

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

Second only to his desire to serve Lauderdale County efficiently and effectively as its chief law enforcement officer, Sheriff Roy Lee Call's interest lies in the establishment of the Boys Ranch project, a program of the Alabama Sheriffs Association, of which he is a vice president. The project is designed as an aid to the prevention of crime among youth of our state. The acquisition of 360 acres of land near Selma by the Association, just announced, is the first step in the project and we know how pleased our Sheriff is with this accomplishment. He had hoped that the land at the abandoned Courtland Army Air Base might have been secured for the Boys Ranch and worked hard toward that end but was blocked in his efforts by the unsympathetic state brass that controls this property.

Oldtimers recall when people worried about dying broke instead of living that way.

J. Paul Getty, one of the richest men in the world, has blamed the "mystique of conformity" for not producing more millionaires like he is. Being vitally interested in becoming a millionaire, we continued our study of his formula. "No one," he said, "can possibly achieve any real and lasting success or get rich by being a conformist." The oil tycoon, whose wealth is estimated at seven billion (not million) dollars, said the "mystique of conformity is sapping the dynamic individualism that is the most priceless quality an executive or businessman can possibly possess." In other words, Mr. Getty stressed the need for men to buck the tide, strike out into new fields and get away from stylized conformity that saps one's confidence while he vainly tries to hide his fears. Now, if you want to roll in wealth, follow Mr. Getty's advice.

A certain mother of a certain youngster of our acquaintance was scolding said youngster at bedtime the other night for leaving his clothing draped on the window sills or just thrown on the floor. Standing in the doorway she made the sarcastic inquiry: "And who didn't hang up his clothes when he went to bed?" From deep under the covers came the reply: "Adam." The youngsters today know all the answers.

Saddest love story of the week concerns the two red cornucopuses who loved in vein.

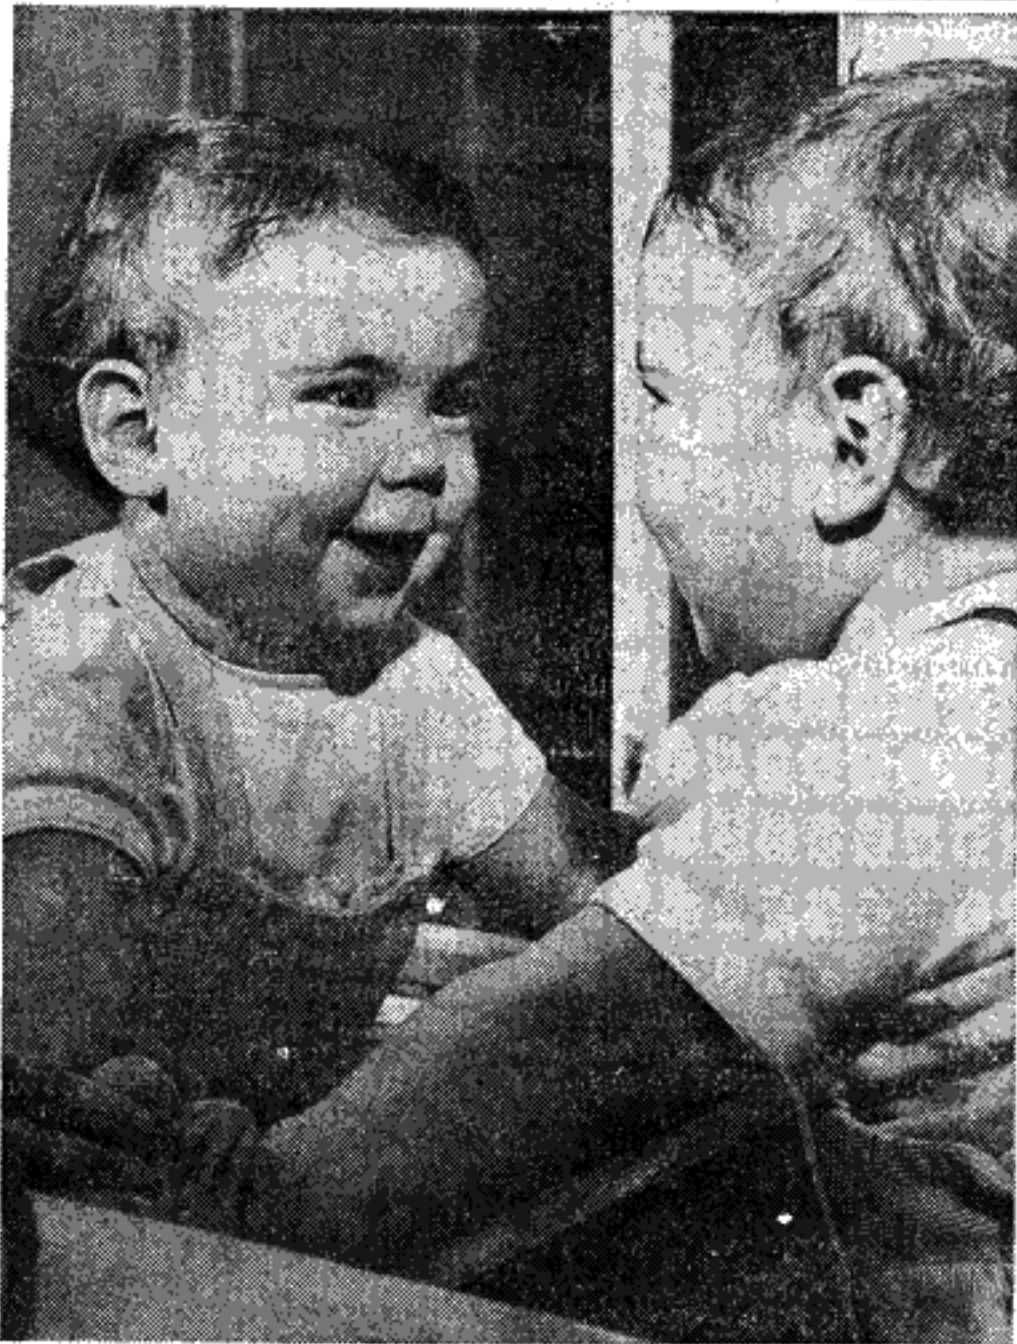

The farmer was amazed to see a spaceship land in his vegetable patch. He watched curiously as a half-dozen little green men climbed out and began examining the garden, peering under carrot tops and assorted other greens. Finally, unable to contain himself any longer, he approached the little green men and asked respectfully: "What are you fellows looking for?" One little green man looked up and with a surprised look on his face, answered: "Little green women, of course."

