● A green trading stamp was attached to letters mailed to members of the First Baptist Church, of Alice, Tex., by T. G. Peters, superintendent of the Sunday school. "Come to Sunday school," he told the congregation, "and you will get two more green stamps for each one you received by mail." Attendance was up substantially the next Sunday, we learn.

● The other night, when it was so cold, a certain youngster was lying in bed, his teeth chattering and his feet sticking out from under the covers. When he complained to his mother that he was just about to freeze, he was advised to put his feet under the blanket. "Nothing doing," he cried. "I'm not putting those cold things in bed with me."

● It is conceded that crime doesn't pay—but tell us what does, please.

● After a man had been admitted to the hospital for an operation there came a knock on the door. "Come in," the man said and the door opened. A woman entered. "I'm your doctor," she informed him. "Please take off your clothes." The man hesitated but finally did so. She examined him from head to foot and then said: "Now do you have any questions?" "Yes," he said, "one." "Why did you knock?"

● Speaking of doctors, we are told that recently a man was released from a hospital after a thorough examination. When asked about the findings, he said that the doctor told him that there was only one thing wrong. "A careful study of the X-rays," he said, "showed that on the right side of the hip I was suffering from a terrible shortage of money."

● Just about the time you feel that you are on top of the world—that you have your finances in good shape and everything has a rosy tint . . . that old pain in the back will show up. Then, nothing looks good.

● A recent survey shows that in Lauderdale County there is a higher percentage of Negroes registered to vote (per capita) than there are whites. With 17,000 registered voters in the county exactly 20 per cent of the total, or 3400, are Negroes. These figures are interesting in light of the fact that only 13.4 per cent of the voting population is non-white. No figures are available as to the percentage of whites and non-whites who avail themselves of the privilege of the ballot. From recent elections, it is safe to say that the percentage of actual voters (those who cast their ballots) is deplorably small for both whites and Negroes.

● A friend tells us that for more than 50 years he had been drinking a slug of bourbon before each meal, including breakfast. Several months ago, as he observed his 84th birthday, he came to the conclusion that this steady drinking was slowly killing him. So, he quit—just like that. Now he tells us that he had found that it was not the bourbon that was causing the trouble—but old age that was undermining his robustness. "But," he concluded, "I've decided not to tempt fate by returning to my daily drinks."

● The only commercial worth seeing on TV is the one you miss when you take a break and go to the bathroom—so your viewing companion tells you.

● Have you ever had a wakeful night during which you worried yourself sick over a chance remark you had made that you fear might have offended a dear friend? And then, the following morning have run into that friend early and found that he didn't even hear the remark in which the offense meant? What a grand and glorious feeling! (Ask one who knows.)

● We have made it a practice that whenever anyone gets started on a joke that we have heard previously never to stop the teller by mentioning that we have already heard it. But the forced laugh we give after the telling sounds awfully phony to us—but, we hope, not so to the one who relates the story.

● In a small community, a new minister was invited to attend a meeting of a luncheon club. After the meeting was over, he evidenced his interest in becoming a member. The president was puzzled and told the minister they certainly would like to have him as a member but they already had a minister in the group. Finally, he brightened up and said: "We have every category filled but that of hog caller—would you mind coming in under that classification?" "Well," said the minister, "when I came here I expected to be a shepherd to the flock, but you have been here longer and know the people of the community better than I do. Yes, that might be a more appropriate classification. I accept."

NOT QUITE YET—The missile is real, and so is the moon, but this "preview" of space flight is the product of a test-firing of a LaCrosse surface-to-surface missile photographed as it appeared in that section of the sky occupied by a pale moon above the horizon during daylight. The camera's telephoto lens had a 96-inch focal length.

Patterson Seeks Change In Federal Integration Constitutional Amendment Would Restore State And Local Authority

"The only thing that will save our schools is for the Federal government to alter its present position on integration," Gov. John Patterson said in a statement filed this week with the U. S. Senate Subcommittee on Constitutional Amendments.

The governor's statement strongly endorsed a proposed constitutional amendment to restore complete administrative authority over public education to state and local officials. The amendment was introduced by Sen. Herman Talmadge of Georgia and is co-sponsored by several senators, including Sen. John Sparkman and Sen. Lister Hill of Alabama.

Gov. Patterson was invited to testify in person before the subcommittee. He was scheduled to appear last week, but he was forced to cancel his Washington trip because of the pressure of matters in the State Legislature.

"In supporting Sen. Talmadge's proposed amendment, I do not concede that the Federal government now has the authority to interfere with the public school system of any state," Gov. Patterson said.

He stated that the Federal government has, in fact, usurped the powers of the states in the field of education.

"We in Alabama do not intend to integrate our schools come what may," Gov. Patterson told the subcommittee. "If the Federal government forces us to integrate, we will switch to private schools and see the destruction of our public school system."

The Governor deplored the possible closing of public schools, pointing out that the Negro would be hurt worst of all.

"Our only salvation, as I see it, is for the Federal government to adopt a change of heart, and leave the administration of schools solely in the hands of our local officials," the Governor said. "The Federal government has no business dictating how our public schools should be run."

Sen. Talmadge's proposed amendment, he said, "would correct the error the Federal government has made and insure that the state maintains complete control of its schools."

