

The Passing Parade

By HAROLD S. MAY

What a happy day it will be when all branches of our county government, the courts and the various departments and agencies will be housed in a handsome new courthouse. It is good to know that all obstacles to its erection on the block just South of the present 60-year-old courthouse have been removed and that a definite date for the beginning of construction can be seen. Although we had been of the opinion that the present courthouse site could have been used for the new building, we now can see that more space was needed if a modern structure was to be erected that would provide better access and other facilities than the smaller area could provide. We congratulate those in charge.

If you think that people don't listen to what you say, just try repeating a joke you told them a month ago.

The interview with the beauty contest winner, who just knew the movie studios were waiting to make use of her talents, was long and aimless and the casting director had just about had his fill. With the final question answered and the budding star on the way out, he wrote on her card: "Bust 42-1. Q. to match."

Statistics can be used to support anything, including statisticians.

It was one of those families where the wife was definitely the boss and each week the mild little husband brought home his pay envelope unopened. She would open it, check the amount then count out just enough for his lunches for the coming week. One day the timid fellow rushed into the house all excited and almost beside himself. "You'll never guess what has happened," he told his wife. "I've just won $50,000 on a sweepstake ticket." "Wonderful," said the wife, and immediately calmed down. "And where did you get the money to buy the ticket?" she demanded.

Old Timer: A fellow who remembers when a man did his own withholding on his own take-home pay.

The young fellow came to his office the other morning truly down and out. It was easy to see that something terrible had happened to him. A friend asked the reason for his hang-dog appearance and he confided that his girl friend had turned down his proposal of marriage. His friend explained that a woman's "no" often means "yes" and he should give up. The poor fellow looked up and explained: "She didn't say 'no' she said 'phooey.'"

Feeling altogether unimportant is the sensation that comes when one makes a mistake which no one notices.

We are told of one of those fellows who always stops to pick up hitchhikers. In this case it was a true-blue beatnik that thumbed the ride. A short time later at a road crossing, he asked his passenger if anything was coming. Looking down the road, the beatnik said: "Big dog, Dad, big dog!" So the driver pulled out in the road. Suddenly — Crash! Twenty-four hours later, the driver awoke in the hospital and looked over into the adjoining bed. There lay the beatnik. Realizing that there must have been a terrible wreck, he asked: "I thought you said nothing was coming but a big dog?" "Man, like a Greyhound," replied the beatnik.

Down Miami Beach way it seems that each yacht owner tries to outdo the others with the name selected for his craft. Names like Moonbeam, Wanderer, Sea Sprite and such are painted on the hulls. However, the yacht that catches the eye of most visitors is the one on which is painted its simple name: $18,500.

Newspapers are like women. Every man should have one of his own and not have to borrow from his neighbor.

One day the pretty young maid in the New York home of a tightwad mistress went to her room after lunch and did not appear to prepare dinner. Her employer went to her room and became alarmed to find her in bed, obviously ill. She quickly called the family doctor and upon his arrival sent him to the maid's room. The maid confessed that she was not ill. "Doctor, I'm not sick at all, but this tightwad employer of mine owes me three months' salary and I'm not getting out of bed until she pays me." The doctor's face brightened, then said: "She owes me for the last twelve visits — move over."

Greatest Proration In 5 Years

State School Spending Cut Back 14.14 Per Cent

Final figures Tuesday showed that state school spending had been cut back 14.14 per cent or nearly $20 million during the fiscal year ending September 30. In other words the schools received a total of $131.5 million instead of the $151.3 million appropriated. It was the fifth straight year of prorated education funds brought on by failure of school tax revenues to meet income estimates on which appropriations had been based.

This was the deepest cut thus far, the next biggest cutback being for fiscal 1959-60 when it was 8.35. Other years were 1958-59 with 3.54 per cent; 1957-58 with 7.82 per cent, and the 1956-57 year with a cutback of 2.78.

Local Effects
In round figures Florence loses $124,000 and Lauderdale County loses $122,000, however Florence like Tusculumbia and Sheffield, is in line for supplemental funds, it was stated.

According to Supt. of Schools Rufus G. Hibbett, the State Department of Education set the 1960-61 appropriations at $910,000 but Florence will get only $786,000, a loss of $124,000.

Five mill increases in the ad valorem tax have been approved by the Legislature for Lauderdale County, Florence, Sheffield and Tusculumbia, however the measures must be approved in a statewide vote on December 5 and then by a local vote later.

School officials feel that this will be adequate to insure full operation and full salaries for teachers and school employees and in addition provide adequate funds for full terms in future years.

The announcement that Lauderdale County Schools would operate with teachers guaranteed their full contracts was made September 11 and county schools opened on September 18.

Supplemental payments mentioned above are based on average daily attendance and teacher units, it was explained. At the end of the year supplemental funds are given to school systems that have higher daily attendance and more teachers.

Officials Hold Annual Election Of Commission

The new Board of Commissioners for the City of Florence was set up Tuesday afternoon with Mayor E. F. Martin elected president of the Board, ex-officio mayor and commissioner of the department of public safety and public health.

Alvah E. Hall was elected vice-mayor and commissioner of the department of accounts, finances, and public affairs, and of the department of utilities; and L. L. Whitten, Jr., succeeding George J. Green, was elected commissioner of streets, parks, and public property, and of city and public improvements.

The First National Bank, Florence, was designated as the official depository for the City of Florence during the fiscal year of 1962.

Items of discussion were a resolution that the city bills be paid; authorization for the Mayor to sign a note in the amount of $48,000 to provide money to pay the third estimate on the Florence Street program; and Police Chief Noah H. Danley was given authority to prohibit all parking on Prospect Street between Nellie Ave and Hawthorne St. The same restriction of parking was directed on Sherrod Avenue from Circle Road to Hawthorne St.

A resolution was passed by the Board to the effect that the downtown parking meters will be enforced on Wednesday afternoons after November 1, 1961.

Kent's Dollar Store Plans Opening In Kroger Building

Kent's Dollar Store, one of a chain of popular priced merchandise stores operated by the Shainberg Company of Memphis, will open in the building formerly occupied by Kroger on North Court street on Friday, October 27, according to Jack M. Rogan, who is in charge of the remodeling of the building now in progress.

Mr. Rogan said that the store will be one of the most attractive in the entire chain and will feature all-white fixtures that make shopping super-market easy. He pointed out that Kent's feature quality merchandise throughout but that the great buying volume makes it easy to give bargain prices throughout.

The system of displays makes it possible for customers to wait on themselves with ease and then expedite their purchases as they take the merchandise to the cashier and wrapping counter.

This will eliminate the overlapping of authority between the Circuit and Law and Equity Courts that formerly existed. The new system leaves the Circuit Court much as before except for the appointment of a second judge and endows the new Inferior Court with part of the responsibility that was once invested in the Law and Equity Court plus jurisdiction over all misdemeanors at the expense of Justice of the Peace Courts.