Tomorrow is often the busiest day in the week.

We understand that last Saturday night there was a party that really was a party. In fact, it got so boisterous that the police were called. Upon their arrival, they found that one man in particular was leading the celebration, if that it might be called. As they took him to the station, he screamed: "It's an outrage. What is the meaning of this? You'll hear from my lawyer. Why was I arrested?" The sergeant in charge, with a firm grip on the inebriated one, replied: "You were brought in for drinking." The old boy relaxed at once, smiled and said: "Well, that's different. When do we start?"

One of the oldest tricks known to the burglary profession was tried again and successfully on a newly married couple that moved into a certain neighborhood. Just a few days after occupying their home, the newlyweds received by mail an unexpected and anonymous gift—two tickets to a feature picture that had just begun a several days run. "How nice," they remarked to each other believing that a neighbor had presented them. Still wondering who had sent them, they decided to take in the show that evening. When they returned home, they found their home burglarized and on top of the empty silver chest they found a note reading simply: "Now you know."

"HEY, WHO YOU?"—Nan Miller, 8 months, makes friends with a new kid in the neighborhood. The mirror is in the home of her dad, Herb Miller, Bronx, N.Y.

One Hundred Scientists Attend

TVA Host To Fertilizer Evaluation Conference

The annual Fertilizer Evaluation Conference is being held this week at the TVA Fertilizer-Munitions Development Center at Wilson Dam with some 100 scientists in attendance on Wednesday and today.

The conference is sponsored jointly by the Tennessee Valley Authority and the Southern Regional Soil Conference Committee and provides a forum for scientists cooperating in research in fertilizers and related fields. Journals publish their papers and are circulated worldwide. Specialists from agricultural experiment stations, the U. S. Department of Agriculture and others are brought together at these meetings, it was explained.

The feature of the current 1961 meeting was a symposium on "Effects of Environment on Crop Response to Fertilizers." The first Wednesday sessions was devoted to soil moisture and crop yield relationships, and the second session which was held on this morning dealt with topics concerning the effects of temperature on nutrient uptake of plants.

Afternoon sessions for the two days were concerned with progress reports on cooperative research activities and tours of TVA's various research and production facilities. Featured on the two-day program was Dr. F. W. Went, director of the Missouri Botanical Garden and a world authority on plant growth regulators; Dr. M. B. Russell, Dept. of Agronomy, University of Ill.; Dr. N. C. Brady, Dept. of Agronomy, Cornell University; Dr. M. D. Thorne, Head Department of Agronomy, Oklahoma State University; U. S. Department of Agriculture scientists Dr. L. A. Dean, Dr. T. J. Arny, Dr. R. W. Pearson, and W. H. Armer; Drs. W. L. Parks and L. F. Seatz from the University of Tennessee; Dr. L. E. Ensminger, Auburn University; Dr. J. A. Seagraves, North Carolina State College; and TVA scientists O. P. Engelstad, D. R. Bouldin, and J. D. DeMent.

Opening talks were made by L. G. Allbaugh, Director of the Division of Agricultural Relations, TVA, and L. B. Nelson, Manager of the Office of Agricultural and Chemical Development, TVA. The program was arranged by Dr. G. L. Terman, TVA.

Huntsville Guest Explains Views On Reapportionment

League Of Women Voters Hear Martha W. Smith At Membership Dinner

Mrs. Martha Whitt Smith, president of the Huntsville League of Women Voters, who has spent much time and effort in a study of proposed reapportionment of the State Legislature, addressed a special luncheon meeting of the Florence League at Holiday Inn Wednesday noon. Mrs. Smith, a reporter with the Huntsville Times and a recognized leader in the campaign for a "new look" in our legislature make-up, was introduced by Mrs. Atherton Hastings, president of the local league.

Mrs. Smith prefaced her remarks with a discussion of the present representation of the Legislature and with further comment on the coming reapportionment of the state into the new eight Congressional Districts. Tying the two problems together as a basis for action, the speaker said that a fair reshuffling of the representation of the 67 counties was long past due. Adding that all laws passed in recent years were done so only after a bargaining program in which the welfare department came up with a new share in the state's revenue, she urged a new and sincere approach to the problem was necessary.

Pointing out that the South Alabama counties had long ago learned that good representation was dependant first on the selection of the right man for the place and next, keeping him there year after year, Mrs. Smith asked the reason for the Northern counties not following the same procedure.

Illustrating her thought provoking address with a series of well executed maps, Mrs. Smith stressed two plans—the Hunt Bill, introduced a few years ago, and the H. S. plan, on which she elaborated showing its advantages and its possibilities of acceptance. She proved her point time after time with facts and figures that gave the feasibility and fairness of the plan and convinced her enthusiastic audiences of the soundness of this proposal. Not until her closing remarks, and after a direct question from a guest, did she reveal that the H. S. Plan meant the Horse Sense Plan and the one she urged for the basis of deliberation and discussion in the coming Legislative session.

Guests included Dr. Turner Allen, Senator Bert Halton, Judge John D. Fetree, the husbands of a number of the League members and Cris Eckl and Harold May, representing the press.

Inaugural Speech Ranked With Gettysburg Address

Kennedy's Five-Point Program Has Good Chance Of Approval

NONE OTHER THAN JFK—Theatergoers at the Broadway show, "Do Re Mi," receive an unexpected bonus as they see President John Kennedy take his seat in the orchestra. He attended the musical shortly before the inauguration.

Louisville, Ky.

President John F. Kennedy's inaugural address delivered Friday in a chilling wind that swept the nation's capital throughout the ceremony, was hailed by non-Communist nations the world over as a stirring message of hope.