Assessments On Property Hiked In Lauderdale

With evaluation of property assessments based on 30 per cent of the actual value some 1,616 pieces of property in Lauderdale County are affected by the increase, it was announced Tuesday through information released by the Lauderdale County Board of Equalization, which has just completed its 60-day session. Protest hearings will begin June 1, it was announced. Assessments had previously been based on 20 per cent.

A member of the board urged property owners to file protests if they so desire. The protests, it was explained, must be filed on the grounds that the evaluation is over 30 per cent of the actual property value at the time it was assessed. Instructions as to filing such protests are contained in notices mailed to the affected property owners.

Lauderdale's tax rates is based on a city rate of $1.50 of each $100 of assessed value, and $2.10 of state and county taxes on each $100 of assessed valuation.

The raise in the county's taxes was not held to be excessive.

Late News

● The Senate passed a bill Tuesday that would boost 1958 income taxes on life insurance companies by $200,000,000 and impose a total levy of $535,000,000 on their 1959 operations. The measure, passed by voice vote, was a revised version of House-passed bill. Both would tax the underwriting income—or policy premiums—of life insurance companies for the first time, as well as their investment income and capital gains.

● President Eisenhower's hotly-disputed nomination of Lewis L. Strauss to be secretary of commerce squeaked through the Senate Commerce Committee Tuesday by a bare one-vote margin. The vote was 9-8. Three Democrats joined the six committee Republicans in support of the appointment. All the hostile votes were cast by Democrats.

● The nation's storm center jumped Tuesday from the Middle West to Florida, where twin tornadoes roamed over the big Pensacola naval air station and a nearby community. The first tornado churned inland as a water spout, but jumped off the ground just as it got to the huge navy air center. Another twister came spinning off the Gulf of Mexico into the town of Beach Haven, three miles west. At least 10 persons were injured as a result of the two. The Florida twisters were sequels to a million-dollar St. Joseph, Mo., flash flood, tornadoes and hurricane—force winds which hit the Midwest Monday night and early Tuesday.

● The Eisenhower administration gave up its fight for its $1,650,000,000 housing bill Tuesday in favor of a $1,300,000,000 compromise advanced by House Republicans and Southern Democrats. A showdown vote was expected today. Sponsor of the compromise was Rep. A. S. Herlong, Jr., (D-Fla.).

● President Eisenhower has conferred the Medal of Freedom on John Foster Dulles. It is the nation's highest award to civilians. The former secretary of state, critically ill with cancer and pneumonia complications, received the medal Tuesday at Walter Reed Medical Center.

Applications for a $250 scholarship to Florence State are being accepted by the Pilot Club.

'Maid Of Cotton' Program Builds

Florence Merchants Meet To Discuss All-Out Cotton Promotion Week

The "Maid of Cotton" program in Lauderdale County took another step forward Monday as representatives from the Downtown Merchants Association and Seven Points Shopping Center met with L. T. Waggon, county agent, and Bob Love of the National Cotton Council at the Florence Chamber of Commerce Building to discuss the possibility of an all out cotton promotion week.

Mr. Love spoke to the group on the material available from the National Cotton Council for an all out promotion and offered many fine ideas. The cotton council will furnish free materials for the program.

The campaign will be presented to the membership of the Downtown Merchants Association at a luncheon today and a discussion will be made as to whether or not there is enough time left to carry out successful promotion.

This promotion, if agreed upon, will be tied in the "Maid of Cotton" contest during the week of June 8 through 13. The finals for the Maid of Cotton will be held at Coffee Auditorium Friday, June 12 in the evening. The public will be invited to attend.

Contestants for this years event are being sponsored by civic clubs and businesses who have a June 1 deadline to get an entry. Some 20 to 25 girls are expected to be entered in the event.

Others attending the Monday meeting in addition to the above were the chamber manager, Hewlett Jackson, Ray Jones of Moulton, a field representative for the National Cotton Council, Kenneth Morton, local publicity chairman for the "Maid of Cotton" promotion and press and TV representatives.

Grisham was Manager of Personnel and Security of the Sheffield Missile Plant of Reynolds Metals Company prior to his appointment.

BIGGER THAN FOOTBALL FIELD—More than three times as long as a football field is this potroom at the Reynolds Metals Company Listerhill Reduction Plant. There are nine such potrooms in the new plant here and five smaller ones in the older but since modernized plant. Each of the 56 pots in this room can produce 1225 pounds of aluminum per day. The man in the foreground is "punching the pot" with a pneumatic ram to break the top crust and permit the alumina on top to sift down to the cryolite bath below. The public will see this room at "Open House" on Friday.

Interest Mounts In Muscle Shoals Reading Program

Board Of Directors Meeting Planned For Monday Evening

Interest in the Reading Program which will teach adults to read and write continues to mount.

More than 200 persons have now indicated they are willing to enroll in or help with the classes, according to Alfred McCroskey, Jr., executive secretary of the Muscle Shoals Literacy Movement.

The special reading classes—based on the Laubach method—will begin June 1 at the Cherry Hill Homes and Government Hill section in Sheffield. The classes are in the process of being organized now.

At the moment, more teachers and other workers are needed. And, of course, many students must yet be found and convinced that the program will enable them to read and write.

Persons interested in organizing reading classes and those who wish to enroll as students may obtain detailed information by writing to the Muscle Shoals Literacy Movement, 461 N. Pine St., Florence, Ala. Permanent offices have now been established at the above address.