Lovelace Assumes Tax Assessor Post

B. P. Lovelace, Jr., Monday assumed his new duties as Lauderdale County tax assessor, succeeding acting tax assessor Mrs. Helen Murphy, who was appointed when the office was left vacant by the resignation of Estes Flynt, who resigned to run a successful race for Probate Judge.

While Mr. Lovelace had worked for some eight years in the Probate Judge's office and in the county government, it is his first time in public office defeating Mrs. Murphy in the Democratic primary in May 1960.

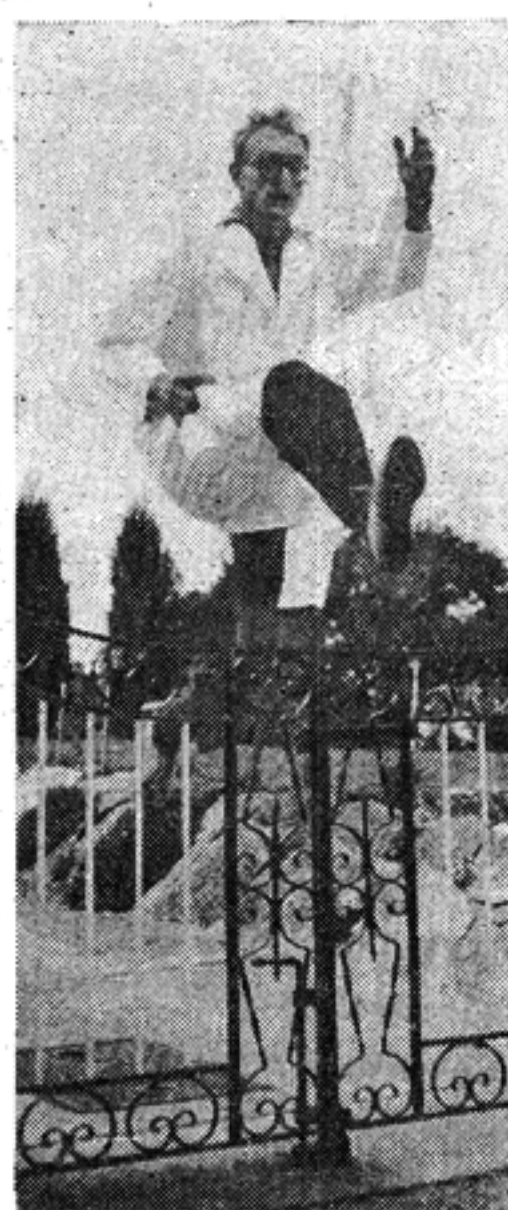

Mr. Lovelace, who is a native of Lauderdale County, served three years in the United States Army in World War II and is an active member of the American Legion. He also worked for the Tennessee Valley Authority for a number of months.

"I am honored and grateful for my election to this office," Mr. Lovelace said, "and I want everyone to feel free to call on me at any time I can be of service."

The Lovelaces have three children. They reside on the Savannah Highway.

MILKMAN—This is Ralph Thomas' normal way of delivering milk to the doors of his customers in Poole, Dorset, England. The 27-year-old winner of the Dorset high jump finds that he can work while he trains with leaping success. In five years of delivering milk in this unusual manner, he has broken one record, or rather, he has one broken record: one bottle.

Some 650 workers at the Ford Motor Company plant at Listerhill remained out on strike at press time as Ford plants across the nation were idled. The one hundred salaried workers however remained at their jobs as bargaining continued at the national level in Detroit. The general walkout was ordered at 10 a.m. on Tuesday.

When a national settlement is reached local Ford officials and members of the UAW local bargaining committee will meet to discuss settlement terms.

There has been no formal statement issued by either Ford or union officials regarding the local level, workers holding a meeting however at the VFW Hall in Sheffield on Tuesday night.

The UAW struck Tuesday to support new contract demands that primarily concern working conditions and other non-economic matters. While the strike occurred some two hours before the strike deadline after ninety-six days of negotiating had failed to bring about a settlement, the 120,000 Ford production workers walked out without fan fare. Ford operates 88 plants in 26 states.

Ford's vice president of industrial relations Malcolm L. Denise, said the issues were "of great importance... based on outward distance between us."

Walter Reuther, UAW president, said "the union did all it could to avoid the strike. After more than 95 days the UAW official said they failed to clear up even the economic details."

The economic package closely resembled the union's agreement with General Motors, recently concluded.

Stumbling blocks are: production standards, especially on assembly lines; union representation by more full-time company-paid committeemen; lines of demarcation in skilled trades; farming out work, and special issues involving the Ford steel plant at Dearborn, Mich.

Cost of Strike
Based on their current earnings, Ford Motor Company hourly employees will lose more than $2,600,000 in wages every day a strike continues.

This is exclusive of other employee benefits. It also does not take into account the economic gains offered Ford employees in proposals made by the company during recent contract negotiations with the UAW.

New Courthouse Hours Announced

Lauderdale County Probate Judge Estes R. Flynt has announced the new duty hours for Lauderdale County Courthouse Employees.

Beginning Monday, office hours were extended a half hour from the normal 4:30 p.m. to 5 p.m. Monday through Friday, and from 8 a.m. to noon on Saturday. The new hours will remain in effect until February 1, 1962.

The shift was accomplished to meet the needs of the public during taxpaying time, assessing time and licensing time which all began Monday.

Doyle R. Young, President of Lauderdale County Public Building Authority, Inc., has announced that much of the red tape connected with the plans to build the new Lauderdale County courthouse and jail have now been removed. Agreements have been reached with most of the property owners in the city block to the south of the present courthouse where the new structure will be built.

The group of property owners include the Florence City Municipal Government; Gulf Oil Company; the estate property on which the bus station is located; and Hibbett and Sons Sporting Goods Co.

Already condemned by action in the Lauderdale County Probate Court is the Kernachan property on the northeast corner of the block. Proceedings are now being launched against the Eady property on Alabama Street immediately west of the Gulf Service Station.

An inspection tour of various new courthouses in southern cities will be conducted so that firsthand information and ideas may be made available.

Northridge, Smith and Kranert of Florence are the architects for the project.

Plans call for a thoroughly modern courthouse and jail structure to house all present county offices with adequate parking space for employees and persons who transact business with the county.

Actual construction is expected to start shortly after title has been cleared on the various parcels of property comprising the new site.

Warrants Authorized

A resolution was signed on Monday night by the Lauderdale County Court of Commissioners authorizing the issuance and sale of warrants to pay for the needs of a new courthouse. The resolution was drawn up by the law firm of Dumas, O'Neal and Hayes, Birmingham.

