peacock, director of Extension, is Institutional Representative and Administrator of the loan program.

"Lack of financial resources keeps many of the nation's top students from going to or completing college," explained Mr. Peacock. "In order to help these students Congress authorized, under NDEA of 1958, nearly $300 million to provide assistance to institutions of higher education in the establishment of low-interest, long-term student loan funds over the next four years. Additional funds will be authorized for the four years after 1962 to enable students receiving loans prior to July 1, 1962 to complete their education."

Special consideration will be given students with superior academic backgrounds who plan to teach in public elementary or secondary schools, and to students with special aptitudes in science, mathematics, engineering or modern foreign languages.

To qualify for a loan, a student must meet these special requirements set forth in the Education Act:

He must be enrolled, or have been accepted for enrollment, as a full-time student in an institution of higher education.

He must, in the opinion of that institution, be capable of maintaining a good standing in his course of study.

He must be in need of the amount of the loan to pursue his course of study at the institution. The loan will bear interest at 3 per cent a year on the unpaid balance, beginning with the date on which repayment is to begin.

Repayment begins one year after the student is graduated or discontinues full-time study.

Ten years will be allowed for repayment. "Of course, the loan may be paid up in less time if the borrower wishes," said Mr. Peacock, continuing, "No payments are required during a period, not to exceed three years, in which the borrower is a member of the Armed Forces of the United States. Upon death or total disability, liability for repayment of the loan will be cancelled."

Before any money from the fund may be made available to any student borrower, he must:

1) sign an affidavit that he does not believe in, and is not a member of any organization that believes in or teaches the overthrow of the United States Government by force or violence, and

2) subscribe in writing to an oath or affirmation of his allegiance to the United States of America, and of his readiness to defend its Constitution and laws against all enemies.

Easter Sunrise Services

As the Easter season approaches the Bethel Church is making preparations once more for the annual Easter Sunrise service. The event has been taking place for several years now, and enjoyed by all who attended and we feel sure that others who have not attended this service would enjoy it too. Everyone who might be interested is very cordially invited to come out and worship with us on Easter morning at 6:00 a. m. The program will not be presented jointly between the Bethel and Union Hill churches, as has been the custom in the past, but we are expecting a good number of the Union Hill people in our midst on Sunday morning at sunrise any way and any others who would like to attend.

Funeral services were conducted in the Bethel Church on last Thursday for Mrs. Jessie Camp, who died in the hospital. Burial followed in the Mitchell cemetery. She died in the Athens Hospital, after a long illness. We extend our community's sympathies to her husband, and the surviving families.

Early Towns At Muscle Shoals

By OSCAR D. LEWIS

The story of some of the towns that existed on the Tennessee River in the early 1880s presents a dramatic picture of the pioneering spirit of the people of that day, people whose dauntless courage brought victory over hardships and adversity.

One such prosperous little city was Bainbridge, which boasted factories and brick buildings before Florence was much more than a stopping place for the south-bound stage from Nashville. Like fabled Atlantis the site of Bainbridge lies beneath the waters of Lake Wilson, its place marked only by the graves of some of the hardy souls who were active in that early community's social and commercial life. In the lonely graveyard is a rather pretentious stone inscribed: "Sacred to the memory of Nancy Johnson, who departed this life April 10, 1834, age 35 years." She was the mother-in-law of Major Lewis Dillahunty, who was sent by President Monroe to "prepare the minds" of the Indians South of the river for the cession of their lands, and who, with his young wife Lucinda, Johnson, were the first residents of Courtland.

At the time of Bainbridge's heyday Florence's commercial activity was mostly confined to the river bank where large warehouses were located, the river being the great artery of trade and the only means whereby any sizeable shipments of goods could be sent or received.

Bainbridge was located on the South side of the river opposite the mouth of Shoals Creek being connected by ferry with the north bank, although at one time there was an unsuccessful attempt at building a bridge across the river at that point.

Bainbridge had quite a rival in the town of Marion. Lots and factory sites were advertised and argued in eloquent terms. One such advertisement appearing in the papers of January 16, 1819, makes interesting reading. "The ground, upon which the town of Bainbridge is laid out is an inclined plain so that the streets when filled will resemble the seats of a theatre. Water . . . no town in the Western country can boast of a better supply of this article, along the eastern margin there are no less than 20 springs, nor does it abound less in water for machinery. Hawkins creek, a never-failing stream runs through a corner of this town, abounding with falls both above and below, where every description of water machinery can be erected to great advantage."