Sam Israel, president of the movement, was in Birmingham yesterday to discuss the possibility of educational TV. He was scheduled to be in Montgomery today to meet with Sen. E. B. Holtom, Jr., and the State Superintendent of Education for the appropriation of funds for this coming fall.

An Executive Committee meeting is planned for Friday to outline a program for the Board of Directors meeting to be held Monday evening. Monday's meeting will be at the Municipal Building at 7:30 p.m. The Board of Directors is composed of representatives from local civic clubs and the executive committee of the Muscle Shoals Literacy Movement.

This Must Be A 'Total Effort'

No matter what the merits of a program may be there are always hurdles to clear and the sponsors of the very worthwhile Muscle Shoals literacy movement have hit a snag—temporarily we hope—in the refusal of the Bureau of Welfare and Pensions in Florence to make available its files. The files, the Bureau maintains, are "confidential."

As far as publishing the names of those in need of relief is concerned this is perhaps justified, but when a real service can be performed by making available a list of the illiterates on relief . . . and it goes without saying the percentage is very high . . . then certainly the word "confidential" needs a more flexible interpretation.

For the information of all concerned the reducing of illiteracy is the one thing that will tend to reduce the number of those on relief. Illiteracy itself is the direct cause of much of the nation's poverty and certainly any move to teach these unfortunate people to read and write is far-reaching indeed.

Certainly nothing is to be gained by withholding names of those so vitally in need of enlightenment. The Bureau of Welfare and Pensions above all other agencies should realize the tragic consequences of illiteracy.

In view of the fact that such a list is being released for the use of the Literacy Movement by the Bureau of Welfare and Pensions in Colbert County, we feel sure this will be done by the agency in Florence which is to be commended on the efficiency of its personnel and the many services it renders to the community.

What About Cotton?

Is there any future for cotton?

That question has been asked before in the long history of this fiber's service to mankind. It's being asked again.

There are an estimated 2.8 billion people in the world consuming an average of 6.7 pounds of cotton per person annually. They use more cotton than all other fibers put together.

World population is increasing and living standards are rising. This points to vastly greater markets for fiber and a staggering potential for expanding cotton consumption.

Synthetic fiber, fiber substitutes, and foreign grown cotton are competing with the U. S. cotton industry for these markets. Price, quality, and promotion are the competitive challenges at home and abroad. The U. S. industry, spearheaded by the National Cotton Council, is responding aggressively to these challenges. This is encouraging to all who depend on cotton for a livelihood.

Significant yield increases, lower manpower requirements, and improved fiber and textiles—results of research—are making cotton more competitive price-wise and quality-wise. Scientists say they are just beginning to unlock doors to tremendous new improvements. Promotion that has advanced cotton to the fashion peak in this country is being copied in more and more foreign cotton consuming countries.

Cotton is dependable and versatile. It is competing aggressively. Its market potential is exciting indeed. Cotton's future is promising.

A Worthwhile Program

The importance of mental health is again brought into focus locally as the announcement is made of the second Alabama Institute on Mental Health in Education to be held at Florence State on June 8th to 19th. This most worthy institute is sponsored by Florence State College, Alabama Association for Mental Health, and the Division of Mental Hygiene of the State Health Department.

These agencies are charged with the responsibility of developing a positive mental health program to promote improved mental health for the citizens of the state. Especially concerned are the homes and schools.

Much needs to be done but that institute and others to follow is a promising beginning. Certainly mental health in education is practical and realistic. Teachers can do a great deal in helping children become emotionally stable and mature by helping them develop traits and human relation skills which will enable them to get along well with each other and to meet the demands of life more effectively.

The institute is designed to help teachers gain new insight into practical training methods and to acquire a better understanding of mental and emotional problems.

Enough cannot be said for such a program but it goes without saying a good start is being made and its effects will be far-reaching indeed.

Florence Bankers Attend Meeting

The 66-year old Alabama Bankers Association will assemble in Birmingham today for its annual convention.

Scheduled for today and Friday, the bankers' session will hear Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris, commanding General of the Army Ordnance Missile Command, Redstone Arsenal at Huntsville. Another principal speaker for the convention is Dr. Hilary Seal, head of the British Admiralties Statistical Branch and a member of the staff of Yale Graduate School.

The two-day meeting will attract more than 600 bankers and their wives from throughout Alabama. The call to order by Association president, Fred A. Bloodworth, of Gadsden, is scheduled for 9:30 A.M. This session includes the appointment of committees and the annual report of secretary-treasurer Howard J. Morris, Jr., of Montgomery.

Gen. Medaris will address the group at luncheon today.

Friday's session will include reports of standing committees, a meeting of Alabama members of the American Bankers Association, with Thomas M. Taul, ABA vice-president for Alabama, presiding. The subject for discussion is "Foundation for Commercial Banks."

Dr. Seal will speak to the assembly during the morning session Friday.

Election of officers for the coming year will take place following the closing luncheon Friday.

Attending from Florence are, Edward Smoot and Ralph Young, executive vice president and assistant cashier of The First National Bank and Leonard C. Johnson, vice president of the State National Bank.

Red China Shells Matsu Island

Red China turned its guns on little Matsu Island for the first time in two years Sunday, heightening Nationalist fears the Communists may be preparing a new crisis in the Formosa Strait. A Nationalist officer and two soldiers were reported killed as the Reds lobbed over 444 shells at the offshore island group at the northern end of the Formosa Strait.