Probate Judge Estes R. Flynt, ex-officio head of the county government, pointed out that the present program will not entail additional taxation for the people of Lauderdale County but that funds will be drawn from the 2½ mill tax authorized in 1901 by Section 215 of the State Constitution and by Title 12, Sections 185, 186 and 191 of the Code of Alabama 1940. This tax has long been earmarked for the specific purpose of public buildings in Lauderdale County. This tax will continue to be collected and transferred to a "sinking fund" set up specifically for the Courthouse building program.

The warrants totaling $931,000 will be offered and ordered sold by authority of the resolution to Sterne, Agee and Leach, Hendrix & Mayes, Inc., and Broadnax & Knight, Inc., Birmingham; and to Thornton, Mohr, Farish and Gauntt, Inc. of Montgomery.

Hospital Warrants Included

Cost of the new courthouse and jail, complete with land, now in the process of being legally cleared, is anticipated to be in the neighborhood of $1,250,000. In the issue of warrants will be the financing of $231,000 in warrants issued Feb. 1, 1959 for improvements and additions to ECM Hospital. The warrants will cover a 30-year payment period with rates of interest averaging 4.1475 per cent per annum. They will be issued in denominations of $1,000 recovery being graduated from $10,000 during 1962 to $52,000 during 1991. This escalator system of recovery was established in order to allow payment of interest semi-annually on all outstanding bonds.

Of special interest to county taxpayers is that the general fund of the county cannot be held liable for recovery of the warrants. Should interest rates be lower in ten years it will be possible to call in the warrants for re-issue.

Better Be Safe Than Sorry

Each year public attention is called to the importance of preventing fires. This is done largely through national observance of Fire Prevention Week in October when fire hazards are greatest. The public is reminded during this week of the many ways of preventing fires and the attendant tragic loss of life and property that yearly takes an astronomical toll.

Everyone can help prevent fires because most fires are preventable. This slogan adopted by the U. S. Forest Service is applicable at all times and in all areas where fires cause substantial losses: "a tree can make a million matches but one match can destroy a million trees."

So in view of the great importance of preventing fires, not only during Fire Prevention Week but every week let us suggest a few "do not's":

1. Be careful when smoking. Put the cigarette out.
2. Put inflammables in a safe place.
3. Keep matches away from children.
4. Check on heating equipment and flues.
5. Check cellar and attic for inflammables.
6. Check electrical appliances and cords.
7. Use correct fuse sizes, check wiring.
8. Don't burn trash when windy.
9. Be sure camp fires are out.
10. Never use gasoline to start a fire.

The above "do not's" are only a few of the common sense things to observe in fire prevention. Keep buckets of sand or a fire extinguisher handy in home or buildings as fires may be readily extinguished when they are small. The main thing is to keep calm and if the fire cannot be extinguished then call the fire department without delay. Turning in an alarm soon enough may well prevent serious loss.

Fire loss is tragic in almost all instances, especially where the home or business is destroyed or damaged. It is well, in addition to taking all the precautions you can, to be sure your property is adequately insured. You can find out from your agent if you have enough insurance. A reliable agent will not over-insure your property.

It is better to be safe than sorry.

Being President Not Easy

The accusation that President John F. Kennedy thought he would have comparatively easy sailing once in the White House and that he has since become disillusioned on that score is, to this writer's mind, completely unjust. No man, certainly not a realist like John F. Kennedy, with 14 years in national politics, could have entertained such a notion. Before his election Mr. Kennedy had a very definite idea of the duties of a president and the arduous task that being the chief executive entailed.

What Mr. Kennedy may not have realized was the amount of power wielded by the Eisenhower-military group which still affects to throw its weight into this nation's relations with other nations, particularly our Western Allies.

We have consistently contended that in case of war we could be in no better hands than those of our trained fighting men, but until we are, we will take civilian decisions regarding our foreign policies. The military is no more equipped to dictate this country's foreign policy than civilians are to tell the military how to conduct a war.

Democracy is founded on the will of the majority and no minority should have the final word. Free states are not founded on, nor do they survive on, minority dominance whether political or military.

Mr. Kennedy appears to put much faith in his cabinet which for the most part appears to be well chosen. Having been in the House and Senate he has not forgotten the powers or the functions of the Congress.

This is as it should be. As long as Mr. Kennedy or any president remembers that the country is in good hands.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

LIKES ENGLEHARDT FOR GOVERNOR OF ALABAMA

It is no secret that all over Alabama for the past few months people who feel that Alabama cannot stand four more years of James E. Folsom type government have been meeting for the sole purpose of finding a man that could beat him. This past week representatives from each of these meetings held a State-wide meeting in Scottsboro and formed a committee to ask Sam Engelhardt to run for Governor. Cecil Word, prominent Jackson County lumberman, was elected Chairman. As a result of the earlier meetings none of the participants have heard anyone say anything but something good about Sam Engelhardt.

As State Highway Director, he has had a road program going in every county that we are all proud of. As head of the Highway Department, he has one of the largest organizations in the State and probably the only organization that lends to the economy of every section of every county. He has over five thousand employees in his department; has a payroll of over one and a half million dollars a month and has thirty million dollars of real property in his care. So far during his term of office he has handled well over three hundred million dollars without so much as a hint of scandal.

Mr. Engelhardt is the nation's number one segregationist and the number one South hater, negro Congressman, Adam Clayton Powell, has even taken him as his subject for speeches condemning our way of life in the South. Mr. Engelhardt has had eight years in the Alabama Legislature, is a business man, a farmer and son of Montgomery's former City Treasurer. He was educated at Shorter elementary school and also attended McCallie School at Chattanooga and Washington & Lee University. He is married to the former Sara Miller Bonner, niece of the late Governor B. M. Miller and daughter of veteran Senator J. Miller Bonner of Wilcox County. They are the parents of four fine children. He is a Baptist, member of the Farm Bureau and was one of the organizers of the Citizens Councils in Alabama.

As Highway Director, his hands are full and at this time he cannot give consideration to running for office; however, he is being pressured from all over the State to make the race. Should we, the voters, split our vote between several candidates, as we always have in the past, Mr. Folsom is the only person that can be elected without a run-off.

If you want good, sound, honest government and want to maintain our normal way of living in the South, and want a man with nerve to stand up and speak for us in the face of all kinds of pressures from the Washington Bureaucrats, then call, wire or write SAM ENGELHARDT, State Highway Department, Montgomery, Alabama and urge him to run. WE CAN WIN WITH SAM.

In 22 previous UAW-authorized strikes against Ford, union members have lost nearly $50,000,000 in wages. This does not include a current strike at the St. Louis, Mo., assembly plant which started July 26, 1961.

Additional losses of $27,000,000 in unauthorized or "wildcat" strikes and stoppages during the 1958 no-contract period by UAW members raise to more than $77,250,000 the total amount of wages lost in walkouts at Ford Motor Company plants since signing of the first UAW contract in 1941.

Clerk for the Inferior Court will be the Circuit Court Clerk and is elected for a term of six years.