In the Soviet Union, East Germany and in Yugoslavia, Kennedy's speech was followed by expressions of hope that the cold war tensions could be eased, while in Cuba, Fidel Castro greeted the speech with a peace offer but on his (Castro's) own terms.

Khrushchev, in a message of congratulations to the President, said he hopes "that by the joint efforts we shall be able to attain a radical improvement of relations between our countries, to make healthier the entire international climate."

Both Tito and East Germany's Ulbricht, echoed the Soviet Union's sentiments, however the Red were vehement in condemning the Eisenhower Administration, labeling it an eight year "inglorious rule."

Many non-Communist newspapers commented favorably on Kennedy's pledge of increased cooperation with Latin America and his reaffirmation of the Monroe Doctrine when he said: "Let every other power know that this hemisphere intends to remain master of its own house."

Five-Point Program Although it appeared doubtful if enough liberal strength could be mustered in Congress against Republican and southern Democratic opposition to changes in the rules, Kennedy's minimum five-point legislative program appeared to have strong prospects of passage before Congress recesses for the summer.

In fact, committee are already working on the various phases of the proposals he will send to Congress, the five items being, aid to depressed areas, minimum wage, housing, aid to education and social security health care for the aged.

While most of these are old and Congress has struggled with them for years they were not in the form desired by most Democrats.

Food For Needy The first move made by the new President for relief of depressed areas was a quick order for the release of surplus foods for these areas. Seemingly to thrive on the terrific pace set by the inauguration, Mr. Kennedy gave the order after only four hours of sleep. It was actually his first official act as the nation's chief executive.

To Address Congress President Kennedy is scheduled to deliver his first State of the Union message to Congress when that body convenes in joint session on Monday House Speaker Sam Rayburn set the time tentatively at 12:30 p.m. EST.

Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield (D-Mont.) said he expected separate messages embodying legislative proposals would be sent to Congress within a week or so after the State of the Union message. He said there was no discussion of such proposals at the Tuesday meeting of Democratic leaders with the President.

In Washington there was a general air of optimism with some Republicans as well as Democrats commenting favorably on the President's masterful address which some ranked with Lincoln's Gettysburg address.

Mother's March On January 31

Annual Drive To Aid Millions Afflicted With Polio, Arthritis, Defects

The 1961 New March of Dimes will bring new hope for millions of Americans afflicted with one of mankind's oldest enemies — arthritis.

This was the prediction of Miss Wally Grawley, Lauderdale County director for the fund-raising campaign being held in the county throughout the month of January.

The directors explained that the cause and cure of arthritis and similar diseases are still unknown, but that some of the answers may be forthcoming as the result of the March of Dimes-supported program of the National Foundation.

The annual Mother's March will take place on next Tuesday night, January 31 in Lauderdale County and a generous public response is urged when these volunteer workers knock or ring the doorbell.

"Whatever amounts you've contributed to the March of Dimes in the past, we believe you feel the money was well spent," the directors said. "Your contributions helped produce the Salk and Sabin vaccines against polio."

"Your continued support will enable The National Foundation to continue its search for the cause and means of preventing birth defects and arthritis."

Area Declared Good Pig Country

Hog-Raising Gets Boost At Berkshire Show-Sale

Released Acreage Slow Coming In

ASC County Committee To Continue Accepting Releases Until Mar. 15

Lauderdale county has turned over 170 acres to the County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation group, which is an extremely low number compared to last year's acreage release. Last year's program proved very successful in the county and throughout the state and resulted in increased planted acreage over 1959.

The three-member ASC county committee will continue to accept released acreage until March 15, the deadline established by the Federal government. The committee then have until March 31 to reapportion the acreage among farmers who desire to plant extra cotton this year.

Farmers wanting extra acreage should also visit the ASC office between now and March 15 to make their wishes known to the county committee.

POLL TAX MUST BE PAID BEFORE FEB. 1

Lauderdale County Tax Collector Weaver Fuqua issued a last call this week to those who have not paid their poll tax. This important tax must be paid before Feb. 1 or residents will not be able to vote in the 1961 elections. To date only 2485 have paid the voting tax in Lauderdale County, Mr. Fuqua said.

Marked success attended the annual meeting of the Southeastern Berkshire Type Conference show and sale on last Friday and Saturday at the Lauderdale County Coliseum when the Lauderdale Hog Producers Association were hosts to members from some 13 states including hog-raising states in the Midwest. It was the first time the Berkshire Conference had ever been held in Alabama.

Gene Mason, secretary-treasurer of the American Berkshire Association speaking to the conference, said pork could be produced more economically in the Southeast than in the Midwest. He pointed to the longer growing season, warmer temperatures and better pastures and that the South was "missing out" in not trying hog-raising as a full time venture.

He indicated it was hard to understand why hog-raising locally was generally a supplement project instead of a basic farm program, however it was pointed out that poor corn production had been one of the main factors in holding back production of pork whereas in the Midwest where corn ranges from 90 to 100 bushels to the acre. It was admitted that corn production in this and other southeastern areas could be greatly improved by soil testing for the proper use of fertilizers.

Prize Porkers Judged

The top local animal shown was a bred gilt owned by Cornelius Smith of Rt. 2, Killen, which took second place in that class.

The champion bred gilt in the Friday judging was shown by Four Oaks Farm, Lexington, S. C., with Robert Altman of Pleasant Plains, Ill., showing the reserve champion.

In the open gilt division, Herbert Roehr and Son of Mt. Vernon, Ind., showed the champion with Four Oaks farm showing the reserve.

In the boar division the grand champion honors went to La Rue Tice and Sons, Shelbyville, Ill., and Herbert Roehr and Sons showing the reserve grand champion.

In the FFA-4H judging contest held on Saturday Eddie Bryan of Clements High School, Limestone County, was first place winner, with nine others receiving $20 buying credits.

Speakers at the Friday night banquet besides Mr. Mason were Charles Stewart, former assistant county agent of Lauderdale County who spoke on his experience in the Arctic Circle while a major in the Air Force, and Frank L. Barton, president of the Southeastern Berkshire Association, who presented the trophies. Vice president H. A. Behel, of Lauderdale County served as master of ceremonies. The members and guests were welcomed by W. A. Barnett, Florence attorney, chairman of the Coliseum Board and guests were introduced by Wayland Darby, president of the Lauderdale County Hog Producers Association.