Gates Made Deputy Secretary of Defense

The Administration in Washington moved Monday to fill two gaps at the top of the military establishment, choosing Thomas S. Gates to be deputy secretary of defense and recalling Adm. Arthur W. Radford for temporary duty. Gates, now secretary of the Navy, had been due to leave government service within a few days. President Eisenhower's choice of him as the No. 2 civilian administrator at the Pentagon stirred expectation that Gates would move up to the No. 1 spot with the likely departure this fall of Defense Secretary Neil H. McElroy.

Atlas and Polaris Fail In Flight

An Atlas intercontinental ballistic missile ruptured in a brilliant burst of orange flame and a Polaris test rocket petered out shortly after they were launched Monday night. The mishaps were the latest in a series of troubles for the Atlas and ended a streak of two straight successes for the Polaris.

Bids To Be Opened June 2 On Airport

Sam J. Israel Tells Of Air Travel Development To Exchange Members

Sam J. Israel, chairman, Muscle Shoals Aeronautical Authority told the Florence Exchange Club Tuesday noon at Hotel Reeder that bids on the expansion program of the Muscle Shoals Airport would be opened Tuesday, June 2 and it was hoped that the bids would be at a figure that immediate construction would be possible.

Charles Finney arranged the program and presented Mr. Israel. The speaker explained the many varied problems that had been faced by the Authority before bids could be asked on the new administration building, which, though not as large as needed to meet the future growth of the area, would be adequate at present. He said that provisions would be made to provide space for a second and third air line to serve the local airport but that the projected tower and second story had to be postponed until additional money was available.

Mr. Israel said that the new building would be on the west side of the airfield and that the present administration building would be used by the weather station and other facilities now crowding the available buildings.

Mr. Israel traced the history of the airport through its service as an auxiliary field to Courtland Army Air Base and as a wholly-owned TVA facility. He told how it was acquired by Lauderdale and Colbert counties and the sums that have been spent over the years to bring it to its present stage of service to the district. He told of plans for its growth during the next 10 years and pointed out that although not now adequate, still we are in better shape for serving air travel than many larger cities in this part of the country.

At present, the airport is served by five flights with application pending for a sixth. An effort is being made to bring Southern Airways to the area with an additional two flights and prospects are good, Mr. Israel said.

The club voted to establish a scholarship loan fund at Larimore Business College to aid worthy young men and women. Details will be announced later. President Frank Mosier said. The program will be operated under the advice of Tommy Pickle, county juvenile officer.

William Prescott was introduced as a new member.

Members In Favor Of Management Contract With Decatur Firm

In a meeting held Saturday at the Cooperative Building on South Seminary Street in Florence, members of the Lauderdale County cooperative voted unanimously in favor of a management contract with the Tennessee Valley Cooperative in Decatur.

This action was a must according to Nick Harris, official of the State Agricultural and Industrial Board. He said this was "the only chance to survive left for the cooperative." Harris who led off the meeting said that the finding of an audit showed the Cooperative was on the verge of going out of operation. "The tie-up with the Tennessee Valley Cooperative is a must," he said, "the only other alternative is liquidation."

The vote for the contract with the Decatur Cooperative followed a lengthy auditor's report which showed that the cooperative had lost $68,400 since the first of January and that a loss of $91,400 was sustained in equity during 1958.

Some 75 to 100 members of the Cooperative including the Board of Directors attended the session. They elected W. P. Whitlock of Colbert County to serve as the eighth member of the Board of Directors to conclude the unexpired term of R. O. Wilson who resigned several weeks ago.

Under the new organization the present board of directors will still head the local cooperative, but the Tennessee Valley Cooperative will have the authority to make any change necessary to put the local firm on a paying basis.

Alex Locker, president of the Lauderdale Cooperative, presided at the meeting.

Senate Passes Number Changes In Vote Law

Stiffer Punishment Provided For Those Buying Or Selling Votes

Changes in Alabama's voting laws recommended by the State Senate would disqualify some voters and prevent others from selling their votes. The Senate working through a 12-page calendar of bills passed one bill stiffening the punishment for buying votes on election day and another for selling votes.

In rapid fire order it also approved a measure to prohibit payment of poll taxes for anyone outside a family, and also passed a bill to add city recorder courts to those required to report convictions for which a voter can be disqualified.

One proposal would abolish absentee voting altogether in the state, another would abolish it except for members of the armed forces. These two were carried over however for consideration at a later date.

Another bill was passed which would protect city officials from being bounced out of their jobs by a change in the form of government. Under this measure city officials would, in the event of a change, be allowed to complete their term in office.

Other matters included a bill to allow cities to levy a license tax on small loan companies although they had not prior to 1951.

The Senate also approved two bills aimed at preventing the Conservation Department from spending sums not appropriated by the Legislature. These measures would also prohibit the department from using revenue from the sale of natural resources such as timber and gravel from state-owned lands unless so written in the budget by the House and Senate.

Existing laws have allowed spending by the department over and above that contained in the regular budget, it was explained.

Measures were sponsored requiring boat owners to abide by the water safety laws of the Conservation Department.

Countians Leg Is Amputated

Doug Campbell, 23-year-old Lauderdale County man, who was critically injured in a bridge construction accident Tuesday, May 5, on the Tri-Cities to Gullman Highway in Lawrence County, had his right leg amputated Monday at Lawrence County Hospital after doctors gave up on efforts to save the badly-mangled limb.