The new Inferior Court is not a court of record and there is no expensive recording of testimony nor jury. It will not charge a solicitor's fee and will be in session from day to day for receiving and filing complaints, regular sessions will be established by the judge of the court for hearings. ● Governor John Patterson Tuesday accused Alabama school officials of laying the groundwork for another school crisis this year and called for a 12-month school year. He said the governor ought to appoint the state school superintendent and that the governor ought to have tighter control over the school purse strings.

● Four of the five members of the Federal Power Commission plan to leave Washington Sunday for an inspection trip of facilities of the Alabama Power Company and the Tennessee Valley Authority. The party will inspect the facilities in the Muscle Shoals area on Tuesday and Wednesday.

● House Speaker Sam Rayburn remained on the "serious" list Wednesday at Baylor Hospital, Dallas, Tex. His doctors hoped to know today just how serious his condition is. He was brought to the hospital unexpectedly Monday night after failing to respond to normal treatment for what had been publicly described by his office as lumbago.

Personality Sketches

By ANN SULLIVAN

RAWSON BAYNARD COLEMAN

"Drown me des ez deep ez you please, Brer Fox," sez Brer Rabbit, sezee, "but don't fling me in dat briar-patch," sezee. And so spoke Joel Chandler Harris many years ago and happily again by Rawson Coleman, also a native Georgian, as he described the pleasing occasion when he was called in to the States and to Fort McPherson, Ga. where he was discharged with the rank of major.

Following his discharge from service, Mr. Coleman began his career with Sears, Roebuck and Company as a general trainee in Atlanta, remaining there a year when he was assigned to the Sears store in Chattanooga, Tenn. as personnel manager. Shortly after, he was transferred to the Memphis store and later to the Anniston store.

In May, 1950, Mr. Coleman was transferred to Florence as assistant manager of the new Sears store here which opened on September 7. After the opening of the store, he remained assistant manager of the new store until February, 1951, when he was assigned to the Gadsden store. Soon thereafter, he was transferred to the Norfolk, Va. store, remaining there until September, 1959, when he was again assigned to the Sears store here as manager, the position he has held since.

Mr. Coleman is a member and president of the Florence Merchants Association; member of the Florence Chamber of Commerce and a member of the Kiwanis Club. He is co-chairman of the General Division of the United Fund drive; member of the Lauderdale County Boy Scout Council; served as parade marshal for the Civil War Centennial celebration and has been joint chairman each year of the Christmas parade. He also is a member of the Florence Golf and Country Club and Turtle Point Yacht and Country Club.

An active member of Trinity Episcopal Church, Mr. Coleman is a member of the Vestry. Although his civic work takes up most of his spare time, Mr. Coleman enjoys golfing and swimming when he has the opportunity.

While at the University, Mr. Coleman was a member of Kappa Sigma social fraternity and served as president, rush chairman and house chairman of his chapter. He also was a member of the interfraternity council for two years; member of a debating society; the Cavalry Riding Club and participated in intra-mural sports.

Mr. Coleman was a member of the R.O.T.C. Cavalry Unit and served as cadet captain in his senior year. He served as cadet sergeant major in his junior year. On May 15, 1942, he was commissioned a 2nd Lieutenant in the Quartermaster Corps of the U. S. Army and on the following day Mr. Coleman was graduated from the University with a B.S. degree in Business Administration.

He was married to June Jeffers on May 17, 1942, the day after he was graduated from the University. They have three children: Rawson, Jr., 18, a freshman at the University of Alabama; Linda, 14, a freshman at Coffee High School and Melissa, 9, a third grader at Powell Elementary School.

Following his graduation from the University, Mr. Coleman entered Army service and was first sent to Quartermaster School at Ft. Warren, Cheyenne, Wyo. Four months later he was transferred to the Quartermaster Depot, Kansas City, Mo., and was stationed there three years.

In December, 1944, Mr. Coleman was transferred to Command and General Staff school, Ft. Leavenworth, Kan., remaining there three months and then was ordered to the South Pacific as a member of Admiral Nimitz's staff at Pearl Harbor. He was placed in charge of the planning division of logistics, his duties being to allocate shipping space for ships in the Pacific area.

Mr. Coleman was later transferred to Headquarters of the Army Forces of the Pacific and made personnel officer of all quartermaster troops in the Pacific area. He continued in that capacity during the demobilization and in February, 1946, was returned

Mental Health Center Conducting Research

The staff at the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center are in the process of conducting a number of research projects that will evaluate the work and services rendered by the center.

One of the first studies conducted was of the children referred to the center by schools because they were felt to be retarded enough for special classes. The staff found that 15% of these children were either above intelligence or of average intelligence and the pseudo-retardation was caused by inability to read, emotional problems in the home or hearing and seeing difficulty.

Another study was made by the center in cooperation with a Florence State College senior. Data was compiled on admission and readmission to the state hospital in five counties in Northwest Alabama including Lauderdale and Colbert counties. It was found that hospital admission rates were lower in the two counties served by the center than in the other three counties studied that were not served by a mental health center.

This difference in admission rate has been found true in other states also where counties served by a mental health center were compared with other counties in a state not having such services.

Articles Published

Two articles written by Mrs. Ruth Arnett, Director of the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center, have been published in Adult Leadership. The articles are "What Is A Mentally Healthy Community?" published in December, 1958, and "Mental Health Films In The Church," published in September, 1961. The latter article describes how free mental health films from the State Health Department were used in a series of meetings in a local church.

Purpose Of Research

The newest research study being undertaken by the staff is a survey of the mental health needs and the resources available in Lauderdale and Colbert counties. Its purpose is to evaluate the community's need for services related to mentally and emotionally disturbed individuals, and to yield data that may be useful to community mental health organizations in planning how to meet the needs of these individuals.

Aid Received

The center has been approved for a grant from the State Health Department in order to compile this survey. The results will be valuable not only to physicians, ministers, teachers and social workers in this area, but will also be valuable for other communities who may wish to conduct a similar study and compare their community's attitudes with those in this area.

The staff at the Muscle Shoals Mental Health Center feel that people here are unusually alert to the need for a service of this kind as shown by their use of the center, the speech and hearing center at Florence State College, special classes, the branch clinic on alcoholism and their support of the Family Life Conference.

Exchange Hears Leadership Talk

John Hayes, representative of Elmer Wheeler Sales Institute, was the guest speaker at the meeting of the Exchange Club at Hotel Reeder Tuesday noon. Program arrangements were made by Bert Darby, who presented the speaker.

Mr. Hayes gave an interesting discussion of the various attributes and abilities needed in successful selling. He listed Courage, Determination and Desire as three prime requisites for the development of sales ability and leadership. He pointed out the pitfalls of conformity and said that this leads to getting in a rut, which he termed a grave with both ends knocked out.