Yes, even in 1819 they were talking about water power at Muscle Shoals. But let us read on. "The river here is not more than half its common width consequently the water is deep and eddy, and the common time consumed in crossing at the ferry is not more than 8 or 9 minutes. This circumstance taken in connection with the practicability of running the public high way through Bainbridge assures the success of the town . . . here nature seems to have intended at town, here boats can lie in perfect safety at all seasons of the year."

"Situating at the head of navigation . . . and can we hesitate for a moment with such evidence before our eyes to determine which of the towns on the Tennessee River is to prevail? Certainly not."

"Persons disposed to purchase sites for grist mills, saw mills, cotton machines or any kind of water machines, are requested to attend the sale." Thus concludes an ad for the sale of property sites in the town of Bainbridge.

What doomed Bainbridge and Marion is another story but the reason summed up in a few words was the building of the bridge in 1840 that linked North Port with South Port, two names that gradually became Florence and South Florence. Moreover Florence was just about at the head of navigable waters, the passage up river to

Emmett Harrison To Attend Meet

Emmett Harrison, Killen Rt. 2, will be a delegate to the Alabama convention of Woodmen of the World Life Insurance Society, Friday and Saturday in the Whitley Hotel, Montgomery. It was announced today by Harrison, who is also secretary of the Killen camp.

More than 200 delegates and officers representing some 30,000 Alabama members will attend. Head Camp officers and delegates to the national convention in Minneapolis July 20-23, will be elected Friday afternoon.

Governor Patterson will be the speaker following the initiation of Governor's Class of new members, Friday night. Company 1800, Bainbridge, though a comparatively short distance, was through a part of the treacherous Muscle Shoals which had thus far baffled the best of the government's engineers.

And so Bainbridge and Marion became ghost towns, deserted by their founders who left to seek their fortunes in more promising locations.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL — ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Day	Book	Chapter	Verses
Sunday	John	11	1-9
Monday	Mark	2	1-12
Tuesday	Mark	3	1-5
Wednesday	Mark	5	25-34
Thursday	Mark	5	35-42
Friday	Mark	7	31-37
Saturday	Mark	10	46-52

How often, when Dad would finish reading the Bible, he would hold the Book gently in his hands and look out the window. . . .
I used to wonder what he saw—what vision against the setting sun!
And once I blurted the tremendous question: "Daddy, can you see God?"
He kept on gazing off into space, but a smile crossed his lips.
"No, son, a man doesn't see God! He feels God. And then he looks out his window and sees the world in a different light."
I grew up to discover what he meant. His Bible—his Church—his convictions have become mine. And when I look at the world . . . it's through Dad's window.
One day my son will grow up . . .

Corner on Cotton

Russia, the world's second largest cotton producer, has announced plans to increase production 35 percent within seven years... we recently talked to experts who believe that the Soviet has everything needed to accomplish this aim... best available figures indicate Russians produced about 6.9 million bales of cotton last year... if they do up their growth 2.5 million bales, the U. S. farmer could be affected in several ways... first, the increased production might be sold in free world markets... and as supply increases, prices decrease unless demand picks up... if the Soviet sells the cotton at a very low price (and this can well be the case) just to disrupt the market, no one can say for certain what the effects would be... of course, Russia could use the cotton at home, where it is certainly needed... for instance, the USSR, with a greater population, uses only half as much cloth as the U. S.

Red Exports
 The possibility of using the increased production at home doesn't seem likely, however, since Russia is currently exporting about 1.5 million bales to eastern Europe and the free world... too, there is evidence in the Far East that Russia's pal, Red China, has been dumping textiles with Japan and India getting hurt.

Yield Or Acres?
 Apparently cotton yields in Russia are about one bale per acre... the experts we talked with feel that the increase in production will come, if it comes at all, through the use of more land... right now the Soviet plans are to reclaim about 750,000 acres of wasteland, build a canal and irrigate at least 400,000 acres.

Also Problems
 Like you, the American farmer, the Russian producer also has problems... the Reds apparently haven't come up with a good insect control program and plant disease is a sizeable headache too... of course he doesn't really worry about price... his government decides what happens to his cotton after it's harvested... price is no object... but he does have some quality problems... there are ginning difficulties and there seems to be considerable outside storage before ginning that lowers quality... and on top of the cotton problems, he has to worry about meeting production quotas.

Sales Tax Favored By Farm Bureau

One-Cent Increase For Schools One Measure Commission Endorsed

Moving to carry out the mandate of the membership to "continue our strong support of adequate appropriations for public education," the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation will work for passage of an additional one-cent sales tax for schools during the coming session of the legislature.

Such a tax was one of the measures recommended by the Education Study Commission and would bring in an estimated $24,500,000 annually. The Federation's board of directors set up a committee to study additional educational needs, "if any," with authority to take such action deemed necessary.