Electricity Department Deems It Necessary To Make Additions

The Florence board of commissioners Tuesday awarded to General Electric Company the contract for installation of two new substations for the Electricity Department of Florence. GE had the low bid of $174,394.

Frank Crow, manager of the department said the substations, one rural and one urban, are necessary because of continued growth in the number of customers, and the increased amounts of power used by old customers.

The rural substation is to be located on Mud Road between Cloverdale and Savannah Roads and is to be 7500 KVA capacity, two feeder, strain construction, 44,000 to 7200/12470 volts. It will serve the section north of Mud Road or Cloverdale and Savannah Roads, now served out of the Chisholm Road substation which Mr. Crow said reached about its maximum last year.

The urban substation is to be located off Rose Avenue near Styron Plant No. 1, capacity of 7500 KVA, four feeder convention construction, 44,000 to 2400/4160 volts. It will serve the section now being served by Rose avenue substation which has a capacity of 3,000 KVA, and is now loaded due to light industry and new subdivisions in the area.

Other bids received were as follows:

Allis Chalmers — $175,840; Tennessee Valley Electric — $183,374; Westinghouse Electric — $201,989. The board also approved the sale of $546,000 in revenue bonds for the expansion of the rural electric system.

alumina in the nine big potrooms, each one more than three times longer than a football field.

They'll be saving, tapping the molten metal in big 5,000 pound crucibles and watch the molten aluminum being poured into pigs or carried to the nearby Ford plant or Reynolds Alloys Plant.

They'll see the huge room where humming mercury arc rectifiers convert tremendous quantities of TVA electricity from alternating to direct current for use in the reduction cells or pots.

Special equipment, much of it developed at the plant, will be on display.

Visitors will also see the well-equipped machine shop, the plant where the water for both the Reynolds Listerhill operations is filtered and the control room of the carbons plant where carbon is processed for use in the pots.

"We're proud of this plant," Mr. Newman said, "since it's offering working conditions second to none in the industry and has made an enviable record in competition with other reduction plants."

Birmingham Wedding Of Local Interest

Marked by a morning ceremony in Our Lady of Sorrows Catholic Church in Birmingham, Miss Frances Rose Leonard became the bride of William E. Ricker, son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Joseph Ricker of Florence, on Saturday, May sixteenth.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph John Leonard of Birmingham.

She was escorted and given in marriage by her father before an altar arrangement of white gladioli and chrysanthemums against a background of greenery. Nuptial pledges were heard at ten o'clock by the Reverend Father Robert J. Bauler, O.S.B. and music was by Mrs. Hazel Taccone, organist, and Miss Sadie Elcourie, vocalist. Steve Noser and James Collins served as altar boys.

For the occasion, the bride chose a gown fashioned of silk organza over taffeta and designed along empire lines. A Sabrina neckline distinguished the yoke of Chantilly lace and, of the same material, sleeves were long and tapered to points over the hands. The very full skirt with sequined appliques of lace in the front panel and a back-sash extended into a chapel train.

A tiara of sequins and seed pearls held her veil of silk illusion and her bouquet was of white gardenias and lilies of the valley. Honor attendants were Miss Marie Leonard, sister of the bride, and Mrs. Carl Mattil and bridesmaids were Miss Maryrose Howell and Mrs. Barney Knight, all of Birmingham. In shades of pastel, their patio length frocks featured shirred bodices and bouffant skirts complemented by matching hats with tiny, circular veils and bouquets of white daisies.

Miss Julie Molay, cousin of the bride, served as a junior bridesmaid and Paulette and Marietta Molay, also cousins of the bride, were flower girls, carrying baskets filled with petals. Their pink organza dresses were identical to those worn by the maids and their headresses were bandeaux of nylon braid.

And if you're not savin' money like I am every day by getting those big BARGAINS at the "RAGS RANCH" then of course you'll want to get in on it right away. Just make a list of all the things you want to make . . . clothes, that is . . . then take a few dollars down to the "RAGS RANCH" and load up. Now look . . . don't take too much money because you won't be able to carry the change you get back from the Crazy Tall Man who runs the "RAGS RANCH." Honestly that's the CUR-RAZIEST MAN I ever saw.

the College Campus

By DOTTIE McRAE

One more week—well, not really a whole one, but most of one, all devoted to exams. This is the time of the semester when everyone who has been wishing for the end of May begins to wish it was only January.

May Day was last week. The theme of the program was built around a Mexican festival. The band, in bright cumberbunds and straw sombreros, the collegiates (a campus quartette), and assorted groups of students did their various parts to entertain and honor the May Queen, Betty Aderholt.

The dancing groups, brightly costumed by the home ec department and trained by the physical education department, did authentic folk dances, one "modern" dance, and a few that looked Mexican mainly because of colorfulness of the clothing.

My favorite was one that wasn't so much dancing as it was clever costuming and make up. Four or five grey-beards, in white with brilliant red ponchos and gnarled walking sticks gave a good interpretation of elderly gentlemen who couldn't resist the spring urge to throw discretion to the winds and dance in the park.

But it just isn't May Day for me without a May-pole.

Florence State has had its last big dance of the year. The Military Ball carried out its "Sayonara" theme nicely. One end of the Naval Reserve auditorium or whatever was converted into a "teahouse," the rest was cleared for dancing. About 11:00, couples began to leave, taking with them the oriental paper lanterns and tinkling glass bells which hung from the false ceiling. Sounds like a very logical idea: the Cadet Officers' Corps made money, didn't have to store or dispose of decorations, and the girls got souvenirs (as long as they lasted).