Placing enthusiasm along with the other attributes of a good salesman, Mr. Hayes said that years in a job didn't necessarily mean that progress had been made but it could mean that the job holder had merely followed the same yearly trend as many years as he had held the job.

Guests were John Bridges, Uhlend Redd, III, J. D. McDonald, Bill Donley, Harry Thetford, Sledge Canon, Hulet Robinson, Rawson Coleman, Dave Mendelsohn, Milburn Zeff, and C. H. Jackson.

Parker and Miss Likis also met with some 350 leaders from seven southeastern states in Atlanta this week to hear Foundation leaders from New York and to receive material for the 1962 campaign.

Interview With Celebrities Has Broadway Flavor

By Ann Mathias Sullivan

"The Thurbur Carnival," the season's opening presentation of the Muscle Shoals Concert Association at Coffee High Auditorium, Monday night, proved a light and entertaining hodge-podge of a number of Thurbur's most enjoyed fables and sketches, but, to us, a waste of the talents of Imogene Coca, Arthur Treacher and King Donovan. These three popular artists did well with what they were given but the fact that many in the audience left during the performance showed the disappointment many felt.

Thurbur's writings have a slant that possibly are so subtle that even the finest artists have difficulty in putting them across the footlights but the fact that there was no continuity to Monday night's presentation may have caused the capacity audience to lose what trend there might have been to the Carnival.

Imogene Coca, the little pixy, was superb in her numerous roles and Arthur Treacher, seldom seen out of the role of the English butler, was delightful in his various parts in the numerous skits. King Donovan, remembered in a supporting role for a long period of time in the Bob Cummings Show, carried the lead in most of the skits and acquitted himself well in each. His portrayal of General Grant in the "surrender" of General Lee was possibly his best.

Press Conference

With an informal atmosphere, the Florida Room at Howard Johnson Restaurant provided the setting Monday afternoon when members of the press and dramatic students from Florence State College met with the three artists of "The Thurbur Carnival," Imogene Coca, King Donovan and Arthur Treacher. Arranged by William Lyle Harris, President of the Muscle Shoals Concert Association, host for the occasion was Custer Capadalis, manager of the local Howard Johnson restaurant, who served coffee and cake.

Dainty Miss Coca was attired in olive green slacks with matching sweater in keeping with the informal air. So delightful was she, it was hard to take notes when we were so enveloped in her antics and zany expressions. A person who drew our complete attention, she was serious at times and seemed to be very interested in us for at times one would have wondered who was doing the interviewing.

King Donovan, married to Miss Coca in private life, impressed us as being a very intelligent and remarkable man. The topic of discussion, of course, was the theatre, and his answers to the many questions asked him were lucid and informative. Arthur Treacher, quite dignified, fascinated us with his English accent as he discussed Jack Paar, Broadway, the London theatre and, very modestly, himself. Always known as the butler, we learned he hadn't played that role in fifteen years.

So engrossed were we in the three talented artists, that we left the meeting after two hours of enlightening conversation without having touched the coffee and cake which had been served us.

Mr. and Mrs. Sherwood Stewart, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Cadenhead, Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Williams, Mr. and Mrs. Jack Brewer, Mr. and Mrs. Rosecoe O'Bannon, and Mr. and Mrs. Pete Millican are in New Orleans for the remainder of the week to attend a State Farm Career Club Convention.

THE SPILLWAY

Activities galore! Wanta know the reason? Everyone feels gay in foot-ball season!

AND THIS GAITY has many angles... If you were on the Russellville Highway a couple of weeks ago, or near the Coffee Stadium last Friday night, you saw excitement at a high degree and for all ages — for the very young (like Gary Jester), for the young (like Marybeth O'Brien), the youthful (like Janet Baker), the teen-agers (like hundreds of them), the young marrieds (like the Charlie Finneys), and the old timers (like any number of us!)... all enjoying watching Coffee High's fine football team, and, especially the case with the ladies, watching the fall fashions walk by (though it was a little too hot for much along this line)... Then there were the real football enthusiasts who traveled far to see their team play — the George McBurneys went to New Orleans to see Alabama beat Tulane, and the "Buck" Marshes with the "Fuzzy" Peritts to Knoxville, to see (happily for them) Auburn "war-eagle" the Tennessee team right down the field.

PARTIES AND MORE PARTIES... Hazel and Joe Meade entertained "the crowd" with an after-the-game supper party where, we hear, the male members (mostly former Coffee grid stars) reviewed and replayed the evening's Huntsville-Coffee game... Peggy and Henry Campbell put on one of their enjoyable open-houses and Clara and Ohio Peritt gave a now-we're-firmly-established-Florentines-party (they're almost not classified as bride-and-groom any longer since their first anniversary comes soon), which turned into a farewell-to-us party, as they announced (over the chafing dish of "the best" lobster-thermidore) that they're off presently to the annual Boat-a-Cade for another tour of the Florida waterways... and we're just betting that Clara will succeed herself as Queen of the Boat-a-Cade... And a very large and, as-usual-for-them, festive party was given by Anna and Louis Rosenbaum, where the many guests seated themselves over the spacious lower floor of the home and lingered long because of the congeniality of the entire affair (we're wondering if we could ever learn to make chicken blintzes like the ones this hostess turns out)... Another recent gathering that was a real delight was at the home of the Hoyt Brooks while Hoyt's sister, Elizabeth, was here for a short while. A small group of friends sat spell-bound while this attractive person told them of her recent experiences while spending ten weeks in England.

IT'S BEEN DISAPPOINTING NOT TO SEE Julia (Winn) Allen, who we'd HOPED, would stay long enough for all of us to have at least a short "glimpse-at." Seems she's been so busy rushing in to see the Winn families, Nick and Calista, and Sam and Fanny, with the younger family members, and spending the in-between time with Ann (Winn) Van Valkenburgh in Huntsville that there's been no more time. Hubby-Doctor came in from his Miami medical meeting this past week-end, and now they've hurried back to their home in Huntington. Next time, Julia, please stay longer!

WHAT COULD BE NICER than to be the hero for a charming group of the pigtail set? The person we can envy is Bob Tomlinson, who is pianist for this group's Sunday school class at Trinity Episcopal church, and who recently had it proven just what the little misses think of him. When teacher, Catherine Poellnitz, asked the class who the first man was, quick-on-the-trigger Katherine Hatcher answered, "Mr. Tomlinson!"... which must prove that to them he IS the first man!

IN THE Sorry-to-See-You-Go department we reluctantly add the names of the Bob Murpheys, who're leaving our fair town for Memphis, since Bob has been transferred there. This also means a real loss to the local Girl Scout office, since Virginia has become such a vital part of it. And the local college crowd is already missing "Cookie," especially since she is not attending Florence State as she originally planned, but is at Ole Miss.