Grade "A" Milk For More Income

A look at the local farming picture reveals at least one way in which farm income can be increased in Lauderdale County and that is through building up the dairying industry. This newspaper believes that this can be accomplished in the not too distant future if local purchasers of Grade "A" milk will insist on buying Lauderdale produced milk.

Actually this important phase of agriculture could easily be expanded to equal the payroll of a large industrial plant in money returned to the area. There are only 19 producers of grade "A" milk in the county at present and all of the milk they produce is sold to processors located elsewhere. In other words the manner in which the present supply of Grade "A" milk is marketed causes a surplus of 15 to 20 per cent of the amount produced to be sold at a low price.

The $330,000 brought into the county from Grade "A" milk sales last year could be multiplied many times by building up this important industry through demand of local purchasers. There is not a single milk processor in Lauderdale County at the present time which means that all milk consumed in Florence and the county is milk shipped in by out-of-county processors.

So, we repeat, the biggest boost that could be given Lauderdale County's lagging dairying industry would be that users demand they be supplied with Lauderdale County produced milk.

Say "Yes" To The March Of Dimes

Everyone wonders these days where his money goes. We hope that your money goes to the Mothers' Marcher who knocks at your door for the 1961 New March of Dimes on the night of Tuesday, Jan. 31 in Lauderdale County.

Your contributions to the Mothers' March go directly into the fight to prevent crippling diseases—birth defects, arthritis and polio.

The money you give at your door supports The National Foundation's fight against these three diseases. This fight is carried on through research, patient aid and professional education.

This is the same program which has already produced: the Salk and Sabin anti-polio vaccines; the world's largest non-governmental outlay of funds for medical aid; thousands of trained hands and new medical techniques to restore the stricken to lives of usefulness and hope.

The choice is yours. You can help prevent crippling diseases. Please say YES to the Mothers' Marcher when she calls on your family on behalf of the 1961 New March of Dimes.

The Job Of Being President

Now that America has a new president it behooves us to do everything in our power to make the terrific burden he has assumed as easy as possible. We can begin by not expecting too much because invariably a new president is expected to do many things he not only cannot do but which would be unwise to do.

There is the matter of foreign policy . . . how to deal with the Russians and Red China . . . what to do about aid to our allies and a thousand and one other problems too complex for the layman to comprehend and yet there are a million "armchair generals" ready to tell the president exactly how to handle Castro and Khrushchev.

We must remember that neither the president nor the federal government can solve such problems over night even though they must be solved in some manner calculated to keep the security of this nation intact. It will take patience and understanding. Both parties promised far more than either candidate could possibly accomplish and this basically is unfair and is the reason why Mr. Kennedy's inauguration speech was not only serious and thoughtful but conveyed the impression that here was a man speaking from the heart to all people and not just to a favored few. There was no wavering . . . the speech was delivered with courage and with conviction. There was no mistaking Mr. Kennedy's meaning when he spoke of keeping the Western Hemisphere secure from communism. It was couched in terms no one could misunderstand.

Mr. Kennedy is faced with serious problems on the domestic front . . . not as serious certainly, but similar in many respects to those faced by FDR in 1933. Inflation and unemployment must be handled if the country's economic growth is to continue and in this respect there must be curbs placed on spiraling prices, money must be found to finance programs of education, housing, health and welfare, highways . . . all this without increasing the public debt or imposing too many additional taxes.

It's a big job . . . that of being president and the American people are asking for trouble if they do not learn to do things on their own instead of running to the federal government every time the wind shifts. The president can only help the people face their challenges . . . there must also be a willingness on the part of the people to face up to the responsibilities of good citizenship. This goes for the city dweller, the farmer, the factory worker . . . everybody.

In America the people are free because the government belongs to them. In Russia they are not free because they belong to the government. It's that simple.

Gettysburg Welcomes Ike, Mamie

Gettysburg rolled out the welcome mat Saturday for President Eisenhower and Mamie who are setting up house-keeping in a big farm house. The burdens of the presidency cast aside after eight years, Eisenhower appeared to have only one worry, the bitter cold weather and seemed anxious to be in a warmer climate. A single Secret Service agent, in contrast to the many who used to swarm about when Eisenhower was president, was on hand. It was a day in which the 70-year-old former president relaxed and reminisced.

One Hundred Two Survive Crash

A jet airliner, a DC8B of Aeronaes de Mexico, bound from New York for Mexico City, crashed Thursday night seconds after taking off in a windwhipped snowstorm at Idlewild airport. Of the 106 persons reported aboard, 102 escaped death, although at least 26 were injured, several critically; several aboard said a lack of hysteria probably saved a lot of lives. The huge ship's speed sent it slamming across a highway, clipping an auto and skidding in flames into a marsh. The dead tentatively were identified as four of the eight crew members.

Louis Rosenbaum Gorgas Nominee

Among Six Alabamians Slated For Award In 1961 By State Medicos

The William Crawford Gorgas award for 1961 has been announced for six distinguished Alabamians by Dr. J. Michaelson, chairman of the committee on public relations for the Medical Association of the State of Alabama.

This year's nominees are: Louis Rosenbaum, Florence; Marc Ray Clement, Tuscaloosa; Nimrod Fraser, Montgomery; Frank S. Keeler, Mobile; Mrs. Maude Killian, Anniston; and E. A. McBride, Talladega.

The William Crawford Gorgas Award was established in 1958 in honor of the world famous Alabama physician who devoted much of his outstanding career to the conquering of malaria and yellow fever in Cuba and the Panama Canal, and is awarded annually to a non-physician who devoted much of his work in the field of health.

Senator Lister Hill was the first recipient of this award and Marc Ray Clement received the award in 1959 for his contributions to the field of tuberculosis. Last year's award was given to Paul Johnson of Birmingham in recognition of his work in promoting facilities and care for the mentally ill in Alabama.