All very satisfactory.

Let's Talk It Over

By SARA SAZE

Dear Sara Saze, What is the matter with people who want to be all by themselves most of the time? That's the way my sister is, and it worries me. Two or three times a week she'll go some place, but she says she enjoys staying home. She says she never remembers being lonesome in her life.

We try all the time to get her out with people more. Don't you think it's good for us all to get out and mix with our friends? Please give me an idea of what to say to change her.

Friendly One.

Dear Friendly, It's often the case that those who never want to go anywhere or see anyone are actually sick. But in your sister's case, since she does go out on occasion, it's my opinion that she has a retiring nature, but is one of the more fortunate among us who is good company for herself.

And, believe me, I do mean fortunate. I hear from people every day who are lonely, searching for something or somebody to keep them company and never quite finding it.

Of course, in this as in most other things, a happy medium is the desired state.

Your sister seems strange to you because she's different from you and, if you only knew, you probably seem just as strange to her for the very same reason.

If she seems happy, why not let her be? I'll bet you wouldn't want her to make an about-face in your living habits, and neither does she.

Dear Mrs. Saze, Several of us have sons who will soon go to work on their first jobs. They have no idea of what it will be like to have a boss, or just how to handle themselves with one.

So we wondered if you'd give some advice that would be helpful to these kids. It would really help us all.

A Bunch of Fans.

Dear Fans, If you've taught your children about mutual rights and responsibilities in other situations, as between teacher and pupil for instance, it shouldn't be difficult for them to apply the principles in their new roles. I also suggest a very good book—

SPORTS

The Detroit Tigers humiliated the World Champion New York Yankees yesterday by a 13-6 score. Frank Lary, the Yankee killer on the Detroit pitching staff, pushed the past stalwarts of the American League into last place in the standing. This for many a modern day Yankee fan is something that cannot be remembered as happening this late in the season. Eddie Yost was the big man at the bat for Detroit, hitting two home-runs, one a grand-slam. Although the Yankees by no means can be counted out of the American League race, this will surely be the talk of the sports world for many many weeks to come.

A trio of college boys new to international competition — Ward Wettlaufer, Jackie Nicklaus and Deane Beman — paced U. S. amateur golfers to a sweeping 9-3 Walker Cup victory over the British Saturday.

The Philadelphia Phillies Monday gave veteran Pitcher Jim Hearn his unconditional release. The 36-year-old righthander has been used altogether as a reliever this year, but has no decisions. Last year his record was five victories and three defeats.

Drivers and mechanics put aside their helmets and wrenches Monday and the noisy Indianapolis Motor Speedway was still for an hour in a tribute to handsomeness at the 49th annual Indianapolis 500-mile race. The 36-year-old righthander has been used altogether as a reliever this year, but has no decisions. Last year his record was five victories and three defeats.

Royal Orbit zoomed from outer space around the middle of the track on the final turn in the $180,000 Preakness Stakes Saturday and drew away to a four-length victory over Sword Dancer. First Landing, the surprise slight favorite ridden by Eddie Arcaro, wound up ninth in the 83rd running of the classic.

The hot-hand Chicago White Sox finally lead the American League, but it took one whole of a parlay to get them there. All they needed was a 10-for-11 streak, plus the winningest pitcher in the majors, plus the first shutout of the season by Baltimore's staff. It all happened Monday night. The White Sox collected a 9-2 victory at Washington, behind the five-hit pitching of Early Wynn, Baltimore beat Cleveland, 3-0, and skidded the Indians to second place on the combined six-hit work of Skinny Brown and Billy Loes.

The Florence State College baseballers closed out their season Saturday afternoon as Belmont College in Nashville defeated the crew of Coaches George Weeks and Don Heidorn 8-3. Although losing their last three games on the road, the Lions finally came up with winning sport as the boys in the baseball uniforms posted a season mark of eleven wins against seven defeats.

Baseball games on TV this week-end are: Saturday—Milwaukee at Philadelphia—Channels 6 and 15. New York vs Baltimore—Channel 13. Sunday—Milwaukee at Philadelphia—Channels 6 and 15.

News Of POWELL

By Mrs. J. N. Phillips

One hundred ten attended Sunday School at the Bethel Baptist Church Sunday morning with others arriving for the 11 o'clock worship service. The Rev. McDougal filled his pulpit at both the morning and evening worship hours. Sixty-three were present for Training Union.

Saturday night is the regular monthly meeting for the Brotherhood, R.A., and G.A. groups. Vacation Bible School is in progress this week at the Bethel Church.

On Saturday afternoon the Jr. Girls met at 2:30 o'clock and took baskets to the sick and shut-ins. Afterward, their leader, Mrs. Judy McCrary, accompanied them to the ball game at Anderson. Following the game the group drove to the Thomas Pedigo home where they enjoyed a "tacky party" and a wicker roast in the evening. They had their regular business meeting at the Pedigo home also, played games and after tiring themselves out with play, they ended a most enjoyable evening by spending the night in the Pedigo home.

Mrs. Amos Phillips, her daughter, Rebecca Eady and little grandson were involved in an accident which occurred in front of the Phillips home last week. They were struck by an oncoming car after entering the highway. They received minor injuries, while serious damage was done to the car.

Ivan Burgess has been released from the VA Hospital in Birmingham.