WHILE ON THE SUBJECT OF THE Girl Scout office, we might add that, if we didn't already think it is a center of efficiency we'd say that it certainly will be that, since the professional staff, Corrinne Millikan, Enid Howard, and Beverly Copeland are away this week attending a training session near Monteagle, Tennessee. Somehow we just don't think there is much left for them to learn!

PROUD TO KNOW Polly Dunn, whom we still claim as one of US, and who is now secretary-treasurer of the Mississippi Community Antenna Television Association, which has just had its annual meeting in Jackson. In our book Polly is outstanding in any group she might join, so it doesn't surprise us that this state-wide organization wants to put her talents to work.

CALLING FOR AN INVESTIGATION... who were the attractive young ladies, one a blonde and one a brunette, who recently visited Janice and J. L. Shearer? Hear that they made quite an IMPRESSION at the recent Las Vegas party at the club, and the only details we could gather as to their identity except that they're from Birmingham, was that one of them is a rated pilot with over 300 hours in the air, and as one member of the party remarked, "From her looks, all those hours were probably not SOLO!"

UNTIL MORE NEWS COMES THROUGH THE SPILLWAY, IT'S GOODBYE FOR NOW!

Gas Pipeline To Armour Plant Nearly Complete

Alabama-Tennessee Natural Gas Company officials report that construction of the natural gas pipeline to serve the new Armour plant near Cherokee is nearing completion.

The 6-inch pipeline extends approximately 3½ miles from a point near U. S. Highway 72 between Barton and Cherokee to the south boundary of the Armour plant. The pipe has been coated and wrapped and distributed along the entire right-of-way and is being welded together to form one continuous pipeline which will be buried at least 30 inches below the surface of the ground.

Armour expects to use approximately 18,600,000 cubic feet of natural gas per day in the operation of its new ammonia and ammonium derivatives plant.

Coffee, Lexington In Win Column As Other Teams Fall

Coffee 33, Huntsville 0

The Huntsville Panthers went home on the short end of a 33-0 score Friday night as Coffee's Yellow Jackets struck early, then coasted the rest of the way.

Coffee marched 69 yards in nine plays to score first, then scored again as a result of a visitor fumble and just before the first quarter ended Dan Riley raced 35 yards for another.

Coffee's bench furnished the manpower after that and, in the second period, pushed across a score after traveling 70 yards in six plays. Another Huntsville fumble, on the 35, resulted in a Coffee TD, with Gresham taking a pitchout 15 yards to paydirt.

Arkansas 14, FSC 6

Homestanding Arkansas State showed a powerful clutch offense and a tough defense that stopped the previously undefeated Florence State Lions cold until the final quarter Saturday night as the Indians of Jonesboro, Ark. ripped to a 14-6 victory.

The Lions, who held 9-6 victories over both Delta and Murray State, didn't get the offense rolling until the final quarter and end Bobby Hurst scored the touchdown on a 15-yard pass from Steve Logan.

Russellville 34, Central 0

The Golden Tigers from Russellville erupted like a volcano Friday night to upend the Central Wildcats 34-0 at Russellville.

The Tigers spurred into the lead with 6:24 remaining in the first canto and started the scoring blitz. Late in the final canto the running of Bobby Vaughn and Jimmy Steinepiper carried the pigskin deep to the Central six, however, a stout Wildcat forward wall held and Central gained the ball on downs.

Russellville has an open date this week while Central plays host to the Rogersville Tigers.

Lexington 45, W. Limestone 14

The Lexington Golden Bears, using a strong offense and plenty of power, downed a weaker West Limestone eleven 45-14 on Wildcat home turf Friday night. The victory was number three for the Bears against one defeat.

Scoring twice in the first, second and third periods and once in the final canto of play, the Bears were in command all the way.

No score came from either team until within minutes of the final gun, when the Bears made a long, eight play march pay off in their final tally.

IS A
EVERYONE!

What's the real cause of fire? Does it start from a match in the hands of a child, a neglected cigarette, a pile of rubbish, faulty electric wiring? Be careful . . . about fire hazards around your home, farm or business. Be careful when handling flame in any form. Act now . . . to stop fires and save lives. Regional Library Board Adopts Budget For 61-62

The Muscle Shoals Regional Library Board last week adopted a budget totaling $65,100 to operate the library system during the 1961-62 fiscal year, a $13,100 increase over the 1960-61 figure. Of the above amount Lauderdale County requests $16,000, Lauderdale United Fund $4,000 and Florence $17,000.

The budget figures were worked out according to a per capita and need basis using the 1960 U. S. Census. The schedule of requests is based on the rate of 61 cents per capita with national standards estimated at $3.50 per capita for minimum library service.

Sixty per cent of the money will be used for salaries with the remaining 40 per cent for books, insurance, utilities, operation of the bookmobile and other expenses.

The statistics for 1959-60 in part show that the bookmobile serves 52 schools in both counties and makes 128 community stops; that 79,267 books were borrowed from the Sheffield Public Library, 120,291 books and 1,931 records from the Florence-Lauderdale Library, 8,312 books from the Leighton Library, 12,522 books from the Helen Keller Library. The latest statistics are now being compiled. The Regional Library serves a population of more than 108,000 people.

Members of the board and the cities and counties they represent are C. M. Brewster, chairman, Sheffield; Clopper Almon, Sheffield; G. W. Perkins, Colbert; W. H. Mitchell, Jr., Lauderdale; Judge Robert M. Hill, Lauderdale and Colbert.

Stanley Rosenbaum, Florence; Harold S. May, Lauderdale; Mrs. J. P. Berry, Tuscumbia; Henry Morgan Gilbert, Colbert; A. R. Tomlinson, Florence.

Bell Company To Develop Satellite Communications

There is an increasing need for worldwide TV, not practical over today's ocean cables, and a need for alternate communications routes to supplement present over-seas cable and radio circuits. Satellites can do these jobs and more.

The companies of the Bell Telephone System, principally the Bell Telephone Laboratories, have developed important equipment to aid our growing space technology, including maser amplifiers, horn-reflector antennas, transistors, diodes, solar cells and traveling wave tubes.

NASA's Echo I demonstrated Bell's ability in space. Coast-to-coast telephone conversations were bounced off this reflecting satellite via the Bell Labs' equipment at Holmdel, New Jersey, working with the National Aeronautics and Space Administration's station at Goldstone, California.

Bell research also helped in the development of other missiles and satellites, such as the Nike family of missiles — Ajax, Hercules and Zeus. Western Electric, Bell's manufacturing arm, is the prime contractor for tracking and ground instrumentation systems for the Mercury (man-in-space) project.

Beginning in April, 1962, A.T. & T. will conduct experiments with active satellites which will test the life expectancy of electronic equipment in space. All costs of building and launching the satellites, as well as building the necessary ground station in the U. S. will be paid by A.T. & T.

Communications agencies abroad will establish the necessary over-seas ground radio stations at their own expense for the test.