EDWARD HUNTER SMOOT

"As we have grown industrially in Florence and the surrounding area, a wonderful balance between agriculture and industry has developed that has made this area a favored spot in the nation," Mr. Smoot said as he reviewed the development of the district since the advent of the TVA.

"It has always been interesting to me, a native and lifelong resident of Florence, to see the affect our community has had on all who have settled among us. No person, that I can recall now, who has found it necessary to move to another city had done so without deep regret. Even those families who have been with us for a short time find Florence an ideal place in which to live and make a living. No finer tribute to our people and the splendid growth we have experienced in the past quarter of a century could be made," Mr. Smoot said.

Edward Hunter Smoot was born in Florence, April 12, 1916, the son of Robert Sidney and Minnie Cromwell Smoot. He attended Gilbert Elementary School and was graduated from Coffee High School in 1934.

While at Coffee, Mr. Smoot played center on the Coffee High Yellow Jackets football team and was a member of the "C" Club for two years. He was a member of the Litteresque Society and the H-Y Club.

Following his graduation from Coffee, Mr. Smoot attended Florence State College, continuing his studies there until 1937 when he accepted a position as a book-keeper with the First National Bank. In 1939, he was promoted to head bookkeeper, continuing in that position until he was called into Army service in January, 1943.

Mr. Smoot received his military training at Camp Stewart, Ga. and Camp Davis, N.C. where he was graduated from Officers Candidate School with the rank of 2nd Lieutenant. He served for a short time at Camp Hulen in Texas when he was ordered to the Tennessee training area where he was named umpire for the 2nd Army maneuvers.

His unit was ordered overseas in 1945 and he served in England, France, Belgium, Holland and Germany during the European fighting. At the time he was with the 788th Anti Aircraft Artillery Battalion, 9th Air Force. During the Battle of the Bulge, his battalion was attached to the First Army. In 1945, while in Belgium, he was promoted to First Lieutenant.

Mr. Smoot's European ribbon has three battle stars and he was awarded the Belgium Croix de Guerre and Fourragere de Guerre, citations awarded for Anti-Aircraft defense accomplishments. At the end of the war with Germany, Mr. Smoot was placed in charge of two camps in France where men were being processed for return to the States. In March, 1946, Mr. Smoot returned to the United States and was relieved from active duty at Ft. McPherson, Georgia following his promotion to the rank of captain.

He returned to Florence immediately and in April 1946, resumed his connection with the First National Bank, being promoted to teller. Subsequently, he was made note teller and assistant cashier.

Mr. Smoot was married to Grace Wright of Springville, August 14, 1938. They have three daughters, Jan, 16, a junior at Coffee High School; Judy, 14, a freshman at Coffee; and Jenny, 6, a student at Mrs. Darby's Kindergarten.

In January, 1951, Mr. Smoot was called back into military service and served during the Korean War as a member of the local National Guard Battalion, assigned as S-3, with the rank of Major. The local Anti-Aircraft Battalion was made a part of the 31st Infantry Division. After approximately 18 months service in different areas of the United States, he returned to Florence in late 1952, assuming his duties at the First National Bank with the position of Vice-President in charge of the Loan Department.

Mr. Smoot pursued special stu-

2. All members would have only one vote, regardless of how many shares he owned, thus a democratic control was insured.

3. Money received from the merchandise would be divided among the members.

5. The members would not be influenced by religious or personal difference.

As was then, co-op of today must follow along the same lines to succeed.

About the turn of the century farmers saw they were going to have to get the most out of their dollar investments. For all of this, they would need extra money to invest in seeds of better qualities, more basic and mineral plant foods, and more equipment to get the job done faster and better. They borrowed from Credit Union (you'll hear about these later), and when their crops were harvested, they would pay their debts. This was the beginning of modern credit through co-op.

The basic types of co-ops include the marketing, consumer and credit unions.

The marketing co-ops of today are of the same type and follow along the same lines as the Rochdale one. It buys from a dealer wholesale and sells for a small profit. This is the case of the co-op of ours in town. Co-ops handle the farmers' necessary items such as: fertilizers, seeds, feeds, tools, building materials, and many other numerous items.

The consumer co-ops are a group of business men banded together to buy better products at a cheaper price. One example is the Bi-Rite foods stores of Nashville, of which I'm sure many of you have seen advertised on television. They are such a group of business men, who buy wholesale and sell for a small profit. In doing this, they have followed the 5 basic rules and have a successful chain going.

The Credit Unions such as the PCA (Production Credit Ass't.) were established in 1933, to help farmers during the depression years. As the Big Boom WWII, the farmers saw the advantages of credit. They show in these figures: In 1933, the farmers capital investment about $4 million, in 1938 just five years later the total figure had jumped to a roaring $14.7 million and finally in 1958 farmers' credit was 120 million. Such unions as the PCA, Federal Land Bank, and Farm Bureau are co-ops which extend money for the farmers' items such as: livestock investment, seeds, fertilizers, machinery, and many times even help pay for the farm itself. We, of Florence are fortunate to have such unions headed by fine men like Mr. Luther Thompson of the Federal Land Bank, Mr. W. T. Burns of the PCA, Mr. James Brown of the Florence Co-op. These co-ops not only serve the counties of Lauderdale, Colbert and Franklin, but the counties of Lawrence, Lamar, Fayette, Walker, Winston, and Marion.

The idea of co-ops now applies to anything and everything. Here are just a few headlines and minutes from magazines and papers: Jersey Herdmen form union for sale of high-quality milk. Truck farmers now own new building for sale of nutritive vegetable.

Such headlines as these will be a familiar sight in years to come. In 1958 a group of business men following along these same lines bought 10,000 Tenn. Beauty strawberry plants for each community in their county. This encouraged other farmers to set their goals. As a result of this Tennessee was placed third in production of strawberries.

We, of the South and I quote from the Progressive Farmer "The South has a strong force of natural resources, hard working labor, and when put to an advantage will make us a great farming region."

Co-ops are a major cause in helping to make it the great if not greatest farm region in the U. S.

The 4-H and FFA clubs in this county have pig chains which illustrate the fact that small co-ops are growing continually.