Saturday evening guests in the Robbin Thacker home were Rev. and Mrs. Nolen McCafferty, Christine and Melvin, Mrs. Edna Talley and baby all of Florence, and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Hooie.

The Newbern families met at Joe Wheeler Park on Sunday to celebrate their mother's, Mrs. Charles Newbern's, 82nd birthday. Most all of the family members were present, and the group enjoyed the get-together and the dinner. Our congratulations to our elderly friend on her 82nd year of life.

Chevy's the only low-priced car that gives you Safety Plate Glass—not just Safety Glass—all around. $ _____	 CRANK-OPERATED VENTIPANES Ever try to open a ventipane without this little convenience? Then you know what fingernail-savers those cranks can be. $ _____	 HYDRAULIC VALVE LIFTERS You won't find another low-priced car that gives you this oil-hushed assurance of smooth, quiet performance on all standard engines. $ _____	 OVERHEAD CURVING WINDSHIELD And here's a neck-saver, especially for looking at overhead traffic lights. Chevy's got greatest overall visibility area in its field, too. $ _____
 GREATER ROOMINESS More seating room than any other low-priced car. And more front seat head room than any other low- or medium-priced sedan. $ _____	 BIGGEST BRAKES IN THE FIELD Chevy's new brakes are built for up to two-thirds longer life. There's more lining area than on many heavier, higher priced cars. $ _____	 FULL COIL SUSPENSION Take a trial ride before you put a price tag on this. Marines see the world, according to Marine Recruiting Sergeant Bill Ovey. Young men joining the Corps now have the greatest opportunity to travel.

Sergeant Ovey states that the old saying "travel broadens one's education" is indeed true in the U. S. Marines. Marines learn about customs of all nations and visit interesting sites that once were just words in history and geography books.

Full information on the U. S. Marines and the travel opportunities are available from Sergeant Ovey who is located at the Post Office in Florence on Tuesday and Thursday from 9:00 a.m. until 2:00 p.m.

Power To Review Transfer State Property Sought

Alabama's Advisory Board of Conservation, after examining the Conservation Department's much-criticized past record, recently requested increased policy reviewing powers in future major transfers of state property by lease, sale or contract.

In discussing ways to improve the present policy - making structure of laws governing operation of Alabama's Conservation Department, consensus of board member opinion was that far-reaching changes are not necessary to halt future abuses in leasing lands, selling timber, or contracting with private interests. A lengthy discussion ended with unanimous Board resolution to seek legislation which would give the Conservation Advisory Board a hand in policy - making of the Conservation Department. A three - member committee composed of Judge James H. Crowe, Jr., Decatur, Board Chairman Julian McGowan, Chapman, and C. H. Jackson, Florence, will confer with Conservation Director Claude D. Kelley in drafting the necessary legislation to increase the Advisory Board's policy making powers. LET THE FLORENCE HERALD DO ALL YOUR PRINTING!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

His garden is the envy of all the neighbors. They say it's because he has a green thumb.

But the truth of the matter is, he loves to see things grow . . . and he works hard to help them grow . . . and he enjoys the hard work because he finds deep satisfaction in the beauty of its fruit.

The same spirit pervades the churches of our community. Congregations thrive and souls grow in spiritual strength because of consecrated men and women who love to see this God-given growth . . . who work hard to implant Christian truth in their hearts and yours . . . who enjoy this unselfish dedication of their time and talents and treasure because they share the joy of Christ in its spiritual fruit.

Be an active church member! Volunteer for enriching service in your congregation's busy, fruitful life!

Careful Breeding Improves Litters

It's not just rough luck when brood sows fail to produce large litters—big litters of pigs don't just happen.
According to API Extension Hog Production Specialist G. B. Phillips, an early selection of the right kind of gilts is the first step in producing profitable litters. He points out that the care of the breeding herd begins before breeding and not just before farrowing. The physical condition of the gilt or sow at breeding time definitely influences the number of pigs that she farrows.
The specialist recommends choosing gilts to be bred at about four months of age. They should be separated from the growing-finishing herd and kept on a good growing ration, but not a fattening one. Very fat gilts or sows will probably produce small litters of small pigs.
Flushing, or increasing the feed intake for about a week before breeding, is an important practice

Corner on Cotton

More and more cotton farmers are using weather and temperature records to reduce planting risks... too, better weather forecasts are fast being developed... we know of one farming operation that makes maximum use of the forecast... first these farmers use the 30-day forecast to estimate amount of feed pastures will produce in early spring and make plans for land preparation, advancing or delaying cotton planting... also use forecast to decide about applying nitrogen or water and to estimate insect infestation as well as having a basis for hiring cotton pickers... figures show that the odds are 10 to 8 that the 30-day forecast is the most valuable, though... it is usually more accurate and allows enough time for making necessary adjustments in the farming program.

Azalea Gall Is Common Disease

Azalea leaf gall is a pesty disease that attacks azaleas and camellias.
According to API Extension Ornamental Horticulturist Troy Keeble, azalea leaf gall is a common occurrence during warm, moist periods of spring weather. The gall is usually identified by a distinct thickening and enlargement of the entire leaf surface.
When the disease strikes, the leaves are often three to four times their normal size and thickness. In the early stages the leaves turn white and then black as they shrivel.
"This condition is usually not of serious consequence on azaleas and camellias," says Keeble, "but it presents a displeasing appearance. The only time that the condition would be detrimental to the plant is when all of the new growth becomes infected."
There are several measures that can be used to control the gall. For small plantings, Keeble advises hand-picking and burning the infected new leaves. For large, extensive plantings, the specialist recommends a spray application of a fungicide such as captan or ferimate. These will aid in reducing the incidence of the disease. The specialist also advises the use of a low-lime Bordeaux mixture. This will eliminate the condition if the spray is applied just prior to the beginning of new growth in the spring.