A proposal to raise the property tax limit and thus place an additional tax burden on farm land was defeated during the recent special session of the legislature, but is expected to be re-introduced at the regular session in May. Farm Bureau has traditionally opposed increasing the ad valorem levy, as well as removal of present sales tax exemptions.

Action of the state Farm Bureau Executive committee in advocating an additional sales tax was unanimous, after Pres. Walter L. Randolph urged that a stand in favor of "adequate" school support be taken as strong as the members' opposition to higher property taxes.

bruises too, and have them replaced or repaired if necessary. Steam-cleaning the entire tractor may prevent a serious fire, warns Gaillard. Clean out the tool box, get rid of the collection of grease rags, and pick up objects that you might trip over.

Is the sediment bulb in your tractor of the metal or pyrex type? A small investment in a fire prevention sediment bulb is a wise investment. Check to see if there is an approved fire extinguisher on your tractor. And be sure you can reach it when either sitting on the tractor or standing on the ground.

"Getting all of your farm machinery in good repair not only makes it more effective but also insures safe operating machinery," says Gaillard.

"When you work for safety," he concludes, "safety works for you."

Agricultural Reminders

HERMAN H. MARKS,
 Asst. County Agent

Insects are becoming increasingly active and it is extremely important to make early preparations for their control.

Household insects like cockroaches, ants, and clothes moths are probably the most important insects that will make their appearance this early in the year. Now is a good time to apply an insecticidal barrier around the foundations of houses to prevent the roaches and ants from entering. Ten per cent chlordane is a suitable material for this use.

Rugs, carpets and other woolen articles should be checked for damage by clothes moths and carpet beetles. The areas around baseboards and under seldom moved furniture are especially vulnerable to attacks by these pests. Household sprays containing five per cent DDT are effective control materials.

Dairy and beef cattle should be checked again for lice. A thorough spraying at this time should rid the animals of this pest for several weeks. Beef and non-lactating dairy animals may be sprayed, dipped, or dusted with lindane, toxaphene, rotenone, or methoxychlor. Sprays may be made by mixing one pound of 25 per cent wettable lindane, 25 pounds of five per cent rotenone in 100 gallons of water. One half of the above concentration should be used in dipping vats. Toxaphene should not be applied as a spray or dip for small calves.

Producing dairy cattle cannot be treated with any of the above sprays except rotenone. Rotenone as a one per cent dust must also be used on dairy animals.

Hog lice can be controlled with one pound of 50 per cent wettable DDT or methoxychlor or two pounds of 25 per cent wettable malathion in 12 1/2 gallons of water. Cutworms on early planted vegetables may be controlled by dusting 20 per cent toxaphene on the plants and on the ground around the plants.

Cannot Guess On Fertilizers

Cloverdale Farmer Proves Soil Testing Pays Good Dividends

A. J. Cagle of Cloverdale Rt. 1 has found it doesn't pay to guess about fertilization.

The Lauderdale County farmer had always guessed at the kinds and amounts of fertilizer to use on his land. And as a result, he got very unsatisfactory yields. But, after talking with Assistant County Agent Herman H. Marks last spring, Cagle decided to have a soil test made of his corn land.

Although he couldn't see the value of the project at first, the Cloverdale community farmer took the samples according to the agent's instructions and sent them to the API Soil Testing Laboratory at Auburn. Marks explained that the analysis determines how much fertilizer is needed for top yields. And in Cagle's case, the test results showed a need for more pounds per acre of a different kind of fertilizer than he had used in the past.

After following the recommendations Cagle was so pleased with the results that he plans to test his cotton land this year. "Soil testing really pays," he said. "I didn't believe it was as valuable as it is until I tried it, but I'm going to try for two bales of cotton per acre this year."

WESTERN PACIFIC—Robert Littleton, fireman, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Littleton of 312 Hudson, Florence, is serving aboard the radar picket destroyer USS Higbee operating with the U. S. Seventh Fleet in the Western Pacific.

The ship is expected to complete its tour in the Far East by the end of July.

Gold was so plentiful in Colombia in the early days that fishermen used it for making fishhooks.

Check Machinery Before Planting

It's just about time to start using your tractor for spring planting.

All winter long the farm tractor has labored under unfavorable operating conditions—cold starting and lack of regular maintenance. "Nobody likes to do a grease job or flush out the air cleaners with the temperature near freezing," agrees J. T. Gaillard, API Extension farm mechanization specialist, "but when spring work begins you won't have time to do the clean-up and tune-up work that is necessary."

So you need to take or make time now to safety-check your tractor. Be sure it starts easily. You may need a new battery, a new set of points, or spark plugs. Check the tires for cuts and bad