You and your friends are now reaping from co-ops. In years to come your sons and mine will benefit more as the co-ops of today improve. I only hope I have helped to enlighten your mind about the benefits you can receive from your co-ops.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO THIS WEEK

One hundred years ago this week, Louisiana was the 6th state to secede from the Union and Kansas was the 34th state admitted. Louisiana seceded on January 26, 1861, and Kansas was admitted three days later on January 29, 1861.

Also 100 years ago, on January 25, 1861, Jefferson Davis was commissioned Major General in the Forces of Mississippi. This proved to be temporary as he was soon to be drafted as President of the newly formed Confederate States of America.

UNIONS MUST FILE '60 REPORTS BY FEB. 1

State Labor Director Olin B. Brooks said all labor organizations of at least 25 members operating in Alabama should file the reports. They are required by the Bradford Act.

Forms are available at the State Labor Department, 600 Administrative Building, Montgomery.

Twilight Ceremony Unites Miss Butler, Mr. Richardson

In a double ring ceremony on Saturday, January twenty-first, Rose Marie Butler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Lester Earl Butler of Chisholm Road, Florence, became the bride of Charles Edward Richardson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Newman Richardson of Athens, in Stony Point Church of Christ.

Claud Lewis, minister of the church, read the half past five o'clock vows after a vocal prelude presented by Mrs. Lewis and a supporting chorus.

Basket arrangements of white gladioli interspersed with candelabra of burning white tapers decorated the greenery-banked altar as a background for the wedding tableau.

Mr. Butler escorted his daughter and gave her in marriage. For the occasion she was gowning in lace over bridal satin designed with a vertically tucked yoke re-embroidered with rhinestones and pearls, long sleeves which tapered to the wrists and a full, floor-length skirt. Her veil of silk illusion cascaded to fingertip length from a jeweled headpiece of lace and a white orchid showered with lilies of the valley and white satin streamers marked her white Bible.

Attendants were Mrs. David Sharp, matron of honor; Cherion Alexander and Cathy Butler, cousins of the bride, and Alma Call and Rhoda Wilks, cousins of the bridegroom, bridesmaids; Joyce Hale (replacing Teddy Butler who became ill) and Anne Moore, flower girls; and Ira Butler, young brother of the bride, ringbearer.

Mrs. Sharp wore a rose pink frock; the maids were in pale green and the flower girls in pale pink. Their chrysanthemum bouquets were tinted to match their dresses.

Hubert Cheatum of Athens served Mr. Richardson as best man and groomsmen included the bride's brother, Trent Butler, and her cousins, Charles and Jerry Alexander, and Milton Sewell, all of Florence.

Assisting at the reception which took place in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Butler, aunt and uncle of the bride, immediately after the ceremony were Miss Dorothy Alexander, a cousin, and Miss Rebecca Swineea, Miss Faye McDonald and Miss Charlotte Clemmons.

For traveling, the bride changed to a suit of gold-colored jersey, a small feathered hat of the same shade and black accessories. Her corsage was her bouquet orchid.

Mr. and Mrs. Richardson have returned from their short wedding trip and are at home on Sharp's Mill Road.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. L. W. Weir and daughter, Ann, Mr. and Mrs. Clyde Hargrove, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Blankenship, Mr. and Mrs. Hubert Shivers and daughter, Othelia, all of Athens.

Quiet Ceremony Marks Hunt-Hines Nuptials

Before an improvised altar decorated with arrangements of white gladioli and lighted by wedding tapers, Miss Peggy Sue Hunt became the bride of Elbert Harris Hines at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Edward Hunt, 3515 Old Lee Highway, on Friday evening, January thirteenth.

The bridegroom's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Harold Hines of 229 Broadway.

Ellis Coats, minister of Weeden Heights Church of Christ, read the half past seven o'clock vows in the presence of a guest company composed of family members.

Miss Ann Kretzer, vocalist, presented appropriate selections. The bride's street-length dress of white wool, designed with bracelet sleeves and rounded neckline, was worn with a small white hat and she carried a single white orchid. She was given in marriage by her father.

Wearing a pink frock and carrying matching camellias, Miss Joyce Hunt was her sister's only attendant. William Owen Hines, brother of the bridegroom, was best man.

Assisting at the reception which immediately followed the ceremony were Mrs. Avon Keeton, Mrs. James Fenn and Mrs. Edward Fenn, aunts of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Hines are now at home at 126 Franklin Street, Florence.

Blossoming plants lent additional charm in the livingroom and, in the diningroom, the party table was covered with an imported cut-work cloth and centered with an heirloom tureen of jonquils and Dutch lilies.

THE ENTHUSIASM AND INTEREST WHICH local citizens showed in the conventions last summer and in the election in November carried over to the inauguration it seems, because there was talk of many viewing parties that lasted all day and into the night for the balls. (Which proves two things: that television has had a decided effect on our "way of life," and also, Florentines have a special talent for turning any event into a party.) Also hear that each member of the student body at Kilby Training School was instructed to bring a blanket on which to relax while watching history-in-the-making. Learning was never so much fun in our day!

ANOTHER ELECTION COMING UP is of interest to many of us—and especially to local Lions. Bob Lehr is in line for District Governor for this active civic club and local members are campaigning hard for him. Not only is the honor involved, but also a trip to Paris this spring for the Lions International convention. (We wonder, with Mary, we know) if wives can be included. Anyway, if a vote comes our way, we pledge it to Bob!

PASSPORTS IN ORDER for our friends Catherine (Frost) Cavallari and Little Monique who are now, visiting Margaret and Bill, before leaving with Sergio to make their home in Rome, Italy. We can certainly bet that Bill and Margaret are making plans for a visit with them, and learning Italian should be easy for Margaret, who was the brilliant teacher of foreign languages at Coffee High at one time!

"DON'T GO NEAR THE LAKE" is the song being sung in duet form by (Dr.) Earl Fraser and Floyd McCoy—and not without reason. According to the reports we heard, it was on just about the same spot where Floyd received injuries last summer that Earl recently gave a repeat performance. And all because he was looking ahead and getting his place on Lauderdale beach in ship-shape for next summer. Glad to hear that he's out now, and except for a few stitches decorating his face, "good as new."