Under A.T. & T.'s proposal for a satellite system, the international communications companies would develop a system of up to 50 satellites, in polar orbit about 7,000 miles above the earth. The system would be an international extension, in effect, of the microwave radio system already operating on land to transmit telephone and television signals. The microwave beam, which travels in a straight line, would be intercepted by a satellite and relayed back to earth to its destination.

The Bell System does not seek to dominate space communications. All present and future U. S. international common carriers would have freedom to use the system to provide services authorized by the FCC.

No subsidy by the United States Government would be needed.

Southern Railway System In South

Southern Railway System, presently engaged in installing the largest privately-owned microwave system in the United States, today announced that it is spending an additional $7,926,000 to extend microwave over a large additional area of its system. Southern will thereby more than double its use of this modern communications medium.

As part of the improvement it placed a $5,965,000 order with General Electric Company for a multi-channel transistorized microwave and two-way radio communications system with 70 stations to be installed between Cincinnati, Ohio, and Chattanooga, Tenn.; between Chattanooga and Knoxville, Tenn.; Chattanooga and Birmingham, Ala.; Chattanooga and Atlanta, Ga.; and between Birmingham and Atlanta. The total distance is 913 miles.

Work on the addition to Southern's microwave facilities will begin as soon as Federal Communications Commission licenses are obtained. Completion of the project is scheduled for October 1, 1962.

When your telephone rings, don't cause an accident by breaking your neck to answer it. If the call is important, they will call back.

At Atlanta the new installations will join the system having 50 microwave stations that Southern will put into service early next year over the 637-mile distance between Washington, D. C., and Atlanta. The $5.3 million contract

4-H Boys And Girls To Be Candidates For Scholarships

Six national scholarships of $400 each will be awarded to 4-H Club members next November. Awards will be based on outstanding work done in the 4-H field crops program, says the National 4-H Service Committee.

The top-ranking sextet will be selected from 48 state winners and all will be delegates to the 40th National 4-H Club Congress convening in Chicago, November 26-30 at the Conrad Hilton hotel. Around 1,550 boys and girls, winners in some 30 categories from every state, will attend the annual event accompanied by state 4-H Club leaders and other Cooperative Extension Service personnel. The field crops program last year had an enrollment of well over 275,000 club members, a record high during the last five years, the 4-H Service Committee reports.

Through this program, 4-H'ers have an opportunity to learn how to do a good job in crop production, harvesting, management and marketing by using recommendations from the USDA and the Extension Service. Members have consistently shown better quality crops, higher yields and income resulting from participation in the project.

The pinnacle of success for two will be crowned by a special award of a silverware set presented in the name of President John F. Kennedy, honorary chairman of the National 4-H Service Committee.

Winners of this highest award—a girl and boy—will be announced November 30, the final day of the 4-H congress. The 12 scholarship winners, however, will be named earlier in the week.

Musicians To Give Recital On Oct. 10 At Wesleyan Hall

The Florence State College department of music will present Margaret Christy, cellist, and Frederic Hyde, harpsichordist, in recital in Wesleyan Auditorium Tuesday, Oct. 10. Both performers are on the music faculty of the University of Alabama.

Dr. Hyde is a graduate of Harvard College and did graduate work in music history at Yale, receiving the doctorate there in 1954.

Miss Christy took her master's degree at Columbia University and studied with Willem Willeke at Julliard School of Music. She has been with the University of Alabama String Quartet since its founding.

Of special interest to musicians in this area will be the fine large double-keyboard harpsichord Dr. Hyde will play. This instrument was built in 1956 and copied directly from an English Kirkman harpsichord of about 1775. Miss Christy's violoncello is a Julius Caesar Gigli, made in 1760.

An interesting and varied program is planned with works of Francois Couperin, J. S. Bach, Domenico Scarlatti and Igor Stravinsky to be included.

lie on the ground to attract migratory birds. Kennamer points out that again this year it is legal to shoot over newly planted grain fields. Also, he notes, there is no restriction on shooting doves or ducks over standing crops of grain, flooded standing crops or flooded harvested crop lands. It is illegal to shoot over any place where the grain or feed has been placed. "For example," says the expert, "you cannot shoot legally where farmers are bringing in truckloads of feed for cows or where farmers are feeding stock in pens." For more flavor and higher nutritive value, add shredded cheese to scrambled eggs and omelets.

Single Rat Can Cost $20 A Year

One rat can be worth $20 to you. But only if he's dead. Each rat or mouse can eat or waste $5 to $20 worth of feed each year, and a pair of rats can do away with more than 50 pounds of chicken mash a year, or enough grain to feed a dairy cow for 24 days. And there's no better time than right now to launch an attack against them, says Earl Kennamer, Auburn Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist. During harvest, he explains, rats and mice follow farmers from the field to the crib and pantry. They ought to be killed now so they won't concentrate in home areas during their winter food shortage period, he says. The specialist suggests using one of the "blood thinners" to kill the rodents. These poisons, he says, simply thin the blood so it cannot carry food to the cells. And, he says, to do a really good job, neighbors should get together, buy poison in bulk and rid the whole neighborhood of rats and mice before spring.

Regulations For Migratory Birds

Alabama's migratory bird hunters are asking "what's legal" in hunting this year. As thoughts turn to the hunting season, Earl Kennamer, Auburn Extension Service fish and wildlife specialist, gives these tips to migratory bird hunters. It is legal to shoot over any field where grain is scattered on the ground as the result of normal agricultural harvest. But you cannot lawfully shoot over fields where standing unharvested grain has been cut so that the feed will

A GOOD JOB

Billy's getting bigger, and Susie's catching up. And Mom—like any proud mother—is delighted. Their physical progress is one indication that she's doing a good job.

But is she being just as careful about other, equally vital parts of that job? Is she also measuring their spiritual progress? As it happens, she is. Billy and Susie are both already going to church and church school.

If you have been thinking that your own children are too young to begin their religious education, why not give them the chance to measure up spiritually, as well as physically? They're apt to surprise you!

THE CHURCH FOR ALL . . . ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

Farm Facts

On the average, at least 50 different food items are used in family meals in a week. This is reported by Janet Murray and Ennis Blake in the Yearbook for Agriculture, 1959.

The U. S. Department of Agriculture researchers based their facts on information obtained from more than 6,000 householders.

Meals of the average family for a week included about 10 pounds of vegetables and fruit, 4.5 quarts of milk or corresponding amounts of cheese and ice cream, 4 pounds of meat, 7 eggs, 1 pound of fat, 1.5 pounds of sugar, and 3 pounds of cereal products for each person.

In 1955, according to the survey, meat, poultry, fish, or eggs took 35 cents of the food dollar — about 24 cents for beef, pork, veal, and lamb; 5 cents for poultry; 4 cents for eggs; and 2 cents for fish.