Truck Prospects Good This Year

Indications are that truck crops will bring better prices this year than they did last year.
API Extension Horticulturist John Bagby reports that it is very likely that the average of truck crops for spring and early summer harvest will be considerably lower than that planted in 1953. For this reason, there probably will be smaller supplies going to market at harvest time. And, says Bagby, this should result in somewhat better prices than were received last year.
The specialist lists some of these crops that are produced in Alabama and should be of interest to growers in the state. The acreage planted to snapbeans for early spring harvest is reduced about six percent, while cabbage acreage for early spring shows only a slight reduction. Early spring Irish potato acreage will be 17 percent less than in 1953. And early summer watermelon acreage shows a 12 percent decrease. It also seems probable that summer tomato acreage will be reduced.
According to Bagby, the prospect of a good market for most vegetables this spring and summer means that Alabama growers could certainly profit. However, they should do the best possible job of production to get high yields of good quality products.
Bagby recommends certain practices to increase yields. Seeds should be planted on good, fertile soil that has been well prepared before planting. The soil should be treated to prevent nematode damage and to control insects and diseases. The specialist also advises the use of ample amounts of fertilizer.

Many Farms In Valley Served By TVA Electricity

TVA said today that 370,000 farms in the Tennessee Valley region now are served with TVA electricity through municipal and cooperative distributors. This is an estimated 97 percent of the region's farms.
In 1933, when TVA started, an estimated 15,000 — about one in 28 — had electric service.
By the end of 1944, some 117,000 farms — about one in four — had service. In one five year period, 1945 to 1950, the rural distributors of TVA power hooked up 185,000 farm families, adding new farm users at the rate of 37,000 a year.
To do this, the distributors of TVA power built some 84,000 miles of rural power lines in 14 years from 1944 through 1958. Today there are 110,000 miles of rural power lines in service.
TVA said:
"It is estimated that farm families in the region now have 360,000 refrigerators, 150,000 electric water heaters, and 270,000 electric ranges in use. Outside the home electric motors now handle feed grinding and processing, hay elevating, hay drying, and other heavy jobs. In the dairy, electricity makes it possible for the farmer to sell Grade A milk, because he has the electric water heater, the milk cooler, the milking machines,

Agricultural Reminders
By L. T. WAGNON
County Agent

The 13-year locust is now abundant in wooded areas in many sections of Alabama. This is one of the strains of the periodical cicadas. The other strain requires 17 years to develop and occurs for the most part in areas north of Alabama.
The 13-year locust is best known for the singing noise or the shrill call produced by the males. Where the insects are abundant, the noise may be intense.
This insect causes little damage by its feeding. It can injure trees by puncturing the twigs and depositing eggs in them. Each female lays from 400 to 600 eggs, and as many as 50 eggs may be deposited in one small branch of a tree. Tips of the branches are sometimes killed or at least turned brown. Occasionally these insects may cause damage to fruit trees by depositing eggs in the twigs.
Control of 13-year cicadas is not usually attempted. Little is known regarding the effects of currently used insecticides on the insects. Some of the phosphates are known to be effective. Where damage from egg laying is occurring in orchards, weekly sprayings with parathion might be helpful. If such a spray is attempted, 2 to 3 pounds of 15% wettable parathion should be used in 100 gallons of water.

The adults of the 13-year cicada usually live from 30 to 40 days. They are not seen again until 13-years later. Eggs deposited in the twigs hatch in a few weeks and the young drop to the ground. They feed on the roots of trees for approximately 13 years. A new generation of the locust then emerges.
The insects are not poisonous and cause no harm except that produced by puncturing twigs during egg laying.

Prize For Best FFA String Band

A $200 cash prize awaits the FFA chapter whose string band is selected the winner of the state finals during the Alabama FFA Convention at Auburn early in June. In addition to the top prize the next three bands will receive cash awards.
Ten bands from over the state will be trying to "out-pick" the opposition, according to an announcement by T. L. Faulkner, state supervisor of vocational agriculture. These groups finished first or second in the five district eliminations.
The Chavala and Goshen bands will represent the Southeast District and Theodore and Fairhope will attempt to earn honors for the Southwest section of the state. Central Alabama's contestants will be Dadeville and Lineville; Northeast Alabama will send Jacksonville and Hartselle and from the Northwest district will come Winfield and Waterloo.

Differences Out

The government has announced differences for grade and staple for the support program... this year for the first time there are split grades for the "loan"... Middling one inch at average locations is 34.10 cents per pound for "A" cotton and 28.40 cents for "B" cotton.

Inventories Low

Cotton mill inventories of unsold cloth were the lowest in three years as February ended, a survey has just indicated... at the same time the backlog of orders rose to equal 12 weeks of production... up four weeks from February a year ago.

Crop Guess

Some of the folks in the USDA are guessing... that's what it is: a guess... that the 1959 crop will be about 14.5 million bales... that's a 25% increase... talk is that exports could double this year's... really sound good, but who knows??