A NICE VACATION (well deserved by surgeon-Wyatt and Helen Simpson took them to Birmingham and Montgomery recently where they mixed pleasure with medical meetings. And we think that one of the nicest things about it all was that they didn't have to give family responsibilities a thought, because Frances and Frank Mosier (with blonde-mop-

UNDERSTAND that our new homemakers' specialty shop, pre-icta... last week, is to open on February 1st—at the old Gift Box location, and it is to be known as CHINA SHOP—something fancy and different... then we also hear that ELOISE'S is being moved to South Cherry street, under new management. We're glad its just a change of location and not a decrease for this fascinating little shop... also, noticing a cleanin' n clearin' in the building on the corner of Mobile and Seminary street, we found that it's to be a drug store, soon.

WHICH REMINDS US of something else we've been HEARING... after all the talk about a location for our new court house 't would appear that if there's to be a move, it'll be very slight—but still a move.

AND WHILE our commercial and civic life is going about in a daisy way, the cultural side of our urban existence seems just as energetic... Art-wise, we hear of more and more classes that are being held, the latest being taught by artist Wayland Hawkins, a recent graduate of Florence State... who is making every minute count until he leaves for active duty with the U.S. Army—teaching a class in portrait painting... And have you heard of the talented and attractive visitor to whom the Stanley Rosenbaums are hosts? The interesting thing is that she, Sara Mayfield, is doing a bust of Stanley... literary-wise—look in the January issue of GOOD HOUSE-

KEEPING and read a lovely poem entitled "To a Young Mariner," and feel proud to know its author, Morton Prouty... oratory-wise—we're also proud of our State Senator Bert Halton, who is to debate reapportionment at the state meeting early in February of the Alabama Press Association in Huntsville... philanthropy-wise—we are so interested in the newest undertaking of our good friend (Doc) Henry Cheney... he collects old, discarded eyeglass frames and sends them away to an organization which "sees" that they are used for needy people... we understand that he has already sent dozens of frames away, and that he is still "going strong" on the collecting.

THE BASSINET SET of Jasper announces the arrival of a new member... Missie Lestelle Hudson... who was welcomed on Monday, the 16th, at Walker County Hospital by proud parents... former Florentine Mary June (Thrasher) and Bill Hudson... In case you haven't guessed... the little charmer's name is a derivation from her two grandmothers'... Lee (Hudson) and Estelle (Thrasher)... the latter (who's presently a-visitin' her Jasper "chillun" and plans to remain with them for another week or more) is a well-known Central Heights resident and a prominent member of our Herald "family"... Our congrats and dearest love to all... UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY, IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW.

Newsman Named To Hall Of Honor

Installation To Take Place At APA Meeting At Huntsville In March

Three outstanding Alabama newspapermen will be installed in the two-year-old Alabama Newspaper Hall of Honor when editors and publishers meet at Huntsville next month for their 90th annual winter convention.

They are Benjamin McGowan Bloodworth (1896-1953), editor of the Decatur Daily for 30 years; Isaac Grant (1828-1907), founder of what is now The Clarke County Democrat at Grove Hill and its editor and publisher for 50 years; and Charles Herd Greer, (1860-1939), founder of a number of Alabama papers including the Sylacauga News which he edited for 30 years.

The three men will join four others installed during the 1960 meeting of the Alabama Press Association, a trade and professional organization of weekly and daily newspapers which inaugurated the Newspaper Hall of Honor two years ago.

A native of Alexander City, Bloodworth began his newspaper career with The Decatur Daily. Except for one year as state editor of The Birmingham News, and 21 months in the U.S. Navy during World War I, he spent his life as editor of the North Alabama daily which was founded by W. R. Shelton.

Isaac Grant was born in Onslow County, North Carolina in 1828, but at the age of four, moved with his parents to a farm six miles west of Linden. He lived the life of a farmer until 1853 when he and his brother, Walter H. Grant, replaced one of the founders of The Linden Jeffersonian.

Two years later he moved to Grove Hill and within a few months of suspension immediately after the Civil War, Grant edited and published The Democrat as long as lived.

Charles H. Greer, a native of Georgia, established his first newspaper at Wedowee in 1877 at the age of 17. In 1886 he established The Chambers County Democrat at LaFayette and in 1889 The Opelika Industrial News with Hugh Wilson. They sold the News in 1895 and moved to Birmingham where they established The Birmingham State. Some years later, this paper was consolidated with the Age-Herald forming the State-Herald. Greer was the State-Herald managing editor until 1897 when he helped form the new Birmingham Ledger, which he managed.

Alabama Soldiers Honored In N. J.

Alabama and New Jersey joined hands Wednesday at Salem Church, Virginia, to rededicate an unusual Civil War monument.

Erected in 1907 by New Jersey, the monument honors both the 23rd New Jersey Volunteer Regiment and the Ninth Alabama Regiment of Volunteers who opposed them in the fighting around Salem Church in the Battle of Chancellorsville, near Fredericksburg on May 3, 1863.

The monument has on one side an inscription to the soldiers of the 23rd New Jersey Volunteer Regiment, and on the other side a bronze plaque pays tribute to the Ninth Alabama Volunteer Regiment. The inscription on the plaque reads: "To the brave Alabama boys who appeared on this field of battle, whose memory we honor, this tablet is dedicated."

Bond Sales Up In Lauderdale

Lauderdale County sales in December totalled $77,713 bringing the county's sales to date this year to $730,421 or 138.1% of the year's goal of $529,000.

State Chairman Thad Holt announced today that Alabama's Series E and H Savings Bonds sales through December total $43,941,710 — or 93.1% of the 1960 goal of $47,200,000.

National sales for the calendar year total $4,350,000,000 or 93.5% of the 1960 goal.

The 28 counties in Alabama which surpassed their goals are Blount, Calhoun, Cherokee, Chilton, Choctaw, Coffee, Colbert, one man.