Vegetables and fruit accounted for 18 cents; milk and milk products, 14 cents; flour, cereals, and baked goods, 11 cents; and beverages, 10 cents.

We consume at least 50 different foods in a week.

The remaining 12 cents were divided fairly evenly among fats and oils, sugars and sweets, and a group of such miscellaneous items as soups, nuts, catsup, pickles and olives, fillings, mixtures, and seasonings.

DANGER OF FIRE

Safeguard your home and farm from fire.

Bill Cox, Auburn University Extension Service farm buildings specialist, who points out that next week, October 8-14, has been declared National Fire Prevention Week, says that last year, four-fifths of the farm fires occurred between October and March. And 84 per cent of the 850 lives were lost during these six months.

In proclaiming fire prevention week, President John F. Kennedy said the call is most timely because this high number of fire losses is highest in fall and winter.

Farm fire losses in 1960, continues the specialist, were estimated at $165 million. Four-fifths of the losses were from fire and one-fifth from lightning damage.

"Many fires can be prevented by proper precautions," declares Cox. Homes are lost every year because several things have been neglected or postponed.

Cox offers these suggestions that may prove to be very beneficial in your fire prevention program. Keep your home free of all fire hazards by regular inspections. Avoid carelessness with smoking or matches. Do not allow trash or oily rags to pile up in homes or farm buildings — a clean house seldom burns. Keep attics, lofts, cellars, and other storage places clear of trash.

Remove grass, weeds and dry vegetation from around buildings and along fence rows. Burn small quantities of trash regularly in a safe place. Replace damaged or worn lightning rods or wires. And install lightning surge arresters on load side of meter to reduce interior damage to the home. This will also help protect meter service, wiring and electrical appliances.

Finally, adds Cox, be sure that all members of your family know the telephone number of the fire department serving your area. Also be sure that the fire department knows how to reach your farm.

SOIL TEST NOW

Farmers should begin to take soil samples now and send them to the soil testing laboratory for fertilizer and lime recommendations for crops to be planted next spring. Those who send samples early will get in ahead of the rush and will receive recommendations well ahead of fertilizer buying time. Boxes and cartons are available at the county agent's office.

PLANT WINTER CROPS

It is now time to plant all fall and winter crops. Plant such crops as oats, rye, barley, wheat, legumes and mixtures of these crops while moisture is in the ground. Do not

Pork Is Weight Watcher's Food

Pork is a weight watcher's food. In years past, pork was said to be a food to avoid when losing weight.

But recent studies proved that cooked pork has 36 per cent fewer calories, 57 per cent less fat and 22 per cent more protein than previous food composition tables showed, says Ray Cavender, Auburn Extension Service meats marketing specialist.

The new figures, says Cavender, are based on careful measurements of a large number of different pork cuts.

The conclusions were made on the cooked cuts of meat, he adds. The previous figures were estimated from uncooked cuts.

LIKE A BANK OR STORE FARMING IS A BUSINESS

Today's farming is a business. Sidney Bell, Auburn Extension Service farm management specialist, explains that farming today is a business in the same sense as a bank, department store or a proceeding plant.

To be more efficient and successful, it must adopt and apply the same business principles required in the operation of any other successful business.

For better farming, Bell says, use capital, labor and management efficiently, choose enterprises wisely and keep good records of the farm business.

Life of Medical Books Short

Q. I have an old doctor book that says glycerin is a wonderful laxative. Can it be used instead of mineral oil?

A. The only way glycerin is currently used as a laxative is in the form of suppositories. Glycerin should not be taken by mouth as a laxative. It is often said in all sincerity that the useful life of a medical textbook is something less than 10 years. Medical knowledge advances so rapidly that a textbook even 10 years old is likely to be far out of date. Your ancient "doctor book" may be a valuable antique but it could scarcely be considered a good source of medical information.

Q. I have a scar on my lip. Could lipstick irritate the scar and cause cancer?

A. The lipstick-cancer question is hotly debated. Some investigators call attention to the presence in lipstick of certain dyes that may be harmful. Other equally qualified investigators consider the danger of cancer from such a source as lipstick as scientifically unfounded. To straddle the fence, some cosmetic manufacturers offer special formula "non-irritating" lipstick which contains no dyes. Insoluble pigments are used to obtain the desired colors. If you so desire you might use this type of special lipstick.

Intermarriage

Q. Medically speaking, would marriage be OK between a woman and her half-uncle?

A. The medical implications in such a case are definitely more serious than if the man and woman were not related. The legal aspects depend upon the statutes of the state of residency. Every state forbids the marriage of uncle and niece. Some specifically include the half-relationship, and others might interpret their laws to include it.

Guide Children Toward Maturity

"A baby is born completely selfish and this is as it should be," says Elta Majors, Auburn University Extension Service child care and family life specialist. "But as he grows physically, it is our job to help him grow less selfish."

No man or woman is "self made." Many people help to make a child into a dependable adult, she adds. The guidance must begin early in the child's life.

Parents are most important in guiding the child but adults such as grandparents, aunts, uncles and adults outside the family also have responsibilities.

"Another thing we need to remember is that it takes a lot of love and understanding to help a completely selfish baby grow into a mature, others-centered adult," says the specialist.

Will To Recover Plays Important Role In Recovery

Long before medical research produced some specific techniques for striking back at strokes, men already had one of their best weapons trained on this cripple; determination.

Medical statistics show that, despite the great toll taken by strokes, nine out of ten persons who suffer them do recover.

Among modern history's best known examples is Sir Winston Churchill, who was stricken at the age of 79 in the final years of his service as Britain's Prime Minister. He will celebrate his 87th birthday November 30, 1961.

In 1957, during his second term as President, Eisenhower suffered a mild stroke with transitory effects. Making an excellent recovery, he served for three more years in what often is called the most strenuous job on earth. He will be 71 on October 14, 1961.

A feeling of despair or hopelessness is one of the biggest stumbling blocks hindering a stroke patient's recovery, medical authorities say. Actually, stroke cases are far from hopeless and their prospects for recovery are steadily improving, they add.

In the past 10 years, medical research has added a number of other weapons to the arsenal to augment the all-important will to recover. Among these are drugs, surgical procedures and physical therapy techniques.

"Our problem today," says Alabama Heart Association President, Dr. Harry M. Simpson, Jr. of Florence, is two-fold.

"First, we need to make the most of the advantages we have gained by urging prompt medical attention both for the patient who has suffered a stroke and for the patient who has warning signs that make him a likely candidate for one."

"Second, we need continued research to broaden our knowledge and our means to predict and treat strokes."

Anyone desiring a leaflet on "Strokes," may procure a free copy from Alabama Heart Association, 2912 7th Avenue, South, Birmingham.

Save those tiny crumbs of soap. Tie them in a piece of soft flannel, and dip them into boiling water until soft. Then place them in cold water until firm, and you've got a good, solid ball of soap.