Dale, Dallas, Dekalb, Etowah, Henry, Jackson, Lamar, Lauderdale, Lawrence, Lee, Limestone, Madison, Marion, Marshall, Marengo, Mobile, Monroe, St. Clair, Sumter, Tallapoosa, and Winston.

FEBRUARY DRAFT CALL INCLUDES 308 ALABAMIANS

State Director Walter M. Thompson, Jr., said today that a total of 308 men would be called to the Montgomery induction station during February to fill Alabama's Selective Service quota.

Alabama's February call for 308 inductees compares with a call of 306 for January. The national quota is the same — 6,000 men, all earmarked for army service. Lauderdale County will supply only one man.

Southern Bell Earnings Shown In Annual Report

The 1960 annual earnings of Southern Bell Telephone Company dropped one cent per share below those of 1959, it was reported today by company officials.

The utility, which operates in nine southern states, earned $1.88 per share during the year just ending. In the preceding year of 1959, the earnings were $1.89 per share.

Despite the lower earnings, Southern Bell's construction expenditures in Alabama continued to rise. Spending during 1960 was a record $33,248,000, an increase of $1,326,000 above the outlay of 1959. The Company also reported that Southern Bell operators handled approximately 7.1 per cent more long distance calls last year than in 1959. During 1960, however, 8,070 fewer telephones were gained than during the prior year.

Each 10 cents saved per pullet housed cuts production costs about 1/2 cent per dozen eggs.

Come to Church for Services

"A FAMILY THAT WORSHIPS TOGETHER—STAYS TOGETHER"

It's easy to jump. Just leave the solid trail behind you and soar into space.

But before you jump—learn how to land! One man can alight gracefully and continue his course. Another will wrap his skis around his head and end up in the hospital.

There are important life-decisions we often describe as "taking the leap." Going to college, choosing a career, getting married—these are just a few. And these "leaps" lead to happiness for some—and tragedy for others.

The Church with its program of worship and religious education makes essential contributions to our life. For what happens after our major "leaps" depends on the character which has been instilled in us, and on the principles by which we live.

The Church prepares us for the leaps we are going to take by teaching us how to land happily, and to continue a right course throughout life.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Reapportionment To Be Debated At APA Convention

Publishers Will Hear Haltom And Lee Discuss Issue At Banquet Feb. 10

Alabama newspaper publishers will hear reapportionment debated by two of the state's outstanding legislators—one from the state's TVA area and the other from the Wiregrass section—when the Alabama Press Association holds its 90th annual convention February 9, 10, and 11 at Huntsville.

Scheduled to give newspapermen a preview of the issue which is expected to keep the Alabama Legislature busy next summer are Sen. E. B. (Bert) Haltom, Jr. of Florence, and Rep. McDowell Lee of Clio in Barbour County.

The debate, which will include discussion of Haltom's proposed reapportionment bill, will follow the major banquet of the convention Friday night, February 10.

Both Haltom and Lee were first elected to the House of Representatives in 1954. In 1958 Lee won reelection to his seat in the House and Haltom was successful in his campaign for election as state senator representing Lauderdale and Limestone Counties.

Following the 1958 regular and special sessions of the Legislature, the two men were chosen by the capitol press corps as the best debaters in the House and Senate.

Haltom, 38-year-old advocate of reapportionment, is a native of Florence where he is a practicing attorney. He served in the U. S. Army Air Force in World War II and since his return from service has been active in civic and church affairs.

During the convention, publishers will tour Redstone Arsenal where they will hear lectures by Maj. Gen. August Schomburg, commanding general of the U. S. Army Ordnance Missile Command, and Dr. Werner von Braun, director of the George C. Marshall Space Flight Center.

Newspapermen also will install three former Alabama editors in the Alabama Newspaper Hall of Honor, announce winners in the U. S. Savings Bonds promotion contest, elect and install new officers, and hear annual reports.

Retiring president of the group is James E. Mills, editor of The Birmingham Post-Herald. Other officers are Harold S. May, co-publisher, The Florence Herald, first vice president; Glenn Stanley, publisher, The Greenville Advocate, second vice president; Bill Stewart, publisher, The Monroe Journal, Monroeville; and Jones Giles, secretary-manager.

Medical Care Of Aged Is Planned By State Agency

An emergency hospitalization program for Alabama old age pensioners may be in operation by April 1.

This is the target date set by Alvin T. Prestwood, commissioner of the State Department of Pension and Security. He met last week with a nine-member advisory group to work out a comprehensive medical care program.

The Alabama program will be enlarged as additional funds become available to provide for the total medical needs of the aging. Alabama's program is actually already in operation for old age pensioners in licensed nursing homes. Under the new medical care plan, the Federal government is contributing additional money for their upkeep.

Under present law, the Federal government puts up funds for old age pensions on a three-to-one matching basis and funds for medical care on a four-to-one basis. But even with the Federal funds, Alabama's program for medical care will be limited to about $2.5 million for the first year.

Reynolds Metals Has Widest Mill

New "Hot Line" Part Of Three-Year Expansion Nearing Completion

The world's widest aluminum coiled sheet and plate now is being mass produced on a complete new "hot line" at the Reynolds Metals Company Alloys Plant at Lister-hill.

"This new line is part of our continuing program to bring the advantages of greater strip and plate widths, larger coils and mass production techniques to our customers," said W. M. Wells, vice president, operations.

Both the 170-inch wide reversing mill which heads the new line and the four-stand 120-inch continuous strip mill at the other end are the widest aluminum rolling mills in the world, according to D. H. Hipp, plant manager.

David P. Reynolds, executive vice president of the Richmond, Va., based aluminum company, said: "These new mills and their related equipment put our company in the lead in meeting a growing customer demand for wider sheet and plate. Obviously, the wider a piece of aluminum we can supply, the fewer welding or other fastening operations the customer will have, with a resultant saving to him."

G. L. Sims, general manufacturing manager for sheet products, said the new "hot line" and related equipment were major parts of a three-year expansion program now nearing completion at the Alloys Plant.

New Extension Courses Will Be Offered By FSC

Florence State College will offer the first of three spring semester extension courses in early February.

Measurement and Evaluation 401 will be taught by W. L.
